The Growth

Of our business in special lines of Imported Lace Curtains is very satisfactory. The values we have been able to offer have given a healthy impetus to our daily sales in this department. Many lines have been sold out, but we have been able to replace these with still greater bargains. Our new stock comprises the newest goods, specially chosen for the fine trade, and embraces the latest novelties in Sash and Window Curtains, &c.

In Carpets, the commonplace and beautiful of the whole field are covered by an immense range of all grades, on the third floor. Look at our prices, commencing as low as 25c. per yard for Unions.

In Prints we have wash goods that deserve success if ever a cotton stuff did.

100 pieces of that heavy, wide English Cloth sold elsewhere for 15c., going for 10c. We expect to have to send for more right away.

Parasols are an important leader now. We have a special line covered with Alpaca, of superior make, that will keep their colour, and we are selling them at only $1.00.

Umbrellas re-covered while you wait.

REDISTRIBUTION BILL.

RESUMED DEBATE AT OTTAWA YESTERDAY.

Mr. D'Alton McCarthy Submits His Amendment in an Hour's Speech—Speeches of Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. Haggart and Col. O'Brien.

OTTAWA, June 8.—The second act in the Redistribution Bill was opened at half-past 3 yesterday when Mr. D'Alton McCarthy resumed the debate on Sir John Thompson's motion that the House go into committee on the bill.

Mr. McCarthy had given notice of the following amendment, which he moved in concluding his remarks:

That the said bill be not read a second time, but that it be resolved that the distribution of seats of members of this House should, so far as practicable, be based on equality of population, due regard being had to the community of interests existing in localities, a full and fair expression of public opinion and the permanence and stability of constituencies. That the most effective way of accomplishing these ends is to assume that county and city boundaries are the natural limits of electoral districts, with equitable divisions thereof constituted with compactness as regards geographical position, and this based on well-known existing areas where the population entitled the city or county to two or more representatives. That the system now prevailing and proposed to be continued by the said bill fails to secure equality of population, ignores community of interests, disregards geographical compactness, renders stability impossible and is liable to gross abuse in affording opportunities in the arrangement of electoral districts for promoting party aims and obtaining party advantages regardless of the considerations which ought to determine the settlement of the representation of the people in this House.

Spoke for an Hour.

Mr. McCarthy spoke for about an hour in support of his motion. He contended that Parliament was wrong in passing the Redistribution Act of 1882, and wanted to know why the House should not now do right. He confessed that he had been amongst the sinners in 1882, but thought that, as the Government had a two-thirds majority at its back now, it could afford to do right, and ought to undo what it had previously done. He analyzed the bill before the House at length, pointing out that it did not equalise populations, as in the Province of Ontario there were 12 constituencies containing an aggregate of 118,000 in excess of what the population should be estimated on the unit of representation, while there were also 21 constituencies which fell very far below the same unit. Thus one-third of the constituencies in the province were either above or below the average, and so the representation was not equal. In the Province of Quebec there were 32 constituencies below the average and 13 above.

He considered that this established the necessity, not for changing the boundaries of the two electoral districts as was proposed in the bill, but for a general redistribution of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec. He argued that the proper way to bring this about was to observe the county and city boundaries.

He pointed out that in England since 1832 the county and city limits had been made the political unit for representation, and thought that it would be wise for Parliament to abandon the system of distribution which it had adopted and to revert to the old boundaries. The county was essentially the unit for political and other general purposes. The people in the county acted together in municipal matters, in judicial matters and in other ways, and it would be well that their community of interest should be preserved in their parliamentary representation.

He took up some of the sections of the bill and pointed out the anomalies they presented, specially condemning the removal of the Township of Clarence from the County of Russell and placing it in that of Prescott, for which he said there was no justification whatever. He partly approved of the granting of an additional member to Toronto West, but thought the constituency should be divided, as he believed in single constituencies, and did not think that any constituency should have two representatives.

With regard to the legal point raised by Mr. Davies when the bill was last under discussion that the House had not under the 51st section of the British North America Act the right to give the details of a Redistribution bill itself, but should merely lay down the lines for the bill and leave the details to some other authority to be constituted by the House, he thought that question was a very important one, and, although he was not quite prepared to say that what Mr. Davies maintained was incorrect, he considered that it might be well for Parliament to insert a clause in the bill that it should only come into force by proclamation and then to submit a question, under the provisions of the Supreme Court Act, to the Supreme Court to have a decision on this point before the act was brought into force.

Mr. Dickey followed, taking up the legal aspect of the case, answering Mr. McCarthy's objections at considerable length.

It was nearly 6 o'clock when Mr. Dickey sat down, and Sir Richard Cartwright spoke for a few minutes up to recess.

Sir Richard Cartwright said that he approved of what Mr. McCarthy had said, but what that gentleman proposed did not remedy all the ills. He roundly abused the Redistribution Act of 1882 and the present measure, and went into statistics at some length to show the objectionable nature of the present bill.

Defence of the Bill.

Hon. Mr. Haggart strongly supported the bill and "went for" D'Alton McCarthy in pretty lively style. He claimed that the distribution was made in the finest possible manner and severely criticised Mr. McCarthy's amendment. He ridiculed the idea of adopting the county boundaries for Dominion election purposes, and said that if that was done then the province could be gerrymandered so as to bring a blush of shame even to the cheek of the hon. member for Simcoe. He denied that Russell county was gerrymandered and defended the other charges made. With regard to the bill of 1882, no one was more responsible for it than the member for North Simcoe. At that time he occupied an honored position in the House and had some weight and influence, which he used for the bill. It was queer that he should now come down with a motion of want of confidence in the Government.

Col. O'Brien performed one of his periodical somersaults and announced that he had been elected as a Conservative to support the tariff policy of the Government, but on other matters he could do as he pleased, and this time he pleased to vote for Mr. McCarthy's amendment and against the bill, which he characterized as most unfair.

The debate was continued until 12.45 by Messrs. Masson, Paterson (Brant), Bennett, Gibbs, McCarthy and Davin, and its adjournment was moved by Mr. Flint.

A GIRL'S JEALOUS LOVERS

Raise a Disturbance in Which Her Father and Guest Are Killed.

DEMING, N. M., June 8.—A terrible tragedy occurred at Las Palomar, on the border, 30 miles south, on Saturday last. An official of the Mexican customs house was entertaining an officer of the regiment which has been stationed there ever since the last Ascension revolt at his private residence. The daughter of the official, a beautiful senorita, acted as hostess. In the midst of the meal the house was entered by several guards, led by two young suitors of the daughter. An attack was made upon the officer. Friends of both parties joined in the fight, and before the regiment could separate the combatants the father and the officer had been killed and several members of both factions were dangerously injured. The battle lasted for several hours and was characterized by desperate fighting. Pistols and sabers were the weapons employed. Jealousy is supposed to have been the cause of the attack. For some time past there has been considerable feeling between the officers and soldiers of the regiment and frequent fights have occurred.

DEATH THEIR FATE.

Father, Mother and Daughter Perish While Attempting to Save the Boy.

FOREST CITY, Mo., June 8.—Stephen Shalor, aged 16, was running across a foot bridge over a pond here yesterday, when he fell into the water. His mother and sister, the latter a girl of 15, witnessed the accident, and jumped into the water to rescue him. The water was over their heads, and instead of saving the boy they found themselves struggling for their own lives. The father, Stephen Shalor, summoned by the cries of his drowning wife and children, although unable to swim, at once jumped into the water. The fight for life only lasted a short time, and when the neighbors finally reached the spot it was only to remove from the water the bodies of father, mother and children. Five other children are left orphans by the accident.

Attempted Wife Murder and Suicide.

MAIDSTONE, June 8.—Frederick Marrs, shoemaker, Strood, is alleged to have attempted to murder his wife by making a ferocious attack upon her with a hammer whilst she lay in bed. Her cheek bones were smashed in and she received other serious injuries about the head and body, and her life is despaired of. After the woman had become insensible the man is alleged to have made an attack with the hammer upon his son, aged 15, who, however, managed to escape by jumping from the top to the bottom of the staircase, after which he gave information to the police of what had occurred. Marrs was arrested and taken to the police station, where later he attempted to commit suicide by strangling himself with his handkerchief. When discovered he was insensible and blood was flowing from his ears.

The Clergyman Is Violent.

HAMILTON, June 8.—Rev. George Reedy, the man who suddenly went crazy at Mrs. Hughson's house here, continues very violent and when any of the turnkeys at the jail approach he flies into paroxysms of rage that are simply terrible, at one moment grovelling on the floor and the next tearing at himself and endeavoring to bite his hand and arm. Governor Ogilvie found it necessary to fasten him in a leather casing in order that he might do himself no injury. The young girl whom he married on such short acquaintance has made no attempt to see her crazy husband.

Derby Sweep Wrangle—A Writ of Attachment.

MONTREAL, June 8.—A writ of attachment has been issued against the funds of the Carslake's Derby Sweepstakes. The action is taken by George Carpenter for $50,000 in the hands of the Molsons Bank. The plaintiff in his declaration claims that the money is forfeited, being the proceeds of the sale of tickets in "Carslake's Derby Sweep," a lottery which is a violation of the law. Holders of the winning tickets in the sweep will in consequence of this action probably not be able to cash them as soon as expected.

A Divorce Suit.

KINGSTON, June 8.—Anna Mary McBride is applying for divorce from Daniel McBride. Mrs. McBride is a daughter of A. Clark, township of Richmond, and was married to Daniel McBride, Gosport, about seven or eight years ago. After living together for about a year they separated, Mrs. McBride returning to the parental roof, where she has remained until recently, when she went to Chicago, from whence the notice issued. McBride is said to be at present in Toledo, Ohio.

The Flood in South Norwich.

OTTERVILLE, June 8.—The flood in Otter Creek caused great damage. S. B. Loucks lost two dams and a lot of other property; loss $2000. McLean lost his dam; loss $1500. John Rock lost his dam; loss $1500; and nearly all the bridges in the township south of Norwich are gone. It was the most disastrous flood ever known here.

Suicide of a Clergyman.

BRIGHTON, June 8.—An inquest was held at Hove on the body of the Rev. Edwin Webster, aged 70, who hanged himself in his study. He kept a school, and had worried lately over money matters. The jury found that deceased committed suicide while of unsound mind.

Unemployed in New South Wales.

SYDNEY, June 8.—The situation of the unemployed, many of whom are penniless, is causing some anxiety. The New South Wales Government has made arrangements to prevent destitute persons from starving.

NEWS FROM INDIA.

Death of a Maharajah—His Minister Assassinated—Cholera Rampant.

CALCUTTA, June 8.—Jung Bihariljal, the favorite councillor of the late Maharajah of Ulwar, was assassinated on the night of the Maharajah's death. He was murdered by an unknown swordsman while he was proceeding to the railway station. Jai Singh, who is ten years old, the only son of the late Maharajah, succeeds to the throne. The Rajah of Sikhim will probably be allowed to live in retirement on British territory, his plight having proved that he has no desire to continue in power. One of his sons will probably succeed with a Council of Regency. Cholera is still raging in Srinagur and 500 cases are occurring daily.

WHO'LL BE NOMINATED?

THE FIGHT AT THE BIG CONVENTION.

Mr. Fassett Unanimously Elected Temporary Chairman—He Makes a Speech in Which He Eulogizes the Republican Party.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 8.—The Republican National Convention was called to order at 12.23 yesterday and Rev. Dr. Wm. Brush, chancellor of Dakota University, made the opening prayer, after which M. H. De Young of California read the call for the convention. J. Sloat Fassett of New York, an active Blaine partisan, was elected temporary chairman without opposition.

Chairman Fassett made a lengthy speech. The speech was received with enthusiasm from the Blaine men and manifestations of approval from the Harrison delegates. His allusions to reciprocity and the declaration that with all good Republicans the party is greater than any one man, and that the loyal decree of all is party success, provoked demonstrations of approval.

The height of enthusiasm was reached when Mr. Fassett said that when the convention adjourned all rivalry would be ended and when the nomination should be made there would be but one choice. "All our candidates are great men," said he, "some men are greater than others—[laughter]—but our duty is to select the strongest." [Applause.]

It was obvious that the speaker was gradually approaching an allusion to James G. Blaine and every individual of the vast audience of 10,000 people breathlessly awaited the allusion and the demonstration that would follow. It came in the following sentence: "Our party has furnished Lincoln—[applause]—Seward, Grant. Those men are great; those names will always remain great because of their growth in the line of devotion to the Republican doctrine and Republican principles. Garfield—[applause]—Harrison and Blaine are all great Republicans." The words "Harrison and Blaine" were mentioned so rapidly that the friends of the former candidate were taken by surprise and had no opportunity to cheer for their leader. But the Blaine men made most of the occasion, and for three minutes the delegates waved their hats and handkerchiefs wildly in the air and cheered the great leader.

Another scene came when Mr. Fassett praised the work of the last Congress under the iron will and strong administration of Thomas B. Reed. Almost equal to the ovation to Blaine was the enthusiasm inspired by this reference to the great Republican parliamentarian.

The ex-Speaker was in the rear stands and was invisible to most of the audience. Someone started the cry of "Reed! Reed!" and it was instantly taken up by the delegates and the gallery. The building rang with the popular demand for the appearance of the man from Maine, but Mr. Reed displayed all his customary coolness, and it was not until the chairman of the convention beckoned to him that he finally arose from his seat. At the sight of the distinguished son of Maine every delegate arose to do him homage, and long after he had resumed his seat the cheering continued.

Mr. Reed spoke briefly.

The temporary officers were announced and elected by acclamation, and it was ordered that until the permanent organization should be effected the convention should be guided by the rules of the last preceding Republican convention.

The various committees were then selected and the convention at 1.54 p.m. adjourned till 11 o'clock to-morrow.

Mr. Fassett's speech was the feature of the day's proceedings. His reference to the successful policy of the Republican party in the past and its promises for the future elicited great applause — greatest perhaps at the conclusion of this sentence: "The policy of protection to American labor and American industries established, developed and vindicated the, markets of the world opened by the persuasive logic of reciprocity to the products of the American workshop and the American farm, until to-day the nations of the earth are paying tribute to the sagacity of our legislation and diplomacy in millions upon millions of of increased purchases, and Lord Salisbury has been driven to the significant confession that even in England free trade has proved disappointing."

A Hidden Secret.

MINNEAPOLIS—Later—The first day of the Republican National Convention ends with the Republican nomination still a hidden secret to be disclosed only when the decisive ballot reveals the unfathomable intentions of the scores of unpledged and uncommitted delegates.

It is thoroughly realised by the friends of both the chief candidates to-night that the result of the convention is to depend upon these uncommitted vacillating delegates who are pledged to neither candidate and who are claimed for both. What these uncertain delegates will do in the end no power on earth can predict, and that the nomination depends upon their action tends to make this one of the most aggravating presidential contests that the Republican party has ever known. The day closed without any perceptible significant advantage for either side.

Departure of Mr. Blaine.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Ex-Secretary Blaine took his departure for Boston at 3.15 yesterday. He departed quietly, and there was no demonstration of any kind attending his leaving the scene where he has for the past three years divided public attention with the President.

The Emperor and the Czar.

KIEL, June 8.—At 9 o'clock yesterday Emperor William boarded the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern and started for Friedrichsruhe to meet the Czar. The Hohenzollern was escorted by another yacht. Upon leaving the roadstead the Imperial yacht and her escort were saluted by the warships in the harbor.

Initiation Killed Him.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 8.—Wilkins Rustin of Omaha, a Yale sophomore, who was injured during a secret society initiation a few nights ago by running blindfolded into a wagon-pole, died last night while undergoing an operation. Warrants for the arrest of D. K. E. Society men at Yale, for manslaughter in causing Rustin's death by the initiation, will probably be sworn out. The faculty will investigate and eliminate all hazing features from secret society initiations in the future.

Eight Were Killed by Lightning.

VIENNA, June 8.—A house in the Austrian Alps was destroyed by lightning yesterday, and eight persons who were in the building were killed.

Mr. Fairbairn's False Statements Corrected.

The following communication has been forwarded to the Lindsay Post for publication:—

To the Editor of the Canadian Post.

DEAR SIR,—A pamphlet purporting to be a speech delivered by Mr. Fairbairn, M. P. for South Victoria, in the House of Commons at Ottawa, on the 26th ult., was handed to me last week on my return from Manitoba. In this speech I find Mr. Fairbairn refers to a conversation he had with me in the following language:

"Mr. FAIRBAIRN. I am also going to repeat a statement made by the President of the Reform Association of South Victoria. I met him on my way to Ottawa the other day. He had a large farm in Dakota, and he was over here buying horses. I asked him: 'What are you at Peterborough for?' 'Well,' he said, 'Fairbairn, I am going to be a loyal man like the rest of you Canadians; I am abandoning my Dakota farm, and I am going to Manitoba where I will meet my two sons, and we are going to break up a large farm and settle down as loyal Canadians.' I will give hon. gentlemen his name if they desire it; he told me I could use it here.

"Some hon. Members. Name.

"Mr. FAIRBAIRN. William Eyres, Esq. I met with him in the county council for many years.

"Mr. LANDERKIN. He was a Tory then.

"Mr. FAIRBAIRN. No, he was not a Tory, but he is a Tory now."

When I read the above I wondered what had happened Mr. Fairbairn. Has his close application to his parliamentary duties unstrung his mind, or has the foul moral atmosphere so prevalent at Ottawa carried him down with McGreevy, Langevin and the rest of the boodle brigade? If his purpose was to get as far from the truth as possible; then he has succeeded admirably. What was said about my loyalty was said in the veriest irony and Mr. Fairbairn knew it right well. His reference to it is a mean effort to make a little unjust capital at my expense by twisting the remarks I gave him on his loud-mouthed loyalty. Mr. Fairbairn was in error when he said "I was abandoning my Dakota farm," but the extreme height of barefaced falsehood is reached when he says "He told me I could use it here." I gave him no such permission; he did not require it.

It is scarcely necessary for me to add Mr. Fairbairn deliberately stated what he knew was not true, when he said, "he is a Tory now!" During the last 38 years I have not cast a Tory vote at either a provincial or Dominion election, and now as I look at our fair country, weighted down with heavy taxation, much of it unnecessary, except to furnish funds for a foul breed of boodlers and their accomplices worse than Tammany ever knew, I am more than ever convinced that the interests of this grand Dominion would be best promoted by hurling from power the whole Tory party.

Since Mr. Fairbairn, without any permission from me, has seen fit to use my name before the House of Commons, and to circulate the above false statements in the county of Victoria in pamphlet form (I understand), they have not appeared in the public press, I consider an explanation if my position and duties due to my Reform friends who have honoured me with their confidence for so many years. I have been farming and dealing in farm land for nearly forty years. In my early days I bought cheap farm land in this country to the full extent of my ability to pay, and never sold an acre until thirteen years ago when I found farm land depreciating rapidly in value. About this time I sold $26,000 worth at an advance on cost of 100 per cent. Had I not, perhaps I should say "abandoned"—all my land property in this country at that time and escaped the blessings (?) of Tory rule, I would now be thousands of dollars ahead. Thirteen years ago, I with my son, went to Manitoba to invest proceeds of farms then sold, but we found the land laws then in force there very unfavorable to the actual settler. Reluctantly we crossed the line into the United States where we believed a more inviting field was open, and there in the then Territory of Dakota we invested a considerable amount and instead of being about to abandon our property there we have found the valley of the Red River all right. Of other parts of Dakota I have nothing to say. Our land in Dakota has gone up in price from 200 to 500 per cent. and is now saleable almost any day. I am negotiating the sale of 160 acres of this land which is far from our centre of operation and not a rod of fence or an inch of a roof on it, for $30 per acre, when this year's crop is removed. I suppose Mr. Fairbairn calls this "abandoning" it. This land paid me last year $660 rent, and I did not skin my tenant either. He had three times as much. I got only a quarter of the crop. The above cannot now, so far as I know, be repeated in Dakota, certainly not in the valley of the Red River, but I believe it can be done, or something approximating it, in our own Northwest country, and here I would like to remind my friend Mr. Fairbairn I never swore away my allegiance to my country, or to our noble Queen—long may she live! I have paid $300 taxes in a year in Dakota, and did not have the privilege of voting, even for a poundkeeper, and it was right. Now I believe $30.00 taken out of one acre of land in Dakota, well as it has paid, and judiciously invested in Manitoba first quality land, at from $3.00 to $10.00 per acre, and properly attended to will in the not far distant future pay better than it would if allowed to remain in Dakota land at $30 per acre. Now sir I think you can at least get a glimpse at my loyalty to my country and to myself and family, and also the reason why I want to "abandon" a portion of my Dakota land, viz, to raise funds to open up the large farm Mr. Fairbairn speaks of in Manitoba.

There is another reason why I want to invest in Manitoba. In going up and down in that country and talking with the people, I have yet to find a man there, Tory or Grit, who is not earnestly looking and hoping for the day when railway monopoly and high protective tariff will be things of the past; and I have no doubt that from that far western country a voice will yet come right down to Ottawa touching these matters, which must be heard. With regard to binder twine, of which he says so much in his pamphlet, I think Mr. Fairbairn will admit the old proverb, "Seeing is believing." Well, we used twine last year in Dakota to bind 20,000 bushels of grain and 3,000 bushels here, and we paid for same quality of twine about three cents per pound more here than in Dakota. I may, at a future time, furnish price list, which is not now at hand. Only a few words on coal oil, and I am done. A few days ago I was at my son's place in Dakota, I saw him roll in a barrel of the best American coal oil at 12 cents per gallon. I pay for same oil here 25 cents. I am glad our Tory Government cannot tax the light of day.

Thanking you for so much space, I am

Abraham Rose, assessment confirmed; David Speirs, assessment confirmed; Thos. Humphries, assessment confirmed. Alex. Drummond was assessed as owner instead of tenant for west half lot 17 concession 9; J. H. Taylor, for east half 10, concession 10, instead of Alex. Drummond; Jas. Duffus for south west corner lot 25, concession 11, instead of Cummings; and Wm. Read, tenant for east half 20, concession 14, John Crowley owner; Gilbert Blizard tenant for east half 20 and south half of east half 21, concession 2; a dog assessed to Wm. Connell to be assessed to Allen Enon. John Lancaster, David Johnston and John Drummond certified that their dogs were destroyed; they were ordered to be removed from the roll.

The court adjourned to meet on Monday, 20th June next.

At a meeting of the Otonabee council held on the same day, the following business was transacted: Dr. Harrison was allowed to commute his street labor for two years for building a sidewalk from the front road along the side street to his house, and Wm. McFarlane his street labor for one year for repairing crossing opposite his lot. The following accounts were passed:—Rodger Dyville, cedar, $7 64; Robert Evans, cedar, $12.00; G. W. Enon, salary as assessor for 1892, $50.

Council adjourned to 20th June.

Meeting of the Otonabee Board of Health complaint was made by the medical health officer, that a stench was arising from a dead horse which had been dumped into the Keene river, the secretary was instructed to notify the person who put it there to remove and destroy it. Complaint was also made that a slaughter house and hog pen near the locks bridge were emiting an unsavory smell, the persons owning them was ordered to have them removed. A communication was received from the secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, requesting the approval of the Otonabee council and Board of Health of the proposed Peterborough sewerage system. The secretary was instructed to notify the Provincial Board of Health that they are opposed to the town of Peterborough emptying its sewerage into the Otonabee river.

Peterborough Cheese Board.

A Large Number of Factories Represented at the Board Meeting Yesterday but the Sales Were Somewhat Low.

The second meeting of this year of the Peterborough Cheese Board was held yesterday afternoon. About forty factories boarded the last half of May, representing in all 3,060 boxes. The buyers present were Wm. Clarkton, W. H. Wrighton, Mr. Cook, (J. T. Warrington, Belleville), Mr. Fitzgerald; Hodgson Bros. Belleville), and Mr. Spence. The bidding was very slow and dull and the makes of some fourteen factories were not sold. Following is a list of the factories represented together with the number of cheese offered:—

Keene	162	Warminster	152
Shearer	140	Central Smith	98
Cherry Grove	120	Cherry Valley	98
Warsaw	122	Wee wood	75
Oak Dale	145	Norwood	75
Melrose Abbey	48	Lakefield	100
Pine Grove	95	Peterborough	80
Otonabee Union	42	Maple Leaf	64
Ormonde	100	Brickley	76
Lang	120	Fraserville	98
North Dummer	60	Bobcaygeon	98
Lakeview	48	Trevorra	84
Beaufort	90	Cedar Dale	76
Stony Lake	30	Ida	70
Millbrook	60	Mount Pleasant	60
Ferry Town	45	Eastcott	80
North Star	60	Fastwood	80
Star	36	Dunsford	33
Manchester	45	Manilla	28
Upingrove	60	Spring Valley	76

After some delay Mr. Cook started the bidding at 8c. for selections. Mr. Wrighton raised it to 8½c., Mr. Clarkton to 8⅝, Mr. Fitzgerald to 8¾ and Mr. Clarkton again raised it to 8⅞ for selections. The following factories sold: Warminster, Shearer, Cherry Grove, Warsaw, Central Smith and Maple Leaf. Mr. Clarkton again offered 8¾c. for selections, Mr. Wrighton 8⅞, Mr. Fitzgerald 8 11-16, and Mr. Clarkton 8⅞, taking the following factories: Keene, North Smith, Pine Grove. Mr. Fitzgerald offered 8¾ cts for selections, Mr. Clarkton 8 9 16. Mr. Fitzgerald bid 8⅞ and Mr. Clarkton 8 11 16c, for selections, taking, Oak Dale, Brickly, Peterborough, Fraserville and Beaufort. Mr. Wrighton offered 8½, and Mr. Fitzgerald 8 9-16, taking Mount Pleasant, Ida, Trevorra, Lakeview, Stony Lake, Otonabee Union, Missing Link and North Dummer. In this selection he offered to take cheese of certain factories providing thy would ship to Peterborough but refused. Afterwards they reconsidered the matter and Dunsford, Bobcaygeon and Star accepted Mr. Fitzgerald's offer. Mr. Clarkton offered 8¾, for the Port Hope section, subject to inspection and weight in Montreal but this offer was not taken. Mr. Clarkton offered 8⅞ for the balance of the board which was not accepted. The factories unsold were given permission to sell off the board. The board adjourned to meet again on 21st inst.

That Tired Feeling.

Is often the forerunner of serious illness, which may be broken up if a good tonic like Hood's Sarsaparilla is taken in season. This medicine invigorates the kidneys and liver to remove the waste from the system, purifies the blood and builds up the strength.

Constipation is caused by loss of the peristaltic action of the bowels. Hood's Pills restore the action and invigorate the liver.

Enrich the blood by the use of Milburn's Beef, Iron and Wine, which supplies the necessary blood building material. dw

Health Department.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

By constipation is meant irregular action of the bowels, often called costiveness, and commonly caused by dyspepsia, neglect or excess in eating or drinking, etc. It is a serious complaint and not to be neglected under any circumstances, as it leads to impure blood, headache, debility, fevers, etc. A uniformly successful remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters, which, if faithfully tried, never fails to effect a prompt and lasting cure even in the worst cases. The following extract from a letter from Mr. Jas. M. Currie, Banff, will speak for itself:—"I have been troubled with constipation and general debility and was induced to use your B.B.B. through seeing your advertisement. I now take great pleasure in recommending it to all my friends, as it completely cured me." dw

Self Application of Electricity

FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES BY THE

DORENWEND ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments.

HEAD OFFICE—103 Yonge St., Toronto

THE WORLD'S BEST.

All diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete Body Battery. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a Current of Quantity, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for Indigestion, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Liver and Kidney Troubles, Weak Back, Spinal Diseases, Heart Disease, Nervous Debility, Paralysis, Vertigo, Female Complaints, Impotence, Sexual Decline and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the Dorenwend Belt is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy them but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. J. D. TULLY, Agent, Peterborough. oct w

EXTENSIVE CHANGES IN

THOMAS KELLY'S

DRY GOODS ESTABLISHMENT.

POSITIVE ALTERATION SALE!

About a year ago extensive alterations and improvements in our George and Simcoe Street premises were contemplated and publicly announced in good faith, and preparations were commenced to transform our store into one of the finest business premises in Peterborough. Unfortunately, owing to difficulties which arose at the time, we were compelled to postpone the work indefinitely. Now, however, we have determined that These Improvements must go on, no matter what the Cost. We, therefore, beg to announce that during the month of July, in order to allow these important alterations to be made, we will be of the premises altogether, for about a month. To avoid the expense and trouble of removing the goods, we have decided to sell off our whole stock, and will commence at once a Sweeping Clearance Sale of everything in the store. Nothing will be reserved during the next two months. The stock consists of regular Staple Goods—all new and fashionable—bought for this season's trade. The Splendid Values which will be given will afford the greatest inducements to Dry Goods Buyers which have been offered for many years to the people of Peterborough.

To secure a complete clearance we are prepared to make great sacrifices in every department. Prices will be a Secondary Matter! The Goods Must Go! There will be Bargains for Everybody!

Come and buy now, if you want to reap the great benefit of the surrender of profits which must be made during this Positive Alteration Sale.

G. T. R. Lands.

It will be seen by posters that the lands owned by the G. T. R. Company are for sale by auction. These lands near the Black Bridge will be sold next Monday on the ground at 6 p.m. The lots on McDonel and Park streets, near G. M. Rogers, will be sold by auction on Monday, 20th June, at 6 p.m., on the ground. No doubt these valuable lands will be readily sold, as the company is disposing of all town lots. 3114

Parting Remembrance.

Mr. George Crowther, of the clerical staff of the Edison General Electric Company's Works, who left on Monday night to accept a position on the Royal staff, was handsomely remembered by associates before his departure. The foreman of his department and his fellow employees could not allow the opportunity to pass, so strong was their friendship and respect for him, without showing in some tangible manner their high esteem and regard for their departing brother. Mr. W. C. Morris read the address and made the presentation of a handsome gold-headed walking stick. Mr. Crowther made a feeling reply, thanking his friends for their kindness and wishing them every success.

St. Luke's Vestry.

A vestry meeting was held in St. Luke's church last evening. Those present were Messrs. H. C. Rogers, A. Dawson, J. Bell, F. Hall, D. Spence, S. Cassidy, R. Fitch, E. A. Peck, J. Burnham and others. Rev. Rector Symonds presided and opened the proceedings with prayer. A discussion took place as to the desirability of adding a wing to the rectory, putting in a furnace and making other improvements. It was decided to place a furnace in the rectory and a committee, consisting of Messrs. Burnham, Davidson and Rogers, were appointed to decide upon other improvements. The rector stated that he would return on Sunday week and spend some days visiting the members of his parish. Several minor matters were discussed when the meeting adjourned.

A Splendid Garden Party.

Last evening two conveyances bearing a large number of the members of the Peterborough Lodge, R. T. of T. in response to an invitation from the Springville Lodge drove out to Mr. J. B. Fowler's residence, near Springville, to attend a garden party given under the auspices of the Springville R. T. of T. A delightful time was spent on the beautiful and decorated lawn of Mr. Fowler. Refreshments were served during the evening and a fine programme carried out consisting of Mrs. D. Kernaghan, solo, Miss Daisy Fowler, solo; Sergt-Major Rundle, reading; Mr. Steers, song; Mr. N. B. Scott, mandolin solo; Mrs. Kernaghan, song; Dr. A. R. Stephenson, speech; Miss Eva Goldsmith, recitation and club swinging; Master Roy Stephenson, club swinging. Dr. P. D. Goldsmith presided in his usual happy manner. A large number were also present from the country.

Wedding Bells.

Nuptials of Mr. T. F. Matthews and Miss Ella Stratton.

"Ardyn" the residence of Mrs. James Stratton, 118 Gilmour street, was last evening the scene of one of those personally interesting social events, a wedding. Mr. T. F. Matthews, the third son of Mr. Geo. Matthews, Lindsay, was united in marriage to Miss Ella M., youngest daughter of the late James Stratton, Collector of Customs. The ceremony was performed in the presence of about forty guests, the immediate relatives of the families concerned. The officiating minister was Rev. J. E. Trotter, pastor of the Murray street Baptist church. The fair bride, attired in white Bengaline silk, trimmed with thread lace, and wearing the usual veil and orange blossoms, with diamond ornaments, the gift of the groom, and a bouquet of white roses, stood under a beautiful floral horseshoe, suspended from the arch between the front and back drawing rooms. The duties of bridesmaid was performed by Miss Mary Stratton, sister of the bride and Miss Wrighton, while her neice, pretty and piquante, Velva Hunter, was maid of honour, dressed in white muil. Miss Mary Stratton was dressed in pale pink silk, and Miss Wrighton in cream silk. Both bridesmaids wore beautiful solid gold bracelets, and the little maid of honour a gold bar pin, the gifts of the groom. Mr. Matthews was assisted by his brother, Mr. R. C. Matthews, and Mr. A. H. Stratton, brother of the bride. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the usual wedding breakfast was served, and the newly wedded pair received the cordial congratulations of the assembled guests. A feature of the occasion, worthy of remark, was the unusually large number of unusually elegant presents, and both Mr. and Mrs. Matthews must feel greatly gratified by the evidence thus afforded of the popularity they enjoy and the high esteem in which they are held. The presents included gifts from British Columbia, Winnipeg, Montreal, Ottawa, Lindsay and Toronto. Among those which might be mentioned are the gifts of the employees of the EXAMINER and Peterborough Bookstore, a beautiful silver tea set and of the bride's Sunday-school class, and that presented Mr. Matthews by the employees of his establishment. At nine o'clock the bridal party proceeded to the G. T. R. station, where a large number of persons had assembled to greet them and wish them bon voyage. Mr. and Mrs. Matthews took the G. T. R. Express south for their wedding tour. They go first to Montreal, then down Lake Champlain, and through the New England states and as far south as Richmond, Virginia. Mr. and Mrs. Matthews enter upon their matrimonial life under the very happiest auspices, amidst the very best wishes of a very wide circle of friends for a happy and prosperous wedded life.

There Should be no Trouble with the Baby.

It Becomes a Joy, if Fed Properly.

THERE should be no difficulties, no fears, no heart sorrows about your baby's condition, dear mother, if you are willing to be guided by wisdom and experience.

Your baby is sickly and delicate, simply because you are not feeding it properly. It is not the amount of food you administer, or the number of times it is fed per day; it is the quality and the peculiar preparation of the diet that must be considered.

Thousands of our best physicians declare that, in order to nourish an infant properly when it is deprived of good healthy breast milk, or only partially sustained by it, a food must be used which combines all the properties of the mother's milk.

The only food which truly combines all the nutritive ingredients of nature's food, is Lactated Food, now so universally used throughout Canada. It is predigested; it does not produce irritation as other foods usually do; it subdues inflammation of the stomach and intestines, and is always retained on the weakest stomach. Lactated Food possesses more strength-giving qualities than any other prepared food, or cow's milk, and is cheaper to use.

There is absolutely no trouble, mother, when your baby is fed on Lactated Food; it becomes happy, contented and bright; it will sleep well, and will escape all those common and dangerous summer maladies.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Rescued Their Child from Scrofula.

For Scrofula, Salt Rheum, and all other foul humors in the blood of children or adults, Hood's Sarsaparilla is an unequalled remedy. Read this:

Suffering Children

Our girl was a beautiful baby, fair and plump and healthy. But when she was two years old, sores broke out behind her ears and spread rapidly over her head and forehead down to her eyes, and into her neck. We consulted one of the best physicians in Brooklyn, but nothing did her any good. The doctor said it was caused by a scrofula humor in the blood. Her head became offensive to the smell and dreadful to look at. Her general health waned and she would lay in a large chair all day without any life or energy. The sores caused great itching and burning, so that at times we had to restrain her hands to prevent scratching. For 3 years with this terrible humor. Being urged to try Hood's Sarsaparilla we did so. We soon noticed that she had more life and appetite. The medicine seemed to drive out more of the humor for a short time, but it soon began to subside, the itching and burning ceased, and in a few months her head became entirely free of the sore. She is now perfectly well, has no evidence of the humor, and her skin is soft and healthy. She seems like an entirely different child, in health and general appearance, from what she was before taking

One Complete Sore

She Suffered Fearfully

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Appointment of a Local Superintendent for the Schools,

Recommended by the Special Committee, but is Lost on a Division—The Services of the Music Teacher Dispensed with—The High School Inspector's Report the Most Favourable ever Received—The Property Committee's Report—Other Matters and Motions.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education was held in the school board rooms last evening. There were present: Mr. Wright, chairman, and Messrs. Dr. Burnham, Hill, Dunne, Law, Hartley, Hamilton, McBain, Ferguson, McKee and Dumble.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

INQUIRIES.

Dr. BURNHAM asked if the town council had to appoint a truant officer?

CHAIRMAN—I think they have to do so. I see the police are acting in other places, such as Brantford, where two boys were recently brought up and whipped for playing truant.

The high school inspector's report was read and received. It reported the staff and Institute as A1. The report will be published to-morrow.

The report was adopted.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

Mr. McBain read the report of the Property Committee.

To the chairman and members of the Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Property Committee beg leave to report that they have completed the levelling and sodding of the grounds and sidewalks around the Central school. They also thought it advisable to build a sidewalk from the entrance to the school to the north end of the grounds for the girls.

Your committee visited the different schools and would recommend that at the north ward school a drain be dug on the west side of the building to carry water from the drain pipes off the roof and that the floor in the basement be repaired with cement and other smaller repairs that require attention. At the West Ward school we would recommend that the wood work be repaired, inside and out, and the walls and ceiling cleaned and calsimined. At the South Ward we found everything clean and in good order, and consider that the janitor is doing his work in a satisfactory manner. We had twenty maple trees planted around the school at a cost of 25 cents each. We have also reason to be satisfied with the state of the West Ward School. The janitor there has everything clean and tidy. We are not satisfied with the condition of the North Ward School, but the janitor promised to have the different matters pointed out, attended to at once. In reference to the janitor at the Central School we beg to report that owing to his increased duties, we think it advisable to procure the assistance of a younger and abler man, as the present janitor is not capable of undertaking the work.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. J. McBAIN,
Chairman.

Mr. McBain moved, seconded by Mr. Hamilton, that the report be adopted excepting the clause referring to Mr. Tighe, the janitor.—Carried.

Mr. HAMILTON thought Mr. Tighe incapable of doing the work.

Mr. HILL thought it should be left to a committee. He thought two men could do the work better than one. They paid Mr. Tighe $600 a year. He would move that a special committee be appointed to consider the matter.

Moved by Mr. Hartley, seconded by Mr. Dunne, that the matter of Mr. Tighe's be referred to Committee on Appointments.—Carried,

GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT FOR THE SCHOOL

Mr. Hill, chairman of the special committee appointed to inquire into the advisability of securing a general superintendent, read the report of that committee as follows:

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

Your special committee, having considered the matter referred to them as fully and carefully as practicable, beg leave to submit and recommend the acceptance of the following report:

That the Board secure the services of an inspector who will give his whole and undivided attention to the inspection and general supervision of the public schools and his duties to begin after the midsummer vacation, that the secretary be instructed to advertise at once for a competent man. Though your committee do not deem it advisable that the inspector's duties be specifically defined, judging it best to allow him great latitude, they respectfully suggest the following as an outline of the course he is to follow.

DUTIES.

1. He shall prescribe with the concurrence of the Board the duties of the teachers and the division of the subjects among them, and shall be responsible for the organization and discipline of the whole school.

2. He shall oversee the course of instruction, visiting each department, examining its condition and progress, seeing that the best methods of managing, instruction and discipline are introduced, and devoting a portion of his time when occasion calls for it in the work of class instruction.

3 He shall furnish to the Board bi-monthly reports as to attendance of the staff and their promptitude, and also as to the manner in which the teachers have attended to their duties, and upon such special subjects as he may deem advisable in the interests of the schools.

4. He shall keep a complete list of all supplies furnished the several departments and distribute the same as required to the respective teachers.

5. He shall in view of improving the attendance investigate all cases of truancy and irregular attendance and see that the truant officer properly attends to his duties and advise in all cases of special discipline.

6 He shall attend the meeting of the board, and when requested, those of standing committees.

7 He shall in October of each year furnish the board in committee an annual report dealing specially with each teacher as to progress made in instruction, discipline and general deportment in the schools. Your committee recommend that public teachers shall be engaged by the year and each such teacher's appointment must be renewed in October of each year.

8. He shall have power and is advised to call meetings of the teachers at least once a month to consult in regard to matters pertaining to the school.

9. He shall have a general supervision of the grounds, buildings and appurtenances of the school, and shall report any want of neatness or cleanliness on the premises. Whenever repairs and supplies are needed he shall give notice to the chairman of the standing committee on supplies or repairs.

10. He shall with the assistance of the staff, conduct promotion examinations and make such promotions from one class to another as he may deem expedient, providing merit alone shall be an invariable rule and all examination papers shall be marked under any direction as he may prescribe.

11. He is strictly enjoined to take every precaution to prevent the spread of infectious diseases, excluding all pupils who are afflicted and all those who reside in the same house until complete recovery and a medical certificate furnished. It is also recommended that pupils coming to school without having their persons and apparel neat and clean, should be sent home to receive proper attention.

12. He shall be empowered, subject to the approval of the Board, to remove teachers from one room to another, and from one ward school to another, when in his judgment such transfers may be compatible with increased efficiency.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

W. H. HILL,
Chairman.

THE MUSIC TEACHER DISPENSED WITH.

Mr. HILL said the committee thought it better to prepare two separate reports, since they had to deal with two entirely different things.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN—In the matter of music your committee beg leave to report that all that is now being accomplished in the subject may be accomplished as fully and satisfactorily by the Board's utilizing the musical talent of their teachers, and by giving preference, when engaging teachers, to those having a knowledge of music.

Your committee therefore recommend that the services of the music teacher be dispensed with at the end of the present session, and that the Secretary notify him of the decision of the Board.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. HILL,
Chairman.

DISCUSSION.

Mr. Hill, of the special committee, in reference to the appointment of a local superintendent of the school, strongly urged its acceptance. A number of the special committee had visited Lindsay, where they had a local superintendent fulfilling his duties and managing the school on much the same basis as outlined in the report. The public schools of Lindsay were once the worst in the province, but under their new regulations and management they were now among the best.

Mr. Dumble in a lengthy review of the report, strongly objected to its adoption. It was too sweeping and created too many changes. The duties of the inspector were too numerous. He did not think such a change was necessary. The public schools of Peterborough were in a better condition to-day than ever they were before. Could not the board appoint the teachers on their merits? The report said that those teachers having musical ability should be appointed in preference to those that had not. One qualified man teaching music could accomplish more than twenty teachers. If they desired the schools to be in a better condition which he thought they could not be, let the board tell the inspector plainly that they wanted to weed out their teachers. It was not easy to get such a man as the report desired, and they would have to give him $1,000. Better pay the inspector a little more than $250 per year and ask him to give the schools a greater share of his time. He was unprepared to go into this radical change to give a man $1,000 a year to supervise four male teachers who were doing their work well. The Board had no right to bring about these reforms until they had evidence that they were needed.

Dr. BURNHAM asked Mr. Dumble if he did not once advocate such a change as that proposed in the report.

Mr. DUMBLE said he did at one time. That was nearly five years ago, when the public schools were in a very bad state. But they were different now. Accepting the report of the committee was practically supplying the inspector.

Mr. HILL said that was not necessarily so. The report was simply an outline.

Mr. WRIGHTON said before they could appoint another inspector they must dismiss the one they had.

Mr. HAMILTON thought that the system proposed in the report was a good one. The public schools of Peterborough were run in a loose condition. It was a loose business-like manner in which they were conducted and it was not right. A class of 26 people could not be found any place doing work in any other line without a superintendent, as the school teachers were practically doing. The sooner they got systematized the sooner better work would be done. The men on the committee were business men and would see that the money was judiciously expended.

MR LAW approved of the general inspector being appointed. He was badly needed. He would vote for the adoption of the report.

Mr. Hill moved, seconded by Mr. McKee that the report touching the inspector be adopted.

MR DUMBLE said the teachers in each room did their work well and had nothing to do with any other teacher or room. They also did not interfere with one another in the matter of examination discipline or instruction. There was a uniformity about every thing in the school. He favoured a certain amount of supervision but he did not believe in this system of everlastingly nagging the teachers. No evils in the public school system had been pointed out in the report and he believed they could be removed if pointed out. The motion was put by the chairman and as the law requires in a vote of that nature that it shall be a two-thirds vote, the motion was lost, the vote standing 9 to 1 in its favor. The school board having 14 members it would require a vote of 10 to pass the report. The chairman therefore ruled the resolution lost.

Mr. Hamilton moved, seconded by Mr. Hill, that the yeas and nays be called.—Carried.

YEAS—Messrs. (Dr.) Burnham, McKee, Hill, Ferguson, Hartley, Dunne, Hamilton, Law and McBain.

NAYS—Mr. Dumble.

Mr. HILL said he did not interpret the law as Mr. Dumble did in this matter. He thought that the report had been carried, the vote standing 9 to 1. He moved that the matter be referred to the town solicitor for his opinion. Other questions of this nature would be cropping up and it was well to have the matter interpreted. This was a question of principle.

Mr. Hill moved, seconded by Mr. McKee, that the report touching the music master be adopted.—Carried.

OTHER MOTIONS CARRIED

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Mr. Ferguson that the chairman of the Property Committee be instructed to carry out the improvements in the North Ward and West Ward schools contained in the report.—Carried.

Mr. Hill moved, seconded by Dr. Burnham, that the town council be requested by this board to appoint a truant officer according to law—Carried.

Dr. Burnham moved, seconded by Mr. Dumble, that the overcrowding of the school rooms in the Central school be referred to the Supervision Committee.—Carried.

Mr. Hamilton moved, seconded by Mr. Ferguson, that the Property Committee be instructed to investigate the heating of the Central school, and see if some good but inexpensive means for heating cannot be recommended to the board.—Carried.

The board adjourned at 10 o'clock.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it, a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and a dollar. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

AGRICULTURE

The rock which our great flockmasters have split upon heretofore has been promiscuous breeding. Not alone was the error of no selection committed, but, worse still, the various families of sheep were crossed and recrossed until all originality was obliterated and a mongrel produced, which showed poor in flesh and meager in fleece. The most favored of the ovine family as mutton producers are the South Downs and their near cousins the Shropshire Downs. The former are noted all over the sheep-growing regions of the world, and the latter can stand their own in public favor. Where pasture is plenty and winter keep assured these full-bodied sheep are more profitable than the smaller breeds. The Merino sheep lives on its native Sierras on scant provender. The Cheviot and Welsh mountain sheep feed where only a goat could. Their flesh is excellent, but as a lowland sheep they are surpassed by the Downs. The valuable qualities of the Shropshire Downs are vigor of constitution, early ripeness of the wethers for market, and in the ewes marked fecundity; many produce twins, and as dams, are well capable of nourishing the lambs. Our engraving portrays a remarkably fine specimen of this noble breed. In it is seen the ram Ban Chief 4357, bred by A. S. Berry, Birmingham, England. He won the second prize at the Royal Agricultural Society exhibition this year. The sire was Monmouth Wonder 4094; dam by Harborough 2630. He weighed 342 pounds, and sheared nineteen and three-fourths pounds when one year old.—American Agriculturist.

AGRICULTURAL DEPRESSION.

Laziness Attributed as the Cause by a College President.

The eternal and inexorable law that the only price of good things is labor has its application to the subject of agricultural depression, says President Jordan, of Leland Stanford, Jr., University, in an article in the Forum. Though the enemy has sown tares in the tax laws while the farmer has slept, this alone cannot cause agricultural depression, nor can inordinate pensions, wasteful subsidies, and the tyranny of capital, combined, if the farmer himself were not, in some degree, at fault. At any rate, the remedy is in his own hands, and, while striking a blow at the cause of the injury, he should look at himself, to see what part of the blame is due to his own weakness and lack of foresight.

The "relentless hell" of poverty which, Henry George says, yawns beneath civil society, is due to the presence of a horde of men who would gain something for nothing; the natural penalty for laziness is one of the important elements in [illegible] the natural demand [illegible] and that all now felt as able to do a day's work as he ever felt in his life. Although quite well he still takes some B. B. B. occasionally, as he says, to keep him in perfect health.

Yours truly,
THOMAS CUNNIFE,
Welland, Ont.

The steadily increasing sale of B. B. B., the length of time it has been before the people, and the fact that it cures to stay cured, attest the sterling merit of this monarch of medicines, the people's favorite blood purifier, tonic and regulator.

great economic truth in these words: "Poor folks has poor ways." If a man spend a day, in the harvest time, in efforts to send a fool to the Legislature, or a knave to Congress, should he complain if the laws the fools and knaves make add to his own taxes? Who but he is to blame if the laws ostensibly made in his interest simply shift the burden from one of his shoulders to the other? If he stands all day in the public square, spellbound by a tramp with an accordion, or, still worse, if he lounge about on the sawdust floor of a saloon, talking the vile stuff we agree to call "politics," never reading a book, never thinking a thought above the level of the sawdust floor, need he be surprised if his opinions do not meet with respect? It is not cheaper money the farmer needs, but dearer men; men whose time is money, and whose labor is worth the labor of other men; men who know how to do the best things in the best way, and can thereby do their part in alleviating "industrial depression." A busy man the oldtime farmer was; and, being busy, he found time for everything. He read bound books; he enjoyed the pleasures of travel; he educated his family; he kept intelligent watch on all the affairs of the day. He did not find time to stand on the station steps, in the middle of the afternoon, to watch a thousand trains go by, on a thousand consecutive days. He carried no handicap load of tobacco and whisky. He went to the country seat when he had business there; he went with clean clothes, and came back with a clean conscience. He had not time to spend each seventh day on the court house square, talking the dregs of scandal and politics.

"August Flower"

"I inherit some tendency to Dyspepsia from my mother. I suffered two years in this way; consulted a number of doctors. They did me no good. I then used Relieved in Two Days. your August Flower and it was just two days when I felt great relief. I soon got so that I could sleep and eat, and I felt that I was well. That was three years ago, and I am still first-class. I am never without a bottle, and if I feel constipated the least particle a dose or two of August Flower does the work. The beauty of the medicine is, that you can stop the use of it without any bad effects on the system. Constipation While I was sick I Life of Misery felt everything it seemed to me a man could feel. I was of all men most miserable. I can say, in conclusion, that I believe August Flower will cure anyone of indigestion, if taken with judgment. A. M. WONDER IN WELLAND!

A Representative Farmer Speaks.

MR. C. C. HAUN.

The following remarkable facts are fully certified to as being undeniably correct in every particular. Mr. Haun is well known in the vicinity, having resided here over fifty years, and is highly respected as a man of the strictest honor, whose word is as good as his bond.

As will be seen from his letter, four physicians had attended him, and it was only after he had given up hope of cure that he decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters on the recommendation of a neighbor who had been cured of a similar disease by its use. Mr. Haun writes as follows:

DEAR SIRS,—I think I have been one of the worst sufferers you have yet heard of, having been six years in the hands of four of our best doctors without obtaining permanent relief, but continually growing worse, until almost beyond hope of recovery, I tried your Bitters and got relief in a few days. Every organ of my body was deranged, the liver enlarged, hardened and torpid, the heart and digestive organs seriously deranged, a large abscess in my back, followed by paralysis of the right leg, in fact the lower half of my body was entirely useless. After using Burdock Blood Bitters for a few days the abscess burst, discharging fully five quarts of pus in two hours. I felt as if I had received a shock from a powerful battery. My recovery after this was steady and the cure permanent, seeing that for the four years since I have had as good health as ever I had. I still take an occasional bottle, not that I need it but because I wish to keep my system in perfect working order. I can think of no more remarkable case than what I have myself passed through, and no words can express my thankfulness for such perfect recovery.

C. C. HAUN,
Welland P.O.

In this connection the following letter from T. Cummes, Esq., a leading druggist of Welland, Ont., speaks for itself:

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto.

GENTLEMEN,—I have been personally acquainted with Mr. C. C. Haun for the last 20 years, and have always found him a very reliable man. You may place the utmost confidence in anything he says with regard to your medicine. He has on many occasions within the last four years told me that it was marvellous the way the Burdock Blood Bitters had cured him, and that he now felt as able to do a day's work as he ever felt in his life. Although quite well he still takes some B. B. B. occasionally, as he says, to keep him in perfect health.

Yours truly,
THOMAS CUMMES,
Welland, Ont.

The steadily increasing sale of B. B. B., the length of time it has been before the people, and the fact that it cures to stay cured, attest the sterling merit of this monarch of medicines, the people's favorite blood purifier, tonic and regulator.

Forest Fire in New Jersey.

MAY'S LANDING, N.J., June 7.—A destructive forest fire has been raging for three days in the vicinity of English Creek, about seven miles from here, and has burned close to several other small towns. It has been raging fiercely to-day and all efforts to check it have failed.

A Good Investment.

HALIFAX, N.S., June 7.—Mayor Oland of Dartmouth is reported to have invested $4000 in Montague mining property in April. Since that time he has effected a sale to an English company for $80,000; $10,000 in cash was paid over to him Friday.

A Bradford Burglary.

BRADFORD, Ont., June 7.—Early yesterday a young man named W. J. Long was caught burglarizing J. P. Wilcox's jewelry store. When brought before the magistrate he pleaded guilty and was committed to Barrie for trial.

To Superannuate Immigration Agents.

OTTAWA, June 7.—The Department of the Interior has issued orders for the superannuation, after July 1, of the immigration agents at Ottawa, Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton and London. The work done by them in the past will in future be done by the railway companies' traveling agents.

Recent patents granted to women include a grass-catching attachment for lawn mowers, a flexible fire-escape ladder, a rein support, a machine for hanging wall paper, a foot support for telegraph poles, and a street sweeper.

IMPERIAL POMP.

Celebrating the Anniversary of Emperor Francis Joseph's Coronation.

BUDA PESTH, June 7.—A throng of people to-day attended the fetes held here in honor of the anniversary of the coronation of Emperor Francis Joseph as king of Hungary, he having been crowned on June 8, 1867. The houses were gorgeously decorated and there were many triumphal arches. An imposing assemblage of noblemen, statesmen and other dignitaries crowded about the western railroad station to receive the King. He was attired in the uniform of a Hungarian gentleman and was accompanied by the members of the Imperial Family. The members of the Hungarian Cabinet and the Primate of Hungary met the King on the platform and escorted him to carriages. The appearance of the King was the signal for outbursts of cheering by a large crowd in the vicinity. There was a cavalcade of nobles in bejeweled costumes and members of the Hungarian House of Magnates, courtiers and an almost endless line of private carriage. The occupants wore national costumes. Rounds of cheering, salvos of artillery and pealing of bells continued without cessation from the time the procession started until it reached the palace.

To Restrict Immigration.

LONDON, June 7.—The bill to restrict immigration drafted by Home Secretary Matthews is now being considered by the Cabinet, and will probably be approved. But the time intervening before the general elections is too short to enable the measure to be passed. The Tories are determined that if they are returned to power such a law shall be enacted. The necessity of some restrictive legislation has been strongly urged upon Lord Salisbury in view of the fact urged that 400,000 aliens were landed in Great Britain last year. Mr. Matthews has drawn largely upon American legislation in this respect for the material of his bill, which proposes to exclude pauper immigrants entirely and to require a guarantee from all other immigrants that they will be self-supporting.

The Breach Continues.

LONDON, June 7.—A meeting of the National League was held at Bradford yesterday, at which John Dillon said: As all hope of effecting a re-union of the Irish factions before the elections had been abandoned, it had been proposed that a board of arbitration be established, consisting of men like Archbishop Croke, the Lord Mayor of Dublin and some influential American. The plan was that two delegates of each party should be examined and the McCarthyites would not contest any district where the Parnellites had a fair chance of winning. In this way they would avoid contests that were likely to have terrible results in the present state of party feeling.

For all forms of female weaknesses Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an unfailing specific. Mr. Thomas Strachan, Postmaster, Bobcaygeon, writes: My daughter has been ill for the last four years with female weakness, and had been attended by four of the best doctors in our section. She began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and two boxes has done her vastly more good than all the medicines she took from those doctors. Sold by all dealers. dw

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, ONT., January 15, 1890.

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

Unexpected Scene at a Fire.

A sawmill boiler house recently caught fire and had the roof completely consumed. A number of boilers were under steam at the time the fire started, but were saved by the prompt action of the firemen, who pulled nearly all the fire out of the furnace before they were obliged to leave the building. There were three gauges of water in the boilers when the firemen left. Two of the boilers had cords attached to the safety-valves, by which each valve could be raised from its seat. The remaining boiler had a chain attached to its valve. All three of the valves were opened and fastened in that position before the building was abandoned. The valves to which the cords were attached soon closed, owing to the cords burning away, but the chain held the other valve open. Probably the escape of the steam did considerable to save the boilers by deadening the fire immediately over them. After it was again possible to leave the building, there was nearly one gauge of water left in each of the boilers. They were in good shape and unharmed, although the fitting and steam connections were badly deranged. Every boiler should have a chain fitted to its valve for use in case of fire, but a much better way is to make the roof of the fire room fire-proof by building it of brick arches instead of wood. A few tons of channel iron and a sufficient quantity of iron rods combined with brick and mortar will form a roof which will not burn off.

About Pounding Engines.

It stands to reason that if we have an engine fairly well made, with all its parts in line and the valves properly set, it will do its work without a sign, save the sign of the exhaust and the "creep" of the belt parting from the back side of the drum. More frequently we meet with engines whose "chug, chug," as they laboriously pound away at their work, seems to be emulating pile-drivers. The influence steam admission has upon the action of an engine, as regards its noise, is well shown at times in some variable cut-off engines. Within a certain range it works noiselessly, but when additional load is put on and the cut-off changes, the engine pounds furiously. A popular remedy for pounding is keying up the connections all round, screwing down the binders on the shaft bearings, or settling up the shocks in the sides of them. In most cases this only makes a bad matter worse; for when an engine pounds from being out of line, the tighter the connections are the harder they bind, and the stiffer they are. Pounding costs money, for it is power thrown away. It is expensive to have a noisy engine, and disagreeable as well. What is easily cured should not be endured.

The Length of Shafting.

When power is transmitted from a central engine by shafting, seldom more than 50 per cent. of the power created reaches the machines, so great is the friction of the best shafting that can be made, having the best care and with the best lubrication. For small places and short transmission this may be reduced to 15 per cent., but when extended to a greater distance it eventually comes to 50 per cent. loss, and as the establishment becomes larger the efficiency of transmission diminishes more and more. A line of shafting two miles long could not, it is estimated, be turned from one end; it would twist itself off before you could turn it.

Trend of Electric Lighting.

The incandescent lamp of small candle-power seems destined to replace the older and more brilliant ones. For use in decorative effects and in securing even distribution of light lamps of small candle-power are much more serviceable and give better effects in lighting rooms of ordinary size than the sixteen and twenty-four candle-power lamps so long judged as standards. From an economical standpoint, taking everything into consideration, the smallest lamps would probably show a saving in expense.

Do Self-Oilers Induce Carelessness?

Many good devices for self-oiling pulleys have been introduced, with different results. The trouble with self-oiling devices is that if a pulley will run successfully for one month without re-oiling, it is liable to be neglected for three, or until the oil is all worn out, then stick fast to the shaft or become badly cut, then condemned as worthless. In this manner many of the good intentions of the manufacturers are defeated by the neglect and carelessness of the operator.

Young Adolphus Fitzwilliams he loved a fair maid,
But to ask her to marry him he was afraid,
Because of catarrh which she had very bad,
So much so that often the youth was quite glad,
To omit at the parting the kiss of the lover,
The reason of this she set out to discover.
"Catarrh makes me loathsome; it's fatal to love,
O, darling Adolphus, by all that's above,
I vow I'll not lose thee if something there is
To drive out catarrh and to sweeten a kiss."

So this wise young woman began searching for a cure, and good luck attended her. She found Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy at the drug store, and felt convinced that a preparation which the proprietors had such confidence in that they were willing to offer to pay $500, for a case they cannot cure, must be worth trying. She bought it. She tried it. It cured her. And when Adolphus kissed her at the altar last week her kiss was as sweet and pure as roses in June.

Girls, a word of advice: If you want a lover to remain a lover you must get rid of catarrh. Do as this sensible girl did, and get the only sure cure for this disgusting and dangerous disease—Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. c

A. Audette, proprietor House of Commons barber shop, Ottawa, says: A number of my customers are using Anti-Dandruff and it gives the best of satisfaction, and I consider it a success for the purpose advertised. dw

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it, a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and a dollar. We certainly would advise a trial. NEWS OF THE OLD WORLD

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM OVER THE SEA.

The Emperor and the Czar—Exportation of Corn From Russia—Death on the Stage—A Bankrupt Actress—Eruption of Vesuvius—Tragedies in England,

LONDON, June 8.—The latest invention in weddings is that of a rainbow procession, to take place at a forthcoming wedding. The idea originated in the brain of a fashionable West End milliner, and is certainly poetic and artistic. The bride will be dressed in pearl white. Her jewelry will also be of pearls, and the floral trimmings of her dress, with the exception of the traditional orange blossoms, will be Marguerites. The bridesmaids will be gowned in the delicate prismatic hues of the rainbow, carefully shaded into each other after the manner of the aerial original, with diamonds sparsely scattered to represent raindrops.

Enormous Damage by a Storm.

LONDON, June 8.—Lieut. Berkeley Hill, of the Royal Artillery in Mauritius, who was stationed on one of the highest points near Point Louis at the time of the storm, writes:

Port Louis was ruined. The massive stone Catholic Church collapsed, killing the refugees who had fled to it for shelter. Some houses were lifted bodily and carried for yards. All the drains in Port Louis were blocked, and the stench after the steam was terrible. The soldiers in the city worked like heroes, without waiting even to eat. They cleared away barricades 20 yards long and 10 feet high. Of the crops 75 per cent may be said to be wholly ruined. The total loss is from £2,000,000 to £3,000,000.

The Cholera in Persia.

LONDON, June 8.—Advices from Persia state that the cholera continues to rage and is increasing in virulence. The Persian authorities have prevented the spread of the disease westward in the direction of Teheran. The people who are attacked receive no medical assistance, and are driven back if they attempt to leave their infected homes. Soldiers are stationed around the plague-stricken towns and villages, with orders to shoot anyone who attempts to pass the line, and the plague is extinguished by compelling the whole population of a village to perish together.

Queen Victoria's Old Grief.

LONDON, June 8.—From Balmoral comes the news that Queen Victoria has taken on quite a melancholy mood, so much so that her intimate attendants are deeply concerned. Her Majesty had one of these fits about four summers ago, and spent nearly her whole time at Balmoral in visiting the various places where she used to go on picnics with Prince Albert. She is going through the same program on this occasion, and is even more solemn about it than before. The Queen's grief for her consort has evidently not been weakened by time. She always keeps a vacant chair on her right at the private table at Windsor Castle and wherever else she goes, and it would be high treason in her eyes for anyone to occupy that chair.

Narrow Escape of the German Emperor.

BERLIN, June 8.—The following particulars have been received from Proskelartz regarding the narrow escape of the Emperor when driving into that place from Schlebetter on Sunday. The carriage, drawn by four very high-spirited horses, was being driven by Count Dohna, when the animals, frightened by the cheers of the crowd, suddenly swerved and burst through the hedge by the side of the road, and the vehicle would have been precipitated into a deep ditch but for the skilful driving of Count Dohna, who turned them again into the roadway. The Emperor preserved his customary coolness, and did not leave the carriage.

The Canon Fell Dead.

MANCHESTER, June 8. — Rev. Julius Lloyd, canon of Manchester, fell dead in the Manchester Town Hall. He had just made an energetic speech in support of the Manchester and Salford Day School Association, when he was observed to fall from his chair. Medical aid was at once rendered, but it was of no avail, as deceased, when lifted from the floor, was quite dead.

Eruption of Vesuvius.

NAPLES, June 8.—The eruption of Mount Vesuvius, which has been noticeable for some time past, is now very greatly increased in violence. Large quantities of lava are issuing from the crater and flowing down the Cavallo ravine. At noon to-day an earthquake shock was felt in the town of San Severo. The motion was undulatory. For a time the residents were panic-stricken, but upon seeing that no damage had been done, and that the disturbance had ceased, order was quickly restored.

Murdered the Witness.

TRACEY, Cal., June 8.—Last April Walter Clark went to the home of Tillie Ludwig, the daughter of an hotelkeeper, with the intention of shooting her because she had refused to marry him. Before he found her, however, her brother, Henry Ludwig, shot and severely wounded Clark. Ludwig was on trial for the shooting, and Clark, accompanied by an officer, was on his way to the Court House to testify in the case, and as they were passing the hotel where Miss Ludwig lives, the young woman came out and fired several shots at Clark, killing him. She was arrested.

TRINITY UNIVERSITY.

Appointment of a Successor to Professor Symonds in the Chair of Theology.

TORONTO, June 8.—A special meeting was held yesterday at 2.30 p.m. The Bishop of Toronto presided and there were also present the Provost, the Dean, Profs. Jones, Clark, Symonds and Huntingford, Archdeacon Dixon (Guelph), Rev. Dr. Bethune (Port Hope), Rev. Dr. Langtry, Canon DuMoulin, Canon Cayley, Chief Justice Hagarty, William Ince, C. J. Campbell, Mr. Justice Osler, Judge Kingsmill, Edward Martin, Q.C., J. A. Worrell, Q.C., Dr. Sheard, Dr. Nevitt, Dr. Spilsbury and R. H. Bethune.

A Tribute to Professor Symonds.

The following resolution upon the services of the Rev. Prof. Symonds to the university was, on motion of Chief Justice Hagarty, seconded by the Rev. Dr. Langtry, unanimously adopted:

That this corporation desires to place on record its high appreciation of the manifold services which Prof. Symonds has rendered to this university, not only in the able discharge of the duties of his theological chair, but also in the important part he has taken in the work of bringing the convocation of the university to its present position of vigor and efficiency, in the superintendence of the library, and until recently of the college choir, as well as in many other ways of devoted service to the interests of this college and university.

In parting from one who has gained so signal a place in the respect and affection of all with whom he has been brought into contact the members of the corporation tender to Prof. Symonds their heartiest good wishes for the important work to which he has been appointed by the bishop of this diocese, and desire to express their cordial hope that in the future many opportunities may arise for still further strengthening the ties which bind him to his alma mater.

It was ordered that the resolution be engrossed, formally executed in behalf of the university and transmitted by the secretary to the Rev. Prof. Symonds.

The Professor's Successor.

The committee appointed to select a successor to the Rev. Prof. Symonds in the vacant chair of theology presented the following recommendation:

That the Rev. E. C. Cayley, M.A., second class classical honors (1885), first-class theological honors (1889), and fellow in theology from 1889 to the present time, be elected to the vacant professorship in theology from Oct. 1 next at a stipend of $1250 per annum.

The recommendation was unanimously adopted.

The fellowship in theology, vacated by the appointment of the Rev. E. C. Cayley to the vacant professorship in theology, was filled by the election of Mr. H. H. Bedford-Jones, B.A., and the Rev. J. S. Broughall, B.A., was re-appointed to the fellowship in classics for another year, to hold office until Oct. 1, 1893.

The following gentlemen have been recommended to convocation for the degree of D.C.L., honoris causa, to be conferred at the annual convention on Tuesday, 28th inst.: The Ven. Archdeacon Dixon, M.A., Guelph; the Hon. Mr. Justice Osler and Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., M.P.

Yale Defeats University of Penn.

NEW HAVEN, June 7.—Yale defeated University of Pennsylvania in a splendidly played game yesterday. Bower's work was the feature of the day. He struck out 11 men, and not a hit was made off him until the ninth inning.

BABY ONE SOLID SORE

Tried Everything without Relief. No Rest Night or Day. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

My baby, when two months old, had a breaking out with what the doctor called eczema. Her head, arms, feet, and hands were each one solid sore. I tried everything, but neither the doctors nor anything else did her any good. We could get no rest day or night with her. In my extremity I tried the CUTICURA REMEDIES, but I confess I had no faith in them, for I had never seen them tried. To my great surprise, in one week's time after beginning to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, the sores were well, but I continued to use the RESOLVENT for a little while, and now she is as fat a baby as you would like to see, and as sound as a dollar. I believe my baby would have died if I had not tried CUTICURA REMEDIES. I write this that every mother with a baby like mine can feel confident that there is a medicine that will cure the worst eczema, and that medicine is the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

MRS. BETTIE BIRKNER, Lockhart, Texas.

Cuticura Remedies

Cure every humor of the skin and scalp of infancy and childhood, whether torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, scaly, crusted, pimply, or blotchy, with loss of hair, and every impurity of the blood, whether simple, scrofulous, or hereditary, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. Parents, save your children years of mental and physical suffering. Begin now. Cures made in childhood are permanent.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times, are absolutely pure, and may be used on the youngest infant with the most gratifying success.

MANUFACTURERS OF CLOTHING,

393 GEORGE STREET.

Something new every week. This week we give a few Skeptical Convincers.

Mothers, how about the boys? Just think we can give you a nice Blue Sailor made Suit for 75c., $1.25, $1.30, $1.75, $2.25, $2.50 and a Ball and Bat thrown in with every suit.

Did you see those Caps we have been showing for 5c., 10c. and 15c. The question has been asked, where do you get them and how do you sell them so cheap? Why they are sold all over town for 25c and 35c. It is the mystery of the present day how we get up such good goods, made equal to any work turned out in the town of Peterborough at just half the price.

Gentlemen, you who have bought Ready-Made Goods before, come and see what we have. You will see something that will open your eyes; such fine work was never seen on Ready-Made Clothing in Peterborough before. You who have never bought Made-Up Clothing before, come and compare our goods with what you have been getting; try them on and see for yourself how they fit.

Now here is just a few prices that one would be inclined to doubt, but ask for them and see for yourself. Stop and think, a Pair Good Tweed Pants for 95c. These we always have in stock. We won't tell you we are just sold out when you ask for them. All Wool Tweed Pants, $1.25, $1.50, $1,75, $2.00 and up. Men's Suits, just imagine $2.75, $3.25, $3.95, $4.50 and $5. Navy Blue Serge, $2 a Suit and up.

Don't forget we keep just as fine a line of Tweeds and Worsteds as you can get made-to-order any place in town. Come and see them. We don't bother the life out of any one to buy.

The Growth

Of our business in special lines of Imported Lace Curtains is very satisfactory. The values we have been able to offer have given a healthy impetus to our daily sales in this department. Many lines have been sold out, but we have been able to replace these with still greater bargains. Our new stock comprises the newest goods, specially chosen for the fine trade, and embraces the latest novelties in Sash and Window Curtains, &c.

In Carpets, the economies and beauties of the whole field are covered by an immense range of all grades, on the third floor. Look at our prices, commencing as low as 28c. per yard for Unions.

In Prints we have wash goods that deserve success if ever a cotton stuff did.

100 pieces of that heavy, wide English Cloth sold elsewhere for 15c., going for 10c. We expect to have to send for more right away.

Parasols are an important leader now. We have a special line covered with Alpaca, of superior make, that will keep their colour, and we are selling them at only $1.00.

SCOTT v. TIGHE.

PURSUANT to the judgment and order for sale made in this action, bearing date the 5th day of May, 1892, there will be sold with the approbation of C. A. Weller, Esquire, Master of this Court, at Peterborough, by Chas. Stapleton, Auctioneer, at the Morrow House Hotel, in the Town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, at the hour of eleven of the clock in the forenoon, on the following lands and premises, namely:—

Saturday, the 25th day of June, inst.,

The West Half of Lot No. twenty-eight, in the eighth concession of the Township of Dummer, in the County of Peterborough.

The soil is a clay loam and there are about thirty-five acres of cleared land, the balance is well timbered with maple, hemlock and cedar mixed.

The following improvements are said to be erected on the premises—A log dwelling house, half frame and log barn and a cattle shed.

The farm is situated about twelve miles from Norwood and thirteen miles from Lakefield, and is readily accessible to both places by good roads.

The property will be offered for sale subject to a reserved bid which has been fixed by the Master.

TERMS OF PAYMENT—Ten per cent. down at the time of sale to be paid to the plaintiff's or their solicitors, the balance within thirty days thereafter without interest to be paid into court to the credit of this action. In all other respects, the terms and conditions of sale will be the standing conditions of the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice.

Further particulars may be had from Messrs. Hall & Hayes, Barristers; R. A. Peck, Esq., Barrister, Peterborough or John Meakin Esq., Q.C., Toronto.

POLITICIANS AT OTTAWA

THE ACTION OF McCARTHY AND O'BRIEN.

A Flutter of Excitement Amongst the Politicians—The Caucus and the Independents—Will the Breach Widen?—Many Rumors in the Air—A Suggested Coalition With Edward Blake.

OTTAWA, June 9.—The main discussion among members is the conduct and position of Mr. D'Alton McCarthy. It would appear that the breach between both Col. O'Brien and Mr. McCarthy and the Conservative caucus must widen rather than heal. The reason of the talk to-day is what transpired yesterday in the House.

Mr. McCarthy presented his amendment to the Redistribution Bill. He backed it by a temperate speech and the Opposition endorsed it by encouraging plaudits. Mr. McCarthy told the Conservatives that his principle of county boundaries was the right one to adopt and especially ought to be adopted now, seeing that they had such a large majority in the House. The bill as drawn was unfair and unjust, bad in principle, iniquitous in some of its details, notably in the case of London and Russell. He then moved his resolution.

There Is a Great Gulf.

A perusal of the speeches will show how wide the breach is now between Mr. McCarthy and Mr. O'Brien and the Conservatives.

Naturally all sorts of rumors are current to-day. One story is that Mr. McCarthy has determined to cut adrift from the Conservatives and is looking forward to a coalition with Mr. Blake. This seems unlikely, but unlikely things have sometimes happened. These two have not agreed hitherto in politics. Noone is less influential in the Conservative party here to-day than Mr. McCarthy. He is distrusted by his party, and has no following other than Col. O'Brien. The Liberals will now, however, pat him on the back. But Mr. McCarthy is strong in the country, and that is what makes the situation interesting. Mr. McCarthy may have a very deep game to play and his ultimate aim may be in the distant future. Some persons who claim to know profess to believe that this is so and he can afford to wait. There are many others, principally Conservative members, who do not hesitate to say that Mr. McCarthy is at bottom a wild Irishman and that he has lost his political head. Time will show which is true.

A CALM FOLLOWS THE STORM.

The Resumed Debate on the Redistribution Bill Was Decidedly Dull.

OTTAWA, June 8.—After last night's little "unpleasantness" between Mr. Haggart and Mr. McCarthy to-day's debate on the Redistribution Bill has been decidedly flat.

Mr. Flint resumed the debate, supporting Mr. McCarthy's amendment, and was followed by Major "Sam" Hughes, who strongly supported the bill.

Dr. Sproule followed, and after him came Mr. McDonald of Huron, who had prepared some wonderful statistics.

Attacked The Major.

In the course of his remarks he took a fling at Major Hughes, who, he said, had been a Liberal and had ridden a white horse at the head of a procession in honor of Mr. Mowat, who had just returned from England after winning the boundary award case from Sir John Macdonald. The hon. member said that Mr. Hughes had joined the Conservative Party for selfish motives.

This fetched the fighting major to his feet and he stoutly denied that he had joined the Conservative party for personal ends. He had left the Liberal party because it had sold itself to the Roman Catholics, and he charged the member for Huron (Mr. McDonald) with having got his information from "a Toronto Fenian" with whom he had been sitting in the Speaker's gallery, alluding to the second registrar, Mr. Peter Ryan, who had been in the House.

Mr. Coatsworth made a short but good speech, and was followed by Mr. Semple, who was speaking at midnight.

Mr. Boyle moved the adjournment of the debate and the House adjourned at 12.45.

THE SCUFFLE WAS FATAL.

Richard Walker is Killed While Attacking Another Man on a Car.

TORONTO, June 9.—A quarrel last night resulted in a very serious affair, which cost Richard Walker, an Esplanade laborer, his life. Richard Walker and James Welsh, laborers, were on a box car on the Esplanade at the foot of Yonge-street. Walker had been drinking and he commenced to quarrel with Welsh, who was rather the smaller man. Finally he threatened to strike Welsh with his shovel; to which Welsh responded that it would be the worse for him if he did. Thereupon Walker did strike Welsh, who at once struck him and knocked him down. He then struck him several times when down, though not, it seems, with any murderous intent. But, whether from the blows, or, as is more likely, from striking his head as he fell, Walker became insensible and shortly afterwards died. Dr. Edmund E. King, who was passing by, was called to the spot, but when he arrived life was extinct. The body was taken to the morgue by the ambulance.

The witnesses of the tragedy were George Macdonald, bookkeeper at the Esplanade wharf; Samuel Sutton, 130 Tecumseh; James Northy, Booth-avenue; Patrick McKew, 11 Coatsworth-avenue; James Cassidy, 68 Tecumseth; George Rhodhess, 16 Shuter.

Welsh was arrested by Detective Burrows, and after receiving the usual warning made a statement substantially the same as the above. He is a young man and appears to feel very keenly the dreadful position in which he is placed.

The body bears very few marks of violence, the chief one being a bruise or cut upon the forehead, apparently caused by some sharp instrument. Dr. W. H. B. Aikins has issued a warrant, and an inquest will be held this afternoon. Drs. King and Caven will hold a post-mortem examination at 10 a.m.

Not Ceded to the States.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The report from Paris that Samana Bay, Santo Domingo, has been ceded to the United States is officially denied at the State Department. An officer of that department said this afternoon that no such cession had been made to or is sought by this Government, and that United States Minister Durham has not taken up a permanent residence in Santo Domingo, and is probably on his way to Hayti, being accredited to both countries. The officials added that whatever excitement or uneasiness prevails in Santo Domingo is in no wise due to any action on the part of the United States.

THAT BIG CONVENTION

MAJOR McKINLEY MADE PERMANENT CHAIRMAN.

Intense Enthusiasm at the Minneapolis Convention—McKinley Makes a Jubilant Speech—Eulogy of the Republican Party—Ballot Postponed Till To-Day—Will There Be a Dark Horse?

MINNEAPOLIS, June 9.—The Republican National Convention met yesterday at 11 a.m.. The proceedings were opened with prayer by Bishop Whipple of Minneapolis.

E. C. Lockwood of Idaho presented the report of the committee on organization. A wild scene took place when the committee reported Governor William McKinley of Ohio for permanent chairman.

A magnificent ovation greeted the Governor when he stepped upon the platform. Temporary Chairman Fassett introduced his successor, and when Chairman McKinley led off by saying that Republican conventions say what they mean and mean what they say the sentiment received enthusiastic applause.

The Major's Speech.

In the course of his address Major McKinley said: "We are for a protective tariff and for reciprocity. [Great applause.] We propose to take no backward step upon either one of these great Republican principles. [Applause.] We stand for a protective tariff because it represents the American home, the American fireside, the American family, the American girl and boy and the highest possibilities of American citizenship. [Applause.] We propose to raise our revenue for public expenses by taxing the products of other nations rather than taxing the products of our own. [Applause.] The Democratic party believes in direct taxation, that is, in taxing ourselves, but we do not believe in that principle so long as we can find anybody else to tax. Our protective tariff not only does everything which a revenue tariff does in raising all the needed revenues but a protective tariff does more. A protective tariff encourages and stimulates American industries and gives the widest possibilities to American genius and American effort. Does anybody know what tariff reform is? —[No, no and laughter]—and that is to be the platform of our opponents this year. What does it mean? You may study President Cleveland's utterances from the first one he made in New York when he said he did not know anything about tariff until his last one in Rhode Island and you come away ignorant and uninformed as to what tariff reform means. This contest that we enter upon is for the maintenance of protection and reciprocity, —[applause] and I want to say here that there is not a line in that tariff bill that is not American, there is not a passage that is not patriotic; there is not a page that does not represent true Americanism and the highest possibilities of citizenship. [Applause.] We can well leave to the committee on resolutions the duty of making a platform that shall represent the best thoughts and the best ideas and the best wisdom of the Republican party. When we go out of this convention upon a true Republican platform, we go out marching to victory no matter what man may carry the banner." [Great applause.]

An Enthusiastic Scene.

Ex-Governor Foraker arose in response to the call for the Committee on Resolutions, and the convention burst into applause that continued for some time.

The committee requested further time to consider the resolution. The time was granted, and the roll of States was called for and the names of the new National Committee announced, after which various resolution and petitions which had been introduced and sent to the clerk's desk were read by the title and referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

"The next thing on the list is the nomination of candidates for the presidency," said Chairman McKinley.

Senator Cullom of Illinois stated that he arose to question the regularity of proceeding to nomination speeches before the adoption of the rules and reports of the committees on credentials and resolutions. A glance at the rules showed that nominations could not be made until the reports of the committees had been received, and on motion of M. H. DeYoung of California the convention adjourned until 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

A Long-Drawn-Out Business.

The conviction is forcing itself upon every mind that the convention is to be a long one, and nearly everybody is preparing to spend all the week in the city of Minneapolis. There is no doubt that the well-defined policy of the Blaine managers is one of delay, as indicated by the very leisurely progress being made by the Committee on Credentials.

Convention Tactics.

The wildest rumors are afloat as to the action likely to be taken in these contests, and the Harrison people are accusing the Blaine managers of intending to use the majority of that committee in an unscrupulous effort to seat in the convention only those delegates who are favorable to the nomination of the Plumed Knight. Of course the Blaine people indignantly deny that any such purpose is in contemplation. They say every contest will be determined solely on the ground of its merits, but there appears to be no doubt the numerous gentlemen of contesting delegations who desire to make prolonged arguments before that committee have received official assurances that they may be given an opportunity to talk to their fullest capacity.

Of course all this means delay, but whether delay means the demoralization of the Harrison forces and the nomination of Blaine is not at all sure.

Harrison's Tower of Strength.

The last 24 hours has shown no material weakening of the Harrison following, and the hilarious Blaine boom that marked the early stages of the convention appears to have spent itself without gaining any remarkable acquisitions.

The press of the country is undoubtedly to have a great influence in controlling the result of the convention.

Secretary Thompson of the committee on platform says that the committee will not get through work until late to-night.

For Blaine.

MINNEAPOLIS—Later.—The Blaine people captured the contested delegates in the Alabama delegation in the Committee on Contested Seats by a vote of 24 to 23.

HOW THEY HONORED HIM.

Presentation To Sir John Thompson By the Conservative M.P.'s.

OTTAWA, June 9.—A very pleasant little event came off in Room 16 yesterday when Dr. Ferguson, M.P. for Leeds and Grenville, on behalf of the Conservative members of Parliament, presented Sir John Thompson with the large and very handsome picture of the Conservative party of 1882, which has just been composed by Mr. S. J. Jarvis. The big room was crowded with members, very few being left in their chamber to listen to the wrecking of Mr. Wiman on the Redistribution Bill.

Dr. Ferguson performed his task briefly and complimented Sir John on the success he had achieved in the one year he has been leader in the House, saying that he doubted whether so great a success in so short a time had ever been made before under constitutional government.

A Thankless Reply.

Sir John Thompson, in replying, [illegible] deeply affected by the delicate attention of his followers. After expressing his pleasure and surprise, for he was kept in the dark as to the intention to present him with the picture until this morning, he said: "I need hardly say to you that this gift will be particularly treasured by me all my life and my family, because it will keep with us the faces of our friends; faces of the men among whom I have passed trying moments and with whom we have carried up to the present, time the fortunes of the Conservative party and the fortunes of Canada which are bound up with that party. [Hear, hear.] I am deeply conscious that your words, Dr. Ferguson, are not flattering when that this mark of esteem on the part of friends in the House is totally undeserved. My colleagues and I recognize the support that we have received from you, gentlemen, since the death of our great chieftain, whose loss it was expected would destroy the party.

The constant support which you gave us day after day and night after night and the hard struggles in the bye-elections will never be forgotten by us. They have again saved the fortunes of the party. And the stability of that party and the maintenance of the institutions of the country are well assured for years to come. [Applause.] Any humble effort that I can put forth either by exerting myself in the ranks of the party or withdrawing myself at any time it may be necessary for your interests is at your service. You have but to tell me what you advise and wish and I will be ready to do whatever is within the scope of my ability. [Tremendous cheering.]

TORONTO RIFLE RANGES.

The Transfer to the Exhibition Association Made—Mimico Range Accepted.

OTTAWA, June 9.—Ald. Score and Major Sankey were in town yesterday and had an interview with Hon. Mr. Bowell and Mr. Cockburn, M.P. The result was that the Minister passed the papers transferring a portion of Garrison Common to the Industrial Exhibition Association and accepting the new Mimico Rifle Range in place thereof. The papers will be signed in the morning.

Mails Made Up On Sunday.

OTTAWA, June 9.—Rev. Dr. Moore, Rev. Mr. Farries, Rev. Mr. Knowles, Dr. Thorburn, Mr. Geo. Hay, of Ottawa, Rev. Mr. Scott, of Perth, and Rev. Mr. Stewart, Prescott, moderator of the synod, along with Messrs. Bain, Armstrong, McGregor and Dr. Christie, members of parliament and Senator Wark, a delegation representing the synod of Montreal and Ottawa, of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, waited on the Postmaster-General in Premier Abbott's office. They represented to Sir Adolphe Caron that the mails were now made up on Sunday and despatched by special train to catch the Allan line steamer at Rimouski. The Postmaster promised to make enquiries.

Toronto Grain Market.

TORONTO, June 9.—Receipts of grain on the street market yesterday were light. Wheat steady, one small load of goose selling at 70c. Fall is quoted at 85c and spring at 78c. One load of oats sold at 35½c. Hay was in light supply at $13 to $14 for timothy and $10 to $11.50 for clover. Straw is quoted at $10 to $11. Dressed hogs are scarce at $6.25 to $6.50 per cwt.

Business was quiet on call board to-day, the only offering was one car of No. 1 wheat by sample at $1.06 with $1.01 bid. Flour quiet, quoted at $2.60 to $2.70 for straight roller. Oats steady, quoted at 32c on track.

Sad Statistics From the Mine.

PRAGUE, June 9.—There were 307 men at work in the Birkenberg mine at the time of the disaster, of whom only 475 were rescued. The bodies of 304 of the 382 men who lost their lives have been recovered, leaving only 28 bodies in the mine. Two hundred and ninety-two women were left widows by the fire, and 682 children under 14 years of age were made orphans.

The Senators Won.

OTTAWA, June 9.—In the rifle match between the Senate and Commons the Senate won by 78 points. Senators McInnes (B.C.), Poirier, Boulton, McKay, Reed (B.C.) and Boldue composed the Senate team. Messrs. Hughes, Marshall, Grandbois, McLean, Hodgins and Spaeule represented the Commons. The score was 295 for the Commons to 374 for the Senate. The ranges were 200, 500 and 600.

Gen. Booth's Essex Colony.

LONDON, June 9.—The failure of Mr. Booth to raise £70,000, despite the advocacy of his cause by Mr. Henry Labouchere, the Earl of Aberdeen, the Rev. Hugh Reginald Hawels, the other influential persons, has led the General to invite prominent statesmen and others of note to inspect his reformatory farm and colony in Essex. Sir W. Harcourt and Mr. Balfour have already promised to go, and it is likely that the funds will be forthcoming to support this scheme of reclamation.

Village Swept Away.

DUBUQUE, Ia., June 9.—A cloudburst at Lewisge, 16 miles south of here, last night, swept away nearly the entire village. It is situated on Otter Creek. The inhabitants had time to escape, but over 100 head of livestock were drowned. All the dwelling houses in the hamlet but one were swept away.

A Chinese Laundryman Scared to Death.

BOSTON, June 9.—Seng Lee, a Chinese laundryman, was frightened into fits Saturday night by a burly ruffian, who tried to steal him because he refused to give up a shirt without a check. The Chinaman remained in a condition of hysteria, begging to be protected against his assailant, until yesterday afternoon, when he died.

We understand the merchants doing business for the Patrons of Industry are about experiencing some trouble with the wholesale firms. It seems that a number of outside merchants are attempting to boycott the patrons by pressing the wholesale men with whom the latter have been accustomed to deal to discriminate against the patrons by charging them higher prices or refusing to do business with them altogether. So there will likely be war which may possibly result in the patrons like the Grangers being obliged to establish wholesale supply houses of their own in Toronto or Montreal.

The Guardian Angel!

Home is a Blank Without Her.

Loving, toiling, sleepless mother,
Burdened with a load of woes;
Grasp the Agent, there's no other
Can so well defeat your foes.

WHO can fully estimate the amount of work done by the noble, loving and self-sacrificing wife and mother? Husband, children or relatives cannot properly realize the duties, the trials, the watchings and the worries of the true mother. God bless her in the home; she is its guardian angel and morning and evening star, and without her, home is blank and desolate.

Her labors and devotions to home and family are often more than her physical strength will bear; and often, very often, we find her run-down, weak nervous, sleepless and dyspeptic.

In such cases there is a reliable friend and unfailing upholder which can assist the loving mother, and lift her from the sands into which she is slowly sinking. This life-giving and life-renewing agent is Paine's Celery Compound, a true and wonderful strengthener and builder. It banishes nervousness, sleeplessness, dyspepsia and indigestion; it gives vim, activity, and a freshness of feeling that makes life sweet and happy.

There is no other remedy on earth that so quickly dissipates and drives off that tired feeling; it is the only medicine that can bring the blush of health to the pale and sallow cheeks.

Try it, mothers, for your families' sake; it will not only prove valuable to yourselves, but it will also cause your husbands and children to rejoice when they see your renewed life.

To His Widow.

Thoughts suggested upon reading from the Kelso Chronicle of May 6th, Berwickshire, Scotland, the announcement of the sudden and unexpected death of Mr. Adam Miller, for twenty-eight years teacher in Leitholm School, the first and last place where I received my very limited share of education:

Yes, he is gone, cut down in prime of life,
Called from this world of sorrow, sin and strife,
His own desires or wish of friends most dear,
Had not the power to hold him longer here.
No lingering sickness he was doomed to bear,
To waste his form or for death to prepare,
Death, like a night thief but short warning gave,
Stealing him from the garden to the grave.
His garden was his loved and calm retreat,
From early flowers exhaling fragrance sweet,
With heaven-sent odours came death's fatal dart,
Stopping the life-springs of his beating heart.
Death brings its doom, though friends sit night and day,
Watching some loved one till they pass away,
But when death's arrow instantaneous flies,
Increase the anguish, grief intensifies,
Such was his fate, death seized him unaware,
No time for farewells, last good bye, or prayers.
Unpitying death no sympathy did show,
All love or grief failed to avert the blow.
One watched through tears her husband's ebbing life,—
Sad sight for her but one short month his wife;
Her lips still moist with ceremonial kiss,
How short their term of matrimonial bliss!
Death spurned her anguish, mocked all human skill,
His life, his spirit, yielded to God's will,
All God-like in him calmly passed away—
All left you, widow, was a piece of clay.
Your bridal robes had scarcely lost their shade,
Fresh in your ears the pledges that were made,
Sad, sudden change in widow's garbs attire,
With mourning heart, scorched with bereavement's fire.
You are not all deprived of one most dear,
Hundreds of eyes have shed grief's bitter tear,
Parents and children sincere united do
Mingle their tears and mourn their loss with you.
You ask me why my friend extolled in lays,
Caused so much grief and merits so much praise,
Twenty-eight years of faithful work will prove
The reason why he gained esteem and love.
His daily aim, desire and chief delight,
Was how to rule, and how to rule aright,
He studied natures kindly, not austere,
Holding his pupils more by love than fear,
Gentle, forbearing, merciful and kind,
By words and acts impressed his pupil's minds.
His influence over disobedience trod,
Ruling by kindness rather than the rod.
To their shortcomings sympathy was shown;
Their trials and troubles touched him as his own.
In class or studying joy or sorrows smart,
All found response from his true childlike heart.
In day school and in Sabbath school likewise
His Christlike teaching old and young did prize;
Young men admired the good work he achieved,
The reading room his warm support received.
Some reader may expand their views more broad,
Wondering how he, at death, stood with his God;
I judge no man but by life's acts alone,
By Christian deeds, proof of his faith was known.
Humble, devout, patient, sincere and kind,
Seldom without faith are all of these combined;
His liberal hand, his calm but friendly face,
Half cord outward his true inward grace.
Surely his life acts leave a guarantee,
Though death came sudden what his hopes would be;
I doubt not when his spirit took its flight,
His grace trimmed lamp was burning clear and bright.
Grieved widow, weep, 'tis natural so to do,
The flowing tears may ease grief pangs in you;
Set murmur not at God's mysterious way,
Crushing your hopes and your beloved to slay.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

By constipation is meant irregular action of the bowels, often called costiveness, and commonly caused by dyspepsia, neglect excess in eating or drinking, etc. It is a serious complaint and not to be neglected under any circumstances, as it leads to impure blood, headache, debility, fevers, etc. A uniformly successful remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters, which, if faithfully tried, never fails to effect a prompt and lasting cure even in the worst cases. The following extract from a letter from Mr. Jas. M. Carson, Banff, will speak for itself:—"I have been troubled with constipation and general debility and was induced to use your B.B.B. through seeing your advertisement. I now take great pleasure in recommending it to all my friends, as it completely cured me." dw

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The Municipal Council met as an adjourned Court of Revision on Monday, June 6th, when the following changes were made:

W. G. Ferguson was assessed by himself, for park lots 16 and 17, lot 14, concession 11, instead of jointly with P. Connel. M. C. Mabee was assessed jointly with M. B. Mabee, Fred Wilson jointly with David Wilson. Henry Jakeman was assessed for a park lot on lot 6, concession 12, and James Boyd was added on the manhood franchise. The roll as revised was then passed as the revised assessment roll of 1892.

The council then went into session for general business.

A communication was read from the Assistant Commissioner Crown Lands, stating that P. L. S. Wilkins had been instructed to make the required survey, and an agreement made by Reeve Morrison of S. Monaghan, and Councillors McIntosh and Hunter, in reference to boundary line, was on motion accepted.

Mr. Dunlop was appointed to act with some one appointed by Smith to have a culvert put in on Boundary north of John Campbell's. The whole council was appointed to meet Cavan council to make arrangements to repair boundary on 13th Con.

On motion no action was taken on the claim of John Donaldson. Mr. B. M. Wylie addressed the council in reference to a fire at T. Fahears shanty on or about May 27th, asking council to have an investigation made by a coroner. No action taken.

On motion the following grants were made to be expended in gravelling roads:—Wm. Collins' Div. on the road south of Park street, west of Driving Park, $25; D. Johnson's div., $15; John Harper's div. $15; George Argue's div. $15; and the following accounts were ordered to be paid: McKee & Davidson for nails, and iron for Stephens bridge, $5 90; A. McDonald, timber and lumber for same, $35.74; Wm. Collins, men's pay for street work, $29.15; A. Young, grant on road, $30; Wm. Collins, half years salary, $40; J. J. Bennett, salary assessor arbitration union schools and postage, $46.

A bylaw passed its several reading, to amend bylaw No. 274 a bylaw to restain and regulate certain animals from running at large, prohibiting all cattle, horses, sheep, pigs and geese from running at large, and specifying the penalties therefor.

The council adjourned to the call of the Reeve.

EXTENSIVE CHANGES IN
THOMAS KELLY'S
DRY GOODS ESTABLISHMENT.

POSITIVE ALTERATION SALE!

About a year ago extensive alterations and improvements in our George and Simcoe Street premises were contemplated and publicly announced in good faith, and preparations were commenced to transform our store into one of the finest business premises in Peterborough. Unfortunately, owing to difficulties which arose at the time, we were compelled to postpone the work indefinitely. Now, however, we have determined that These Improvements must go on, no matter what the Cost. We, therefore, beg to announce that during the month of July, in order to allow these important alterations to be made, we will be of the premises altogether, for about a month. To avoid the expense and trouble of removing the goods, we have decided to sell off our whole stock, and will commence at once a SWEEPING CLEARANCE SALE of everything in the store. Nothing will be reserved during the next two months The stock consists of regular Staple Goods—all new and fashionable—bought for this season's trade. THE SPLENDID VALUES which will be given will afford the greatest inducements to Dry Goods Buyers which have been offered for many years to the people of Peterborough.

To secure a complete clearance we are prepared to make great sacrifices in every department. PRICES WILL BE A SECONDARY MATTER! THE GOODS MUST GO! THERE WILL BE BARGAINS FOR EVERYBODY!

Come and buy NOW, if you want to reap the great benefit of the surrender of profits which must be made during this Positive Alteration Sale.

County Orange Meeting.

The meeting of the county Orange lodges held on Tuesday evening at Lakefield was largely attended. Bro. J. G. Wier, County Master, presided, and made his report showing all things to be favourable throughout the county lodges. The strength of the order throughout the Dominion is 250,000 members. County Secretary; C. W. Sawers presented his report in reference to the great orange celebration to be held at Lakefield on July 12th, when 5,000 visitors are expected. Several committees were appointed to make all the necessary arrangements. The Peterborough lodges will attend divine service here, and the Lakefield lodge at Lakefield attend divine service there on the Sunday before July 12th. The district meeting of the order will be held at Warsaw on Tuesday next.

Wedding Bells—Parks—Marks.

A happy event took place last evening at 504 Aylmer street, when Mr. Fred W. Parks, an employee of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, was wedded to Miss Susie Marks, youngest daughter of Mr. Irvine Marks. The interesting event was performed by the Rev. J. H. Lyons, pastor of the George street Methodist church. The bride, who was charmingly attired, was given away by her brother Mr. Jas. Marks, Mr. Geo. W. Paxman ably supported the groom, while Miss Ellen Marks, sister of the bride, performed the duties of bridesmaid. After the wedding the happy couple along with their many friends and relatives present, sat down to a sumptuous repast. The presents received were both numerous and costly. Mr. and Mrs. Parks have taken up their residence at 430 Donegal street, where their many friends will wish them every happiness and success.

The Farmers' Picnic.

The excursion given yesterday under the auspices of the Farmers' Institute of West Peterborough was a great success. Five coaches laden with human freight left the G. T. R. station here at 8.30 o'clock yesterday morning for Lakefield. This number was largely augmented by the stops at Downer's, Ashburnham, Auburn and Nassau. At Lakefield the pleasure-seekers, amid a downpour of rain, embarked on the steamer Golden City with palace scow attached. They were both heavily loaded. Burleigh was reached at one o'clock after a pleasant sail, where dinner was served and the time spent in various ways until four o'clock, when the start for home was made. Lakefield was reached safely at seven o'clock. An hour was spent there seeing the sights; and then the train was boarded for home, which was reached about nine o'clock. The party enjoyed dancing on the scow to the music of an orchestra. A couple of fights arising out of a squabble over a young lady served to enliven the proceedings a little, but no serious harm was done. Not more than one-fourth of those on board were composed of the farming community, which was poorly represented.

—The Emerald Benefical Association holds a regular meeting to-night. A large attendance is requested, as business of importance is to be considered.

—The Kingston Whig says:—Charles Martin is endeavouring to bring the Peterborough baseball team here for July 1st, the game to occur at Brophy's point. In the meantime a match may be arranged with Belleville.

—A horse attached to a top buggy belonging to Sloan Bros', livery, took fright on Queen street last night about eleven o'clock, and bolted to the stables on Charlotte street. The top of the buggy coming in contact with a telephone wire on Queen street was smashed. No one was in the vehicle at the time.

—A handsome maple tree in front of the Ontario Bank on Simcoe street last night sometime had the bark torn from its trunk some three feet from the roots. The tree cannot possibly live. The tearing of the bark it is supposed was done by a dog scratching the tree with his paws. Mr. Richard Hall planted the tree some twelve years ago.

The New Customs Building.

Peterborough's Handsome New Tax Mill Ready for Occupation—Short Description of the Structure—A Credit to the Contractor and Architect.

The beautiful new government building for Customs and Inland Revenue offices, on the corner of George and Charlotte streets is now completed ready for use, and it will be occupied the first of July. The building presents a fine appearance as it stands, its solidity of structure, the heavy circular stone window heads, handsome roof, ornate chimney pieces and gables, and the general harmony of outline make the structure an attractive one. The style of architecture is a mixture of Tudor and Queen Anne. The building is 51 x 34 feet in area, three stories with basement, and the examining warehouse annex is 17x31 feet, one story. The foundation, three feet in thickness with four feet footing is of rubble stone, with cut stone facing, terminated above with a cut stone beveled string course. The superstructure is of red brick tuck pointed in black, the walls 20 inches in thickness. The roof is of slate, with galvanized iron decks.

THE MAIN ENTRANCE

is on George street. A flight of wide solid cut stone steps (with similar steps at the rear entrance on Charlotte street) admits to a vestibule, which opens upon the main hall, lighted by a large double window at one end with private offices on either side, each 12x17, and terminates in double doors at the public offices for the customs department, to which this floor is devoted. This office contains a capacious vault, the foundation reaching from the basement. Passing through the staircase hall the Customs examining warehouse is reached, with two entrances, one on Charlotte street and another with double doors for the reception of packages at the eastern end. Off this room is the toilet room fitted in hard woods, and with Demarest closets.

The second floor is a counterpart of the first except that the space representing the vestibule is occupied for toilet rooms fitted up like those on the first floor. This floor will contain the weights and measures, gas inspection office, a private office and the office of the collector of Inland Revenue. The gas inspection office contains a vault the continuation of that on the floor below.

The third story contains the appartments for the janitor—kitchen, parlour and three bedrooms, toilet rooms, etc.

The basement is large and airy with six inch concrete and cement floors, plaster ceiling and whitewashed walls, and space for steam heating furnace.

The stairways are especially elegant with birch treads and risers, filled ash newels, balusters and handrails and self supporting landings. The floors are of oiled birch. The inner doors have handlights provided with adjustable Haverstock transom holders. The windows are of double glass, with amber-tinted cathedral glass circular heads. The building is piped for city water and gas, and is complete, and solid and substantial in every respect, though there are exteriorly some details to be attended to. The spring blocks of the window arches are to be carved, granolithic pavement is to be laid in front of the buildings, and an elegant stone fence, with cut stone copings and posts, is to be placed from the north east corner to the Balmoral Hotel building.

The building, as far as the contractor's work goes is completed, but the office furnishings are not yet ready. Only a day or two ago Mr. Thompson, inspector for this district, was in town, and in company with the Collector of Customs, Mr. Clementi, visited the building to prepare requisitions for office furnishings.

The architect of the new building was Mr. Thomas Fuller, Ottawa, with Mr. J. E. Belcher consulting architect; contractor, Mr. John E. Ashwith, Mr. Thomas Rutherford doing the work for him; stonework, Mr. John Hayes; carpentry, Mr. T. Rutherford; brickwork, Mr. Ed. Webb; plastering, Mr. Thomas Sabine; painting, Mr. Samuel Sharp; plumbing, and galvanized iron work, Mr. Adam Hall. The building is a credit to the architect, contractor, and all the parties concerned.

No. 2 Ward Assessment.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Kindly publish the following letter which was forwarded to the Mayor and members of the council:—

Peterborough, June 2, 1892.

To the Mayor and Individual Members of Peterborough Council:

Gentlemen,—I lay before your Honorable Body the following statements for investigation, viz:

The gross irregularity of No. 2 assessment for 1892.

The incomprehensibility of the returns of No. 2 for 1892.

The inability of the assessor to explain said returns, even when requested by the Court of Revision, and his insulting language used when endeavoring to explain or avoid the same.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Funeral on Friday afternoon from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Peter Gillespie, Otonabee.

Mr. Milo Gilson,

A stalwart teamster in the employ of the Glens Falls, N. Y., Lumber Company, says that both he and his wife highly recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla. She

That failed to gain strength after a severe illness, felt miserable, could not sleep, and had no appetite. When she took Hood's Sarsaparilla she began to pick up and was soon all right. His own experience was that in the spring he was all run down, had weakness and distress in the stomach. Hood's Sarsaparilla brought him

Tired right, and he round all and heavier is now better than for years past. Thousands, yes almost Millions of People, testify to the wonderful value of Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling or weakness of mind, nerves or body. It is the helping hand which restores full health and strength. Mr. John J. Scully, President of the Seamen's Union, 256 Catherine Street, Detroit, Michigan, voluntarily writes as follows: "C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

Feeling

"Gentlemen: I feel in duty bound to tell

Makes of the benefit I derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have been troubled with nervous dyspepsia, was tired and languid, with no ambition to work; my sleep was irregular. So I began

Weak taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. From the very first it seemed to be just the thing for me. The nervous dyspepsia has now entirely gone, my appetite is excellent, I can eat heartily without distress afterwards; I sleep well,

Strong and can now go about my work without that tired feeling so frequent before I took

Hood's Sarsaparilla

I have taken six bottles and recommend it as the King of Medicines." J. J. Scully.

GEORGE STREET.

A Model Dairy Farm.

The Completely Equipped, Capitally Stocked Peterborough Dairy Farm of Stothart Bros. Smith.

The farming profession has progressed along with other industrial pursuits, and the progressive farmer is the only one that keeps at the head of the procession and does credit to his calling. Messrs. Stothart Bros. of Smith, are excellent types of the progressive dairy farmer, and their beautiful farm in Smith, about a mile and a half west of the head of George street, is a model farm in every respect.

About a century ago Mr. John Stothart, an Esq tshman, settled in Smith township. He was the earliest pioneer settler and his sturdy axe cut the first tree for a clearance in the township. This tree was laid low on the spot now marked by a little field on the highway to the west side of the point where the Chemong Valley road passes through the farm which now presents a beautiful appearance greatly in contrast with a century previous—every acre under careful and skilful culture, without stumps or stones, except in the fences, which on the highway are bordered with stately trees for shade and ornament. The entrance to the farm is marked by a wayside spring, and, fronting it is a large, solid, roomy, comfortable stone house, surrounded with numerous outbuildings. Passing on through a large yard, the barns and their adjunct buildings are reached. The barns are capacious and specially and skilfully adapted to with every appliance and utilization of methods that the most advanced farmers use. The basement is devoted to the cattle byres, in which at present about forty cows are yielding milk. There are two rows of stalls extending 86 feet, with a feeding passage between. Each of these stalls is sufficiently wide for one cow, with a drainage trough in the rear of the cows, treated daily with sawdust as an absorbent. At the head of the stalls run the feeding trough, and also the water trough, with a constant supply of pure water, so indispensable an element in the production of pure milk. Everything is arranged with a view to lessening labour and consequently cheapening production of milk. There are feeding troughs fronting the cows, and there is accommodation for 56 cows. The stables are cool in summer and warm in winter, being practically frost proof.

The feeding of the stock is an important feature. It is liberal, and the result is justified by the care taken. In the feeding passage is a portable box on wheels, carried on an iron track which extends across the yard to the root house, where the large boiler is kept and where the "mill feed"—bran, chop and middlings—is cooked, and in which the roots are also prepared for use. The root house under the boiler room has a capacity of 3,000 bushels. At the inner end of the stalls is the feeding room under the barn. From this the ensilage is distributed to the stock from the silo above, and in winter a power turnip slicer is placed in this feeding room, driven by wind power. The windmill, a powerful double wheel machine, is placed on a tower on top of the barn. This serves to pump water to the tanks for supplying the stock, for cutting feed, and for grinding grain, stored in granaries on an upper floor, and fed to the mill through chutes.

THE FEEDING OF THE STOCK

on the Peterborough Dairy Farm is not what the ordinary observer would think. One would expect that there would be acres and acres of meadow and pasture land, but instead of that on the farm there only about fifteen acres under grass. The stock runs to grass [only] about two and a half months, being turned out the first of June and remaining out till the middle of August when the feed is changed to the soiling crops, green oats and millet, till the corn becomes fit to feed. About 25 acres of corn is sown in drills three feet apart, and of these, four or five acres are used for soiling and the remainder goes into the silo. Messrs. Stothart Bros. were the first to use the silo in this neighborhood and with them it is no longer an experiment. They have used it three years and are so impressed with its great benefit that the present silo capacity of 150 tons is to be enlarged. Corn put into their silo in September of last year was examined on June 7th and was found perfectly fresh and sweet, and is now so good that when the cows come in off the grass in the evenings for milking, they will eat ensilage nearly nine months old, with good relish. From the amount of soiling and ensilage crops used, it is necessary that the soil should be in the best possible state of fertility. Messrs. Stothart Bros. keep a fairly large number of pigs, and these are kept in summer in large pens enclosed by a portable fence, which is removed from one part of the field to another, so that the soil gets the benefit of the manure. In addition to the home farm, there is a four hundred acre farm at Buckhorn, where the rising generation of Holsteins is kept. The Peterborough Dairy Farm is stocked with thoroughbred and high grade Holsteins, which have been kept for five years, and are highly prized for several reasons — they are the best milkers — they are of good size and have good constitutions, are good beef producers and excellent feeders. Messrs. Stothart Bros. milk their cows from ten to eleven months. The heifers are milked about twelve months in order to develop the milking habit. At present there are 40 cows furnishing 300 quarts of milk daily. The treatment of the cows and of the milk is directed to and condition of the latter. The cows are generously fed with pure, wholesome food, kept well supplied with pure water, gently driven, and carefully milked. When the milk cans are filled in the evening, they are set in cold water till the animal heat is abstracted, and then the water is drawn off and the cans surrounded with ice till morning when it is put upon the market. The milk is thus thoroughly deodorized and has keeping qualities which milk not similarly treated, does not possess. Every effort tending to cleanliness is made from start to finish—pure feed, pure water, clean stables, clean milking, careful straining, perfect cooling and deodorization. The result is that the milk of the Peterborough Dairy Farm can be used with confidence in its purity and perfect quality.

Messrs. Stothart Bros. make the selling of stock quite a feature of their establishment and the stock of Valparaiso, the magnificent sire animal of the herd, is naturally a good demand, especially outside the county. In the cattle byres there is a compartment for calves, where a large number of splendid Holsteins are coming on to take their places at the milking pail. In this specimen it is not possible to deal fully with the finely managed farm. It will pay the practical farmer well to visit the Peterborough Dairy Farm, and note the perfection of arrangement and management which make it veritably a model dairy farm.

The Inspector's Report.

The Report of High School Inspector Hodgson, M.A., Regarding the Peterborough Collegiate Institute—Everything about the Institute.

Following is the report of Mr. J. E. Hodgson, M. A., Senior Inspector of High Schools throughout Ontario, who visited the Peterborough Collegiate Institute some four weeks ago. Mr. Hodgson submitted his report to the Educational Department of Ontario, who forwarded it to the School Board.

Respecting the accommodations of the Collegiate Institute the report says: Water Closets, I; Water Supply, I; School Grounds, I-III; School Building, II; Class Rooms, I; Halls, I; Waiting Rooms, I; Cap Rooms, I; Teachers' Private Rooms, I; Desks, I; Blackboards, I; Lighting, I; Heating, I; Ventilation, I. The grading of the above under each head ranges as follows: I, good; II, fair; III, poor; IV, bad.

In the grading of school grounds, I refers to the front plot, and III to the grounds in rear which are common to the pupils of the Collegiate Institute and public school.

Present value of apparatus, $704 70; maps, globes, etc., $142 50; gymnasium, $600; equipment, $200

The library, though the value is not stated, is quite up to the requirements and regulations of Collegiate Institutes. The gymnasium is badly ventilated, so much so, as in my opinion to materially detract from the beneficial effects of the physical training of the pupils.

Staff legally qualified, discipline excellent, organization, subjects on programme not taught, none, provision made for teaching writing, reading, drill calesthenics, gymnasium and other subjects, fully up to the requirements of the regulations.

Division of duty among teachers, just. Ratio of pupils to teachers, fair, but if the school continues to grow, additional teachers will soon be necessary. The character of teaching in all the different subjects taught is marked I. The majority of the entrance pupils read fairly, the principal defect is in indistinct enunciation of final consonants. Writing fair. The other pupils read well, well good and do good work in book-keeping. Attendance, all the pupils have been regularly admitted. Text books, in accordance with the regulations. Registers ditto, supplementary reading of English literature—a very good commencement has been made. In the primary subjects of Book-keeping, Drawing and Reading there is no laxity in the grading of the candidates. It affords me pleasure to report that this Institute is in a thoroughly efficient condition. The teaching of all the departments is of a very high order, and the mode of conducting the physical exercises is especially commendable. Since last visit of inspection the building has been enlarged and re-modeled, and is now, as is shown by the grading in a very satisfactory condition.

J. E. HODGSON,
Inspector.

Several complimentary remarks were made by the members of the Board of Education when this flattering report was read at its meeting on Tuesday night.

Address and Presentation.

Mr. A. Blanchard and Mrs. Blanchard Kindly Remembered.

It was a happy throng of students of the Peterborough Business College—fifty in number—that wended their way about nine o'clock last evening to the corner of Park and Weller streets, to take possession of the residence of Mr. A. Blanchard, their principal, and his bride, Miss Maria Cummings, of Belleville. The newly-married couple were taken entirely by surprise, when Miss Gourlay, of Demorestville, stepped forward and read the following address:

To Mr. and Mrs. A. Blanchard:

We the students of the Peterborough Business College wish to tender you our sincere congratulations on this the occasion of your marriage and to extend to you our welcome back among us. We are not forgetful of past favors and kindnesses and we therefore ask you to accept on our behalf these slight tokens of esteem and respect.

In the future when we are separated we trust you will look upon these with feelings of confidence that you live in our affections.

Again we congratulate you on this happy event and pray that you may enjoy a long life of prosperity and happiness.

Signed on behalf of the students.

MADGE LANE, JAMES NORRIS,
MAUD MCCONKEY, WM. E THOMPSON,
MAGGIE RYAN, JOHN P. DICKSON, PEARL WALKER.

Mr. B. O'Brien, of Lindsay, made the presentation, presenting Mr. Blanchard with a handsome gold-headed ebony cane, supplied by Mr. W. A. Sanderson and suitably engraved:—

"Presented to Mr. A. Blanchard by Students of the Peterborough Business College, June 7th, 1892."

Miss Mahoney, town, presented Mrs. Blanchard with a handsome and costly gypsy silver tea pot.

Mr. Blanchard, who was taken entirely by surprise, in a few well selected words made a feeling reply, thanking the students for their kindness and wishing them all success and prosperity. He hoped the pleasant relations which had always existed between them, they as students and he as principal would ever grow and increase. After he had completed his remarks Miss Best stepped forward and read another address on behalf of the C. M. Y. L. A. society of the college. Miss Rogers made the presentation of a handsome bouquet. Afterwards cake and ice cream, with which the students had gone to the house burdened, were served, and a most enjoyable and delightful time spent by all present until a late hour, when the party dispersed all wishing Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard a long and happy life of connubial bliss.

Methodist Ministers Open Their Conference with a Secret Session.

The Toronto Methodist Conference met yesterday in Parkdale Methodist Church with a large attendance of clergymen, though the laymen did not all arrive for the first day's proceedings. The morning and afternoon meetings were private, being occupied with the examination of ministerial character, and the examination of probationers for the ministry. In connection with the examination of ministerial character in the morning session a committee composed of Revs. J. F. German, A. Langford, J. M. Simpson, R. Cade and Dr. Parker was appointed to consider the question of Rev. A. M. Phillips' orthodoxy. In the afternoon the committee brought in a report completely exonerating him from all suspicion of heresy.

In the evening a devotional meeting was held, led by Rev. Hugh Johnston. The meeting was addressed by Revs. J. E. Saunders, P. Addison, Dr. Parker and Dr. Carman, and a most profitable and edifying time was spent.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. German entertained the Stationing Committee at the Parkdale parsonage, refreshments being served, and a most enjoyable time was spent.

On Friday evening, when the new ministers will be publicly received into the ministry, Master Eddie Reburn will sing two of his famous solos, "The Evening Hymn," and "I Dreamed I was in Heaven."

A picturesque hat for early summer is a sage-green straw, rather large and having a double crown of white lace. The inevitable streamers are tied in a little bow under the chin. The illustration gives a very accurate idea how it looks when on.

WHOLESOME FOOD.

Showing the Value of Fruit in the Household Cuisine.

We have a mistaken idea of the value of fruit as food. Our carnivorous tendencies are quite unnecessary for health and strength. Our mothers, seventy five years ago, cooked apples and pears, and made butter of them, and in all ways compelled them to enter into the cuisine more than we to-day. I am not a vegetarian, but I am sure that we can reduce our meat bills to one tenth of their present size profitably. Use an abundance of cereals and vegetables and fruits and you will know less of half the diseases that curse you. My children never taste any meat except fish and eggs, and I wish that I had been brought up that way myself. They have no knowledge of intestinal troubles or headaches or the instability and passions of meat eaters. They are physically stout and clean, and their heads are capable of excellent work and no aches. I believe the moral results are not to be overestimated. Nature has given us abundance of wholesome food that we despise in order to devour the less digestible, more costly and less natural. When I see pain-drawn faces, I feel like saying, Throw away your tea and coffee and tobacco and meat, and eat nicely cooked fruit vegetables and cereals; that is your natural food. The term vegetarian has done mischief. The popular idea is that it means one who lives on vegetables and bread. The sanitary diet is exceedingly varied, and above all involves the use of fruits. The consumption of apples should be at least ten-fold what it is. I sold one barrel of fine assorted apples two years ago to a family in Utica; and was told afterwards, "Oh, they nearly all rotted. We don't use hardly any fruit. Mr. L. likes meat three times a day, and then he wants his coffee and bread, and that's about all." Another, a headaching set, said: "We never eat apples, and don't cook them—only one of the boys, W., and he eats not much else but fruit. He won't eat much, but then he's as stout as an ox—so I don't care." She had an idea that the apple and the fruit diet was generally very dangerous, but that W. was an exception. If it were cholera times, I should consider fruit a safer food than meat. In my own family of seven we consume at least ten barrels of apples in the winter. We bake and stew—and have no end of fruit puddings; and as for canned fruit, it stands now at over one hundred glass jars, and as many more glasses of jelly and cans of marmalade. I would not go into winter without as large a supply as possible of fruit. In summer my invariable remedy for a headache is as many "sour" cherries as I can eat. I cover my trees with mosquito netting to keep off the birds, and in July, August, and even in September and October have an abundance of delicious cherries. I enlarge somewhat on personal experience in hopes of influencing some to make a test of the great advantage of a fruit diet.—New York Independent.

Dainty Dishes for Convalescents.

Calered Chicken—Take a few pieces of cold roast or boiled chicken or turkey, such as remain after the portion presentable id slices has been removed; chop them very fine. To each tablespoonful of meat allow a tablespoonful of cream; season with pepper, salt, a little nutmeg, and celery seed, or celery salt. Put the cream and seasoning in a saucepan, and let it come to a boil. Stir in the chicken, remove from the fire, and beat till frothy. Pile strips of toast in a hollow square on a hot plate, and fill the center with the celeried chicken.

Curried Chicken—Put a dessertspoonful of butter in a hot frying-pan. Have ready a few shreds of onion; fry them brown in it. If a little cold chicken gravy can be obtained use it. If not, make a gravy by rubbing into the pan four tablespoonfuls of butter rubbed together with a small quantity of curry-powder, according to the flavor desired. When the gravy boils, stir in three tablespoonfuls of minced chicken. Serve on a square of hot toast.

Stewed Quail—Draw and truss the quail as for roasting. Put in a saucepan enough milk and water to nearly cover the bird; let it stew gently for about twenty minutes. Remove the quail, and let the milk and water boil down to about half a pint or less. Season with pepper and salt, add a tiny piece of butter, and thicken with fine bread crumbs. Pour this sauce around the bird, and serve.

Kentucky Potatoes—Slice the raw potatoes very thin, let them remain in cold water about eight hours, changing the water once or twice. Put them in a baking dish; cover them with milk; add salt and pepper. Place them in a slow oven, and as the top browns, stir them. Repeat this until the potatoes are perfectly soft and tender. This is a delicious way of cooking this commonplace vegetable.

Scrambled Omelet—Put a table-spoonful of milk into a small saucepan. Add a quarter of a teaspoonful of butter, and a tiny pinch of salt. Beat one egg just enough to break the yolk, pour it into the hot milk, and stir until it begins to stiffen, scraping it from the bottom of the saucepan, that it may not burn. Have ready a square of hot toast, pour the egg on it, and serve.

The secret of success with this dish is to take it from the fire while it is still slightly liquid, as the heat of the saucepan is sufficient to finish the cooking, and if left a moment too long it becomes watery.—Harper's Bazar.

Increase Your Weight.

If you are losing flesh and blood, commence at once taking Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which is far ahead of all other preparations of the kind in existence. By taking Miller's Emulsion people gain from 5 to 10 pounds by the time the first bottle is consumed. It is the greatest blessing of the century to all in delicate health, or who suffer with coughs, colds or ailments that tend to consumption. Remember, Miller's Emulsion contains all the constituents found in wheat. It is used in the hospitals and asylums of the country. In big bottles 50c. and $1 at Peterborough drug stores. dw

"German Syrup"

A Farmer at Edom, Texas, Says:

"We are six in family. We live in a place where we are subject to violent Colds and Lung Troubles. I have used German Syrup for six years successfully for Sore Throat, Cough, Cold, Hoarseness, Pains in the Chest and Lungs, and spitting-up of Blood. I have tried many different kinds of cough Syrups in my time, but let me say to anyone wanting such medicine—German Syrup is the best. That has been my experience. If you use it once, you will go back to it whenever you need it. It gives total relief and is a quick cure. My advice to everyone suffering with Lung Troubles is—Try it. You will soon be convinced. In all the families where your German Syrup is used we have no trouble with the Lungs at all. It is the medicine for this country. John Franklin Jones.

WONDER IN WELLAND!

A Representative Farmer Speaks.

MR. C. C. HAUN.

The following remarkable facts are fully certified to as being undeniably correct in every particular. Mr. Haun is well known in the vicinity, having resided here over fifty years, and is highly respected as a man of the strictest honor, whose word is as good as his bond.

As will be seen from his letter, four physicians had attended him, and it was only after he had given up hope of cure that he decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters on the recommendation of a neighbor who had been cured of a similar disease by its use. Mr. Haun writes as follows:

DEAR SIRS,—I think I have been one of the worst sufferers you have yet heard of, having been six years in the hands of four of our best doctors without obtaining permanent relief, but continually growing worse, until almost beyond hope of recovery, I tried your Bitters and got relief in a few days. Every organ of my body was deranged, the liver enlarged, hardened and torpid, the heart and digestive organs seriously deranged, a large abscess in my back, followed by paralysis of the right leg, in fact the lower half of my body was entirely useless. After using Burdock Blood Bitters for a few days the abscess burst, discharging fully five quarts of pus in two hours. I felt as if I had received a shock from a powerful battery. My recovery after this was steady and the cure permanent, seeing that for the four years since I have had as good health as ever I had. I still take an occasional bottle, not that I need it but because I wish to keep my system in perfect working order. I can think of no more remarkable case than what I have myself passed through, and no words can express my thankfulness for such perfect recovery.

C. C. HAUN,
Welland P.O.

In this connection the following letter from T. Cumines, Esq., a leading druggist of Welland, Ont., speaks for itself:

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto.

GENTLEMEN,—I have been personally acquainted with Mr. C. C. Haun for the last 20 years, and have always found him a very reliable man. You may place the utmost confidence in anything he says with regard to your medicine. He has on many occasions within the last four years told me that it was marvellous the way the Burdock Blood Bitters had cured him, and that he now felt as able to do a day's work as he ever felt in his life. Although quite well he still takes some B. B. B. occasionally, as he says, to keep him in perfect health.

Yours truly,
THOMAS CUMINES,
Welland, Ont.

The steadily increasing sale of B. B. B., the length of time it has been before the people, and the fact that it cures to stay cured, attest the sterling merit of this monarch of medicines, the people's favorite blood purifier, tonic and regulator.

That white spots can be removed from furniture by holding a hot iron over, but not on the place.

That oranges and lemons with green leaves intermixed make a pretty dish for decorative purposes.

That the usual average in reckoning the cost of living for each person in the dining-room is $5 a week.

That the yolk of an egg in half a pint of tepid rain water, with a little powdered borax and a teaspoonful of spirits of camphor added, will take spots out of black goods.

That teapots should be washed throughly with strong soda and water and then rinsed well and perfectly dried each day if one would prevent the curious haylike smell often noticed in a teapot.

That nothing is better for restoring the brightness of polished tables than rubbing them with a linen rag dipped in cold-drawn linseed oil.

That a good handful of salt should be added to the water in which matting is washed. The salt keeps the matting in color. Do not use soap.

That grease stains on wall paper may be removed by mixing pipe-clay with enough water to make a sort of cream. Spread this rather thickly on the stain, leave it on for twenty-four hours, then take it off carefully with a knife and dust and brush the paper thoroughly.

That a capital wash for stained boards is made by boiling one-half pound of slaked lime and one pound of soda in six quarts of water for two hours. Let this settle, then pour off the clear part for use.

That you can tell if a bed is damp by laying your hand glass between the sheets for a few moments. If the sheets are not properly dried the glass will be clouded.

That pearl knife handles should be rubbed with a salt rag dipped in fine table salt; then polish with leather.

That a little soap and warm water applied frequently is better for cleaning your lacquered brass than all the cleaning materials in the world.—New York Advertiser.

Decorative Don'ts.

Don't furnish a north room in blue or any cold color. Yellow or golden-brown hangings will produce the effect of perpetual sunshine.

Don't make a narrow door narrower by a heavy portiere. A small house is made stuffy by too many hangings.

Don't put chandeliers in a room with a low ceiling. Side brackets are fashionable and are to be had in artistic shapes.

Don't have too much of one kind of decoration in the house. Grille work and stained glass repeated in more than two rooms become monotonous.

Don't buy a bright-colored carpet to put into rooms where the furniture is not to be correspondingly toned up.

Don't put into a room unsteady little tables loaded with meaningless bric-a-brac.—Baltimore News.

THE BEST FAMILY PILL IN USE

FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 15, 1892.

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece, delicate and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and to preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. P. ATWELL.

DEAR SIR,—For many years, I have been a firm believer in your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills." Not with a blind faith, but a confidence wrought by an actual personal experience of their value and merit. My business is such that I spend much of my time away from home, and I would not consider my travelling outfit complete without a box of Morse's Pills. Yours, &c.,

TORONTO, June 8.—Receipts of grain on the street market yesterday were represented by 200 bushels of wheat at 85c for fall, 78c for spring and 70c for goose, 500 bushels of oats at 34½c to 35c and one small load of peas at 61c. Hay was in heavy supply, 100 loads selling lower at $13 to $14 for timothy and $10 to $11.50 for clover. Straw was in light supply, seven loads selling at $10 to $11. Dressed hogs quoted at $6.25 to $6.50 per cwt.

On call board No. 1 Manitoba hard wheat was offered at $1.02 with $1.00½ bid. No. 2 hard to arrive North Bay offered at 95c, without bids, and No. 3 hard to arrive North Bay offered at 87c, with 84c bid. No. 1 regular afloat Port Arthur offered at 61½c, without bids. No. 1 Northern to arrive offered at 95c and No. 1 Northern to arrive offered at 85c, without bids. Oats steady, quoted at 33c on track.

THE M'KINLEY TARIFF.

A Minority Report on the Trade Relations With Canada.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—At yesterday's meeting of the Senate Finance Committee, Senator McPherson submitted a minority report upon the subject of the effect of the tariff laws upon trade relations with Canada.

Mr. McPherson presents statistics to controvert the conclusions reached in Senator Merrill's majority report, and argues that producers of farm products in the United States have not been benefited by the McKinley tariff.

Chairman Morrill also submitted a supplementary report, in which he contends that Mr. McPherson's statistics are worthless, and he concludes by quoting the recent declarations of Lord Salisbury and Sir Charles Tupper in favor of retaliatory protection.

Death on the Stage.

PARIS, June 8.—A sad event occurred at the Theatre d'Application during the rehearsal of "Seylia," a comic opera by MM. Brument and Taillade. While M. Gerald, the tenor, was going through his part his wife, who also had a role in the piece, suddenly left the stage and fell down dead just as she reached her husband's dressing-room. On the fatal news being broken to M. Gerald he fainted and was only with difficulty restored to consciousness. The deceased artiste was 30 years of age.

The Grand Duke and the President.

PARIS, June 8.—The demonstrations at Nancy and the unexpected visit of the Grand Duke Constantine to President Carnot are looked upon as being of the greatest importance in diplomatic circles here, especially in view of the fact that the Czar selected the eve of his meeting with Emperor William to send the Grand Duke to meet President Carnot.

A Bankrupt Actress.

VIENNA, June 8.—The actress Adele Sandrock has been declared a bankrupt. Her liabilities are officially stated at 70,000 florins, mostly due to the persons who made the dresses worn in her recent American tour. Her assets consist of these dresses and a set of jewelry.

Ready to Be Sacrificed.

MALMAS, June 8.—A youth of 18 has offered himself as a victim of a native feast to be held on Wednesday and has volunteered to undergo the torture of having his body impaled with a sharp hook, and while thus inflicted to be suspended in the air for a considerable period. There is no sign that the authorities will prevent the barbarous occurrence.

Was It Incendiary?

VIENNA, June 8.—There is reason to believe that the fire in the Birkenberg mine was of incendiary origin. The fire must have been caused by oils or explosives. Six weeks ago an inspector found in the 29th level of the Marie mine three suspicious-looking men who were unable to account for their presence there.

Dedicated and Demolished.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., June 8.—During a severe storm which prevailed over this section last night St. John's Lutheran Church, in Wayne township, was struck by lightning, demolishing the steeple and front of the building. The basement of the building was dedicated yesterday.

Fatal Political Fight.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 8.—Near Sayersville in a fight at a Republican primary election yesterday Joseph Riggins shot and killed Robin Daniel, ex-county assessor. Daniel Green lost an eye in the fracas, and Elijah Dungan was injured, probably fatally, by being struck with a stone.

All for a Barley Corn.

LaFontaine, in one of his fables, tells of a barn yard fowl that scratched up a gem, while scratching for corn. Not knowing its value he gave it to a stone cutter for a barley corn. Thus do many persons throw away the priceless pearl of health. A "trifling cough is neglected, then comes consumption, then death. Stay the cough or look out for the coffin. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure catarrh in the head, bronchial or throat affections, or lung-scrofula (commonly known as consumption of the lungs). If taken in time and given a fair trial, it will cure, or the money paid for it will be refunded. It is the only GUARANTEED. A

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the possible way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it, a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and a dollar. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

News About Town

It is the current report about town that Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs is making some remarkable cures with people who are troubled with coughs, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis and consumption. Any druggist will give you a trial bottle free of cost. It is guaranteed to relieve and cure. The large bottles cost 50c and $1. dw

THE EMPEROR AND CZAR KISS EACH OTHER.

French Newspapers Affect Indifference at The Meeting of The Potentates—Gallic Sentiment Soothed by The Grand Duke Constantine's Visit to The President of The French Republic.

KIEL, June 9.—Emperor William and Czar Alexander III. on landing here drove to the Castle, where a reception was held.

Before coming ashore the Czar, attired in the uniform of the German Alexandra Regiment, visited the Hohenzollern. He was met at the gangway of the yacht by the Emperor, who wore the uniform of the Russian regiment of which he is colonel.

The two embraced and kissed each other three times, and ascended to the Emperor's stateroom. The Czar then returned to the Polar Star, where he was joined by the Emperor.

In the afternoon Emperor William, the Czar, the Czarwitch and Prince Henry of Prussia boared the German flagship Baden and proceeded to Holtenau inspect the Baltic Sea Canal Works.

A banquet was given at the Castle in the evening at which the two Emperors toasted each other's health.

Emperor William appointed the Czar a German admiral, and the Czar bestowed the insignia of the Order of the White Eagle on Baron Marschall von Biberstient, German Minister of Foreign Affairs.

PARIS, June 9.—Some of the French newspapers profess indifference regarding the meeting of the two potentates, setting off against it the call made yesterday at Nancy on President Carnot by the Grand Duke Constantine.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 9.—The press of this city regard the meeting of the Czar and Kaiser as pregnant of peace.

A London Banking House Closes its Doors.

LONDON, June 9.—At 5.55 o'clock this evening the directors of the New Oriental Bank have decided to suspend. The announcement has caused a great sensation.

A circular issued by the directors gives the liabilites £1,250,000, and the uncalled capital as £600,000. The directors recommend the depositors to withdraw only 20 per cent. of their deposits in order to allow of the successful reconstruction of the bank.

Gladstone on the Coming Struggle.

LONDON, June 9.—In addressing a Liberal gathering at Hawarden yesterday Mr. Gladstone said that the Tories had admitted that a battle on the Free Trade question would be of great benefit to the country, but that from declarations made in high quarters they seemed to be changing their minds. "Whether they do or not," said Mr. Gladstone, "the Liberals will stick by their flag in support of a cause which tends to the welfare of the people and the strength and prosperity of the Empire. The Liberals never had a greater, a more sacred or a more hopeful cause than that to be decided at the coming elections."

Anarchist Blackmailers.

ROME, June 9.—Prince Odescalchi recently received a letter signed by the "Group of Death" of the dynamiters ordering him, under pain of being blown to pieces, to bury the sum of $100,000 at a certain indicated spot in the suburbs. The Prince notified the police and a number of officers watched the place where the money was to be buried, and arrested two well-known Anarchists while they were engaged in digging up the ground. The men were recognized as old offenders, who had already been imprisoned in connection with the May Day disturbances. The prisoners declared that they belonged to a gang which intended to blow up Prince Odescalchi's residence with dynamite.

Exploring Expeditions.

LONDON, June 9.—The proposed Australian expedition to the Antartic has collapsed owing to the lack of funds. Baron Dickson promised to provide £5000 if the other £10,000 required should be raised within a year. The stipulated time has long since passed and less than £9000 has been raised. Baron Dickson has now withdrawn his contribution, and has given it to an expedition which is being organized by Capt. Gray of Peterhead.

A Member of Parliament's Sudden Death.

LONDON, June 9.—Lord Rosebery presided at the opening of Brockwell Park at Herne Hill, County of Surrey, yesterday. There was a fashionable assemblage present. The ceremonies were marred, however, by the death of Thomas Lynn Bristowe, member of the House of Commons for the Norwood Division of Lambeth, who was present. He fell in a fit and soon died. Mr. Bristowe was a Conservative. He was a member of the Stock Exchange and 59 years of age.

Some of the Booty Recovered.

FRANKFORT, June 9.—The Rothschilds have recovered about 1,500,000 marks of the 1,750,000 marks embezzled by their former cashier, Jaeger. Eight member of Jaeger's family are under arrest.

Sensitive Friends.

MILAN, June 9.—The Fossati Theatre recently put on a play, in which the dynamiter Ravachol was portrayed in a manner offensive to the Anarchists. The management has been compelled to take off the play.

ON TRIAL FOR HER LIFE.

A True Bill Found in the Rainy River Murder Case—Despatch from The World's Reporter.

PORT ARTHUR, June 9.—The trial of Nellie Carruthers for the murder of her husband will open to-day.

At 11.30 to-night the grand jury returned a true bill for murder against the prisoner, and she will be arraigned and the trial proceed with to-morrow.

It began to look very dubious as to whether a true bill would be found, and at ten o'clock the prosecution had about abandoned all hopes of a bill, but the medical evidence clinched all doubts held by the jurors.

The trial will probably not be concluded before Monday, as nearly every inhabitant of Rainy River has been summoned to give evidence.

Among the witnesses are Drs. Clark, Bryce and Cameron of Toronto and Drs. Strong and Cleveland. The latter two are for the defence, and it depends largely upon their testimony and that of the expert on handwriting what the verdict will be.

The grand jury heard the evidence not only of Drs. Clark and Bryce to-day, but that of Dr. Blair of Winnipeg, A. S. Macdonald of Rat Portage, Beck and J. A. McDonald of Port Arthur. They swore positively after examining the skull of the deceased that the wounds could not have been self-inflicted.

T. E. Strick of St. Marys, brother of Mrs. Carruthers, has been here in the accused's interests, which have not been neglected during her confinement in jail, as her sister has been here for months past. A. Carruthuers of Aubrey, Westminster township, brother of the murdered man, is also here. It appears that deceased and his wife were first cousins, besides a sister of deceased is married to a brother of Mrs. Carruthers, consequently the two families are closely related all through.

Detective Murray and Crown prosecutor Clute claim to have a very strong case against the woman, while B. B. Osler, Q.C., who is conducting the case, is satisfied he will have no doubt in convincing the jury that Carruthers committed suicide despite the array of testimony. That note found in the pocket of deceased was not in Carruthers' handwriting but that of his wife.

TO WORK EIGHT HOURS.

Proposed International Miners' Federation to Secure the Boon.

LONDON, June 9.—The International Miners' conference was opened at Westminster yesterday, Mr. Burt presiding. There were present eight Belgian delegates, representing 97,000 miners; four French delegates, representing 23,000 miners; and four German and Austrian delegates, representing 227,000 miners, besides 62 English delegates. It was unanimously agreed to form an international federation of miners desirous of joining the eight-hour movement. This motion revealed a great deal of dissension and it was only carried on the understanding that amendments should be submitted.

Something new every week. This week we give a few Skeptical Convincers.

Mothers, how about the boys? Just think we can give you a nice Blue Sailor made Suit for 75c., $1.25, $1.80, $1.75, $2.25, $2.50 and a Ball and Bat thrown in with every suit.

Did you see those Caps we have been showing for 5c., 10c. and 15c. The question has been asked, where do you get them and how do you sell them so cheap? Why they are sold all over town for 25c and 35c. It is the mystery of the present day how we get up such good goods, made equal to any work turned out in the town of Peterborough at just half the price.

Gentlemen, you who have bought Ready Made Goods before, come and see what we have. You will see something that will open your eyes; such fine work was never seen on Ready-Made Clothing in Peterborough before. You who have never bought Made-Up Clothing before, come and compare our goods with what you have been getting; try them on and see for yourself how they fit.

Now here is just a few prices that one would be inclined to doubt, but ask for them and see for yourself. Stop and think, a Pair Good Tweed Pants for 95c. These we always have in stock. We won't tell you we are just sold out when you ask for them. All Wool Tweed Pants, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2.00 and up. Men's Suits, just imagine $2.75, $3.25, $3.95, $4.50 and $5. Navy Blue Serge, $2 a Suit and up.

Don't forget we keep just as fine a line of Tweeds and Worsteds as you can get made-to-order any place in town. Come and see them. We don't bother the life out of any one to buy.

A TRIAL FOR HER LIFE.

THE SENSATIONAL CASE AT PORT ARTHUR.

Mrs. Carruthers in the Dock—The Scene in Court—Graphic Sketch of the Proceedings—The First Day's Evidence—Suicide the Defence—A Juror's Sudden Illness—The Trial May Be Put Off.

PORT ARTHUR, June 10.—The trial of Mrs. Nellie Carruthers for the murder of her husband is now fully under way.

Promptly at 9 o'clock the prisoner entered the dock, attired plainly but becomingly in black and wearing a black straw turban with a single jet feather. She walked firmly along the aisle, smiling and bowing to such of the Rainy River residents as she recognized. Still her face had an anxious, almost haggard expression, and this became more marked as the day progressed. She looked more like a woman of 45 than one of 32. She watched closely every detail of evidence and frequently prompted her counsel. The cool indifference which marked her conduct at the preliminary examination and which caused so much comment was totally absent to-day and she looked as if she realised what the end might be.

She Was Clerk at Eaton & Co.'s.

It came out Friday that after the murder Mrs. Carruthers went to Blanchard, where she remained with her brother some time, subsequently removing to Toronto, where from April, 1891, until her arrest in August following she was employed with T. Eaton & Co. as clerk and resided at 23 Stafford-avenue.

For the first time probably in the history of a murder trial there were no jurors challenged either by the defence or on behalf of the prosecution. This is partly due to the fact that the scene of the crime lies over 400 miles west of here.

The Scene in Court.

Half an hour after the court opened the jury had been sworn in. Then Crown Counsel Clute outlined the case, while His Lordship the Chief Justice lay back in his chair wiping the perspiration from his brow, for despite the fact that every window was open it was stifling hot in the little box which does duty for a court room, though the room was by no means crowded, as admittance was by ticket, and the solitary party having no business there, a squalling baby, was promptly ejected.

Mr. Clute, in detailing the case, alleged two motives that the prisoner had for removing her husband: (1) Her love for "Will" Fotheringham, a former schoolmate and her husband's employer; (2) the $1000 life insurance in the Masonic Mutual Association, which deceased carried.

The Evidence Opened.

Emma Jordan, a prepossessing young German wife, whose puff-sleeve dress bore testimony that, although out of the world, she is not out of the fashion, told in her interesting broken dialect of the familiar terms upon which the prisoner and Fotheringham were and of the latter's apparent indifference after her husband's death and of contradictory statements made by her.

Arthur W. Fisher detailed the circumstances under which the body of the deceased was found and his conviction at that time that murder had been committed; the indifference of the prisoner to her loss; his reprimand of her for speaking about obtaining the insurance money the day following the fatality; of the designed manner in which the letter alleged to have been written by Carruthers was found by his wife; of her query after the inquest, "They can't do anything to me," and his reply, "You know that best." He also produced several letters he had received from Mrs. Carruthers, and which were put in as exhibits with a view of proving by these later on that the hand that wrote these also wrote the suicide letter.

Fresh Points in the Evidence.

Two new points brought out in Fisher's evidence were that Fotheringham some time previously had a black eye, which he had received from the deceased, as to which Mrs. Carruthers explained that Fotheringham had called her husband a liar and the latter had in return struck him. She also told Fisher that Fotheringham wanted her to elope with him, but she said he couldn't support himself, let alone her and the children.

Fisher's evidence as to what Mr. Osler admitted was "rather strong" language showed the woman to be familiar with the coarsest oaths.

George Warts testified as to hearing a quarrel between Carruthers and his wife the night preceding the tragedy, and to hearing the prisoner say: "You're a —— liar."

Mrs. Warts told how she found the prisoner seated in Fotheringham's lap.

Suicide The Defence.

The line of defence was made manifest to-night when the medical evidence was commenced. They will stick to the suicide theory.

Dr. Phair of Rat Portage, who made the post mortem, said after two hours' questioning he thought that the wounds were not inconsistent with suicide. The skull of the dead man was produced, and as the witness took it in his hands the prisoner burst into a violent fit of weeping, and kept her head buried in her hands for an hour.

After the court had adjourned to-night one of the jurors was taken violently ill, and doctors are in attendance. Should his illness continue as severe as it threatens, to-morrow may see the end of the case, or rather a further postponement until the next assizes, which is tantamount to the same thing.

The Grand Jury's Presentment And the Chief Justice's Reply.

In their presentment yesterday the grand jury referred to the inadequate size of the court room and eulogized the district, its mining lands and the untold development awaiting them.

Judge Armour, replying, said, "As for your mining lands that is something with which I have nothing to do, you will have to stir up the politicians. I am afraid, however, that your mines will not amount to much so long as the present condition of affairs exists."

THE REFINERY BURNED.

An Explosion Starts the Flames—Men Burned to Death.

BRADFORD, Pa., June 10.—The Acme refinery at Olean, N.Y., is burning. One man was burned to death. The fire was caused by an exploding still and the whole of the plant will be destroyed. It is the largest oil refinery in the country.

HARRISON IS FAVORITE.

AN EXCITING DAY AT THE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The Harrison Men Are Uppermost in the Reception of the Majority Report of the Committee on Credentials—The Minority, or Blaine Party Report Rejected by 562 to 423 Votes.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 10.—The convention gathered at 11 o'clock under the chairmanship of Major McKinley. As the report of the Committee on Credentials was not ready the convention was adjourned till 8 o'clock.

There Are Three Parties.

At no time since the convention opened have the demands for a compromise candidate been so generally and persistently expressed as Friday. Indeed it can be almost said the convention is now divided into three elements: The administration people, the Blaine forces and the Conservative element, which is demanding nothing but the party's success and which gives evidence of aggressiveness in insisting that both of the leading candidates should give way to some one man free from factional affiliations who can carry the party to victory.

McKinley's Chance.

The favorite compromise candidate, whose name is on every lip to-night, and who, in political parlance, has almost ceased to be a "dark horse," although disclaiming any pretence as to being a candidate, is Governor McKinley of Ohio.

The governor is apparently not making the slightest effort to add to his boom, which had its infancy 72 hours since, and now has assumed such magnificent proportions as to become a constant menace to both of the factions.

Other Probable Nominees.

In some quarters there is considerable mention of the name of Sherman, and many maintain that it would not be surprising if the convention finally settled down on the veteran senator for the nominee.

Senator Allison is also frequently mentioned, but Hon. Jeremiah Rusk of Wisconsin, Secretary of Agriculture, appears to be a more popular candidate.

The strength of Gen. Russell A. Alger of Michigan will develop on the first ballot.

Harrison the Committee's Favorite.

The majority report is favorable to Harrison and the minority report to Blaine. The vote will be a strong indication of actual strength of the two leaders in the convention.

The Crucial Time.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 10, 1 a.m.—Chairman McKinley was in his seat.

Chairman Coggswell, from the Committee on Credentials, took the platform and stated he was not prepared with a written report but if the convention wished he would give a verbal report. He considered that the minority was ready to report.

The chairman asked if there was objection to the reception of a verbal report from the committee. No objection was heard and Mr. Coggswell, holding in his hand a memo. sheet, began to announce the action of the committee. The majority report recommends that the committee be sustained as to 23 votes and not sustained as to 17 votes; recommending the unseating of 17 delegates given seats temporarily.

The net result politically was a gain of about 12 votes to Harrison as compared with the temporary roll.

The adoption of this report was moved. Mr. Wallis of New York made a minority report as to Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, involving 10 Harrison votes.

They Get Warm.

A protracted and very heated discussion followed the presentation of the reports. After four or five speakers had their say Mr. Beethen of Illinois made a remark that he could prove anything from the section of Alabama from which the contestants came. The remark provoked prolonged hissing, which led Cannon of Illinois to suggest that the galleries be cleared. The feeling on the floor developed additional bitterness as the debate progressed.

Senator Woloott of Colorado scored the office-holders roundly and told them to go back to their duties in Washington.

Mr. Clayton of Arkansas attacked Senator Woloott and told him there were Senators who should go back.

Mr. Chauncey Depew spoke for the majority report and Mr. Warner Miller against it. Senator Quay and other leaders followed, taking a hand in the fray, which was ended at 10.40 p.m. by vote on question to substitute the minority report for majority report. The Alabama delegates whose seats were contested voted in favor of themselves. Active opposition at once developed on the part of the Harrison leaders, and finally at 11.22 p.m. the delegates whose seats are in question withdrew their votes and the roll-call proceeded.

A Black Eye for Blaine.

It was 12.30 when the vote on the motion to adopt the minority report was announced. This vote was taken as an indication of the strength of the Blaine and Harrison following.

The Blaine men favored the adoption of the minority report and made strenuous efforts to carry their point.

The result although the vote was close was a considerable disappointment to the followers of the Plumed Knight, and although the Harrison folks won the victory their vote is not sufficiently large to afford them much gratification.

Over 450 votes is required to nominate, and of the vote against the minority report, eight came from Michigan Algermen—and there were probably 30 or 40 other votes against the adoption of the minority report which are not strictly Harrison votes, so that neither side can be said to have made a decisive point, although there is no doubt that the vote is a black eye for the Blaine candidacy.

The Official Figures.

The official vote on the adoption of the minority report is as follows: Ayes 423, nays 463.

The announcement of the vote caused great cheering.

Following the cheers a motion was made to adjourn, which was defeated.

A roll of the states was demanded and is being proceeded with on the adoption of the majority report on the Alabama case.

The Harrison Delegates Seated.

The vote on the adoption of the majority report in the Alabama case, seating the Harrison delegates, resulted in 476 yeas, 365 nays, a distinct gain for the Harrison party.

At 1.10 a.m. Governor Foraker ascended to the platform to present the resolutions and the platform. He was received with cheers, which continued [illegible]

Platform Received and Committee Adjourned.

The platform was received with cheers, after which a motion to adjourn was put and carried, and the convention adjourned to 11 o'clock this morning.

THE AMENDMENT LOST.

The Liberals Supported Mr. [illegible] and Col. O'Brien.

OTTAWA, June 9.—When the House met yesterday an attempt was made by Mr. Beausoleil to get the report of the Committee on Banking and Commerce, throwing out the bill to amalgamate the National Mutual Loan and Building Society of Montreal and the National Mutual Loan and Building Society of Hamilton, referred back to the committee for further consideration, but after some discussion the motion was defeated, 83 for to 96 against. There seemed to be an impression in the House, as there was in committee yesterday, that these societies charged too much interest, and that they were a drawback instead of a help to the poor man.

No More Private Legislation.

On motion of Sir John Thompson Government business was given precedence on Monday after questions put by members. This practically closes all private business for the session, and leaves Mr. Armstrong's dual language and separate schools in the Northwest resolution hung up for this year, as well as Mr. Devlin's Home Rule motion. Mr. Devlin made an appeal to have a day set for his Home Rule resolution, but met with no encouragement.

Toronto Entitled to Eight Members.

After this the redistribution debate was resumed by Mr. Boyle, who made a good speech in defence of the bill. He was followed by Mr. Bain of Wentworth, who spoke up to recess and for a short time after in support of Mr. McCarthy's amendment.

Mr. Cockburn followed, making a short speech, in which he expressed dissatisfaction with both the amendment and the bill. He was not satisfied with the representation given to Toronto, which he said was entitled to eight members, and he announced that he should move an amendment to that effect when the House got into committee on the bill.

The debate was continued by Mr. McMillan (Huron).

Defeat in the Early Morn.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Lister, Mackintosh, Edwards and Christie until 12.40, when the members were called in and Mr. McCarthy's amendment was defeated by a vote of 62 for to 109 against.

The mover and seconder of the amendment, Messrs. McCarthy and O'Brien, were the only Conservatives who voted for it and they were supported by a solid Liberal vote.

Chit-Chat of the Capital.

OTTAWA, June 10.—Lady Abbott left for Ste. Annes yesterday, where she will spend the greater part of the summer. Sir John paid a visit to Ottawa 16 this evening and enjoyed a pleasant chat with his followers for some time. He is looking extremely well just now and shows no sign of the hard work he has had to go through this session. Sir John is a very busy man, and although he seldom comes out in the evenings or does any night work, if it can be avoided, manages to put in eight or ten hours a day at his office in council and in the Senate. He said to-night that he would be glad when the session was over, as he had accepted an invitation from Lord Mountstephen to pay him a visit at Metis, and he thought that a sniff of salt water and a little fishing would do him good.

His Excellency has gone for a short visit to the Canapedia River, where he has built a comfortable summer residence, and not to the Metepedia, as erroneously stated in some papers. He will probably return to Ottawa next week.

MERCIER RUINED.

He Abandons all His Property to Satisfy His Creditors.

MONTREAL, June 10.—Something of a sensation was created among Mr. Mercier's friends Friday when it was announced that the ex-Premier had made a voluntary abandonment of his property for the benefit of his creditors. The total liabilities amount to $60,000 or thereabouts. The abandonment includes the Cote St. Denis Property, valued at $20,000; the St. Hyacinthe property amounting to $5000, and the Tourouvre property, which is valued at between $15,000 and $20,000. The step of Mr. Mercier is said to have been taken in view of the recent suits brought against him by the several banks to recover the amount of promissory notes held by them and indorsed by him. It is stated by some of Mr. Mercier's friends who are supposed to be in his confidence that he will be left without a penny.

THE PRISON DESTROYED.

Also the Residence of the Jailer—Nothing Saved—No Insurance.

SUDBURY, June 10.—A fire broke out at 10 o'clock last night in the jail, and before the fire engine reached the spot the whole structure was enveloped in flames; which then communicated to the residence of the jailer, destroying everything. Incendiarism is supposed to be the cause, as the members of the household were all away visiting at the time. The total loss will amount to about $5000. No insurance.

Another Novelty for Chicago.

SINGAPORE, June 10.—The Sultan of Johore, one of the most prosperous States in the East, situated in the western part of the Malay Peninsula, is causing to be prepared for the Chicago Columbian Exhibition a model Malay village, in which the trades and industries peculiar to the Malays will be carried on by natives. It is highly probable the Sultan himself will visit Chicago during the exhibition.

His Skull Crushed.

NIAGARA FALLS, June 10.—George Campbell, a carpenter, fell from a derrick on the new Globe Theatre building, in the rear of Falls-street, to the floor beneath; and was almost instantly killed. The derrick fell on top of him and crushed his skull in a horrible manner. Campbell was about 45 years old and came from Toronto to this city last Saturday. Nothing is known of his family or friends. He began work on this building the day of the accident.

Mercier and Pacaud Committed to the Assizes.

QUEBEC, June 10.—In the Police Court yesterday Judge Chauveau gave his decision in the conspiracy case against Mercier, Langelier and Pacaud. Mercier and Ernest Pacaud will have to stand their trial at the Court of Queen's Bench October term. Personal bail was accepted. The charges against Hon. Charles Langelier, ex-provincial secretary, were dismissed.

Lakefield.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Village council meets next Monday night.

Court Lakefield, No. 43, C.O.F., meet next Thursday evening for initiation.

Bros. R. Q. Dench and W. M. Graham, leave for Stratford next week to attend High Court of Foresters, as representatives of Court Lakefield.

Our village constable has seven head of cattle in pound; some roadside farmer will be minus his stock if they are not claimed very soon.

The heavy rains of the past week has done quite a lot of damage to low lying gardens and fields, and on hill sides, the heavy rain and wind washing everything bare, still, crops look well and a few days sunshine will have a wonderful effect.

The Dominion Government is too poor, or else we have not influence enough to get a new post office, as our post master has set to work to renovate the old one and is making quite an improvement in both it and his store.

A large excursion of Foresters and their friends came round on the Scotsman from Bridgenorth on Tuesday, taking a special train for home. They had a fine day and a good time from all accounts.

It is always a pleasure to note the progress by our young men when they leave home and strike out for themselves. The following clipping from the Pittsburg Times in reference to Messrs. Ed. and Harry Carter, sons of Mr. Wm. Carter, florist of this place, proves that they, like other Lakefield boys, are making their mark. The stock of the company is to be held principally by the above two young men, and to give an idea how some of our modern houses are now supplied with electric appliances, it may be stated that it took 55 miles of wire to wire the residence of H. C. Frick: mentioned in the extract:—Progressive Pittsburg is on an equal footing with the other large cities of the United States in the handling of modern improvements that science and invention have placed at the command of the people. Among these are electrical appliances and machinery. Several prominent firms here are identified with this trade, but none are better known than the Electrical Construction and Maintenance Company. The offices of this company are at No. 125 Fifth avenue. Business was formally established in 1890 and has since been conducted under the most favorable circumstances, the company having always maintained the very best connections and being supplied with complete facilities for meeting every demand of their large number of patrons. They make a specialty of fitting and refitting establishments with electrical plants of all sizes and descriptions, the maintenance of these in proper working order, and also supplying all manner of electrical machinery, together with the appurtenances.

The large business carried on by this company is under the direct management of Mr. H. C. Carter, an electrical engineer of the very best school, who makes it a point to carry out all work in accordance with the most advanced principles of electrical science.

Other prominent specialities of the company are incandescent lighting and belt wiring, which, together with the construction work, is executed with promptness and efficiency. The belt work in the new post office building and the light and belt work for H. C. Frick's residence, Homewood, and for the Dispatch Publishing Company was done by the Electrical Construction and Maintenance Company, and many other large structures of almost equal note have been fitted with the finest electrical appliances by this company. They are prepared at all times to supply and put into perfect working order the most improved makes of dynamos, motors, etc., and furnish anything in the electrical line that may be desired. They are the inventors of an automatic electric messenger elevator, and handle all kinds of office and labor-saving devices.

They make one feel as though life was worth living. Take one of Carter's Little Pills after eating. It will relieve dyspepsia, aid digestion, give tone and vigor to the system. dw

Vast Mineral Resources.

How Ontario Will Advertise Her Great Natural Wealth at the World's Fair.

The World's Fair at Chicago will be the first exhibition that has ever done justice to the minerals of Ontario. Canada has been allotted 10,000 feet altogether for minerals, of which Ontario should have at least 4,000 feet, while 5,000 feet will be used if it can be obtained. These minerals come from all sections of the Province. From the immediate country north-east of Toronto comes lead, copper, iron, gold, marble, granite, mica, asbestos and phosphate of lime. Then from Western Ontario comes gypsum, petroleum, marl, salt, terra-cotta clay, and various kinds of building stone. Around Sudbury and the north shore of Lake Huron are found rich deposits of nickel, copper and iron, while further west again are silver, marble and lead; in fact these are found all over the northern portion of the Province. A fact not generally known, even in the Province itself, but which this exhibit will fully show the world, is that in various parts of Ontario, such as Renfrew, Cornwall, Frontenac and some of the northern districts, the finest marbles and granites, grey, black, white and brown, to be obtained anywhere in the world, are found. Hon. A. S. Hardy, Commissioner of Crown Lands, is determined to have the mineral resources of this Province properly advertised to the world, and looks at the coming fair as Ontario's opportunity. By his direction every effort is being made to assist the Ontario Commissioner for the fair to secure a collection worth of the Province, and which it is naturally well able to produce.

FANCY GOOD BAZAARS.

THE FORCE OF HABIT.

WE have read of an old lady who for many years regularly pawned her silver teapot every Monday morning and took it out again every Saturday night. She had lost sufficient by paying interest to the pawn-brokers to buy several new pots, but it seems she could never get even with her creditors without sacrificing the tea-brewer at the beginning of the week. That was simply from the force of habit. The policy-holder is apt to get into the same habit when the premium on his policy is to be paid. Is there a dividend? Yes; then he must use that in payment of the premium. Many policy-holders having become used to paying full premiums in cash do so to the end, and the result is a wonderful accumulation, showing an investment rarely equalled in the history of finance. Some policy-holders will be persistent for a few years in their cash payments and then begin to use the dividends to pay the premiums. Having once begun they rarely stop the practice, and year after year they find it impossible to pay the premiums in any other way. They simply cease to save and lose the advantages which the Canada Life offers every investor in its policies.

Weather Notes for May.

PETERBOROUGH.—Notes on the month of May, 1892. We have again seen the flesh of another flowery May, that of 1892, which has passed into oblivion, leaving many an empty chair and vacant fireside; the raging floods, effects of heavy rains, the heart rending accidents and the devastating flames, the latter, one of our most destructive enemies. They have all done their share of death and suffering. Well, for us such things are unknown till they come. The month came in with fine pleasant weather and genial showers, as if trying to contravene the dry weather received in April. It is worthy of remark the temperature throughout 11 days, the maximum thermometer registering 70°, or over, the highest being 90° on the 31st and our coldest on the 5th, and that only at the freezing point, leaving the mean temperature of the month at 52 31 24°. We had rain on 17 days to the depth of 2 inches and 92 100 of an inch; scarcely any frost and that only slightly; hail on the 6th and 25th. We had three awful gales during the month. We had thunder twice, at one storm fell 75 100 of water, the other no rain. Twice halos, once accompanied with two parhelias or mock suns, once lunar corona, three times auroral lights, that on the 20th being particularly fine, ranging 1, the other two ranging 11 and 111 respectively, with fog three times. The following are the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month respectively, namely: south 1 day, east 3 days, north east 8 days, north-west 10 days, south-east days, south 3 days, and north 1 day.

Price 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. dw

Health Department.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

By constipation is meant irregular action of the bowels, often called costiveness, and commonly caused by dyspepsia, neglect or excess in eating or drinking, etc. It is a serious complaint and not to be neglected under any circumstances, as it leads to impure blood, headache, debility, fevers, etc. A uniformly successful remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters, which, if faithfully tried, never fails to effect a prompt and lasting cure even in the worst cases. The following extract from a letter from Mr. Jas. M. Carson, Banff, will speak for itself:—I have been troubled with constipation and general debility and was induced to use your B.B.B. through seeing your advertisement. I now take great pleasure in recommending it to all my friends, as it completely cured me." dw

EXTENSIVE CHANGES IN

THOMAS KELLY'S

DRY GOODS ESTABLISHMENT.

POSITIVE ALTERATION SALE!

About a year ago extensive alterations and improvements in our George and Simcoe Street premises were contemplated and publicly announced in good faith, and preparations were commenced to transform our store into one of the finest business premises in Peterborough. Unfortunately, owing to difficulties which arose at the time, we were compelled to postpone the work indefinitely. Now, however, we have determined that These Improvements must go on, no matter what the Cost. We, therefore, beg to announce that during the month of July, in order to allow these important alterations to be made, we will be of the premises altogether, for about a month. To avoid the expense and trouble of removing the goods, we have decided to sell off our whole stock, and will commence at once a SWEEPING CLEARANCE SALE of everything in the store. Nothing will be reserved during the next two months The stock consists of regular Staple Goods—all new and fashionable—bought for this season's trade. THE SPLENDID VALUES which will be given will afford the greatest inducements to Dry Goods Buyers which have been offered for many years to the people of Peterborough.

To secure a complete clearance we are prepared to make great sacrifices in every department. PRICES WILL BE A SECONDARY MATTER! THE GOODS MUST GO! THERE WILL BE BARGAINS FOR EVERYBODY!

Come and buy NOW, if you want to reap the great benefit of the surrender of profits which must be made during this Positive Alteration Sale.

A Painful Accident.

The Norwood Register says:—Mr. J. Redmond, of Peterborough, one of the bricklayers on the new school building, met with a painful accident on Monday. Mr. Redmond was working on one side of a high board fence when a carpenter on the other side commenced throwing over some lumber. The first board struck Mr. Redmond on the side of the head, endwise, inflicting a severe wound.

G. T. R. Lands.

It will be seen by posters that the lands owned by the G. T. R. Company are for sale by auction. Dangerous Summer Complaints.

Cramps, dysentery, cholera morbus, diarrhœa, and, indeed, all bowel complaints, require quick relief, or the result may be serious. At this season these troubles are common, and no family should be without a supply of Perry Davis' Pain Killer, a safe, sure, and speedy cure, for all the troubles named. This medicine was discovered many years ago, and time has proved its excellence. Every reputable druggist keeps a supply on hand, and each bottle is wrapped with full directions. 25c. Mr. Bellegham Honored.

The May edition of the Casket, published in Rochester, N.Y., contains a handsome group photo of the past and present presidents and chairman of the executive committee of the Ontario Undertakers' Association. Among them is to be seen the genial face of Mr. D. Bellegham, the present efficient President of the Association. The photograph is accompanied by a history of Mr. Bellegham's business and a sketch of his life. The Casket says Mr. Bellegham is one of the most successful and skilful undertakers of the Association, and that his factory is among the largest in Ontario.

No Blame Found with the Company.

The result of the inquest into the railway accident on the Grand Junction was concluded on Monday night before Dr. Sanford, of Brighton, coroner. Following is the correct verdict of the jury:—"That the said Robert Purdy met his death by an accident on the Grand Junction Railway on the morning of the 31st of May last, and that the said accident was caused by a tie being placed on the track with malicious intent by some person or persons unknown to the jury, and we hereby exonerate the Grand Trunk Company and their employees from all blame."

Richard Wigmore's Death.

The Asphodel township council and the Norwood village council have in view of the public opinion which is very strong that the late Richard Wigmore, whose body was found in the Otonabee some months ago, met his death by foul play, both passed the following resolution: Whereas this council are of this opinion, they would urge upon the reeve to impress upon the county council the importance of offering a liberal reward for the apprehension and conviction of the guilty party or parties, as it is the belief of this council that the late Richard Wigmore met his death by foul play, and the council would have no hesitation in offering a reward if the statutes provided for it.

Farmers' Institute Picnic.

At Jubilee, 16th June. The greatest picnic of the season, farmers from Northumberland, Durham and Peterborough will assemble at Jubilee, where they will be addressed by the leading professional men of Canada on agriculture. Dancing music will be provided on all the boats for the young people. Tables will be provided in the park for lunching. Meals will be served in the hotel. Everybody will be allowed to fish. Mr. Gilchrist, overseer, will be at Jubilee to issue permits. Don't miss it if you want a good solid day's fun. "Golden Rye" will leave the Peterborough wharf at 7.30 a.m. Return tickets only 50c. dtd

Bicyclists Attention.

All those members of the Peterborough Bicycle Club who wish to join the Canadian Wheelmen's Association should hand in their names to the secretary of the club at once as the time between now and the C. W. A. meet at Kingston is very short and unless Peterborough takes timely precaution she will have a very meagre representation of the riders of the steel steeds at the great meet on Dominion Day. The membership fee of the C. W. A. is only 50cts and each member gets the C. W. A. Journal for a year gratis, besides members of the association get reduced rates to Kingston and return on July 1st, which more than matches the membership fee.

Lacrosse Match.

To-morrow afternoon at three o'clock on the P. A. A. A. grounds the junior lacrosse team of Norwood and the juniors of Peterborough will cross sticks. Mr. James McCabe will referee the game. Between Friends.

Lieut. G. A. Schofield and Dr. Vernon Halliday returned home from their visit to Kingston yesterday afternoon, whither they went to make all the arrangements for the 57th Battalion's two days visit to that city on July 1st and 2nd. The men will go under canvass on the commons next to the 14th Battalion's drill shed and in the rear of Queen's University. Provisions have been made to have the men quartered at seven of the leading hotels in the city. The 14th Battalion are making great preparations to give the visiting warriors a hearty and loyal reception. The officers will be entertained to several dinners. Garden parties will be made in honour of the battalion's visit, and on Saturday afternoon, July 2nd, a large lake steamer will take the whole battalion, officers and men for a half days outing down the beautiful St. Lawrence to see the glorious scenery of the far-famed Thousand Islands. On July 1st a grand street parade of the 57th and 14th Battalions will be held at ten o'clock in the morning. The battalion parade will be all done before the great C. W. A. parade takes place in which several hundred bicyclists from all parts of Canada will take part. The 57th's coming visit is the talk of the city.

Catch the Inspiration and Go.

First, Third, Fifth and Seventh Stanza.

The Rose, and the Thistle, and Shamrock there be,
United they are which is plain to be seen,
They go to Toronto, and to the Falls,
On the fourteenth of June, the day above all.

Grand Trunk is the road by which they do go,
The sights of the cities to see;
So come one and all whether little, small or tall,
And enjoy all the pleasures there be.

The weather is lovely as everyone knows,
The flowers and foliage are gay,
And people who miss such an elegant trip,
May sorrow the rest of their days.

The fares are so low (you cannot say no),
Even Tommy, Johnny and Sally may go,
In its a shame for any to say,
I cannot take in this cheap trip.

An Ashburnham Blaze.

Last night about 12 o'clock, Mr. Wm. Cook's bake shop, situated in Driscoll's terrace, took fire and was burned to the ground, involving a total loss, covered by an insurance of $300. The fire brigade turned out but when they arrived they found the building too far gone to make their services of any use. The adjacent dwelling was not injured.

Bicycle Club.

There will be a run out to-night starting from the usual place and at the usual hour. There will also be a run out on Monday night. Owing to the wet weather it has been impossible to boom the club as was expected, but now that the weather has every prospect of improving, it is hoped that the club will lose no time in getting into shape for the great meet at Kingston on July 1st. There will also be a general meeting on Monday night.

A Peterborough Artist.

The Cleveland Times of June 1st has a long article on the annual exhibition of the year's work of the students attending the Art Academy of that city. It says "that the year's display of all the departments is fully up to the expectations of the many friends of the institution. Among those who show excellent progress is Vernon McGill, Peterborough, Canada." Mr. McGill is a son of the town treasurer, and during the past year in which he has been attending the institution has made great progress.

The "Old Snyder Dam" Application.

The questions arising from the application of Messrs. John Barnham and Arthur Stevenson for permission to erect a dam on the site of the old Snyder dam, came up before Judge Weller again yesterday and to-day. The hearing of evidence on behalf of the parties opposing the application, J. M. Irwin, the Bank of Commerce, Mr. Harvey, et al, began yesterday morning and concluded at noon to-day. Mr. W. Kennedy, C.E., Owen Sound, and Mr. J. H. Aylmer, C. E., were expert witnesses. Mr. W. R. Meredith Q.C., and Hatton & Wood appeared for applicants, and Mr. Z. A. Lash, Q.C., Toronto, and Mr. E. B. Edwards for respondents, Irwin and Bank of Commerce, Hall & Hoyle for Harvey. Judge Weller will give judgment as to the matter of the right of building the dam above a certain height, and the question of damage.

"Flower Mission Day."

Yesterday was "Flower Mission Day" in the ranks of the W. C. T. U. all round the world, being the birthday of Miss Jennie Casaday, of Louisville, Ky., who has lain on a sickbed for twenty five years, and with whom the idea of the Flower Mission originated. Our W.C.T.U. observed the day by distributing between fifty and sixty bouquets with Scripture texts tied with white ribbon in the hospital, Protestant Home, the jail, and among the sick. The flowers were accompanied by copies of a special edition of the "Union Signal" for June 2nd, prepared for the occasion. A short and very impressive service was held in the women's ward of the jail. The W.C.T.U. wish to make public acknowledgment of the kindness of their friends in sending so many beautiful flowers, and hope and trust that they have sown in some hearts the precious seed that shall blossom into eternal life.—Com.

Tells of His Fearful Sufferings After Gastric Fever and His Cure by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

All who know Mr. W. D. Wentz give him the best of recommendations for honesty and integrity. For many years he has worked for Mr. D. P. Wilson, the harness maker and member of the Geneva Board of Health. He says:

"I was taken sick last October with gastric fever and my chance for recovery was considered almost hopeless. After 7 weeks the fever slowly left me, but I could not eat the simplest food without terrible distress. It seemed that I had recovered from the fever to

I took pepsin compounds, bismuth, charcoal, cod liver oil and malt until my physician confessed that his skill was about exhausted and he did not know what else to try. Everything I took seemed like pouring melted lead into my stomach. I happened to think I had part of a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla that had been in the house for two or three years, that I found had benefited me previously for dyspepsia. I began taking it and soon began to feel better. I have now taken a little over two bottles and can truthfully say I feel well again and can eat anything without distressing me, even to

The Delegation to Ottawa

The Claims of the Railway Strongly Presented—The Usual Diplomatic Reply.

The delegates who went to Ottawa to interview the Government in reference to subsidizing the proposed Peterborough and Sault Ste. Marie Railway, returned this morning. At 5 o'clock yesterday the delegates had an interview with Sir John Thompson, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell and Hon. John Haggart, Minister of Railways and Canals. Mr. D. W. Dumble, on behalf of the Board of Trade, Mr. E. H. D. Hall, on behalf of the railway, and Mr. John Burnham, M.P., and Mr. James Stevenson, M. P., addressed the ministers setting forth the benefit the railway would be in the public interest. It would perform an important function in helping the movement of the grain products of the Northwest, now only in their infancy compared to what they would be in a few years, and which are now beyond the capacity of the existing railway facilities. And not only this but the proposed line would have an important effect in developing the trade traffic and resources of the country through which it would pass, between Lake Ontario and the Sault, which is not now traversed by any railway line. The deputation asked for assistance to the line by sections, the first from Lake Ontario via Peterborough, and Lakefield to Bobcaygeon. Mr. Haggart, speaking for the Government, stated that that body had not yet decided upon the policy it would adopt in reference to granting financial assistance to railways. He promised to submit the matter to his colleagues, and hoped that the merits of the undertaking would commend itself to them in a manner to result in what the delegates wished to befog about.

Otonabee.

The Late David Thompson.

The death of David Thompson removes from the scenes of active life one of the oldest pioneer residents of Otonabee. The deceased gentleman was born in the town land of Carnon, parish of Broughshane, county Antrim, Ireland, April 28th, 1819. He came to Canada in 1840, settling in Port Hope, where he remained till 1862, when he removed to Otonabee, where he has ever since resided. He was married in Ireland to Miss Jane Barclay, and of the six children born to this union, there are living two daughters—Mrs. Peter Gillespie and Mrs. Walter Robson, of Otonabee—and one son—Mr. John Thompson, of Detroit. Mr. Thompson was an ardent Liberal in politics, and in religion a Presbyterian, a member of the congregation of St. Paul's, Peterborough. He was a good neighbour, a useful citizen, and highly respected by all who knew him.

Police Court.

A horse case was tried at the police court this morning. John Coughlin laid a complaint against Dr L. Deneurre, V.S., that he did wantonly and cruelly ill treat and injure a horse the property of the complainant, contrary to the statute in that behalf. The evidence went to show that the complainant had gone to the defendant for a prescription for treating the animal in question but he did not write out any but told Coughlin what to get at a drug store which the complainant did. The result of the horse being treated from the prescription caused the animal to become afflicted worse, after which Dr. Veneurre was called in, hence the complaint for ill treatment. The action was dismissed, judgment for costs being given against complainant. The magistrate said that it was no case to come under the jurisdiction of a police court.

Willow and Wicket.

The Home Team Take the Port Hope Cricketers into Camp—In One Innings With Three Spare Runs—A Pleasant Game Throughout—Three Wins for Peterborough out of Four Matches—The Score as Recorded.

A Peterborough cricket eleven met and vanquished the Port Hope club on the Ambersham grounds yesterday. Wickets were pitched at 10 o'clock and Port Hope Hope went to bat on a batsman's crease. The visitors put together in good form a total of 60 runs, to which Lefroy contributed 24, Ward, Williamson, not out, 14, and Gilbert 14. Peterborough followed, and the first few swings of the willow did not give much comfort. Four stumps fell for about as many runs, but when Rathbone put on the pads and eased the first ball he got, the cloud seemed to change over the spirits of the scene and the sparks of the home men, and when he was bowled by Oldfield the latter hunting was lively. The partnership was kept up until the two had put together 35 runs, Maude first closing his tally of 25 by returning a ball to Lefroy, and Oldfield ending a brilliant 41 by also putting the ball to Lefroy who thus had the honour of setting out two dangerous characters. The score now stood at 82. Parker added a neat devil's dozen to this, and McGill a closely compiled nine, the innings closing with a total of 116 giving Port Hope 47 to make to win; but the second essay only brought 44 runs, to which Evatt, the only double figure man of the innings contributed 15, the home team winning by an innings and 3 runs. In the opening innings the wet wicket neutralized Oldfield's bowling, but in the second when the crease was dryer he got in his work well, the analysis showing to his credit 5 stumps for 18 runs. In the first innings Stocker fumbled excellently, he bowled three men for ten runs in six overs. Counting Oldfield's play with the willow he did a good day's work yesterday. Following is the record of the match:—

SNICKS.

"Tom's" first appearance in the field, in all his old form—balooning balls into space and piling up the score by fours—delighted the old timers and showed that his right hand had not forgotten its cunning.

Oldfield and Ray made phenomenally happy catches in the slips.

Practice is all that is needed to get the old-time efficiency of the home club up to the mark.

It is expected that Campbellford will play the return match here next week.

The Port Hope colts will play the Peterborough colts on Saturday.

Useful Receipt.

To prepare at a small cost cost a good Tonic Wine, for improving the appetite, aiding digestion and strengthening the system.

Take a 25cts paket of Indigenous Bitters which can be had of all druggists in the Dominion, infuse it in three half pints of boiling water; when cool strain and pass through the mare which remains in the strainer three bottles of sherry wine at from $1 75 to $2 00 per gallon. This wine is very valuable on account of its medicinal properties. It strengthens the stomach, increases the appetite, prevents or arrests nausea, regulates the bowels and invigorates the whole system. If can be had to take it regularly in doses of at least one table spoonful before or after meals it will prove of wonderful service to all whose stomachs do not perform their proper functions and every one knows the importance of the stomach in the human organism. As the Indigenous Bitters are only compound of plants, roots and Barks, and contain no mineral drug nor and dangerous medicine whatsoever this tonic wine may be administered without the slightest inconvenience alike to the weak and the strong.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Do not take any thing in place of the Indigenous Bitters. If your druggist has none ask him to get them for you. Without the true "Indigenous Bitters," this receipe is worthless. And they are not sold by weight but only in 25cts packets. 18

Notice to Creditors!

In the Matter of W. J. MORROW of the Town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, Grocer and Liquor Dealer.

THE above named W. J. MORROW has made an assignement to me under the provisions of Chapter 124 of the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1887, and amending Acts of all his estate and effects in trust for the benefit of all his creditors.

A meeting of the creditors of the said estate will be held at the office of Messrs. Campbell & May, 50 Front street East, Toronto, on Wednesday, the 15th day of June, 1892, at the hour of eleven o'clock in the forenoon, for the appointment of inspectors, and the giving of directions with reference to the disposal of the estate.

Creditors must file their claims with me on or before the 22nd day of June, 1892, after which date I shall proceed to distribute the estate, having regard only to the claims of which I shall then have notice.

Dated at Peterborough, this 9th day of June, 1892.

J. J. SHEEHY'S

WAY OF DOING BUSINESS.

Last week we attended the Great Stock-Taking Sales in the wholesale markets and purchased THREE THOUSAND FOUR HUNDRED AND TWENTY-SIX DOLLARS worth of Seasonable Dry Goods. The purchases consisted chiefly of the following lines:—

Dress Goods and Prints	$800	Victoria Lawn and Muslins	$250
Parasols	285	Linen and Domestic Goods	500
Gloves and Hosiery	315	Flannelettes (special lot)	235
Lace Curtains	275	White and Grey Cottons and General Staple Dry Goods	826

These Goods were bought at especially low figures, and as the business of this season will not extend over two months, we are bound to rush them off in that time and to do so we have decided to give (as we did last October with great success) a discount of 5 PER CENT. to every Customer who purchases a parcel of ONE DOLLAR or over.

An advertisement from us has not appeared in any newspaper for some months. We now mean business and cordially invite all close buyers to give us a call.

Some easy way of ornamenting chair and divan cushions may be of interest. Embroidery takes too much time when one considers the numbers of cushions which have come to be of use in modern furnishing.

Our designs are conventionalized, as such seem to be the kind at present demanded, and may be printed with indelible dyes upon washable material. These tapestry dyes may be purchased at any art store for a couple of dollars for the outfit, or very satisfactory results may be obtained with tube paints thinned with turpentine. The color scheme is used over and over again in different arrangement, the aim being to get the quiet harmonious effect of woven tapestry. The tints may be yellow, blue, green, pink and lilac, or, if the surroundings require it, a deeper, richer set of colors may be found in dark red, orange, olive, brown, purplish blue and rifle green.

FIG. ONE.

For No. 1, a serviceable cover may be made of ecru or gray linen or of some neutral tint of silesia. There are fabrics made especially for dye painting, such as silk tapestry canvas, tapestry linens, bolton sheeting, etc.; some of them are quite inexpensive.

Make flowers in the design with geranium lake or pink madder, the leaves of a grayish green made of sap green, dulled with a little red (or chrome green treated in the same manner), the stems of gray brown, and the floating ribbons of greenish blue. A little embroidery may be introduced with good effect, the floating ribbons being outlined with rope silk or a finer thread in stem stitch as well as the outlines of flowers and leaves. A heavy silk cord or a wide ruffle set in the seam will be found a satisfactory finish.

No. 2 is made of two hemstitched Japanese silk handkerchiefs. If of white, tint the violets blue. Less delicate and equally pretty is cream colored silk with yellow violets. If you are not skilled in sketching, you can prick your pattern on stiff paper and then transfer to your cover by pouncing. Use King's yellow for the violets, darkened here and there with raw sienna. If the handkerchiefs are twelve inches square, make a cushion sixteen inches square. Cover the edge of the cushion with a puff of yellow silk five inches wide; make eyelets with buttonhole silk all round the edges of both handkerchiefs, and lace them together, as shown in the illustration, with narrow ribbon or silk cord, such as may be bought for two or three cents a yard. Use a design of yellow chrysanthemums or daisies in place of violets, with a puff of old-gold silk or satin about the edge, and it will be found very effective.

FIG. TWO.

An elegant cushion of the weird and grotesque order has been made with embroidery on mail cloth. The background was darned in with cord of dull tapestry colors. Upon this were worked solidly, in gold thread and silks of prismatic hues, five dragons of the fiercest-looking kind. The work to bring out scales, teeth, tail, claws and expression, not to speak of time and patience, must have been enormous. The same effect might be produced in a single afternoon and at small cost by using brush and colors instead of the needle and thread. Let the foundation be pongee, artists' silk canvas, moleskin plush, chamois skin or what you please. Sketch on the design very carefully first; then develop it in tapestry colors, outlining the scales with fine lines of gold paint. The reverse side of the cushion need not be decorated. A heavy cord of gold and dark red silk will be a suitable finish. Dolphins, dragon-flies, lizards or griffins might take the place of dragons.

Here is a pillow which interests children, and which, therefore, would be suitable for a nursery or for the use of children anywhere. Get some servicable material, blue denims of a dull shade would do, and one and one-half yards would make a large pillow; cut shapes from stiff paper—stars, crescents, triangles, dumb bells, tennis rackets, spheres, or flowers, birds, animals, etc.

Stretch the denims over a board, lay the cut-out paper upon it, and with gold paint and a small bristle brush stencil and design on the denims. Sew the denims into a pillow, filling it with either cotton-batting, feathers, moss, or strips of paper which the children themselves will be interested to cut for the purpose. King's yellow or chrome thinned as usual might be substituted for the gold paint and would be more durable.

Here is a lounging cushion to place upon the floor. It will be found handy on the piazza, on the lawn, for the children in their play-room, or of a winter's night on the floor before the coal stove or the fire-place. It may be as long as the moral law, or as short as your material. It should be twenty-seven inches wide, and burlaps will be a good cover as well as denims or awning cloth.

A pattern of conventionalized flowers or geometrical figures may be stencilled around the edge, and in the center or across one end the words: "Let busy care awhile forbear."

Fill this long cushion, whether one yard or two, with curled hair, moss, excelsior, cotton-batting or feathers, and after experiencing its comfort one season you will not again be without one, especially if you have a family of children or young folks about you.—The Housekeeper.

A Woman's Life.

At what age under the old regime a woman was considered passee it would be dangerous to say—presumably soon after she had quitted her teens. Swift wrote with cruel candor of Stella's fading charms, and sent her, as a birthday gift, a rhymed "Receipt to restore her Lost Youth," at a period that we should consider the prime of life. The caustic Dean of St. Patrick's wondering

"How angels look at thirty-six" proves a sharp contrast to a more modern writer, Professor Lewes, who, in his life of Goethe, speaks of thirty-three as a fascinating period of a woman's life, being that in which he considered her to have reached the full development of her powers of mind and body. Such a sentiment would once have been considered rank heresy, yet

Self Application of Electricity

FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES

BY THE

DORENWEND

ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments.

HEAD OFFICE—103 Yonge St., Toronto

THE WORLD'S BEST.

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete Body Battery. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a Current of Quantity, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for Indigestion, Rheumatism Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Liver and Kidney Troubles, Weak Back, Spinal Disease, Heart Disease, Nervous Debility, Paralysis, Vertigo, Female Complaints, Impotence, Sexual Decline and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the Dorenwend Belt is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. J. D. TULLY, Agent, Peterborough. 52d w

"August Flower"

"What is It For?

This is the query perpetually on your little boy's lips. And he is no worse than the bigger, older, balder-headed boys. Life is an interrogation point. "What is it for?" we continually cry from the cradle to the grave. So with this little introductory sermon we turn and ask: "What is AUGUST FLOWER FOR?" As easily answered as asked: It is for Dyspepsia. It is a special remedy for the Stomach and Liver. Nothing more than this; but this brimful. We believe August Flower cures Dyspepsia. We know it will. We have reasons for knowing it. Twenty years ago it started in a small country town. To-day it has an honored place in every city and country store, possesses one of the largest manufacturing plants in the country and sells everywhere. Why is this? The reason is as simple as a child's thought. It is honest, does one thing, and does it right along—it cures Dyspepsia.

WONDER IN WELLAND!

A Representative Farmer Speaks.

MR. C. C. HAUN.

The following remarkable facts are fully certified to as being undeniably correct in every particular. Mr. Haun is well known in the vicinity, having resided here over fifty years, and is highly respected as a man of the strictest honor, whose word is as good as his bond.

As will be seen from his letter, four physicians had attended him, and it was only after he had given up hope of cure that he decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters on the recommendation of a neighbor who had been cured of a similar disease by its use. Mr. Haun writes as follows:

DEAR SIRS,—I think I have been one of the worst sufferers you have yet heard of, having been six years in the hands of four of our best doctors without obtaining permanent relief, but continually growing worse, until almost beyond hope of recovery, I tried your Bitters and got relief in a few days. Every organ of my body was deranged, the liver enlarged, hardened and torpid, the heart and digestive organs seriously deranged, a large abscess in my back, followed by paralysis of the right leg, in fact the lower half of my body was entirely useless. After using Burdock Blood Bitters for a few days the abscess burst, discharging fully five quarts of pus in two hours. I felt as if I had received a shock from a powerful battery. My recovery after this was steady and the cure permanent, seeing that for the four years since I have had as good health as ever I had. I still take an occasional bottle, not that I need it but because I wish to keep my system in perfect working order. I can think of no more remarkable case than what I have myself passed through, and no words can express my thankfulness for such perfect recovery.

C. C. HAUN,
Welland P.O.

In this connection the following letter from T. Cummes, Esq., a leading druggist of Welland, Ont., speaks for itself:
Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto.

GENTLEMEN,—I have been personally acquainted with Mr. C. C. Haun for the last 20 years, and have always found him a very reliable man. You may place the utmost confidence in anything he says with regard to your medicine. He has on many occasions within the last four years told me that it was marvellous the way the Burdock Blood Bitters had cured him, and that he now felt as able to do a day's work as he ever felt in his life. Although quite well he still takes some B. B. B. occasionally, as he says, to keep him in perfect health.

Yours truly,
THOMAS CUMMES,
Welland, Ont.

The steadily increasing sale of B. B. B., the length of time it has been before the people, and the fact that it cures to stay cured, attest the sterling merit of this monarch of medicines, the people's favorite blood purifier, tonic and regulator.

The Hungarians, the Moors, the Venetians and Bareheaded Yucatans.

The Hungarian women are among the most beautiful in the world. They are not languishing, diaphanous creatures, composed of cobwebs and the odor of musk, with a sickly pallor or a hectic flush in their cheeks. No; erect and straight as a candle, hearty and vigorous to the core, they are pictures of good health and abounding vitality. They are gifted with small feet, full arms, plump hands with tapering fingers, and wear long braids. The sun has spread a reddish-golden tint or a darker tone over the complexion. The Hungarian woman is not a beauty of classical contour, nor does she perhaps frequently present a riddle to the psychologist, and ethereal poets will scarcely find a theme in her for hypersentimental reveries. She is rather the vigorous embodiment of primeval womanhood. As her exterior, so her whole character is enchantingly fresh and positive. She likes to eat well, is fond of a drop of wine, takes naturally to swimming, dancing, gymnastics, and has not the least objection to being admired. Grace and beauty know no difference between high and low, and often bestow upon a poor, barefooted, short-skirted peasant girl (with her face framed in a kerchief tied under the chin) the same enchanting form, the same graceful walk, the same magically attractive glance as upon her more favored sister.

The Moors of Algeria are not the Moors of Morocco; they are simply Arabs living in a town or city. They have oval faces, clear, brown skin, and are fairer than the nomads. Their costume is also different. They wear a turban or piece of white muslin, wound around a sort of skull cap of red; a jacket of bright-colored cloth; two waistcoats, both richly embroidered; trousers that reach to the knees and which are very baggy, and they are bare-legged, almost bare-footed, for they wear only very short stockings or socks and loose slippers. How they manage to keep them on is a mystery to me, for they look a world too large for their feet. The outdoor costume of their women is the usual haick and burnous. Some of them wear stockings "and some don't"; all have on the most cumbersome sort of white trousers you ever saw—large, baggy breeches with about ten times the quantity of stuff in them that is actually necessary, and which keep the legs so far apart that the women do not walk—they waddle. Their feet are encased, now in patent leather slippers, now in yellow ones, and their veil shows both eyes, a good part of the nose and a little of the forehead. They marry young—sometimes at twelve or thirteen years of age.

In Venice women may be seen carrying yokes over their shoulders, to which are hung buckets of water. Their arms have enormous muscles, and indeed they seem universally as strong as the men.

Bonnets and hats are never worn at Yucatan. The young ladies wear veils arranged gracefully, and the elderly ladies wear shawls overhead and shoulders to church only, and are bareheaded during their walks and drives.

The Courage of Women.

A writer in The Fortnightly Review has taken great pains to collect a number of facts as evidence that women endure pain with much greater courage than men, that men swoon in the dental chair more frequently than women, who face the inevitable suffering much more uncomplainingly and patiently, all of which every dentist and most women know before. And then he very shabbily seeks to draw the conclusion that women are physically less sensitive than men, and do not feel the pain so acutely because they make less fuss about it.

Girdle vs. Sash.

The "Empire" sash is waning, in favor of a new girdle composed of a double band of ribbon tied round the waist into an erect bow at the side. It is formed of brocaded ribbons, which are neither harsh nor thick, and add to rather than take from the slenderness of the waist they encircle.

For all forms of female weaknesses Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an unfailing specific. Mr. Thomas Strachan, Postmaster, Robellion, writes: My daughter has been ill for the last four years with female weakness, and had been attended by four of the best doctors in our section. She began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and two boxes has done her vastly more good than all the medicines she took from those doctors. Sold by all dealers. dw

THE BEST FAMILY PILL IN USE

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 15, 1892.
W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece; frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

DEAR SIR,—For many years, I have been a firm believer in your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills." Not with a blind faith, but a confidence wrought by an actual personal experience of their value and merit. My business is such that I spend much of my time away from home, and I would not consider my travelling outfit complete without a box of Morse's Pills. Yours, &c.,

Constant Advertising in the Examiner Pays.

The Dark Horse.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—As soon as it became evident that no ballot or test of strength was to be expected at Minneapolis the interest in the convention proceedings ceased, so far as concerned the senators and representatives at the Capitol. To be sure, there was some talk of a speculative kind as to the outcome and the weight of opinion inclined to the "dark horse" theory.

Sixty People Die on a Burning Steamer.

LONDON, June 9.—Advices have been received here that the steamer Albion has been burned and sunk near Karkalen, on the Uscha River, in Central Russia. There were 90 persons aboard the steamer, 60 of whom were drowned.

Hanged for a Brutal Murder.

WILKESBARRE, Penn., June 9.—Edward McMillan was hanged here in the yard of the Luzerne County Prison this morning. McMillan killed his wife last February with a pair of tongs, which had been heated red-hot. He asserted his innocence.

Two New Senators Mentioned.

OTTAWA, June 9.—It is likely that Dr. John Ferguson of Niagara Falls will be summoned to the Senate this week.

The name of ex Governor Aikins of Toronto is also under consideration.

Sons of Ireland Grand Lodge.

HAMILTON, June 9.—The third annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of the Sons of Ireland opened in the Oddfellows' Hall yesterday. There were 35 delegates present. President A. E. Whinton of Toronto occupied the chair. The principal business this morning was the reception of officers' reports. The Grand Treasurer's report showed receipts for the year amounting to $700. Although established but three years the order has 700 members on the roll. Several members of the I.P.B.S. are interested in the formation of a lodge here. The delegates were taken for a drive around the city by the Irish Protestant Society this afternoon.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Grand President—John McFaul, Toronto.
Grand Vice-President—W. J. Dunlop, Toronto.
Grand Chaplain—Rev. J. C. Madill, Toronto.
Grand Secretary—John Phillips, Toronto.
Grand Treasurer—Follis Johnstone, Toronto.

Worn and Wan and Weak and Weary.

Ho! ye women, worn and weary, with wan faces and so indescribably weak. Those distressing, dragging down pains, and that constant weakness and wearyness and weariness can be cured. For all such sufferers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a panacea of inestimable value. As an invigorating tonic it imparts strength to the whole system. For overworked, worn out, debilitated teachers, dress makers, seamstresses, "shop girls," house keepers, nursing mothers and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic. As a soothing and strengthening nervine, the Favorite Prescription is unequalled and invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing nervous symptoms, commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it, a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and $1 dollar. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

News About Town

It is the current report about town that Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs is making some remarkable cures with people who are troubled with coughs, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis and consumption. Any druggist will give you a trial bottle free of cost. It is guaranteed to relieve and cure. The large bottles cost 50c and $1. dw

Another Murder in Whitechapel—Strike Riots in Spain—Vienna in Danger—That Mine Disaster—The Broken London Bank—Arrest of 2000 Nihilists

LONDON, June 10.—A curious statement in an anonymous article in The Fortnightly Review credits Mr. Gladstone with the intention, if he gets a majority, instead of introducing a Home Rule Bill, to invite the leaders of the Unionist faction to a conference for a settlement of the question. Mr. Gladstone has always professed indifference as to whether the Liberals or the Tories should settle the question, and, unlikely as the suggestion appears, there may be a substratum of truth in it, particularly if he should secure only a small majority.

A LONDON MURDER.

A Little Boy Found Tied to Railings with His Throat Cut.

LONDON, June 10.—Last evening the body of a boy of 4 years, who had been murdered, was found tied to the railings in front of a house in Goulston-street, in a low quarter of Whitechapel. The boy's throat was cut and there were numerous gashes on the body.

Le Carron, the Spy, Seriously Ill.

LONDON, June 10.—Le Carron, who played such a prominent part before the Parnell Commission, is lying seriously ill in a quiet country place, whither he retired some time ago, dropping his too famous nom de guerre. He has employed his leisure time in writing the history of his strange and eventful life. The manuscript has been purchased by the manager of one of the theatres, and arrangements are now going forward for its publication.

THE SPIRITS SHRIEKED.

A Doctor Breaks Up a Seance With a Syringeful of Caustic.

BERLIN, June 10.—Dr. Moll, a well-known medical man of this city, attended a seance given by Dr. Pinkert, who is one of the leading mediums of Germany, and adopted a novel method of testing the genuineness of the spirit manifestations. He had concealed on his person a syringe filled with a chemical solution and when the spirit forms appeared he squirted the caustic liquid in showers upon the shadowy forms. Instantly there were shrieks of dismay, the spirits scattered with undignified haste and the seance came to an abrupt close. The sceptical doctor has proved to his own satisfaction and that of some friends who were with him that the proceedings of Dr. Pinkert were fraudulent, and as a result of the exposure Pinkert has been arrested.

Strike Riots in Catalonia.

MADRID, June 10.—Riots resulting from a strike occurred yesterday in Catalonia. Several persons were badly wounded. A number of workwomen of San Martin attacked a mill proprietor with stones and seriously injured him.

DON'T WANT HOME RULE.

The Protestants of Ulster Appeal to the Dissenters.

BELFAST, June 10.—A statement giving the views of the Protestants of Ulster on Irish Home Rule and signed by the chief officers of the Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist and Congregational churches of Ireland, and 6,044 ministers, elders, etc., has been posted to every dissenting minister in the United Kingdom. The statement argues that Irish Home Rule would inevitably bring about an attempt by the Roman Catholics to oppress the Protestants of Ireland, and that the latter would never submit to such oppression, and the result would be most calamitous. The dissenters in Great Britain are therefore appealed to to stand by their brethren in Ireland.

Demands Reparation of England.

PARIS, June 10.—Cardinal Lavigerie and Mgr. Lavinhoc, vicar apostolic of the Nyanza region, are preparing to demand of England the payment of an indemnity for the destruction of the Catholic missions in Uganda. It is stated the Vatican will support the demand.

Two Thousand Polish Nihilists Arrested.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 10.—The Warsaw police authorities have for some time past been making visits to the homes of persons in Poland suspected of being Nihilists in search of explosives or incriminating documents. Many persons have been arrested in the different provinces of Poland, the total number of those taken into custody being 2000. Most of these are men under 30 years of age. One hundred of the persons arrested have been exiled to Siberia. The adoption of these energetic measures on the part of the authorities is believed to be due to the approaching visit of the Czar to Warsaw.

THREATENED DELUGE.

Austria's Gay Capital Threatened With An Overflow of the Blue Danube.

VIENNA, June 10.—The floods in the valley of the Danube are increasing alarmingly. The inhabitants of Vienna have been officially notified that there is danger of an inundation. Measures have been taken to dam the Danube canal. Steamship service between Pressburg and Passau has been suspended. Serious overflows are reported in the Inn valley. The lakes of Salzkammergut and Ischl have overflowed their banks, and railway communication is interrupted.

TORONTO GRAIN MARKETS.

Business Transacted and Prices of Grain in the Queen City.

TORONTO, June 10.—There was no grain on the street market yesterday. Hay was in light supply, 12 loads sold at $13 to $14 for timothy and $10.50 to $11.50 for clover. There was no straw offered. Dressed hogs were wanted at $6.25 to $6.50 per cwt.

On call board No. 1 hard North Bay was offered at $1.04, with $1.01 bid, and No. 2 hard offered at 97c, with 80c bid afloat at Port Arthur. No 3 hard, to arrive North Bay, was wanted at 82c, without offerings. A car of No. 1 regular at North Bay sold at 71c. No. 1 Northern to arrive offered at 97c, with 95c bid, and No. 2 Northern to arrive North Bay offered at 87c, with 84c bid. On the C.P.R. north 19,000 bushels of peas offered at 61c.

THERE'S ALWAYS DANGER.

One Man Instantly Killed and Several Badly Injured.

CINCINNATI, June 10.—During a severe storm yesterday lightning struck the cartridge house of King's powder mill, twenty miles from here, and an explosion followed. Archie Grubbs, aged 20, was instantly killed by a piece of iron being driven through his head. Joshua Clotte had his leg broken and back injured; Louis Ludeke, arm and face badly hurt; Miss Bettie Horner, prostrated by shock; Edward D. Botis, face cut and head bruised. Several others were slightly injured. A bolt of lightning struck one of the powder loppers on the top floor and ran down an electric wire to the cartridge machine. The factory is a total wreck.

News From Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, June 10.—The Manitoba Methodist Conference is in session here. The following transfers are to take place: A. C. Crews into Toronto Conference, James Allen into Niagara Conference, J. N. McLaughlin into Bay of Quinte Conference, P. H. Robinson into Nova Scotia Conference.

Magnificent prospects for Manitoba's crop and the prosperity of the province are being felt beneficially in Winnipeg. Real estate sales are numerous, and there never was more activity in building. There is hardly a vacant house in the entire city and there is a big demand for residences. Three hundred immigrants arrived yesterday and to-day, including Rev. R. Baron's party from the Isle of Man.

The Cigarmaker and the Fireman's Wife.

KINGSTON, June 10.—At a moonlight excursion Mrs. Shaver, wife of a fireman on the Kingston and Pembroke Railway, met Frank Parkin, a cigarmaker. They were fascinated with each other, and, as Mr. Shaver was absent in London, Mrs. Shaver fled with Parkin to Uncle Sam's land, leaving her 4-year-old child with her sister.

Lady Killed By Lightning.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 10.—At Russell, Manitoba, during a thunderstorm last night, Mrs. Butcher was killed by lightning. Her daughter, who was standing a few feet from her, was rendered insensible but will recover.

THE LEAFY MONTH OF JUNE.

Sunshades and Parasols combined with Summer Silks and Blouses, are the pleasant reminders for this month and constitute the true medium for keeping cool under a June sun. These can be found in great abundance and variety at the Golden Lion, and the figures we have marked them at will give them a ready sale.

Gloves, too, and Hosiery; well, no lady can be shabby in these articles of dress. There is no part of a lady's outfit which she can less afford to neglect. How well this store knows from long experience what's required in both these lines, need not be dwelt on. What you want is sure to be found in our extensive stock.

Carpets are yet an item both interesting and economic. The ushering in of really warm weather affords an opportunity to complete changes in household arrangements. We have to thank the many customers who have already made their selections, and beg leave to say, notwithstanding the run on our stock, that we are still in a position to do the leading carpet trade.

In Curtains, we keep pace with the times in new designs. If you buy from us you will get the pick of the best markets.

HARRISON WINS.

BLAINE AND M'KINLEY EVEN FOR SECOND PLACE.

Graphic Description of the Great Day at Minneapolis—Enthusiasm Run Wild—Torrents of Oratory—Official Declaration of the Result—Whitelaw Reid Elected Vice-President.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 11.—Chairman McKinley appeared shortly before 11 o'clock and looked rather wearied as a result of last night's vigil. It was 11.30 before a quorum had taken their seats, and at that time, by way of consolation to Blaine supporters, the band opened the musical program with "The Last Chord." At 11.37 the convention was called to order.

The Majority, or Harrison, Report Adopted.

Consideration of the reports of the Committee on Credentials being resumed the chair made the gratifying announcement to the convention that Senator Quay had authorized him to say that no further opposition would be made to the adoption of the majority report. The question was then put, and the majority report was unanimously adopted amid cheers.

A Women's Diversion.

The Michigan delegation was permitted to retire for consultation, and in the interim Mr. Warner Miller of New York sent up to the desk and had read a woman's suffrage memorial. Mr. Miller asked that the officers of the Women's Republican Association named in the communication be presented to the convention, and this was done.

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster was escorted to the platform and read an address in shrill but audible tones, with many oratorical gestures. The lady orator, as she warmed up with her subject, laid aside her notes and addressed the convention with a fluency and force which elicited frequent applause.

And Now to Business.

Then the chairman impressively announced that the next order of business was the presentation of names for the nomination for President.

Senator Wolcott said the Republicans of the West sometimes differ with the Republicans of the East as to what is wanted, but on this occasion there is a remarkable unanimity between the genuine Republicans of the West and genuine Republicans of the East as to whom we need, and "His Name is Blaine."

The dramatic presentation of the name of Blaine, so unexpected, so decisive, took the convention by surprise. There was dead silence for a moment, then the Blaine men broke loose and for three minutes the hall rang with their cheers, renewed again and again. They stood up waving hats and handkerchiefs and fans, when partial silence was restored.

Getting Up the Steam.

Mr. Wolcott continued: "The greatest American now living suffered defeat eight years ago because the party which he led and honored was torn up by discord and because fraud triumphed. [Cheers.] We meet to-day to right that wrong—[cheers]—and present our uncrowned leader the pledge of our unswerving devotion and the assurances of victory in November—" (the rest of the sentence was drowned in a burst of applause.)

Mr. Wolcott resumed: "It is to us a matter of comparative indifference who shall be chosen to lead the Democratic hosts, but we trust they will again pose as the prophet of tariff reform in order that we may demonstrate how short a life has slander and calumny and so that a repentant country may repair the wrong of 1884, and that we may stamp with the seal of final disapproval the policy which could lead only to impoverishment at home and which would bring us into dishonor and contempt abroad. There was no true Republican who would not follow where Blaine led. We trust that providence will long spare him to the people. We pledge our unfaltering loyal support to James G. Blaine."

Again the Blaine men were on their feet, cheering and waving flags, handkerchiefs, fans, and even umbrellas. Someone in the galleries began the cry of "Blaine, Blaine, James G. Blaine," but the chairman rapped for order and the roll-call proceeded slowly.

Harrison Nominated.

When Indiana was reached there was applause, which was renewed ten-fold when the venerable R. W. Thompson walked up the aisle and took the platform. Mr. Thompson briefly placed in nomination Benjamin Harrison of Indiana.

The counter demonstration of Harrison men came with enthusiasm, fans and umbrellas were in the air, delegates stood on their seats, and the Hon. Fred Douglass, waving his white hat on top of his cane, led cheering that was sustained for two minutes or more.

The chairman sat down until the tumult subsided. When Michigan was reached someone in the gallery shouted: "What's the matter with Alger?" but there was only a slight laugh from the convention. Then Minnesota was called, and W. H. Eustis took the platform to second the nomination of Blaine.

The Seconder's Tribute.

Mr. Eustis complimented Sherman, Harrison, McKinley and Alger, and said: "We honor and love all these, none the less because we love one other leader more. He has been as intensely Republican as he has been intensely American. To-day a commercially linked hemisphere attests the breadth and wisdom of his statesmanship."

The convention did not greet Mr. Eustis' remarks with any enthusiasm when they were delivered, but when they were concluded an incident occurred which sent the convention off into the greatest tumult it has yet known.

Ladies Led the Cheering.

Just as the applause was dying out Mrs. R. C. Kerens, wife of a National Committeeman from Missouri, and Mrs. Carson Lake of New York, who sat beside her, started the cheering again, waving their parasols, and the convention went with them. The delegates climbed on their chairs to see the two lone women on the platform behind the chairman. The fact that Mr. Kerens was a delegate instructed to vote for Harrison made the incident all the more interesting to those in the convention who knew it.

Big Tom Reed sat just in front of Mrs. Kerens. He caught the contagion and his face melted into a broad grin as he stood up waving a silk flag in honor of his old-time enemy.

An Indescribable Scene.

All over the convention hall the delegates were crying "Blaine, Blaine, James G. Blaine." Delegates opened their umbrellas and waved them aloft. One of the umbrellas was white, with Blaine's name in big black letters. The confusion was indescribable and the noise deafening. It culminated so that when the band struck up no one could tell what it was playing; only the steady beat of a brass drum could be heard above the din. When the band stopped the cheering did not. Mrs. Kerens's companion folded her white parasol and waved a silk flag almost over the chairman's head. It fed the flame of the convention's excitement. Anew the "Blaine, Blaine, James G. Blaine" men fell into harmony and the cry went up from 5000 voices as from one, while the stamp of feet that accompanied made the big convention hall tremble. Again the band struck up and played a quickstep. An Illinois delegate standing on his seat, a fan in his hand, led the chorus in a comic opera.

After nearly 20 minutes of confusion and noise the convention began to tire and subside a little, but there were spasmodic outbursts for nearly five minutes before the strength of the Blaine men gave out.

Pandemonium for Half an Hour.

After nearly 30 minutes of pandemonium Governor McKinley's voice was at last heard requesting that, as a matter of safety suggested by those having a knowledge of the building, the stamping of feet be discontinued. "You may yell all you please," he added.

The roll-call was continued. New York being reached Hon. Chauncey M. Depew spoke for her. He said he was delighted with the enthusiasm manifested because it spoke the return of the old-time enthusiasm of the party for its nominee. "There have been times," continued Mr. Depew, "when the result was so sure that states and individuals could indulge in the charming privilege of personal friendship, but the situation which now confronts us will not permit of such indulgence." He then proceeded with his speech, which was a glowing eulogy of Benjamin Harrison and his administration.

Almost Equalled the Blaine Outburst.

The expected demonstration followed Mr. Depew's speech, and it nearly rivalled the Blaine outburst of a few minutes previously. A large portrait of the President was borne down to the grandstand, and how Fred Douglass, the leader of the colored race, led the mighty ovation by mounting a chair and waving his hat high in the air, while his white hair fluttered in the breeze! The band struck up a lively air and the enthusiasm grew with every minute.

A Tug-of-War in Cheering.

A quick-witted Blaine man was the first to check it. Grasping the huge silken banner of the Chicago Blaine Club bearing the portrait of the great popular leader he marched up the centre aisle. As the Blaine and Harrison banners met midway a counter-demonstration followed, which words cannot describe. Age and youth, the sedate and the cheerful, the austere and the gay, all joined in the enthusiasm of the occasion. The Blaine plumes were hoisted on every side, and as if by magic a score of portraits of Harrison and Blaine were swung aloft.

Blaine's Seconder.

In 20 minutes the rival demonstration had subsided sufficiently for the chair to announce that ex-Senator Warner Miller of New York was recognized. The speech of the great Nicaragua Canal advocate in seconding Blaine's nomination was brief, and his words of harmony were well received. His statement that he and his friends had no words of detraction for Harrison, and that the nominee of the convention would receive the support of all the Republicans, provoked hearty applause.

Foraker Did Not Speak for Blaine.

The general understanding had been that Foraker would make the principal speech for Blaine, and when for some reason unknown to the great bulk of the audience he reluctantly but firmly declined to comply, the disappointment was intense.

Blaine and Eternity.

Another colored orator gained the platform and was coldly received at first, but when he said sarcastic reference had been made to shouting of the people in the galleries for Blaine, he brought down the house by declaring, "Thank God the people in the gallery have a vote at the polls." Then he had the audience, and every sentence was cheered to his last, "That eternity itself shall catch the name of J. G. Blaine."

Harrison's Seconder.

Delegate Fink of Wisconsin, in a very brief speech, seconded the nomination of Harrison.

S. W. Downey of Wyoming said he came from that far-off state to second the nomination of J. G. Blaine. [Cheers.] Mr. Downey provoked great laughter by saying that when he listened to the speech of Mr. Depew it reminded him of the old days of Demosthenes.

The Ballot.

At the conclusion of the call of states ex-Gov. Sewell of New Jersey moved that the convention proceed to ballot.

Amid great applause the motion prevailed and a period of intense suspense followed as the chairmen of the delegations of the various states proceeded to poll their delegations preparatory to seconding the roll-call which would follow.

The Result.

Total vote first ballot (official):

HARRISON 528.
McKINLEY 182.
BLAINE 182.
LINCOLN 1.
REED 4.

Whole number of delegates, 904; necessary to a choice, 453.

Mr. McKinley moved that the nomination be made unanimous. This was carried.

MINNEAPOLIS, 9.30 p.m. — Whitelaw Reid, editor of The New York Tribune, was nominated for Vice-President by acclamation.

The convention then adjourned until 8 p.m.

The evening session of the convention was little more than a ratification meeting.

The Presbyterian Assembly.

MONTREAL, June 11.—The Presbyterian Assembly yesterday defeated by a good majority the proposal to decrease the salaries of ministers assisted from the augmentation fund from $900 to $850. The proposal to form a new synod in British Columbia and to make three Presbyteries out of the present Presbytery was left to a committee.

NEWS OF THE OLD WORLD

INTERESTING ITEMS RECEIVED OVER THE CABLE.

The Czar Thanks the Emperor — Five People Killed on a Yorkshire Railway—Chat About the General Election—The Irish Land Bill Withdrawn by Balfour—The Broken Bank.

DUBLIN, June 11.—The house at Youghal, Ireland, formerly occupied by Sir Walter Raleigh, the great adventurer, was offered for sale at auction. The highest bid was £1250 and the owners bought in the property.

ELECTIONS IN ENGLAND.

The British Parliament Will Probably Dissolve in a Week.

LONDON, June 11.—Such good progress was made last night in voting the supply bill clauses through that it seems quite possible for parliament to be dissolved by June 18. Everybody is trying to facilitate matters, and even the dreariest bores in the house have ceased their usual interruptions and comments, and are on their good behavior. All seem anxious to get through with the wearisomeness of the session, and to prepare for the elections. Such constituencies as have not provided themselves with candidates are rapidly selecting their champions for the fray. There have been various events during the past month which seem to favor the Conservatives. There have been splits in 12 Liberal districts due to the introduction of Socialist or Labor candidates, and the defections thus caused may suffice to lose those seats for the Gladstonians. There are on the other hand only two splits in the Tory ranks. The Tories have arranged to contest every seat for London, while the Liberals leave six of their opponents without a test of strength. The arrangements in Ireland are still incomplete. The Tories will contest every seat in Ulster, and some in other parts of the country. Sir Thomas Grattan Esmonde, Home Rule member for South Dublin, will be in the unique position of contesting three seats.

Another Large Fire in Russia.

ST PETERSBURG, June 11.—Within the last few weeks a number of disastrous fires have occurred in various parts of Russia, inflicting great damage and causing severe losses to workingmen. The latest place to suffer from a conflagration is Poschinki, in the government of Nijnii Novgorod, and 120 miles southeast of the town of that name. A fire broke out there to-day and destroyed 310 houses. The population of the town is only about 7000, and the destruction of so many dwellings has caused much misery. Many of the occupants of the houses lost everything they possessed, and are dependent upon charity for their food.

THE CLOSED BANK.

Depositors Will Be Paid in Full—Shareholders Lose Everything.

LONDON, June 11.—It is believed that the depositors in the New Oriental Bank will be paid in full. On Tuesday shares of the bank were offered for £2, the par value being £10. Takers at this figure were few, and it is believed that the shareholders will have little or nothing after the depositors are paid. Shares of the Indian & Chinese Bank fell slightly to-day in sympathy with a general feeling of uneasiness regarding eastern trade and investments. A despatch from Singapore, where the New Oriental has a branch bank, says the failure has caused no excitement. Regarding the proposition to reconstruct the suspended bank The London Times says: "If the object is to recover the losses by relying upon the ultimate general adoption of bimetallism, the less support the Oriental receives the better." For the protection of the creditors of the New Oriental Bank Corporation the management has presented a petition in bankruptcy, and the subject will come up for hearing on June 28.

The Meeting of the Two Emperors.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 11.—The Novosti, commenting upon the meeting of the Czar and Emperor William at Kiel, and upon the European situation generally, says it hopes that the meeting of the two Emperors will impose silence upon the war party in Germany by proving the pacific intentions of the two European combinations—the Triple Alliance and the verbal understanding between Russia and France—the forces of which are so evenly balanced.

The visit of the Grand Duke Constantine, cousin of the Czar, to President Carnot upon the occasion of the Nancy fetes, The Novosti adds, will reassure France that the meeting of the Czar and Emperor William was merely one of courtesy.

OVER THE DRINK.

Fourteen Workmen Bayoneted in the Row by the Militiary.

BUDAPEST, June 11.—During a public dinner yesterday, given in connection with the fetes held in honor of the anniversary of the coronation of Emperor Francis Joseph as King of Hungary, a serious fight took place between soldiers and civilians. Some soldiers were sitting near a barrel of beer when a number of workmen approached with the evident intention of sampling the liquor. The soldiers endeavored to prevent them from doing so and attacked the workmen with their bayonets. A fierce and bloody struggle resulted, the contestants fighting savagely for some time. When the fight was ended it was found that 14 of the workmen had been more or less seriously injured.

The Irish Bill Lost.

LONDON, June 11.—The House of Commons reassembled to-day after the Whitsuntide recess. Mr. Balfour, the Government leader, moved that Government business have priority every day for the remainder of the session and that it be taken up at any hour. The Irish Local Government bill, he said, would be withdrawn. This bill passed its second reading a few days ago. Mr. Balfour's motion was adopted.

Two Youthful Anarchists,

LONDON, June 11.—The names of the two anarchists who threatened to blow up the residence of Prince Odescalchi unless he deposited half a million lire ($100,000) at a certain indicated spot, and who were arrested while engaged in digging for the money that they hoped had been buried, are Tasturli, aged 19, and Santi, aged 20, two mere boys. In spite of their youth, their punishment will probably be heavy.

The Mackenzie Memorial.

A sensible and well-considered plan for a memorial to the late Mr. Alexander Mackenzie has now taken form. The first feature of it is that no aid is to be received from the public treasury, and that the fund is to be raised by voluntary subscription. The second is that the money is to be spent, not upon a statue or statues of the departed statesman, but upon the founding of scholarships and fellowships in political science in Canadian national universities. The appropriateness and the high usefulness of this mode of aiding in keeping his memory alive, will be at once perceived. The third feature is that the subscription should not be allowed to drag for an indefinite time, but should be closed in a month. All those, therefore, who desire to aid must send in their subscriptions promptly. There is every reason to believe that the response will be hearty and liberal; generous offers of subscriptions have already been made. It is proposed that the Ontario contributions shall be ultimately handed over to the authorities of the University of Toronto, while the Quebec contributions shall go to McGill; also that the interest on the fund shall be paid to the widow of of the late Mr. Mackenzie during her lifetime, and immediately afterwards the expenditure for the educational purposes we have mentioned shall begin. The chairman of the committee having charge of the matter is Mr. Robert Jaffray, the secretary Hon. J. M. Gibson, and the treasurer Hon. S. H. Blake; and these gentlemen, with Mr. E. B. Osler, will manage the fund. The provision for Mrs. Mackenzie will, we are sure, meet with as general approval as the educational part of the plan. It ought to be observed that the plan in its general features and almost in its details is similar to one proposed by Mr. A. T. Wood of Hamilton in the Times a few weeks ago. We do not feel that it is necessary to press this matter upon the attention of our readers. The objects are such as they should be proud to contribute to without any persuasion or exhortation. Mr. Mackenzie's life and achievements speak for themselves. They need no trumpeter. No man better, few men as well, deserved to have their memories kept green in the hearts of the Canadian people; and no more fitting memorial could be devised than the encouragement of the study of that noble science whose principles he knew so well and carried into practice with such sterling honesty.

The public announcement of the intention to establish a fund for a memorial to Mr. Mackenzie was made only a few days ago, yet subscriptions to the amount of $5,150 have already been received, and it is expected that another $5,000 will have been raised by the end of this week (to day, Saturday, June 11th). Mr. S. H. Blake, treasurer of the fund, writes as follows to Mr. Robert Jaffray, chairman of the committee:

"I am glad to be able to state that there has been a willing and hearty response made to this fund. The following subscriptions have been received:—

W. Christie	$1,000
Blake, Lash and Cassels	750
Hon. Edward Blake, Q.C.
Geo. A. Cox	500
Robert Jaffray	500
Edmund B. Osler	500
Wm. Mulloch, M.P.	500
Eby, Blain & Co.	500
B. B. Osler	400
G. W. Kiely	500
	$5,150

"Such assurances has been given by others willing to participate in the memorial, that I am confident at the close of the week, we shall be able to get another $5000.

"The matter has been taken up warmly in Hamilton, and I hope that by the end of the week we shall also have returns from that city."

The plan is an excellent one. A memorial which take the form of an aid to political education is a far better one for a statesmen than a statue in bronze or marble. It is in a measure a continuation of his work. And it will be generally admitted that the decision to close the subscription in a month was a wise one. All the willing subscribers will have sent in their names by that time, and the intention of opening the subscription and making the announcement was simply given to those who really wished to contribute, the opportunity they desired.—Globe.

A New Creation!

I BELIEVE that heaven provides a mode of escape from every kind of suffering and disease; and the man or woman who is truly in earnest seeking a remedy and cure, need not seek in vain. For several years I was a victim of dyspepsia and insomnia, and suffered more than tongue can describe. I spent money in abundance for medical treatment, visited specialists, purchased patent remedies of various kinds, but no change for the better could be wrought. Last January I decided to visit my brother in Victoria, British Columbia. I left Toronto with the hope that a change of climate would do me good. A month's stay with my brother did not seem to effect much of a change. Fortunately a lady friend of my brother's wife was visiting at the house, and hearing of my condition strongly recommended Paine's Celery Compound.

"Having used so many medicines without good results, I was naturally suspicious and and doubtful regarding the newly recommended remedy. However, I commenced to use the Celery Compound, and found to my great joy three days after, that Providence had put something into my hands that had power and efficacy. I continued with increased hope and faith, and in five weeks I was a new man, thanks to Heaven for the Compound. I soon after returned here, and have had the chance of recommending Paine's Celery Compound to several of my friends, and it proved successful in every case. It is a pleasure to speak of such an honest remedy; and, be assured, I shall never forget it as long as I live. My troubles are all vanished; I enjoy life, and feel that that I am a new creation."—From a Toronto letter.

S. Lachance, Esq.—Sir, my dyspeptic condition is natural and hereditary; although it does not cause me much suffering, I require from time to time some remedy to aid digestion. THE FORCE OF HABIT.

WE have read of an old lady who for many years regularly pawned her silver teapot every Monday morning and took it out again every Saturday night. She had lost sufficient by paying interest to the pawn-brokers to buy several new pots, but it seems she could never get even with her creditors without sacrificing the tea-brewer at the beginning of the week. That was simply from the force of habit. The policy-holder is apt to get into the same habit when the premium on his policy is to be paid. Is there a dividend? Yes; then he must use that in payment of the premium. Many policy-holders having become used to paying full premiums in cash do so to the end, and the result is a wonderful accumulation, showing an investment rarely equalled in the history of finance. Some policy-holders will be persistent for a few years in their cash payments and then begin to use the dividends to pay the premiums. Having once begun they rarely stop the practice, and year after year they find it impossible to pay the premiums in any other way. They simply cease to save and lose the advantages which the Canada Life offers every investor in its policies.

A Mother's Experience With a Popular Food

A LADY recently made a very significant statement; she said:—"When any of my children are indisposed, out-of-sorts and cannot relish their regular meals, I always commence feeding them with Lactated Food, which they seem to relish. The Lactated Food seems to tone and strengthen the weak stomach, and quickly corrects every irregularity in digestion. I have pursued this course for several years, and have never had occasion to call in a physician."

Thousands of mothers in Canada have had the same experience with Lactated Food. It has become such a valuable agent in the family, that a supply is constantly kept on hand. The baby and young children thrive amazingly when fed with it; and never require to be dosed with medicine, as children have to be, when fed with the common foods of the day.

Mothers, do not fail to use Lactated Food; it will make your babies hearty, happy and healthy.

The Broken Bank.

LONDON, June 10.—A circular issued by the directors of the New Oriental Bank gives the liabilities as £7,250,000 and the uncalled capital as £800,000. The directors recommend the depositors to withdraw only 20 per cent. of their deposits in order to allow of the successful reconstruction of the bank. The suspension is largely due to the depreciation in the value of silver, to the consequent increasing distrust in Great Britain of investments in silver countries and to the withdrawal of capital in the East, coupled with the unprecedented condition of trade in China, Japan and Australia, and losses incurred through the hurricane at Mauritius. The immediate liabilities are believed to amount to £5,500,000. The paid up capital of the bank is £800,000, with power to increase to £2,000,000. The bank has branches at Aden, Antananarivo, Badulla, Bombay, Calcutta, Colombo, Hong Kong, Jaffna, Kandy, Hiogo, Madras, Mahe, Mauritius, Melbourne, Newera Ellia, New York, Paris, San Francisco, Shanghai, Singapore, Sydney, Tamatave, Yokohama and Zanzibar. It also has branches at Edinburgh and Dundee.

Three Things to Remember.

Hood's Sarsaparilla has the most MERIT.
Hood's Sarsaparilla has won unequalled SUCCESS.
Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes the greatest CURES.
Is it not medicine for you?

Constipation is caused by loss of the peristaltic action of the bowels. Hood's Pills restore this action and invigorate the liver.

The Dreaded La Grippe.

Following this scourge of humanity come a train of evils in the shape of obstinate colds, coughs, lung troubles, etc. There is no remedy so prompt, and at the same time effectual and pleasant, as Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion with Wild Cherry and Hypophosphites, which is the latest and best combination of anti-consumptive remedies. Price 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. dw would use Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs. It is curing more cases of coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, croup and all throat and lung troubles than any other medicine. The proprietor has authorized my druggist to give you a sample bottle free to convince you of the merits of this great remedy. Large bottles 50c. and $1. dw

A Sensible Man

Increase Your Weight.

If you are losing flesh and blood, commence at once taking Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which is far ahead of all other preparations of the kind in existence. By taking Miller's Emulsion people gain from 5 to 10 pounds by the time the first bottle is consumed. It is the greatest blessing of the century to all in delicate health, or who suffer with coughs, colds or ailments that tend to consumption. Remember, Miller's Emulsion contains all the constituents found in wheat. It is used in the hospitals and asylums of the country. In big bottles 50c. and $1 at Peterborough drug stores. dw

Health Department.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

By constipation is meant irregular action of the bowels, often called costiveness, and commonly caused by dyspepsia, neglect exercise in eating or drinking, etc. It is a serious complaint and not to be neglected under any circumstances, as it leads to impure blood, headache, debility, fevers, etc. A uniformly successful remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters, which, if faithfully tried, never fails to effect a prompt and lasting cure even in the worst cases. The following extract from a letter from Mr. Jas. M. Carson, Banff, will speak for itself:—I have been troubled with constipation and general debility and was induced to use your B.B.B. through seeing your advertisement. I now take great pleasure in recommending it to all my friends, as it completely cured me." dw

DRY GOODS ESTABLISHMENT.

POSITIVE ALTERATION SALE!

About a year ago extensive alterations and improvements in our George and Simcoe Street premises were contemplated and publicly announced in good faith, and preparations were commenced to transform our store into one of the finest business premises in Peterborough. Unfortunately, owing to difficulties which arose at the time, we were compelled to postpone the work indefinitely. Now, however, we have determined that These Improvements must go on, no matter what the Cost. We, therefore, beg to announce that during the month of July, in order to allow these important alterations to be made, we will be of the premises altogether, for about a month. To avoid the expense and trouble of removing the goods, we have decided to sell off our whole stock, and will commence at once a SWEEPING CLEARANCE SALE of everything in the store. Nothing will be reserved during the next two months. The stock consists of regular Staple Goods—all new and fashionable—bought for this season's trade. THE SPLENDID VALUES which will be given will afford the greatest inducements to Dry Goods Buyers which have been offered for many years to the people of Peterborough.

To secure a complete clearance we are prepared to make great sacrifices in every department. PRICES WILL BE A SECONDARY MATTER! THE GOODS MUST GO! THERE WILL BE BARGAINS FOR EVERYBODY!

Come and buy NOW, if you want to reap the great benefit of the surrender of profits which must be made during this Positive Alteration Sale.

Coolness Called For.

This fine weather calls for fine and light shoes. J. T. Stinson's stock is full of the coolest and most seasonable shoes, including Ladies and Misses Oxford Ties in black and colored goods, Gents Tan shoes made on possible lasts, and Children's Strap Slippers and Oxford Ties. Come to Stinson's for comfort in footwear for the whole family. See the attractive window display.

They Much Mistook Their Man.

Mr. R. Shaw, Reeve of Harvey, has received one of those "confidential letters" from a great New York concern, which has undertaken to make humanity rich, and put opulence within the reach of all by manufacturing "green goods." The firm offers large inducements to a good agent for their wares, but in Mr. Shaw they made a woeful mistake.

Excursion and Picnic.

The Sabbath-schools of Bridgenorth and Zion Methodist churches, Smith, will hold their annual excursion to Jacob's Island, Pigeon Lake, on Thursday, June 23rd. The steamer Maple Leaf with palace scow attached will leave Bridgenorth wharf at 8 o'clock and returning will arrive at Bridgenorth at 10 o'clock. Tickets, adults, 25c., children, 15c. All sorts of games will be provided. Music furnished by Sabbath-school.

Gun Club Match.

Another of those popular matches of the Peterborough Gun Club took place yesterday afternoon at Riverside Park between teams captained by Vice Pres. J. D. Collins and Capt. R. Tivey. Five rounds were shot, the vice president's side winning by 17 birds. The wind was favourable for good shooting but the light was very strong. Following are the scores of each side:—

Monthly Prizes for Boys and Girls.

The "Sunlight" Soap Co., Toronto, offers the following prizes every month till further notice, to boys and girls under 16, residing in the Province of Ontario, who send the greatest number of "Sunlight" wrappers:—1st, $10; 2nd, $6; 3rd, $3; 4th, $1; 5th to 14th, a Handsome Book; and a pretty picture to those who send not less than 12 wrappers. Send wrappers to "Sunlight" Soap Office, 43 Scott Street, Toronto, not later than 29th of each month, and marked "Competition"; also give full name, address, age and number of wrappers. Winner's names will be published in The Toronto Mail on first Saturday in each month.

Somebody Suffers.

Yes, somebody suffers when these great take-em-away-for-nothing sales are announced, but it isn't the promoters, it is the confiding public who are eventually the sufferers. The goods look all right, but wear them, and how soon you will be surprised when they fall to pieces. Our reputation for selling reliable, trusty, serviceable shoes is quite sufficient to draw people to our store. It wouldn't do for a house of established reputation to indulge in sensational half-off, below cost, give-away sales. There's a moral to all this. Buy the best at Kidd's the bootern, and pay a reasonable price, and no more, and in the long run you will come off the winner. Kidd not only claims, but does sell the best of summer foot wear at the lowest living profit, at 376 George street.

Rangers at Kingston.

The Kingston Whig says:—Lieut. Schofield and assistant surgeon Halliday, of the 57th Rangers of Peterborough, were in the city yesterday making arrangements for the visit of the regiment here on Dominion Day. They arranged to dine the men in the hotels on July 1st and 2nd, and to camp on the drill shed common. The men will eat in the Cellander hotel, City hotel, Grimason house, Rumsel house, Queen's hotel, Anglo-American hotel, and Windsor hotel. Application has been made to have the regiment inspected here on July 2nd, but it is not likely an inspecting officer can be secured. General Herbert cannot come because he is in Nova Scotia, and Lt.-Col. Strautemain will be engaged in Belleville. The officers of the 14th battalion have also applied to be inspected on Dominion Day. Dr. Halliday went to Montreal from here.

To gain the public confidence is essential to business, and it can only be gained by a steady course of faithful dealing with them. It is by this course that Messrs. Tuchett & Son have secured the great success of their "Myrtle Navy" tobacco. This confidence is not only a source of business to the firm, but also a source of economy which the consumer gets the benefit of. The merchant never loses a moment of time in examining the quality of the tobacco. The name fixes the quality as absolutely as the mint stamp fixes the value of the guinea. It is not even necessary for the commercial traveller's trunk to be burdened with a sample of "Myrtle Navy." All his customers know what it is, and know in an instant when it has been supplied. There is no room for any dispute about it. No waste of time or postage in writing complaints about it. These may look like trifles to the uninitiated, but they save money, and enable merchants to perform the work of distribution at the smallest possible cost. They are part of the reasons why the finest quality of tobacco grown can be sold at so cheap a price.

News Nuggets.

—Several of the town grocers are talking of an early closing movement.

—The June session of the county council will open on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

—The board of management of the Y. W. C. A., meets on Monday afternoon at half past three.

—A committee of the whole council will meet on Tuesday evening next to discuss sewerage.

—The fishing season begins on Thursday, June 16th, the close season lasting till June 15 h, inclusive.

—Early risers saw a ferocious dog fight on the corner of George and Hunter streets this morning. One of the contestants was a bull dog.

—The General Sessions and County Court open on Monday next, June 13 h, before His Honor Judge Weller. The docket is a small one.

—It has been definitely decided that Cobourg baseball club will play the Peterborough baseball club here on June 24 h, Dominion Day.

—The Peterborough football club will probably go to Warsaw to play on Decoration Day. Negotiations are in progress for a match with the Norwood club.

—Hiawatha Encampment No. 66, I O O F. met last night and nominated officers for the coming term. The election will take place at the next regular meeting held on the 24th.

—Mr. Geo. McWilliams to-day placed on the farm of Mr. Walter McBain, of Cavan, a thirty six foot tower windmill with frost proof supply tank and frost proof drinking trough attached.

—The band concert in the park last night was a great success. The programme was the finest yet rendered. Between three and four thousand people thronged the walks and listened to the sweet music.

—New books arrived at the Peterborough Bookstore: One Touch of Nature, by Margaret Lee; A Study in Scarlet, by Conan Doyle; Twixt Love and Hate, by Bertha Clay; When a Man's Single, by J. M. Barrie.

—The St. Paul's Presbyterian church Board of Management have purchased a lot from Mr. S. Hall, on Reid street, and will erect a mission church thereon, the need of such a move in the southern part of the town being greatly felt.

—The Lindsay Post says:—Saturday last a base ball match took place on the high school grounds between the Peterborough and Lindsay collegiate teams, resulting in victory for the home team, the score standing 25 to 3. Some of the visitors played good ball, but the team as a whole was too light to hope to overcome our champions.

—At the police court this morning John Lavelette charged Fred Spratt a river driver, with cruelly ill-treating his dog on June 4 h. The magistrate dismissed the case as it was shown that defendant had only struck the dog in self defence. Chas. Williams of Spokane Falls, was arrested for stealing a ride on the C.P.R and charged with vagrancy. He was allowed to go on promising to leave the town at once.

Cope; 2nd h, A. Anderson, 1st h, W. Eaton; outside h, F. Sutherland; inside h, S. Graham; field captain, T. Wigmore.

They Will Not Go.

The Kingston Whig says:—Prominent merchants of the city are negotiating with the Ontario Canoe Company, of Peterborough, recently burned out, with a view to inducing it to locate here. The company employs between thirty and fifty men, making canoes for export trade. It is supposed the council will encourage this movement. At the meeting of the Board of Trade to be held on Tuesday evening, Mr. Muckleston will move that the city council be asked to define its policy with reference to the treatment of manufacturers.

An Important Presentation.

Mr. Frank Pakenham has been appointed drum-major of the 57th band vice Charles Billings, resigned. He entered upon his highly ornamental duties on Tuesday night. Last night he was inveigled into the band hall and was presented, on behalf of the band, with a very large address and a much larger drum-major's baton. The baton was modelled as to size upon the Scriptural description of Goliath's spear, and as to material on a newel post. It was splendidly ornamented, and when it is swinging with military precession in front of the band it will easily serve to flatten a player who dares to flatten a note. Mr. Pakenham was so overcome that he could not reply, except by means of a banquet, which was served up in fine style.

From Friend to Friend

Goes the story of the excellence of Hood's Sarsaparilla and what it has accomplished, and this is the strongest advertising which is done on behalf of this medicine. We endeavor to tell honestly what Hood's Sarsaparilla is and what it will do, but what it has done is far more important and more potent. Its unequalled record of cures is sure to convince those who have never tried Hood's Sarsaparilla that it is an excellent medicine.

Of Interest to Bicyclists.

The Peterborough Bicycle Club will hold a meet at the market square on Monday evening. All the boys should turn out as business of importance is to be transacted. A new captain will be elected, Mr. Heathcote having resigned. The matter of sending representatives of the club to the first of July meeting at Kingston will also be considered.

Several members of the club had a delightful spin last night. The roads were in fine condition.

Salvation Army Notes.

The farewell services of Ensign and Mrs. Steele to the local corps of the Salvation Army will take place to night, to-morrow and on Monday led by Brigadier Philpott, of Toronto. To-night there will be a welcome service and an enrolment of officers and recruits. Services will be conducted all day to-morrow at 7 11, 3 and 7 o'clock, to any or all of which the public are cordially invited. On Monday evening a farewell banquet will take place at 5 45 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Steele's little child, "John Robert," will be dedicated. All these farewell services will be conducted by Brigadier Philpott, assisted by Ensign Steele and other visiting officers who are expected to be present. Mr. and Mrs. Steele leave Peterborough on Wednesday at 11.45 a.m. after seven months residence in Peterborough. They will sail from Montreal on the 13 h inst. by the Allan line steamer "Numidian" for England. The trip is taken owing to the delicate condition of Mrs. Steele's health.

Catarrh and Neuralgia

Good authority has said that "neuralgia is the cry of the nerves for pure blood." The prompt action of Hood's Sarsaparilla on the blood, combined with its toning and strengthening effect upon the nerves, make this a grand medicine for neuralgia and also for catarrh, etc. We commend this letter to all having such troubles, and especially to

THE GREAT GOUGH BROS!

Occupy the Finest Shop Premises in Canada.

Their Renewed and Expanded Premises a Fitting Temple Palace for Their Immense Business—The Palatial Home of "The Wonderful Cheap Men"—The Most Superb Stock of Ready made Clothing in Canada.

Adam never had any trouble with his tailor's bills and the same experience has attended those who have, during the past seven years been the patrons of Gough Bros. "The Wonderful Cheap Men," and have been well and cheaply clothed. Seven years ago they started business in Peterborough and in that time they have built up a reputation that gives them undisputed claim to the title they so well deserve, and a business whose proportions are truly colossal. Up to a recent date they found two of the largest shop premises in Peterborough sufficient, but the growth of their gigantic trade compelled an extension of premises and the work on it has been going on for a couple of months. The result is to give Gough Bros.

THE FINEST PREMISES IN THE DOMINION,

devoted to ready made clothing. Nothing short of actual view will give a complete idea of the extent and beauty, capacity and adaptability of their new establishment. The new addition of 40 feet to the 110 depth of the former shops makes a total depth of 150. Therefore the double shop as enlarged consists of extensive appartments each 25x150 feet in area, equivalent to a floor space of 7500 square feet. The original depth of the shops is separated by a wall pierced by two large arched entrances; the rear portion is one large room 50x80 feet in size making a magnificent show room. The ceiling is supported by a middle line of marbled pillars and all the finishing of the shops is of the most artistic character. The woodwork (shelving, etc.) is painted a dead white and the counters are of oiled ash in the natural wood. The walls and ceilings are artistically papered, and

THE EFFECT IS EXCEEDINGLY BRILLIANT.

The work was done by Mr. H. W. Watson, who drew for his material upon the wall paper department of the Peterborough Bookstore. The paper is richly gilt, and the harmony of colours is perfect. Maple flooring is laid throughout. The lighting of the shops is of the most perfect character. Two large and lofty plate glass fronts to the respective shops, four large plate glass windows in the rear, and two large central skylights, pour a flood of radiance upon every part of the premises. Gough Bros. do not fear the light, and the abundant provisions for its admission to their shops is a suggestive circumstance in this connection.

The second flat, over both shops, is converted into one large room, of an area of 5,500 square feet, by a wide arch. This is used as a show room for overcoats, rubber goods and trunks and valises, while the third flat, of equal size, is utilized as a general surplus stock room, and even with the vastly enlarged premises, so immense is the stock carried by Gough Bros. at all times, that it is now well filled.

The northern compartment of the lower floor

IS DEVOTED TO MEN'S CLOTHING,

individual pantaloons, and also contains the boys' and children's departments, gentlemens' furnishings, and hats and caps; and when you think that a stretch of shelving 150 feet is crowded with these goods as well as tables occupying about 2,000 square feet, piled, feet high, with suits, and then think how many suits of clothing can be hung in your comparatively tiny clothes closet at home, you can form some idea, by comparison, of the gigantic stock carried by Gough Bros.

The other half of the lower floor for about 100 feet at the front, is occupied by the densely stocked boot and shoe department, while the rear is occupied by a tasteful display of trunks and valises. The shelves of the shop contain the $65,000 stock purchased from James O'Brien at 67 cents on the dollar. How many thousands of suits this represents!

Gough Bros.' name has become famous and they have become the recognized leaders for stupendous clothing transactions. There is not a doubt of the truth of their claim that they carry a larger ready-made clothing stock than all the rest of the shops in the Midland district combined. If you do not credit this claim, reader, call at the gigantic of ready-made clothing of Gough Bros.—375 and 377 George street,

DOUBLE-BARRELLED DEPOSITORY

And there is equally no room to doubt that their prices and values are unparalleled. The reason is simple. They have built up their business by systematically giving the highest values for the lowest prices, and they can do it and make money too, for they "buy right." It naturally follows that when the double shop in question is one of seven stores of almost equal magnitude, owned and managed by Gough Bros., that they can on all competitors. They pool their buying, and when they go into the market to purchase a line of goods to stock seven huge establishments, it stands to reason as well as dovetails with hard commercial facts, that they can buy at immensely cheaper rates than the small dealers.

The proprietors of this magnificent establishment are Gough Bros.—Messrs. Richard and A. J. Gough—the Wonderful Cheap Men. The Peterborough and Lindsay stores are owned by them, while the Toronto, Kingston and Brantford stores are owned by Mr. E. D. Gough.

Gough Bros. have had many imitators and competitors in their special line, but they lacked the peculiar genius—failed to grasp the magic methods by which Gough Bros. have struck the responsive chord in the public heart. Nothing, the proverb says, succeeds like success. Gough Bros. are a success, and inevitably with them the greater triumph of to-day succeeds the triumph of yesterday. They are the sole originals in their line. As advertisers they are bold to publicity; but the phenomenal feature of their advertising is that they keep faith with the public. They advertise what they will do, and will and do do what they advertise. For seven years they have advertised good goods for small money and for seven years there has been a mighty and increasing stream of customers flowing to their shops to find what they sought—the biggest bargains on earth in ready-made clothing, hats and caps, boots and shoes. To-day begins another seven years of plenty in the way of big bargains and unrivalled values—synonyms with Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men.

SCIENCE AND PROGRESS.

INTERESTING PARAGRAPHS CULLED FROM VARIOUS FIELDS.

Photography — How the Amateur Has Aided in Developing the Art—The Work Done by Professionals—How to Become an Amateur Photographer.

There are few forms of amusement at the present time so popular and so interesting as photography.

The knights of the camera are divided into two distinct classes, the amateurs and the professionals. But so strong have the former become that they far outnumber the latter. When photography was first taken up by the amateurs the professionals looked coldly upon them and in every possible way endeavored to throw cold water on their hopes and aspirations. The professionals feared that the amateurs would diminish their work and interfere seriously with their legitimate business, but now things are different. The professionals know that the amateurs are here to stay, and that instead of being rivals in business the amateurs are a fruitful source of revenue and income. The reason for this is that the amateurs stick principally to landscape and outside work and do very little printing. If an amateur takes a plate and anyone is desirous of securing a finished copy the negative is handed to a professional, who makes the picture and has his profit the same as if he took it himself, with the exception that it saves him the trouble of making the negative. In this way the volume of photographic business has increased to such an extent that there are photographic houses who scarcely do anything but print for amateurs. The amateurs also do very little portraiture, which is the specialty of the professionals. It is tacitly understood by the amateurs that portraiture is to be left in the hands of those who make a living by photography.

RAPID ADVANCE.

The advance that has been made in photography during the past twenty years is marvellous, and if the pace is kept up there is no telling what may be done in this branch of science. Everybody remembers when men used to tramp the country with wagons and large wet plate outfits. But when the dry plate came then the amateur put in an appearance. The dry plate made it possible for a person to go about with a camera taking pictures and develop the negatives at home when convenient. The introduction of films has made it possible to carry a large number of negatives on a roll, and to even send this roll hundreds of miles for development. In this way photography has been put within the reach of all, and now any person who cares can take a camera on a trip and snap it at such scenes as are desired. The negatives can upon return be handed over to a professional to develop and print the pictures.

But it must not be supposed that the amateurs are merely mechanical workers, for all the improvements that have been made in dry plate photography within recent years is the work of the amateurs. They work for pleasure, are always willing to put out money in experiments, and in this way much has been added to the stock of photographic knowledge. Some of the work of the amateurs is far superior to anything that can be done by the professionals, and any intelligent amateur can tell you all about the relative values of light and shade, of distance, focus, time in exposure, and the chemical changes in development, and the results obtained by different developers. The professional is content if he obtains a certain result; beyond that he seldom goes, and he does everything by rule of thumb. Some of the pictures made by amateurs in posing, grouping, and in other ways are equal to some of the best paintings, and certainly better than some of the frightful daubs, without perspective or anything else, that are often to be found in picture galleries.

HOW TO BECOME A PHOTOGRAPHER.

The question is often asked by those who desire to be initiated into the art, What am I to do? In the first place go to some stock house where they keep photographic supplies and purchase a camera. From ten to thirty dollars is what you will have to pay. The best kind of camera for an amateur is a 4 by 5 detective, with a doublet lens, film carrier, and holders. Experience has proven this to be the best for all-round amateur work. Of course the same camera can be bought with a single lens, and without a film carrier, which reduces the cost considerably, but the results that can be obtained by the former are worth the money. A small detective camera is a nuisance, because the pictures are too small, and the perspective is usually exaggerated, so that objects in the foreground look ridiculously large. A large camera, such as a whole plate, is what every amateur would like to use, but cannot on account of weight and clumsiness. Besides the plates are too dear, so that the happy medium of a 4 by 5 is the best. Unless going on a long trip glass plates are better than film. After you have the camera and plates make the exposure on a suitable subject, being careful to keep the camera steady when exposing the plate, and also not to allow any light to enter the camera, except that which enters by the lens reach. The next step is the development of the plate. There are three good developers, known as pyro, quenol, and eikonogen. For amateur work quenol is the best, although it makes the negative a trifle hard, still it gives the widest margin for exposure. Pyro gives the softest and most artistic effects, while eikonogen gives the greatest amount of detail. Any of the last two developers can be obtained made up ready in bottles. Open the holder in the dark room, using a red or yellow light, put the exposed plate in a developing tray, pour enough developer in to cover it, and rock the tray until the image comes up. When the negative is sufficiently developed take it out of the tray. You will see the image on the back of the plate if it is fully developed. Then rinse the plate and put it in a saturated solution of hyposulphite of soda. This will clear all the silver except that in the image out of the plate. Then let the plate stand in running water for some time until the hypo is washed out. Put it in a clean, dry place until the film is dry.

A Maine farmer has invented the device shown in the illustration for the purpose of preventing a cow from switching her tail during the progress of milking. It is formed of a single piece of wire bent to form a loop, the terminal ends readily hooking into engagement. When released the device springs open, and when applied the cow's tail is embraced in the minor opening, while the leg of the cow is embraced by the larger loop. The stress of the spring serves to keep the hook-latch in engagement, and no amount of kicking can release it. This holder does not weigh more than half an ounce, and is applied instantly without any trouble whatever.

A PRIZE PORTRAIT REBUS.

This young lady has three brothers, each one of whose picture is combined in the above portrait. The manufacturers of PEARLIFOAM, THE LATEST SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY FOR CLEANSING AND PRESERVING THE TEETH, will give a handsome Gold Watch to the person who can make out the faces of the three brothers FIRST; to the second an elegant pair of genuine DIAMOND EARRINGS; to the third a PIANO LAMP in Antique Silver; to the fourth either a SILK DRESS PATTERN or a SWISS MUSIC BOX playing six pieces; to the fifth a beautiful pair of PEARL OPERA GLASSES; to the sixth an elegant MANTEL CLOCK; to the seventh a pair of SOLID GOLD CHAIN BRACELETS, with Padlocks, and to the eighth a COIN SILVER WATCH.

Each contestant is to cut out the picture rebus and make a cross with a lead pencil on the three brothers faces, and send same to us, with ten three-cent Canadian postage stamps (or 30 cents in silver) for one package of Pearlifoam, before July 30th, 1892. The envelope postmarked first which contains the three brothers' faces correctly marked will receive the first prize, the balance in order as received. For the last correct answer we will also give a handsome Gold Watch; to the next to the last a complete BUSINESS EDUCATION; to the second to the last an elegant pair of genuine DIAMOND EARRINGS; to the third from the last a PIANO LAMP in Antique Silver; to the fourth a SWISS MUSIC BOX playing six pieces; to the fifth a SILK DRESS PATTERN; to the sixth a pair of PEARL OPERA GLASSES; to the seventh an elegant MANTEL CLOCK, and a valuable prize will also be given to every person who is able to answer this picture rebus correctly until 200 prizes have been awarded if there should be that number answering correctly. Nothing is charged for boxing and packing prizes. We shall offer extra premiums to all who are willing to help us introduce Pearlifoam. Our prices are entirely FREE. Our object is to introduce and attract attention to Pearlifoam, which is the only preparation whose manufacturers are willing to offer a reward of $100 to any dentist who can show that it contains anything injurious to the teeth. Ladies who have used Pearlifoam cannot say too much in its favor. A mouthful of pearly white teeth is the sure result of its constant use. It is recommended by the leaders of the profession everywhere, ask your dentist what he thinks of it.

Pearlifoam is sent by mail postpaid. Prizes in the above Portrait Rebus are to be carefully awarded strictly as deserved. Address, EXQUISITE TOILET MFG. CO., 170 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont.

"German Syrup"

Asthma. "I have been a great sufferer from Asthma and severe Colds every Winter, and last Fall my friends as well as myself thought because of my feeble condition, and great distress from constant coughing, and inability to raise any of the accumulated matter from my lungs, that my time was close at hand. When nearly worn out for want of sleep and rest, a friend recommended me to try thy valuable medicine, Boschee's German Syrup. I am confident it saved my life. Almost the first dose gave me great relief and a gentle refreshing sleep, such as I had not had for weeks. My cough began immediately to loosen and pass away, and I found myself rapidly gaining in health and weight. I am pleased to inform thee—unsolicited—that I am in excellent health and do certainly attribute it to thy Boschee's German Syrup. C. B. STICKNEY, Pictou, Ontario."

WONDER IN WELLAND!

A Representative Farmer Speaks.

MR. C. C. HAUN.

The following remarkable facts are fully certified to as being undeniably correct in every particular. Mr. Haun is well known in the vicinity, having resided here over fifty years, and is highly respected as a man of the strictest honor, whose word is as good as his bond.

As will be seen from his letter, four physicians had attended him, and it was only after he had given up hope of cure that he decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters on the recommendation of a neighbor who had been cured of a similar disease by its use. Mr. Haun writes as follows:

DEAR SIRS,—I think I have been one of the worst sufferers you have yet heard of, having been six years in the hands of four of our best doctors without obtaining permanent relief, but continually growing worse, until almost beyond hope of recovery, I tried your Bitters and got relief in a few days. Every organ of my body was deranged, the liver enlarged, hardened and torpid, the heart and digestive organs seriously deranged, a large abscess in my back, followed by paralysis of the right leg, in fact the lower half of my body was entirely useless. After using Burdock Blood Bitters for a few days the abscess burst, discharging fully five quarts of pus in two hours. I felt as if I had received a shock from a powerful battery. My recovery after this was steady and the cure permanent, seeing that for the four years since I have had as good health as ever I had. I still take an occasional bottle, not that I need it but because I wish to keep my system in perfect working order. I can think of no more remarkable case than what I have myself passed through, and no words can express my thankfulness for such perfect recovery.

C. C. HAUN,
Welland P.O.

In this connection the following letter from T. Cummes, Esq., a leading druggist of Welland, Ont., speaks for itself:

MESSRS. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto.

GENTLEMEN,—I have been personally acquainted with Mr. C. C. Haun for the last 20 years, and have always found him a very reliable man. You may place the utmost confidence in anything he says with regard to your medicine. He has on many occasions within the last four years told me that it was marvellous the way the Burdock Blood Bitters had cured him, and that he now felt as able to do a day's work as he ever felt in his life. Although quite well he still takes some B. B. B. occasionally, as he says, to keep him in perfect health.

Yours truly,
THOMAS CUMMES,
Welland, Ont.

The steadily increasing sale of B. B. B., the length of time it has been before the people, and the fact that it cures to stay cured, attest the sterling merit of this monarch of medicines, the people's favorite blood purifier, tonic and regulator.

DAIRY FARMING.

How It May be Made More Profitable by Diversification.

The low prices for dairy products which have prevailed for several seasons have led many Central New York dairyman to consider the question of engaging in some other branch of farming which could be successfully prosecuted in connection with this industry. The average dairyman of Central New York has already devoted his undivided efforts to the production of milk for the manufacture of either butter or cheese, paying no attention whatever to the raising of crops for market, or, in many instances, even for home consumption. Thousands of dollars are annually expended in a single county alone for grain as stock feed, to say nothing of the money spent for articles of food for the family, which should be produced on the farm.

There are many branches of agriculture which may profitably be followed, in connection with dairying. The dairy farmer will, of course, regard the dairy as the leading interest, and study to make the most money possible out of it, by keeping only the best stock and handling it in the most approved manner. But this need not occupy all his time. With the help required to conduct an average dairy farm, much may be accomplished in other directions.

If the farm lies accessible to a good market, the cultivation of market vegetables may be made to yield a handsome profit. I have in mind now a dairy farmer who, without hiring any more help than that required to carry on his dairy operations, conducts a small market garden with great success. He has been engaged in this supplementary work for the past four or five years, and would not, he tells me, under any consideration, abandon it. He makes sweet corn his principal crop, aiming to have a portion of it on the market early, when green corn brings a good price, and plants in succession, so as to supply his customers the entire season. Cabbages, both the early and late varieties, also receive considerable of his attention. They sell readily at remunerative prices, and are comparatively easy of culture. Besides, he raises cauliflowers, potatoes and tomatoes, but not on as extensive a scale.

These crops require no little labor. They will not bring satisfactory returns without painstaking attention. But the amount of work necessary to properly care for them is greatly exaggerated by many farmers. Success, after all, depends more in doing things at the right time and in the proper manner than in the amount of hard work expended. If the ground is thoroughly prepared, carefully planted, and the cultivator kept running until the crops are beyond the reach of weeds, the labor involved is comparatively small. If insect pests are destroyed when they first appear, little trouble is experienced, but, if neglected, the task of exterminating the depredators is vastly increased and the crop not frequently ruined.

Other branches of agriculture than those noted may be pursued with success in connection with dairy farming. The raising of small fruits, for example, has been made to pay well in favorable locations. A leading dairyman of my acquaintance, in Wisconsin, devotes a number of acres of his farm to the cultivation of strawberries and raspberries, and he says that there is money in the business.

Dairymen must look after the pence on the farm as well as the pounds, especially during periods of depression in prices. An accurate account of all the money received from the farm, apart from that earned by the dairy, where attention is given to turning everything available into cash, would astonish the average dairy farmer.—American Agriculturist.

For all forms of female weaknesses Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an unfailing specific. Mr. Thomas Strachan, Postmaster, Roballion, writes: My daughter has been ill for the last four years with female weakness, and had been attended by four of the best doctors in our section. Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 15, 1890.

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

TORONTO METHODISM.

What Was Done by the Conference Yesterday.

TORONTO, June 10.—Parkdale Methodist Church was thrown open yesterday at 9 a.m. and to the 265 delegates, clerical and lay, who had assembled to the annual meeting of the Toronto Conference, as well as to the numerous friends who had come to watch the proceedings. After a prayer meeting, which was largely attended, the business meeting was constituted, Rev. Dr. Carman occupying the chair.

President Wishaw.

The question of who was to be president came up, and after a close contest lasting one hour and a half and necessitating five ballots Rev. George J. Bishop of Parliament-street Church was elected, receiving 142 votes. Dr. Parker of Barrie came next with 123 votes. The other candidates were Revs. Dr. Galbraith of Berkeley-street, Dr. Laugford of Brampton, and George Webber of St. Clarence-avenue. After a short address from the president-elect, the meeting was closed with the Doxology

In the afternoon the Rev. R. N. Burns was elected secretary, and Revs. Benjamin Westwood, L. P. Bowles, W. S. Blackstock, R. P. Hill, Dr. E. Barrass and T. Manning were appointed assistants. The special committee's report, laying out a program of work, was adopted. A pleasant feature of the meeting at this stage was the entrance of the venerable Dr. Douglas of Montreal. A hearty burst of applause testified the estimation in which he is held by his brethren.

The following transfers have been made: Out of the Conference, Revs. Manly Benson, Samuel Down, H. L. Lovering and W. W. Andrews; into the Conference, Revs. A. C. Rees and Dr. James Elliott.

Fit for the Ministry.

The following probationers were reported as fit for admission to the ministry: Messrs. R. G. Davey, B.A., B.D., Toronto West District; E. A. Pearson, B.A., John Robson, B.A., Frederick Langford, B.A., B.D., and A. P. Latter, Brampton District; W. W. Walker and J. V. Plunket, Parry Sound.

BEREFT OF NUTRIMENT.

Warfare More Deadly With this New Explosive.

LONDON, June 10.—Some experiments were recently made in England with the new army magazine rifle and smokeless powder. Forty officers, using the new arm and the new explosive, fired 400 shots at a body of dummy lancers approaching at a distance of 800 yards. The number of hits averaged 18 per cent. After making allowance for the extension of the body of cavalry making a charge under such circumstances, it is estimated that not one-quarter of them would have reached the infantry firing the shots. Practice was afterward had with the Martini-Henri rifle, employing the ordinary powder. This brought out in strong contrast the value of the smokeless explosive. After a few rounds the men were enveloped in a cloud of smoke, making accurate aim impossible, while at the same time the enemy could distinctly determine the position of the firing party. With smokeless powder, on the contrary, it would be almost impossible for an enemy at a distance to mark the location of the attacking company or regiment of infantry.

Suicide of an Officer.

BERLIN, June 10.—The suicide of Captain Ulrichs, of the Ninth Bavarian infantry, is attracting attention owing to the peculiar circumstances attending the case. The captain had made frequent reports to headquarters, complaining that a certain subaltern officer, a Prussian of aristocratic birth, was allowed to ill-treat the men under him. No attention was paid to the reports, whilst at the same time Ulrichs found his position becoming an embarrassing one on account of his action. The worry and depression of mind arising from this state of things led to the suicide, which has drawn attention to the situation in the regiment in such a manner that an investigation can now hardly be averted.

Visit from the General of the Capucins.

ROME, June 10.—Father Bernard Christen, general of the Capucins, will leave on the 15th inst. for the United States, to visit the houses of the order in America. He will also establish many new missions of the order.

New Franco-American Treaty.

PARIS, June 10.—The Paris Temps says that among the questions pending between France and the United States is a fresh commercial treaty making concessions in regard to frozen meat and live cattle.

Young Adolphus Fitzwilliam he loved a fair maid;
But to ask her to marry him he was afraid,
Because of catarrh which she had very bad,
So much so that often the youth was quite glad,
To omit at the parting the kiss of the lover.
The reason of this she set out to discover.
"Catarrh makes me loathsome; it's fatal to love,
O, darling Adolphus, by all that's above,
I vow I'll not have thee if something there is
To drive out catarrh and to sweeten a kiss."

So this wise young woman began searching for a cure, and good luck attended her. She found Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy at the drug store, and felt convinced that a preparation which the proprietors had such confidence in that they were willing to offer to pay $500, for a case they cannot cure, must be worth trying. She bought it. She tried it. It cured her. And when Adolphus kissed her at the altar last week her kiss was as sweet and pure as roses in June.

Girls, a word of advice: If you want a lover to remain a lover you must get rid of catarrh. Do as this sensible girl did, and get the only sure cure for this disgusting and dangerous disease—Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. c

ON TRIAL FOR HER LIFE

MRS. CARRUTHERS' SECOND DAY IN THE DOCK.

Interesting Evidence Given Yesterday at Port Arthur—The Defence Is Suicide—What the Doctors Testified—A Great Case of Circumstantial Evidence—The Story of Willie Fotheringham.

PORT ARTHUR, June 11.—The indications now are that within 24 hours Nellie Carruthers will be a free woman and the murder of her husband, for murdered he unquestionably was, will be added to Ontario's list of unpunished crimes.

The evidence is all in, and nothing now remains but the addresses of counsel and the judge's charge. These addresses, searching in analysis and remarkable for rhetoric,—as they undoubtedly will be, will have no effect on the finding the issue of life or death. This was made clear to-day when the prosecution marshalled its strongest forces—the expert testimony on wounds and handwriting, and it was mainly on the latter that the case rested.

The Doctors' Testimony.

The medical evidence included that of Dr. Clark, superintendent of Toronto Asylum; Dr. Bryce, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health; Dr. Macdonald of Rat Portage and Dr. Beck of Port Arthur, each of whom expressed the opinion that the wounds found on deceased's head were homicidal and not suicidal, and all agreed in the hypothesis that Carruthers was seated in a chair, that the assassin crept up behind him and fired a shot into the back of his head, that the bullet probably rendered him unconscious and that he fell to the floor, where the assassin sent a second bullet into his brain. Much stress was laid upon the fact that a drop of blood was found on the leg of the chair on which deceased was supposed to have been seated, when shot. The opinion of the medical men that the wound at the back of the head was first fired was explained by the fact that an immediate flow of blood from the mouth would have followed the shot beneath the eye, and this discharge would have flown over his clothes, which were not spotted.

A Severe Cross-Examination.

Mr. Osler's cross-examination of the doctors was long and thorough. Our familiar friends, the German stonemason who drove two chisels into his brain and lived, the Vermont iron crowbar case of 1848, in which a man lived 12 years after having a crowbar blown through his head while blasting, and other remarkable cases cited by Errickson, Staples, Dutton and others were again quoted and discussed.

Dr. Clark, pointed out that in all these cases it was the front part of the brain that was injured and not the rear portion.

The outcome of the medical testimony was to established the joint opinion that the wounds found on Carruthers' head might have been self-inflicted, but it was highly improbable and the doctors themselves were satisfied, taking all the circumstances into account, that the wounds were homicidal.

That Suicide Letter.

The evidence as to handwriting was equally strong. Andron Carruthers, a brother of the deceased, swore that the suicide letter was not his brother's handwriting, while Mr. O'Dea of Toronto testified not only that Carruthers did not write the letter but that the chirography was identical in many respects with that of the prisoner. He had no hesitancy in saying, in fact, that the letter acknowledged to be in the prisoner's writing and the suicide letter were written by the same person.

The prosecution rested its case after producing a little corroborative evidence.

It will be recollected that prisoner said at the inquest that she was down at the creek getting water when the shooting occurred at 1.30. Neil McTague swears that at 9 o'clock he saw prisoner over near Jordan's and that when she saw him she jumped behind the haystack. An hour and a half later she gave the alarm. The Crown claims that prisoner was on her way to Jordan's and that her husband was then alive, and if she gave the alarm while McTague was there he would hurry over and perhaps find Carruthers conscious, and he might tell the story of the tragedy, that prisoner at once returned home and fired a second shot to make sure of her work, and that she subsequently returned to Jordan's, knowing that, as Jordan was away and the nearest house was three-quarters of a mile away distant and an hour would elapse before a man could reach the house, and dissolution would have probably taken place.

Drink Story She Told.

Henry Tobar of Blansharo Township, a brother-in-law, testified that he met the prisoner in St. Mary's two weeks after the murder when, in describing the suicide, she stated that her husband had been drinking heavily, when, as a matter of fact, he had been a teetotaler for years, that both bullets had entered the front part of the head, and that she had seen that he was buried nicely and a "beautiful iron railing" built around the grave. Prisoner did not seem to feel bad over the affair in the slightest.

The Defence Did Not Shake the Evidence

A strong case this, one of the strongest cases of circumstantial evidence ever brought forward, and the defence failed to shake it to any material extent.

Dr. Cameron, professor of clinical surgery in Toronto University, was strongly of opinion that deceased could have inflicted both wounds himself. In support of the contention that the deceased would have returned to consciousness after the first shot he cited the case of young Woods on Wells' Hill, Toronto, on Queen's Birthday, and who returned to consciousness for four days prior to his death at the hospital. The course traversed by the bullet in this case was almost identical with that traversed by the bullet in young Woods' head.

Dr. Smellie of Fort William was called by the defence, but as his only experience of pistol shots was in observing some horses with glanders killed, he was not kept long on the stand.

There Was No Quarrel.

Maggie Eldridge, the young school teacher who lived on Rainy River and boarded at Jordan's, swore the was in Carruthers' house the afternoon and evening prior to the shooting, and deposed that the quarrel between husband and wife referred to by Watts never took place. Carruthers appeared to be despondent, but she admitted under cross-examination that he told amusing stories all the evening. She swore that after notifying the Jordan's of her husband's death, and returning to her house, prisoner lifted the cloth from the body and kissed the deceased. All the other witnesses swore she had shown no sign of grief of this nature. Witness denied that prisoner was singing the day intervening between the death and the funeral. Miss Eldridge also said that she was with Mrs. Carruthers all day Sunday.

This evidence was to show that she could not have gone over to the house after the tragedy and written the suicide letter, but the effect of this was lost when, under cross-examination, witness admitted that she went to church on Sunday afternoon, leaving Mrs. Carruthers alone. Miss Eldridge testified that she heard the prisoner's child, aged 3, tell its mother about papa shooting himself.

"Willie" Testimony.

There was a buzz in court when W. B. Fotheringham, for love of whom Mrs. Carruthers is alleged to have killed her husband, entered the witness-box. Fotheringham is a small, square-shouldered chunk of a fellow, anything but bad looking. He positively denied that the prisoner ever sat in his lap, that he ever paid any attention to her other than friendship that might be expected in old schoolmates. He denied that he ever scuffled with the prisoner, ever tore her apron or had improper relations with her. He admitted, however, the quarrel between deceased and himself and gave his version.

"Carruthers came to the mill to me and said, 'You've got my missus so that she cares more about your affairs than mine.' I said I was very sorry. 'You made her presents of money,' continued Carruthers. 'No, nor anything else,' I replied. Carruthers then said, 'You're too friendly with her, anyhow.' With that he struck me, blackening my eye."

Fotheringham further swore that two days later Carruthers came over and apologized. Within a week Fotheringham left the River for good, but he denied that it was in consequence of a threat he had heard Carruthers had made that if he remained around there he would put a bullet in him.

Fotheringham also stated that when the prisoner came to Rat Portage he had met her and loaned her $30, which had never been repaid, and also said that he had since received three letters from her, which he had burned, but the contents were nothing he was afraid of.

He Said He Was Tired of Life.

William Somerville of Blanchard, a brother-in-law of the deceased, and several others were called to prove that deceased had fits of despondency, during which he expressed himself tired of life.

The prisoner showed the same marked self-possession as displayed yesterday, keeping her eyes constantly on the witnesses, except when "Willie" was testifying, when she cast down her eyes, never once raising them.

The effect of the lengthened duration of the trial means that the host of Rainy River witnesses will have to remain here until the middle of next week, as there is no boat leaving Rat Portage for the settlement until towards the end of the week.

BABY ONE SOLID SORE

Tried Everything without Relief. No Rest Night or Day. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

My baby, when two months old, had a breaking out with what the doctor called eczema. Her head, arms, feet, and hands were each one solid sore. I tried everything, but neither the doctors nor anything else did her any good. We could get no rest day or night with her. In my extremity I tried the CUTICURA REMEDIES, but I confess I had no faith in them, for I had never seen them tried. To my great surprise, in one week's time after beginning to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, the sores were well, but I continued to use the RESOLVENT for a little while, and now she is as fat a baby as you would like to see, and as sound as a dollar. I believe my baby would have died if I had not tried CUTICURA REMEDIES. I write this that every mother with a baby like mine can feel confident that there is a medicine that will cure the worst eczema, and that medicine is the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

MRS. BETTIE BIRKNER, Lockhart, Texas.

Cuticura Remedies

Cure every humor of the skin and scalp of infancy and childhood, whether torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, scaly, crusted, pimply, or blotchy, with loss of hair, and every impurity of the blood, whether simple, scrofulous, or hereditary, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. Parents, save your children years of mental and physical suffering. Begin now. Cures made in childhood are permanent.

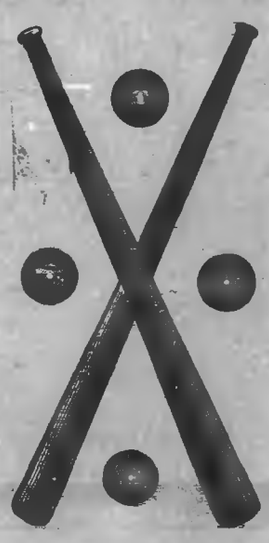
Grafton & Co.

IT'S THE WEAR THAT TELLS!



Reader, may we ask you a question? Did you ever purchase a suit of clothes that looked exceedingly well, but which when it came to be worn proved to be as mean shoddy as could be scared up? Well, there is plenty of just such clothing in the market to-day. The place where you can be sure to find no such stuff is at GRAFTON & CO.'S, 393 George Street, Peterborough. Fine foreign fabrics at remarkably low prices is what you will find there. There you will be certain to obtain something that will not only be satisfactory in price but will also give satisfactory service. Every garment we sell is made up in our own factory in Dundas, of cloths directly imported by us, or from Canadian Tweeds. Before leaving our factory, every garment is closely examined and its actual cost computed. It is then marked at the lowest possible price, and as we are direct importers as well as manufacturers and retailers we can sell fine goods at first cost or from twenty to thirty per cent. cheaper than any other merchant. Our $9 Brighton Overcoat and our $7.50 London Sack Suits are but two of the many bargains we are now offering.

Full English Cassimere Suit	$9.00 to $17.00	Aberdeen Cassimere Suit	$14.00 to $16.50
Liverpool Business Suit	3.25 to 10.00	English Club Suit	9.00 to 16.00
Leeds Diagonal Suit	15.00	Clay's Diagonal Suit	16.50
A Good Business Suit	$5.00.

The first time you are in town take a look through even if you do not want to buy at present.

DROWNED AT TORONTO.

SAD END OF A PLEASURE ROW TO THE ISLAND

An Unexplained Tragedy at Hanlan's Point—A Boat is Discovered Half Full of Water and the Occupants Are Found at the Bottom of the Bay—His Life For Hers.

TORONTO, June 13.—Last Saturday night a distressing accident took place in Hanlan's Cut at the Island, by which two promising young lives were cut short. Fred Wing and Miss Eva Berkinshaw were among the pleasure-seekers who took advantage of the calmness of the evening and rowed over to the Island, but were the victims of an accident the cause of which, despite all theories, must remain a mystery.

Who the Victims Were.

Mr. Wing, who was 30 years of age, resided at 244 St. Patrick-street, and was a clerk in the house of Spriggs & Buchanan, 29 Front-street east, wholesale saddlery. He was an American by birth, having been born in Pennsylvania, and having resided for four years in Canada. He was the second son, his elder brother being married and in Dakota. He leaves a widowed mother and several sisters. Miss Eva Berkinshaw was 18 years of age, and lived with her father, Mr. John C. Berkinshaw, at 361 Hatburst-street. Mr. Berkinshaw is manager of the subscription department of the Methodist Book Room. She was the only daughter, there being one son in the family. Mr. Wing was an attendant at Queen-street Methodist Church, though of late he had been going to McCaul-street church. He was an associate member of the Epworth League, and had for some years belonged to the young men's Bible Class at Queen-street church. He was of exceedingly steady habits. Miss Berkinshaw was a member of McCaul-street church, and sang in the choir. She was also a member of Sunshine Circle of the King's Daughters. The young couple had been acquainted about one year and were very good friends. They had never before been out rowing together.

The Bodies Found.

Some time between 12 and 1, Charles Gray and John Holloway, who board at Mrs. Durgan's on the Island, who had rowed some belated people over and were on their way back, came upon the boat, which had apparently broken loose and once more got adrift. Early on Sunday morning, Carpenter, Hales and others started dragging, and after three hour's work found the young man's body under the cut. The water was 10 feet deep, and he was about 60 feet from the bank. Soon after the girl's body was found 3 or 4 yards apparently from him. The bodies were taken to the foot of Brock-street. A little group of friends and relatives had gathered at the boathouse; a hurried signal was made and they were withdrawn, while the poor bodies were hurriedly placed in No. 3 ambulance and were transported to their homes.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE.

The American Charged in London with Poisoning Two Girls.

LONDON, June 13.—There was brought up on remand in the Bow-street Police Court Thomas Neill, the American who is charged with attempting to extort money from Dr. Harper of Barnstable by declaring that he wanted £1500 to suppress evidence proving that Dr. Harper's son had poisoned Alice Marsh and Emma Shrivell, the two girls whose death from strychnine poisoning caused a sensation here.

Young Harper, who is a student at St. Thomas' Hospital, where the girls were taken after it was discovered that they were poisoned, testified, and he recognized Neill as a man who had lodged for several months in the same house with him, but with whom he had never exchanged a word.

Damaging Evidence.

Emily Sleaper, a daughter of Neill's landlady, gave some important testimony. She said that Neill stated to her that he came from Quebec. On one occasion he showed her a case of pills, and she saw a box full of gelatine capsules in a cupboard in his room. After the publication of the facts in connection with the poisoning of the Marsh and Shrivell girls Neill had conversed with her on the subject. He had questioned her regarding the movements of young Harper, and he had also entered Harper's room during the latter's absence and inspected his books.

The prisoner was remanded until June 20. Bail was refused.

Another Girl Poisoned.

The Star Saturday says that another girl named Matilda Clover died suddenly last October. She had suffered agony from internal pains, and certain incidents in connection with her death led to the suspicion that she had been murdered. Her body was recently exhumed and the stomach was submitted to Mr. Thomas Stevenson, the Government Analyst, for examination. This official, The Star says, found traces of strychnine that had probably been administered to the girl in gelatine capsules, such as those which the Marsh and Shrivell girls before they expired declared had been given to them by a man with whom they associated.

The Motive Unknown.

No doubt is entertained by the police that these capsules contained the strychnine that the subsequent post mortem examination revealed and that the girls were wilfully murdered. The motive for killing the girls is unknown, and there is no clue as to the man. Six and three-quarter grains of the poison were found in the stomach and viscera of the Marsh girl and not quite two grains in the Shrivell girl. One grain of strychnine is a fatal dose for an adult person.

Robbed of $17,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—John Golson of the Judor Manufacturing Company was robbed of $17,000 Saturday by two men, who compelled him, at the point of revolvers, to disgorge. He was on his way to Emeryville Station, where he was to pay off the company's employes. The robbery occured on a train loaded with merry-makers. The robbers escaped.

Who Will Succeed Blaine?

WASHINGTON, June 13.—It is expected that the vacancy in the Cabinet caused by the resignation of Mr. Blaine will be filled next week and the general impression in Washington is that the President will tender the appointment to Chauncey M. Depew of New York.

Food For the Starving Russians.

BROOKLYN, June 13.—The ship St. Leo sailed from here yesterday with a cargo of breadstuffs, meats and infants' food in addition to 1500 tons of flour for the starving Russian peasants.

RIOT OVER POLITICS.

HOW THE IRISHMEN FOUGHT AT TRALEE.

Parnellite Meeting Ends in a Monster Riot—Anti-Parnellites Shouted "Traitors" and Then the Fight Began—It Was a Short, Lively "Scrap."

DUBLIN, June 13.—William Redmond, Edward Harrington and Henry Harrington were in Tralee Saturday to address a large meeting of Parnellites. About 2000 persons were present. They remained perfectly orderly until the chairman prepared to introduce the speakers, when it became apparent that the meeting had been packed with anti-Parnellites. There were then loud shouts against Mr. Harrington and Mr. Redmond and cries of "Blackguard," "Ireland's enemies" and "Traitors."

The Parnellites raised counter shouts and began cheering for Parnell. Two fights were started near the platform and one of the disturbers was knocked senseless. This was the signal for a general row. Several men came down from the platform and tried to restore order, but in vain. Clubs and stones were plentiful in the crowd, and the members of the opposing factions did not hesitate to use them.

The meeting became a mob. Men were thrown to the ground and trampled and struck. Coats were torn from the backs of those trying to escape from the fights, and blows were levelled right and left without care as to whom they struck. Those on the outskirts pressed in toward the platform to aid their friends until all were so tightly packed that even the most peaceably inclined ones had to join in the fight in self-defence. The band, which began playing early in the disturbance to drown the disorder, was completely wrecked.

A party of anti-Parnellites attacked the members with clubs, knocked down five of them, put the rest to flight, captured all the instruments, and stomped them to pieces. When Mr. Harrington stepped down from the platform to help to pacify the combatants, he was struck in the shoulder with a stone, and received on the back a blow from a heavy stick. He hastily returned to the platform.

After the fight had lasted about 10 minutes an extra force of constables arrived and they broke through the crowd, clubbing the participants and beating the leaders into temporary submission. The wounded were then carried away and the meeting became quiet enough for the speakers to proceed.

About 25 men were severely injured in the riot. Eighteen had broken bones and several were injured internally by being trampled by the crowd. Seven are said to be in a critical condition. About 100 men were less seriously injured. Half of the persons present had their clothes torn or were scratched and bruised.

The police remained present throughout the meeting to prevent the recurrence of the disturbance.

GETTING EXCITED

Sharpening Knives for the General Election—Irish Bishops in Politics.

LONDON, June 13.—The only contentious matter still remaining in Parliament is the Irish Education bill. Mr. Goschen, in a speech early in the week, indicated an intention on the part of the Government to proceed with that measure. Mr. Sexton will ask on Monday whether the Government is prepared to accept in substance certain amendments, and if it refuses a large body of Irish members will be summoned back to Westminster on Tuesday to oppose the bill. This may lead to the withdrawal of the measure and the allocation of the money to the Irish Teachers' Fund. Mr. Balfour in his statement on Monday will not, it is expected, announce the date of the general elections, but will merely detail business to be done prior to the dissolution of Parliament.

The election campaign is now in full swing. Mr. Chamberlain has opened his Birmingham campaign in a distinctly pugnacious and confident style. Yesterday he propounded an elaborate social scheme of legislation for the new Parliament, consisting of four planks—first, the creation of permanent courts of arbitration to settle labor disputes; second, compulsion of employers to provide insurance against accidents to workmen; third, State pensioning of the aged poor. Mr. Chamberlain was careful to explain that these were only his individual views.

TORONTO GRAIN MARKETS.

Business Transacted and Prices of Grain in the Queen City.

TORONTO, June 13.—The receipts of grain on the street Saturday were light, being represented by 200 bushels of oats at 34c to to 35½c. Hay was quiet, 20 loads selling at $10 to $14.50. Straw sold at $9 to $10.50. Dressed hogs are quoted at $6.25 to $6.50.

On call board No 1 hard wheat offered to arrive at North Bay at $1.04 with 1.01½ bid. No. 2 hard offered at 98c, North Bay, with 91c. bid, and No. 3 hard was wanted at 83c, North Bay. No. 1 Northern was offered at 97c. to arrive, North Bay 94c. bid, and No. 2 Northern at 86c. with 84c. bid. No. 1 regular offered at 62c. afloat at Port Arthur without bids. No. 2 regular was wanted at 61½c., North Bay. Oats steady with sales at 33c. to 33½c. on track.

AT THE FALLS.

Opening of the Season—All About the Camp—Electric Power Signs Are Let for $50,000.

NIAGARA, Ont., June 12.—The summer season has opened auspiciously. The weather Saturday was delightful, warm but tempered with the breezes off the lake. The verdure and foliage, thanks to the copious spring rains, are remarkable even for this favored district. The outlook for all kinds of fruit, especially peaches, is of the most promising kind and growers look forward to a big crop and fair prices.

The Cibola and Chicora brought over large loads of passengers on Saturday, especially the Cibola in the afternoon.

The Queen's Royal was filled on Saturday and had a fair number of guests from Toronto and Buffalo. The lawns and grounds are in first-class shape and the rush for quarters has already set in.

C Company went into camp on Saturday, and before nightfall everything was trim and soldierlike. Col. Otter is in command, and by to-morrow they will have tents for 2500 men, who go into camp on Tuesday. A big delegation of the M.P. colonels and majors is expected on Saturday next from Ottawa. Mrs. Otter and Mrs. McDougall visited the camp on Saturday. The camp ground is fine and dry notwithstanding the rain. Major-General Herbert is expected to arrive in a couple of days and stop in camp for a week. His tent is already pitched.

Fort Niagara, the post on the American side, is now the headquarters of the 21st and has the regimental band stationed there. Two companies of the 9th regiment stationed at Sackett's Harbor are in camp at Fort Niagara for target practice.

Few people seem to be aware that the Ontario Legislature has sold the electric power rights on the Canadian side of the Falls for 100 years for $25,000 a year for 10 years and $30,000 thereafter. The owners of the monopoly are the same company who control the American side of the river. They paid in $50,000 in cash to the treasury at Toronto the other day on account of rent, and will begin the work of construction at once. They will ship their electrical power developed on the Canadian side into the States by wire.

Many Toronto families have cottages here for the summer and others are engaging them.

The Rev. Arthur Baldwin spent the Sunday here.

The DeBoucherville Government Defeats a Non-Confidence Motion.

QUEBEC, June 13.—Despite the addition of another vote to the Opposition forces in the House in the introduction of Mr. Bisson, the newly-elected member for Beauharnois, the Government majority in the House upon a vote of non-confidence upon the new crown lands legislation was 27, the vote being 38 to 11. The proposal of the Opposition in this motion was to exclude cedar from the list of merchantable timber. In the course of the debate Mr. King of Megantic said it would greatly facilitate matters here if the Ontario system of dealing with crown lands could be introduced here, namely, to give the land free to colonists, retaining all pine timber upon it as the property of the Crown.

A Government Official Drowned.

OTTAWA, June 13.—Thomas Cross, chief clerk of the Department of Railways, was drowned on Saturday night in the Rideau River a short distance from the city. On Saturday night he left his home at Sandy Hill, the fashionable suburb of Ottawa, and went out for a walk at 7 o'clock. Not returning in a reasonable time the family became alarmed and search was commenced. At 10 o'clock that night the body was found by Sergeant Cowdron, caretaker of the rifle range. The deceased was 55 years old and was a native of England, but had lived in Ottawa for nearly 20 years. He entered the Civil Service in 1866 and became chief clerk of the Railway Department in 1880. He was a most efficient public servant and highly respected. He leaves a widow and one son practising law in Algoma.

Drowned While Bathing.

AYLMER, Ont., June 13.—A very sad affair occurred yesterday at Springwater mills about five miles from here, in which Herbert McLaughlin, son of the late Dr. McLaughlin of Fingal and brother of Mrs. G.A. Bingham of this town, was drowned. The young man was bathing and when about 20 feet from shore he was seized with cramps and before assistance could be procured life was extinct.

Their Education Finished.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The Hamburg-American liner Normannia, from Hamburg to this city, arrived in port Saturday, having on board the two young daughters of the Prime Minister of the Sandwich Islands who, having completed their education in Europe, are now on their way home.

The Strikes in Spain—Military Called Out—State of Siege Proclaimed.

BARCELONA, June 13.—The city has been tranquil to-day. A general strike is feared to-morrow. Troops are held in readiness for action in the event of disorder. A state of siege was proclaimed this afternoon.

Chief En-Tee-Wah-Tah-In-Kah.

ARKANSAS CITY, Ark., June 13.—The noted Osage chief, En-Tee-Wah-Tah-In-Kah, died yesterday at Pawhuska, of Bright's disease. He was just closing his second term as principal chief of the Osage Nation. White Horn, the second chief, will second the throne to-day.

Went to Europe for Painters.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Mrs. Potter Palmer, president of the Board of Women Managers of the World's Fair, arrived in this city Saturday on the steamer Etruria. She was absent seven weeks and visited England, Austria, France and Belgium in the interest of the fair.

A Double Murder And Suicide.

FORT WORTH, Texas, June 13.—News comes from Cass County that George Whetstone tried to kill his two small children, a girl about 4 years and a boy of 18 months. He used a hatchet, and then shot himself through the heart. The children will not recover.

A $20,000 Fire.

A Pastor's Wife Remembered.

Mrs. (Rev.) D. S. Houck's Bible Class Recognize her Labours of Love.

Last night (Friday) the Methodist Parsonage was invaded by the members of Mrs. (Rev.) D. S Houck's Bible class, and after the usual preliminaries, the following address was presented:

DEAR MRS HOUCK,—The teachers, officers and members of your Bible class, Bridgenorth, feel that they cannot part with you after three years of kindly intercourse both as Christian fellow workers, and as warm personal friends without, in some way other than words, manifesting their appreciation of your true Christian qualities and of the hearty good will with which you entered into and sustained, not only in the Sabbath school but in every part of church work, and they therefore ask you to accept this cheque as a token of affection and esteem accompanied as it is with sincere prayers of the donors that God may continue to bless and spare your life to many years of usefulness to come.

Signed on behalf of the Sabbath school.
MISS A. J. GRANT,
MISS E. FOWLER.

A feeling and suitable reply was made, and the party having brought luncheon baskets, the contents were duly disposed of, and a short musical programme, interspersed with social communion, followed. Mrs. Houck at the end of a three years' residence must feel deeply gratified with this practical evidence of appreciation, which will cheer her on her entry into a new sphere of Christian activity, and encourage her to further zealous labour for the Master.

An Infant Saved.

A MONTH ago a prominent lady in Montreal almost lost her infant child by death. The mother's distress was dreadful, and she powerless to help the little one. It had become pale and emaciated from dysentery. Its stomach was weak and seemed to refuse all nourishment.

The physician in attendance advised a trial of Lactated Food. Small quantities were administered for the first two or three days, from which the infant derived strength and vitality. The Food was continued and in three week's time the child was perfectly healthy.

Lactated Food saved the little life; without it death would have resulted. This experience should be a warning to all mothers who have delicate infants. The ordinary cow's milk, and the poorly prepared artificial foods are never tolerated on the weak stomach. It requires a food in every respect like mother's milk—a food suited for weak and impaired digestion.

Infants who are fed on Lactated Food are never sick; they pass safely every ill which surrounds them, and fast increase in fat, bone and muscle. Try it, mothers.

"Kiss" rhymes to "bliss," in fact as well as verse,
And "ill" with "pill," and "worse" with "nurse;"
In fact and verse, we find "complete recovery" Rhymes best with "Golden Medical Discovery."

For driving out scrofulous and all other taints of the blood, fortifying the constitution against lung-scrofula or consumption, for strengthening the digestive organs and invigorating the entire system by sending streams of pure blood through all the veins, there is nothing equal to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the only GUARANTEED Blood, Liver and Lung remedy sold.

A House for Layers.

Hens sometimes do better to have a number of small houses suitable for laying rather than have roosting, feeding and laying accommodations combined under one roof. The illustration shows a cheaply constructed lay-house, to be built any size wished. It is made against the wall of another building with a southern aspect or shelter. This keeps it free from cutting winds and snow, also damp rains. Nothing but nesting compartments are within and the hens know what is expected of them upon entering. The entrance for the hens is at the end. In cold weather it shuts out the cold that leaving a large opening would involve. At night a board on the inside should shut up the inclosure to keep the building warm.—Farm and Home.

THE FORCE OF HABIT.

WE have read of an old lady who for many years regularly pawned her silver teapot every Monday morning and took it out again every Saturday night. She had just sufficient by paying interest to the pawn-brokers to buy several new pots, but it seems she could never get even with her creditors without sacrificing the tea-brewer at the beginning of the week. That was simply from the force of habit. The policy-holder is apt to get into the same habit when the premium on his policy is to be paid. Is there a dividend? Yes; then he must use that in payment of the premium. Many policy-holders having become used to paying full premiums in cash do so to the end, and the result is a wonderful accumulation, showing an investment rarely equalled in the history of finance. Some policy-holders will be persistent for a few years in their cash payments and then begin to use the dividends to pay the premiums. Having once begun they rarely stop the practice, and year after year they find it impossible to pay the premiums in any other way. They simply cease to save and lose the advantages which the Canada Life offers every investor in its policies.

FISHING AND FISHERMEN

An Act for the Protection of the Provincial Fisheries.

Pointers to Piscatorial Sportsmen—What to Seek and what to Avoid.

Below is the full text of the Act passed at the latest session of the Ontario Legislature:

Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, enacts as follows:

1. This Act shall apply only to fishing in waters, and to waters over or in respect of which the Legislature of this Province has authority to legislate for the purposes of this Act.

2.—(1) "Water or waters," or "Provincial water or waters" shall mean and include each of the waters of any lake, river, stream or water course wholly or partly within the Province as now over or covering any Crown lands and over or in respect of which the Legislature of this Province has authority to legislate for the purposes of this Act.

(2) "Crown lands" shall mean and include such ungranted lands of the Crown or public lands or Crown domain as are within and belong to the Province of Ontario and whether or not any waters flow over or cover the same.

(3) "Fish" shall mean and include every kind, species or variety of fish in respect of the catching or killing of which within the Province, the Legislature has authority to legislate.

(4) The word "bass" where used herein shall mean and include black bass and Oswego or large mouth bass.

3 The words "the close season" when used herein shall mean and include the time in any year during which fishing for, catching or taking in any provincial water, or killing, carrying away or buying or selling or having in possession the kind or species of fish hereinafter named, or any of them, is prohibited, or regulated by the laws or fishing regulations of Canada.

4 The word "tourist" or "summer visitor" when used in this act shall include all persons who may, during the spring, summer or autumn months be temporarily visiting, boarding or lodging in any locality at a distance of over five miles from their usual place of residence other parts of the year.

5 No tourist or summer visitor shall take or catch or kill in any provincial water or carry away a greater number than one dozen bass caught or taken in such waters upon any one day.

6 Any summer tourist who shall take or catch in such water bass of less than 10 inches in length, shall forthwith return the same to the water without unnecessary injury.

7. No person shall take or catch or kill in any Provincial waters or carry away a greater number than fifty speckled or brook trout on any one day, or more speckled or brook trout than in the aggregate weigh more than fifteen pounds, on any one day.

8. No person shall in such waters kill or retain or carry away any speckled or brook trout of less than five inches in length. But when any such trout of a length less than five inches shall be taken or caught, the same shall be forthwith returned to the water by the person taking or catching the same without unnecessary injury.

9. No person shall at any time fish for, catch or kill speckled trout or brook trout, bass, pickerel, (dore), maskinonge or muscallonge in such waters by other means than angling by hook and line in such water.

10. No person shall take, catch or kill from or in such waters lake trout, salmon, trout, whitefish, sturgeon or any other kind of fish which inhabit said waters, or attempt so to do, with any kind of net, seine, or snare, mesh, trap or weir, or night or set line, or fish in any such inland waters therewith for other kinds of fish without first having obtained a license signed by the Commissioner of Crown Lands or by one of the Game and Fish Inspectors or by a fishery overseer duly authorized to grant such license, under a penalty for the first offence of not less than $10 or more than $50, and for a second or subsequent offence of not less than $20 or more than $100. But this section shall not apply to mullet or suckers or pike while they are running.

11 No person shall catch, kill or molest fish in such waters when passing or attempting to pass through any fishway or fish-pass, or when surmounting any obstacle or leaps, kill or molest fish in the mill-heads and watercourses appurtenant thereto.

12 No person shall use dynamite or any other explosive or any poison for the purpose of destroying or taking fish in or from said waters under a penalty of $100 and two months' imprisonment in the county or district gaol for each offence.

(2) No person shall use lime or other injurious substance for the purpose of injuring, killing or taking fish in or from said waters, under a penalty of $50 and imprisonment not exceeding three months in the county or district gaol in default of payment.

13—(1) No person shall fish for, catch, take or kill in such waters any kind or species of fish during the "close season," as bylaw or regulation the same is fixed or determined for or in respect of that particular kind or species of fish, or buy, sell or have in his possession at any time after the expiration of five days from the beginning of the close season in any year any of such kind or kinds, specie or species of fish caught in such waters under a penalty of not less than $10 nor more than $20, and a further penalty of $1 for each fish so caught or taken or found in possession after the expiration of such five days, and the onus of proving that any such fish so found in possession as aforesaid during the prohibited period shall lie upon the accused.

14. (1) The Lieutenant Governor-in-Council may by regulation provide for the issue of licenses, free of charge, to frontier settlers in any of the said districts or in any new part of the Province, or to any Indians residing on any reserve, or to any band of Indians residing on a reserve, to take fish in such waters other than speckled or brook trout or black or other bass, by net or night or set line with not more than five set lines, exclusively for use and consumption by their own families, and any settler or other person to whom such license is issued who shall sell or barter fish caught under such license shall be subject to a penalty and forfeiture of his license.

(2) Provided nevertheless that nothing herein contained shall prejudicially affect any rights specially reserved to or conferred upon Indians by any treaty or regulation in that behalf made by the Government of Canada nor shall anything herein apply to or prejudicially affect the rights of Indians in any portion of the territory of the Province as to which their claims have not been surrendered or extinguished.

15. The Fish and Game Commissioners who may be hereafter appointed shall have a general oversight or supervision over the Fisheries of the Province, subject to any existing Acts of the Legislature, and to such regulations as shall from time to time be made by the Lieutenant Governor in Council. But nothing herein contained nor the appointment of such Commissioners or the assignment of duties to them shall abrogate or interfere with the powers and authority conferred upon the Lieutenant-Governor or the Lieutenant-Governor in Council or the Commissioner of Crown Lands by the Ontario Fisheries Act.

16. Subject to such regulations, such Commissioners shall examine or cause to be examined dams and all other obstructions existing in rivers and streams flowing over and upon the lands of the Crown, and prescribe the necessity of fishways and the location, form and capacity thereof, examine into and report upon the best methods of introducing and disseminating valuable species of fish into waters where they do not exist, and of protecting and increasing the production of such valuable species as are to be found in the waters of the Province, and may cause experiments to be made and spawn to be placed in suitable waters, and may re-stock streams with fish suitable for food, and may take and employ such means for the purposes aforesaid as may be required by such general regulations, and as shall be approved by the Lieutenant-Governor.

17. Such Commissioners shall also examine into the workings of the fishery laws and direct prosecutions of offences against the same, and report annually to the Lieutenant-Governor and perform any other duties which may be prescribed by law or regulations.

18. Fish artificially propagated or maintained shall be the property of the person propagating or maintaining them, and sections 5 to 10 inclusive of this Act shall not apply thereto.

19 Whoever without permission of the proprietor fishes in that portion of a pond, stream or other waters in which fish are lawfully cultivated, owned and maintained by a private owner, or leases shall render himself liable to a fine of not less than $5 and not more than $20, and to a further penalty in each case of $1 for each fish so taken.

20. The Commissioners may take or cause to be taken fish at any time or in any manner for purposes connected with fish culture or scientific observation.

21. Any violation of the provisions of sections 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 11 or 14 of this Act, or any other section to which no specific penalty is attached, shall subject the offender to a penalty of not less than $10 or more than $20, to be recovered upon summary conviction.

22. Any person may be the prosecutor or complainant in prosecutions under this Act, and it shall be the duty of every fishery overseer and fire and wood ranger, constable and peace officer to aid in the observance of the provisions of this Act and in bringing offenders to justice.

23. In default of the payment of any penalty imposed by this Act and costs by any person convicted of any offence under this Act, the offender may be committed to the common gaol of the district or county where the offence was committed for a period not exceeding three months, unless the penalty and costs and the costs and charges of the commitment and carrying the offender to prison are sooner paid, and the amount of such costs and charges of commitment and carrying the offender to prison are to be ascertained and stated in the warrant of commitment.

24. Upon the hearing of any information or complaint exhibited or made under this Act, the person giving or making the information or complaint shall be a competent witness, notwithstanding such person may be entitled to part of the pecuniary penalty on the conviction of the offender, and the defendant shall also be a competent and compellable witness.

25. All prosecutions for the punishment of any offence under this Act, for which offence the penalty does not exceed the sum of $20, and imprisonment or imprisonment at hard labor in default of payment thereof and of the costs, may take place before any fishery overseer, stipendiary or police magistrate, or one or more of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace having jurisdiction in the county or district in which the offence is committed.

26 All prosecutions for the punishment of any offender under this Act other than those in the next preceding section mentioned, may take place before any stipendiary or police magistrate, or any two or more of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace having jurisdiction in the country or district in which the offence is committed, or before any one of such justices and any fishery overseer.

27. Complaints or informations under this Act may be laid within three months from the date of the commission of the offence.

28 One half of every fine or penalty imposed by virtue of this Act shall belong to Her Majesty and may be devoted towards paying the expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of this Act, and the other half thereof when collected shall be paid over to the prosecutor or informant, together with any costs which he may have incurred and which may be collected.

29 All materials, implements and apparatus used, and all fish had or taken in contravention of this Act or any regulation made thereunder, may be seized and confiscated to Her Majesty for the use of the Province by any fishery overseer, or view or taken or removed by any other person for delivery to any magistrate or overseer, and the proceeds thereof may be applied to defraying the expenses incurred under this Act.

30 Save where otherwise provided by this Act, in so far as they are applicable, the provisions and forms of the Act entitled, An Act respecting summary convictions before Justices of the Peace shall apply to proceedings and proceedings under this Act except in proceedings on appeal and the practice and procedure upon and with respect to appeals and all proceedings thereon and thereafter shall be governed by the "Act Respecting the Procedure on Appeals to the Judge of a County Court from Summary Convictions," and no other appeal shall be had or shall lie anywise under the Act last aforesaid.

EXTENSIVE CHANGES IN

THOMAS KELLY'S

DRY GOODS ESTABLISHMENT.

POSITIVE ALTERATION SALE!

About a year ago extensive alterations and improvements in our George and Simcoe Street premises were contemplated and publicly announced in good faith, and preparations were commenced to transform our store into one of the finest business premises in Peterborough. Unfortunately, owing to difficulties which arose at the time, we were compelled to postpone the work indefinitely. Now, however, we have determined that These Improvements must go on, no matter what the Cost. We, therefore, beg to announce that during the month of July, in order to allow these important alterations to be made, we will be of the premises altogether, for about a month. To avoid the expense and trouble of removing the goods, we have decided to sell off our whole stock, and will commence at once a SWEEPING CLEARANCE SALE of everything in the store. Nothing will be reserved during the next two months. The stock consists of regular Staple Goods—all new and fashionable—bought for this season's trade. THE SPLENDID VALUES which will be given will afford the greatest inducements to Dry Goods Buyers which have been offered for many years to the people of Peterborough.

To secure a complete clearance we are prepared to make great sacrifices in every department. PRICES WILL BE A SECONDARY MATTER! THE GOODS MUST GO! THERE WILL BE BARGAINS FOR EVERYBODY!

Come and buy now, if you want to reap the great benefit of the surrender of profits which must be made during this Positive Alteration Sale.

Hurt in Lacrosse.

Mr. Fred Rutherford, son of Mr. Wm. Rutherford, South Monaghan, who was taken in Saturday's lacrosse match, was taken to his home yesterday afternoon by his father. Young Rutherford is only fifteen years of age and is a student at the Norwood High School. While running down the field in the early part of the game, he fell forward and his face struck with great force against the knee of one of the Peterborough players who was running in an opposite direction at full speed. Rutherford retired, but his injuries which were at first thought to be slight, turned out to be serious and painful. He was taken to the surgery of Dr. Brennen where his injuries were dressed. The bones of the face on the left side were broken. The nose and eye were black and blue, caused by the force of the fall. Rutherford's injuries are very painful, but he is getting along favorably now.

A Court House Park Need.

Court House Park is a little paradise, but it is not perfect—all that is needed is a drinking fountain. The park is for the people, and the wants of the people should be met. On fine nights thousands of people throng the park, and among them are tired mothers with their children. And the children demand drinks, the pleasure of the evening is destroyed unless these demands are acceded to, and as a consequence the private houses in the vicinity of the park are invaded, and though such requests are not refused, it is easy to see that great inconvenience is caused. Again, pic-nic parties visiting the park are compelled to adopt the same means for quenching their thirst. Something should be done. The water is laid in the park, and it would cost very little to place an inexpensive but effective drinking fountain, or more than one, at some convenient part of the park in the vicinity of the band stand. The public who pay for these would not object to so wise an expenditure of their funds. A few more cents in the park would not be amiss.

First Announcement.

Deare's Great Dominion Day Picnic.

This great annual event will take place at Deare on Thursday, June 16th. A splendid programme of enjoyment has been prepared and a gala day will be enjoyed by all who attend. Among the attractions are a splendid dancing platform and orchestra. During the whole day the most beautiful of Eyedyks will be on exhibition. Remember that busses will leave the Grand Central hotel, Peterborough, for the picnic grounds at different times during the day. Don't forget the date—Thursday, June 16th—and don't forget that the 16th will be a great day for Deare and all who attend her annual picnic.

Saturday's Market Menu.

The market Saturday morning was fairly well attended. Grain market, brisk. Oats have taken a rise to 32 cents—about twenty loads offered. One load of peas sold for 64c. Buckwheat, little offered, 46c. Spring wheat 80 to 82c. (straight) fall 85c. (straight) Hay, half dozen loads $10 to $11 per ton. Potatoes are in abundance, realizing, notwithstanding the enormous quantities offered, 40 to 45 cts. per bag, while on other markets they cannot be given away at 25 and 30 cts. per bag. Butter and eggs were offered in superabundance, butter 15 16. 17 and 18c. per pound; eggs 9 and 10c. per doz No changes in the prices of meats, vegetables or anything else offered.

Somebody Suffers.

Yes, somebody suffers when these great take-em-away-for-nothing sales are announced, but it isn't the promoters, it is the confiding public who are eventually the sufferers. The goods look all right, but wear them, and how soon you will be surprised when they fall to pieces. Our reputation for selling reliable, trusty, serviceable shoes is quite sufficient to draw people to our store. It wouldn't do for a house of established reputation to indulge in sensational half-off, below cost, give-away sales. There's a moral to all this. Buy the best at Kidd's the bootmen, and pay a reasonable price, and no more, and in the long run you will come off the winner. Kidd not only claims, but does sell the best of summer foot wear at the lowest living profit, at 376 George street.

An Indian Meets With an Accident.

An Indian named Tobico, who hails from Rama, a small Indian village near Orillia, attempted to run from Hiawatha to Peterborough, a distance of 13 miles, on Friday last. Tobico is a swifter on foot, and he was backed up by some friends, who laid a wager of $50 that he could run the distance between Hiawatha and Peterborough in an hour and three-quarters, and he undertook to do the job within the time mentioned. About five o'clock on Friday morning he took the road, and started for Peterborough to do the 13 miles within the specified time. Mr. Fred Tully, of Otonabee, saw him going by his place, six miles from town, at full gallop at six o'clock in the morning. It appears that the poor fellow reached Downer's Corners in safety but that in turning the corner he stumbled and fell against a stone, cutting a deep and ugly gash in his forehead, so stunning him that he was unable to proceed further on his way, and was compelled to give up his run.

Death of Mrs. Lewis Lovekin.

The many friends of the family will greatly regret to learn of the death to-day of Mrs. Lewis Lovekin, which took place at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Robert Graham, 547 Water street. She has been confined to the house with illness about three months. Funeral on Tuesday, June 14th, at 4 p.m.

Safe Home from the Fatherland.

On Saturday evening Mr. Wm. and Miss Loch returned home from their two months visit to Germany. They enjoyed a very pleasant tour in Germany, visiting Leipsig, Pastenwalde, his native place; Goerlitz, where was seen the first cannon captured in the Franco-Prussian War, Dresden, Bingen on the Rhine and other chief cities of interest. The voyage out was pleasant—but the return voyage was exceedingly rough—both the steamer and the passengers being on the Spree—the name of the steamer. Mr. Loch says he is heartily glad to get home—he is more Canadian than German. After his extensive travels he is emphatic in saying that there is no better place than Canada to live in. Peterborough gladly welcomes home so patriotic a Canadian and a citizen, who reflects, in his personal and business stability abroad, the thrift, enterprise and solidity of this good town.

Foresters Off to Stratford.

The following Foresters will leave for Stratford to attend the High Court of Foresters in session in that city during this week: Bros. Henderson Meeklis, D.D.C.R., representing Courts Peterborough and Zion, F. J. Jameson, representing Courts Peterborough and Bellrichere; and Robt. Robertson, Joseph Motheral, A McNeil, D. C. R., of Court Peterborough; Robert Milligan, of Court Little John, R. Galan, of Court Lakefield; R. O. Denis, of Courts Lakefield and Springville; A. Clegg, of Court Langton; R. Telford, of Court Bridgenorth; J. J. Cox, of Court Warsaw; Bro. Courtney, of Court Princess. Some of the delegates left this morning, others leave to night and to-morrow. They will return on Friday.

A Saturday Night Robbery.

A robbery took place on Saturday night and Mr. Peter Moffatt, hackman, was the victim. Mr. Moffatt sleeps in a room off the driving shed of the Oriental and on Sunday morning when he arose he found his bedroom window had been raised and was supported by a stick of wood. Investigation found that forty-two dollars in cash had been extracted from his pants pocket and that a bunch of keys had also been removed from his pants and made to unlock a trunk belonging to his roommate. The thieves also took $10 from the pocket of a suit of clothes in the trunk, thus making a haul of $52 in all—not bad for one night's work. Mr. Moffatt heard no noise during the night, and did not know that anything was wrong until he found his bedroom window open in the morning. There is no clue to the robbery.

Miss Mattie A. Cobb
of Providence, R. I.

Undoubtedly many diseases may be prevented if the blood is kept pure and the general health-tone sustained by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. When this is done, the germs of

La Grippe, Diphtheria

Pneumonia, Scarlet and Typhoid Fevers, Malaria, etc., cannot lodge in the system. After all such prostrating diseases Hood's Sarsaparilla has been found of inestimable value in restoring desired health and vigor, and purifying the tainted blood.

For example, read the following from Miss Mattie A. Cobb of Providence, R. I., and her mother. Miss Cobb is a young lady of 18, a and is in the front rank in her studies in the High School. Her father is a well-known police officer:

"Messrs. C. I. Hood & Co.:

"I write to tell how much good Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. Sometime ago I had diphtheria and was sick for a year afterward, being

Weak, Blind and Helpless

I used one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and it made me real strong." Mattie A. Cobb, South Chester Avenue, Providence, R. I.

"As my daughter wanted to write how well she liked Hood's Sarsaparilla, I thought I would say a few words. I think it is the ever brought before the people. Some of my friends say 'go away with your medicine.' I said the same once, but since my daughter has taken

Greatest Blood Purifier

Hood's Sarsaparilla

My opinion has changed considerably." Mrs. Geo. N. Cobb, Providence, R. I.

Hood's Pills do not weaken the system like other cathartics, but actually tone up and give strength to the patient.

Willow and Wicket.

Port Hope Trinity College Junior Team Defeat Peterborough Juniors.

The junior team of the Port Hope Trinity College School played a match with the junior cricket team of Peterborough on the P.A.A.A. grounds on Saturday. Wickets were pitched at nine o'clock. Peterborough winning the toss sent Port Hope to bat. They ran up a fair score in good style. The Trinity lads also did good work in the field. The willow work of Lascombe and Seagram was good, the former scoring 16 runs. The latter also bowled well, taking 6 wickets at the cost of 17 runs. For Peterborough the batting of Guy Rogers and G Boucher was good, each reaching the first double figure peg. The trundling of Goldsmith and Stocker was fairly effective, the latter also holding a hot catch in good form. The result was a win for the visitors. The time limit having been placed at three o'clock, the home boys had a score of thirteen to balance with four men to bat. Consequently the Trinity lads were on the first innings. Following is the full score:

Peterborough Victorious.

The Junior Lacrosse Club Wipe out the Junior Norwood Lacrosse Team by 2 Goals to 1 on Saturday Afternoon.

The first lacrosse match of the season played in Peterborough took place on the P.A.A.A. grounds on Saturday afternoon between the Peterborough Junior Lacrosse Club and the Norwood Junior Lacrosse Club. The struggle was witnessed by a large number of spectators, but the fortunes of war were too decidedly on the side of the Peterboroughs to make the contest very keen or exciting. At three o'clock the following players lined up before referee Jas. McCabe for battle:

Peterborough.		Norwood.
F Dobbin	goal	A Fraser
J Main	point	D Fraser
H Hughes	cover point	A Hendren
W Belknap	1st defence	J Calder
G Heap	2nd "	L McGregor
W Borland	3rd "	F Covert
W Galley	centre	F Hendren
E Whitehair	3rd home	W Cope
R Glover	2nd "	A Anderson
F Lang	1st "	W Eaton
Bruce Wasson	outside home	F Rutherford
G Lipsett	inside home	A Graham
E Hickey	field captain	T Wigmore
J McCabe		Referee

The first game was the longest game played, lasting forty minutes. The Peterborough's here showed their good team play. In the latter part of the game the ball was almost all the time at Norwood's goal. After some good passing G. Lipsett got the ball and making a fine drop on goal put it through.

The second game was also exciting, this time the ball being around one goal as much as another. It was in this game that Rutherford who was playing home for Norwood fell and hurt his cheek bone having to leave the field. Borland who was on the defence for Peterborough was changed to the home field and after some good playing put the ball through. Time 15 minutes.

The third game both sides seemed to be getting tired and play was somewhat slow. The Norwood's were determined to get a game but it seemed almost impossible to get the ball through. After some good drops around the Norwood goal Eddie Glover put the ball between the flags. Time 5 minutes.

Fourth game there was some 20 minutes to play but neither side scored until within about 30 seconds of closing when Hendren of Norwood threw the ball right into home team's goal and Graham knocked it through. This was Norwood's first and only game.

Norwood were one man short, he being sick and F. Lang had to lay off to make the sides equal. E Wasson of the Peterborough's went off when Rutherford got hurt.

NOTES

The home team are trying to arrange a match with some outside team to be played after six o'clock in the evening.

The Peterborough boys all played well. For Norwood, Hendren and A. Fraser played in good style.

The juniors are trying to arrange matches in the near future with Hastings and Orono.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The Saturday night meeting was well attended and much interest was manifested in the topic "A man who knew one thing well." The singing led by orchestra was inspiring and the after meeting was a time of refreshing.

The Bible study and consecration service on Sabbath morning was conducted by Mr. Thos. Dodds, and many practical lessons was learnt by the large number present from God's word.

Mr. James Hanna and Brigadier Philpot gave earnest and impressive gospel addresses at the open air service in Central Park; the attention given by the large crowd present showed the interest taken in the helpful talks.

Brigadier Philpot addressed the gospel and song service last evening; the hall was well filled and the holy spirit used our brother in reaching the hearts of those present. His address was practical, earnest and helpful.

Bible study for young men on Thursday evening led by Mr. Isaac Richardson.

Church Chimes.

Mrs. Brodigan and Miss Montgomery, Messrs. Crane and Nelson, sang Dudley Buck's "Rock of Ages" in St. Paul's church last evening with fine effect, Mrs. Brodigan taking the sole part in good voice.

A reception entertainment entitled "Pictures in the Air" is to be produced in the school room of the Charlotte street Methodist church on Tuesday night.

Mr. E Vicker Stevenson, B.A., of Trinity College, Toronto, conducted the services yesterday in St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, and in St Marks, Otonabee. Rev. Prof. Symonds, M.A., will be present next Sunday and will spend a few days with his parishioners.

Rev. Robert Taylor, of Frankford, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. A. McWilliams, in Hamilton and South Mountain, preached both morning and evening in St. Andrew's church yesterday.

The Sunday school of the Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday decided to hold their annual excursion to Chemong Park early in July.

Rev. Richard Bamforth yesterday conducted the services in the George street Methodist church. Mr. Bamforth is a young man of good ability, is a fine speaker and a clever reasoner. He was recently ordained at the Port Hope conference.

Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Connor conducted confirmation services in Cobourg yesterday.

Rev. E. F. Torrance, M.A., pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, and Rev. Geo. Edwards, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist church, exchanged pulpits at yesterday morning's services.

Rev. J. H. Locke is in Toronto, attending the session of the Toronto conference.

Personal.

Mrs. R. P. Nott, Port Perry, is visiting her son Mr. E. A. Nott, for a few days.

Mr. Chas. Tucker, of Wm. Johnston & Co., Montreal, spent Sunday in town on a visit to his parents.

Mr. Charles A. Ostrom, who recently left for Chicago, returned home last evening to the bedside of his father who is very ill.

Mr. Geo. M. Ostrom, of Belleville is in town on a visit to his brother, Mr. E. K. Ostrom, Charlotte street, who is dangerously ill.

Mr. R. A. Hamilton, of Peterborough, representing the Sun Life Assurance Company, the Lindsay Warder says, spent Wednesday in town. We are pleased to see our old friend "on deck" again after a severe and protracted illness.

The Lindsay Post has the following personal paragraphs:—Mrs. J. F. Crowley, of Peterborough, is at present visiting friends in town... Mr. A. V. R. Young, J. P., of Peterborough, was in town Tuesday on business connected with the Standard Life Assurance Co.

Mr. George A. Crowe, brother of Mr. W. H. Crowe, and a prominent member of the 57 h Battalion band, returned to Peterborough on Saturday from Toronto, where he had the degree of Phm. B. conferred upon him at the annual convocation of Toronto University on Friday last. Mr. Crowe has for the past nine months been attending the Ontario College of Pharmacy, and was one out of the small number of students from a graduating class of 130 who succeeded in passing his final examinations successfully. Mr. Crowe had made marked progress in his studies, standing well to the front in all his classes, and also successfully passing the examination in analytical chemistry. Mr. Crowe was a clerk in Ormond & Walsh's drug store for three years, and his many friends are glad to learn of his success. He is now enjoying a few well-earned holidays.

TALKS FOR THE FARMER.

PROF. ROBERTSON ON ECONOMY IN FEEDING CATTLE.

He Shows the Advantage of Ensilage and Gives Some Practical Hints—What Farmers Ought to Do—Why Manure Should Not be Exposed.

At the recent meeting of the Ensilage and Economic Stock Feeders' Association of Central Canada, held at Montreal, Prof. Robertson, of the Experimental Farm, expressed pleasure that the commercial metropolis of the Dominion had at length taken measures to form an association to benefit the farmers. He referred to some of the discouragements which farmers met with in following their calling, and said they needed encouragement from the commercial and manufacturing classes, as the prosperity of the whole country was in a great measure dependent upon the prosperity of the farmers. His remarks, he said, would take the form of an object lesson, showing by means of charts the best system to follow with a view to the economical feeding of cattle, a subject not at all well understood or practised by most farmers. The chief end sought by farmers was to make money, and this was to be done in three ways: First, by raising and selling good products; secondly, by maintaining and increasing the fertility of the soil; and lastly, by providing remunerative work on the farm during the whole twelve months in the year. Professor Robertson exhibited a large chart, showing by the length and the color of the lines the amount of each of the three chief ingredients of fertility in the soil—nitrogen, phosphoric acid, and potash. A farmer who sold off his farm two and a half tons of hay removed as large a quantity of these valuable fertilizers as would be the case if he sold two tons of beef, but the beef would realize nearly thirty times as much money as the hay, and butter was many times more profitable in the way of retaining the fertility in the soil than beef. He next exhibited and explained a chart showing the composition of various cattle foods and the percentage of water, albuminoid, fat, and ash contained in them, showing the great advantage of selling cattle and hogs when fat instead of when they are in the condition of stockers and store hogs. The next chart showed the amount of nitrogenous, carboniferous, and fatty food necessary in the daily ration of the animals per 1,000 pounds live weight. He here showed the great superiority of corn ensilage as a cheap food for fattening steers, as the cost was less than two-thirds the amount when the food was composed entirely of hay, roots, and grain. The next chart showed the proportion of digestible, protein carbo-hydrates, and fat in the various green foods, and here again the corn ensilage came out far ahead of all others in the measure of digestibility as well as its lower cost. He showed how greatly the farmers lost by cutting their green corn too early. There were in an acre of green corn only 1,619 pounds of dry matter at the tasseling time, which afterwards increased to 7,202 pounds when the corn was glazed, and it required no more labor and very little more of the fertility of the soil to produce the 7,202 pounds than the 1,619 pounds. This showed that cutting corn in the tasseling state was a rather expensive way of fattening cows.

What Farmers Ought to Do.

The remedy for the farmer seems to be to reduce the cost of production as much as possible, by striving to produce the greatest amount with the least labor, and to carefully watch the demands of the market for such products as it is not oversupplied with, and learn how to produce them of the best quality at the least cost. With this, let him abandon the trying to grow such crops as are not adapted to his soil, or as he does not understand the management of, and thus avoid helping to fill the market with the inferior products which must be sold at unremunerative prices. Let him diversify his crops more by striving to produce as much as possible of that which he will need for home consumption, and if a favorable season gives a surplus to sell, look upon that as a profit, no matter how small the price at which he sells. That which he grows himself and uses in his own family will be just as profitable at a low price as if it could have been sold for twice as much.—Colman's Rural World.

Manure Should Not Be Exposed.

Manure of all kinds does better service when not exposed. It should be properly sheltered until used. For an experiment, two acres were manured with dressing from a barn-yard which had been exposed to the weather, and another two acres alongside with dressing which had been sheltered from the weather. The same quantity of manure was applied to each piece of land and the whole planted in potatoes. The yield on the part dressed with sheltered manure was nearly twice as large as that on the part dressed with the manure which had been exposed in the yard. This difference did not cease with the crops the first year. The following year the whole was sown to wheat, and the land which had been dressed with sheltered manure produced a much larger yield than the other part.—Farm and Home.

Neglect of the Orchard.

Nothing is starved and abused like the apple tree. Forgotten till fruiting time, the land where it stands is stripped of two crops of hay and then pastured. If the fruit is not abundant and fair the owner denounces "the whole orchard business," (just as if they had paid it some attention), and determines to neglect it more than ever. He forgets to reason that anything else so neglected would not make half the returns he gets from the orchard. In the interests of common sense, if one cannot devote time in summer for feeding and cultivating this most regal fruit, let him at least set the men to covering the ground with manure before the busy season begins.—Farm Journal.

Poultry Briefs.

Properly fed a duck at nine or ten weeks old should weigh four pounds, a chicken two pounds.

The early chicken is the largest and strongest, and will never be overtaken by the ones that are hatched out late; push the early hatching.

A Possible Snag.

A prominent London journal makes the averment, and backs it up, that the greatest danger to woman's independence comes, and will come with increasing force, from a source which many thought would give it aid, the new trade unionism. Before the Labor Commission recently the general secretary of an important union wanted to "prohibit" women from living on canal boats because, as he explained, in his opinion, "men were competent to decide such a matter for women." It has been the same in a number of cases where the unions wanted to prohibit women from following certain employments, although the women wanted to go on. The real fact seemed to be that the unionists are afraid of being underbid in the labor market.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

By constipation is meant irregular action of the bowels, often called costiveness, and commonly caused by dyspepsia, neglect exercise in eating or drinking, etc. It is a serious complaint and not to be neglected under any circumstances, as it leads to impure blood, headache, debility, fever, etc. A uniformly successful remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters, which, if faithfully tried, never fails to effect a prompt and lasting cure even in the worst cases. The following extract from a letter from Mr. Jas. M. Carson, Beaff, will speak for itself:—I have been troubled with constipation and general debility and was induced to use your B.B.B. through seeing your advertisement. I now take great pleasure in recommending it to all my friends, as it completely cured me." dw

Mr. Lorenzo F. Sleeper is very well known to the citizens of Appleton, Me., and neighborhood. He says: "Eight years ago I was taken "sick, and suffered as no one but a "dyspeptic can. I then began tak- "ing August Flower. At that time "I was a great sufferer. Every- "thing I ate distressed me so that I "had to throw it up. Then in a "few moments that horrid distress "would come on and I would have "to eat and suffer "again. I took a "little of your med- "icine, and felt much "better, and after "taking a little more "August Flower my "Dyspepsia disap- "peared, and since that time I "have never had the first sign of it. THE WORLD'S BEST.

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT OF ELECTRICITY not merely a tremulous current and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASES, BRAIN DISEASES, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, NERVOUS PROSTRATION, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DISORDERS and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you want to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM but if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

CONSIDERING THE CRIMINAL LAW

There Were Only a Few Members Present—Good Progress Was Made.

OTTAWA, June 11.—Yesterday was the dullest, dreamiest and most uninteresting day of the session, although it has been far from an unprofitable one in the way of business, for the House has been in committee of the whole on the Criminal Code the whole of the afternoon and evening, and good progress has been made. Still it has been dull work. At no time have more than 35 members been in the House and several times the number has dropped below 20.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau to-day received a telegram stating that Mr. Gauthier, the ex-Liberal M.P. for L'Assomption, who was unseated for bribery and who was re-nominated for the by-election now pending, has retired leaving the fight to the two Conservative candidates Messrs. Jeannote and Rocher. This makes another Conservative gain.

The House adjourned at 10.50, after having devoted nearly six hours to the criminal code.

Sir John Thompson and Mr. Quimet on the Government side and Messrs. Davies, Mills and Flint on the Opposition side, had a business-like discussion in a conversational tone during the whole sitting over the different clauses and sections which came up for consideration. They commenced with section 401 and ended with section 611. The bill will be taken up on Monday afternoon, and the Redistribution Bill will be proceeded with in the evening.

To-morrow's Canada Gazette will contain notice from the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery that he has received the finally revised voters' lists for Ottawa county.

The superintendent of insurance gives notice the Sun Insurance office has received a license to transact fire insurance in Canada and that H. M. Blackburn of Toronto is the chief agent.

Highbinders Offer $500 a Head for Slaying Christian Chinamen.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—The Chinese Highbinders have offered a reward of $500 to any Highbinder who will kill Christian Chinamen, and they have also sent warning letters to missionaries in the city declaring that if they continue to rescue female slaves from Chinese brothels their lives will pay the penalty. Such a letter has been received by Miss Margaret Culbertson, Superintendent of the Presbyterian Mission-Home, and by several other people active in this work. The letter also demands that Miss Culbertson release 40 women and girls now in the Home. Copies of the same warning letter were sent to Commercial Editor Worley of The Chronicle and his sister, who have been engaged in Chinese mission work for years.

A HANDY SEWING TABLE.

The Improvements a Wide-Awake Woman Introduced Into Hers.

There is nothing strikingly new or original in the idea of an hourglass sewing table, yet the improvements I mean to introduce in the construction of mine, may be of service to some other busy housemother. As usually made, they somehow convey the impression that they are in imminent danger of breaking in two, in the middle, so for added strength, closer imitation of the original article, and ease of construction by feminine hands, I shall first make two circular pieces of one-half or three-eighths-inch pine board, seventeen or eighteen inches in diameter, joined together by a broomstick, or similar piece of wood two feet long, with grooves cut half an inch each side of the middle and at the same distance from each end. I then shall upholster it with some soft material, in quiet colors. This will require about thirty inches in length, by five and a half or six feet wide, besides allowing for twelve ten-inch squares of the same. These squares are to be folded corner-wise, sewed along both straight sides, having an opening cut along the bias edge, sufficient to allow easy insertion of a person's hand, and these pockets are to be inserted into the larger piece, at regular distances, six in the upper edge of the piece, and six in the lower, beginning at the middle. Run a strong gathering thread in each edge, and in the middle of the large piece, draw the middle gathers close around the middle of the standard of the little table; then with heavy [illegible] the top corner of each of the lower set of pockets, and tie securely [illegible] the grooves below the middle, and again tie the opposite corners into the groove at the bottom of the standard. Reverse the operation for the upper set of pockets, draw the edge gathers, close over top and bottom of table, and the upholstering is finished. Now secure three sticks (turned ones are nicer, but plain broomsticks will do), cut them just the length of the part upholstered. Two more circular pieces are of half-inch material, twenty inches in diameter, (or more may be necessary.), Decorate these discs and sticks to suit your fancy, black or white and gold are pretty. When finished and dry, fasten one piece on the top, and the other on the bottom of the hourglass part, being careful to cross the grain of the two pieces to prevent spliting. Small wire nails will do to hold the bottom in place, but brass-headed ones are better for the top, which may also be ornamented with geometric designs worked out with the same. Fasten the three sticks at equal distances apart, to help support the table top; a single nail driven into the end through top and bottom will make all secure. Be sure that they come between two pockets instead of in front of one. Insert three small casters in the bottom of the little table; then it can be easily moved whenever desired, and will always stand steady, which it might not do if four were used. The upper set of pockets being point down do not hold much individually, but will be found useful for a variety of small sewing necessities. The lower ones being base downwards will contain quite a quantity collectively, and be found very serviceable in keeping together, unmixed and conveniently concealed, many of the sewing necessities.—Mrs. L. D. Elder, in American Agriculturist.

NEWS OF THE OLD WORLD

WHAT IS TRANSPIRING OVER THE SEA.

Labor Troubles In Spain—Military Called Out—More About the Fallen Women Passenger—The Emperor and Bismarck Steamship Lost.

LONDON, June 13.—The Bedouins inhabiting the El Hejaz district, which lies along the Red Sea in Arabia, are in revolt against Turkish authority. The district includes the sacred cities of Mecca and Medina. The insurgents threaten to attack Jeddah, one of the principal cities of Arabia. It is feared that if the attack is made the European quarter will be looted.

Who Wants to Climb the Pole?

LONDON, June 13.—An Athenian professor of mathematics named Damaskin has invented an ice locomotive which he expects will carry him to the North Pole. He has given an order for the construction of a large locomotive after his pattern and is now calling for volunteers to accompany him to the Arctic Ocean. The locomotive is to have a unique arrangement, by which it will lay and take up the rails as it runs. Short spikes on the under side of the rails will make the latter temporarily fast in the ice. The locomotive will be operated by steam and at the same time will supply heat to keep the travelers from suffering from cold. The cab is to carry provisions for the exploring party. The locomotive and cab will be conveyed in parts to Spitzbergen, Prof. Damaskin says, will there be put together, and will then be run for the North Pole at the rate of 30 miles an hour. As Spitzbergen is about 600 miles from the North Pole, Prof. Damaskin expects to reach his destination in 20 hours. He allows eight hours for his first observations and 20 hours for returning, so that the whole trip, Spitzbergen and return, will be made in just two days. Prof. Damaskin hopes to be ready to start on his journey late in September or early in October.

THE SHIPS COLLIDED.

The Ariel of Hull Sunk in the English Channel—Crew Rescued.

LONDON, June 13.—The steamship Ariel of Hull foundered yesterday in the English Channel after a collision with the steamship Lancashire. The Lancashire struck the Ariel with such force as nearly to cut it in two, but the crew were fortunately rescued before the Ariel went down and have been landed at Weymouth.

Reprimanded by the Czar.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 13.—It is asserted on apparently good authority that the Czar has reprimanded the Grand Duke Constantine for visiting President Carnot without permission from the Czar. While princes of the imperial family have a right to do as they please when abroad in giving and receiving unofficial courtesies it is the invariable rule to ask the consent of the Czar before taking part in any official function. It would not follow, however, that because the Czar reprimanded Constantine, he therefore did not desire that Prince to represent Russia at the Nancy fete. The autocrat is very jealous of his rights as the head of the house of Romanoff and the reprimand may have been simply because an important form was not observed by the Grand Duke.

The Emperor and Bismarck.

BERLIN, June 13.—The papers are still occupied in discussing the prospects of a reconciliation between Emperor William and Prince Bismarck. A rumor has been in circulation to the effect that Prince Bismarck would be made president of the State Council, but there is little likelihood that the ex-chancellor, even should a reconciliation be effected, would accept such an unimportant post as the presidency of the State Council, which he himself created in order to appoint Crown Prince Frederick thereto and thus remove the Crown Prince from any influence in active politics.

TO TALK ABOUT SILVER.

Austria and Hungary Will Send Delegates and Financiers.

FRANKFORT, June 13.—Advices from Vienna have been received here to the effect that the Austro-Hungarian Government propose to accept the invitation of the United States to unite with other Governments in the silver conference, and that it will send a delegate unimpowered to give binding promises, to be accompanied by a financier of both Austria and Hungary.

Hooted the President.

PARIS, June 13.—As President Carnot was leaving Longchamps Saturday between double lines of troops three well-dressed men hooted at him, shouting "wooden-head" and giving utterance to other abuse. They spoke with a foreign accent. Before they could be arrested the crowd nearly lynched them.

A Town Flame-Swept.

ROCKPORT, Me., June 13.—The whole business portion of this city was burned Saturday. The fire started at noon and raged with such quickness that it was impossible to check it. It stopped only when it had consumed everything in its path. Sixteen business buildings were destroyed. The loss is $75,000.

Fatal Stabbing.

YARDLEY, Pa., June 13.—Charles McCarthy was stabbed and fatally injured last night by Isaac Robinson, a young colored man. Robinson claims he acted in self-defence.

CROPS IN THE STATES.

Grain Generally in Fair Condition—An Encouraging Statement.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The acreage of winter wheat, based on returns to the Department of Agriculture, is 99.9 per cent. of the actual area of last year. There is a small increase in several of the Southern States and an enlargement in Nebraska of 21 per cent. in winter wheat. The percentage of spring wheat area is 100.3. The percentage of Iowa is 98, Minnesota 102, North Dakota 95, South Dakota 118, Nebraska 107. The aggregate is almost exactly 100, or nearly the same as last year.

Condition of winter wheat has slightly advanced the percentage being 88.3. In the Middle States a slight advance is noted, and generally in the Southern States. In the Central West a strong advance is seen in Ohio and in Kansas, with increase by two points in Michigan and Indiana, the percentage of principal states being: Ohio 84, Michigan 86, Indiana 87, Illinois 86, Missouri 75, Kansas 87. Condition is high on the Pacific Coast, 97 in Washington, and 98 in Oregon and California.

The condition of spring wheat is 92.3. Minnesota 90, Iowa 91, Nebraska 93, South Dakota 95, North Dakota 92. It runs between 90 to 100 in the mountain region, 96 in Washington and 97 in Oregon.

The area of rye is 89.2 per cent. of last year's breadth, and condition averages 91, an advance of a little more than two points.

An increase of 2.3 per cent. in the breadth of barley is reported. Its condition is 92.1; New York, 93; Ohio, 82; Michigan, 84; Indiana, 88; Illinois, 91; Wisconsin, 93; Minnesota, 92; Iowa, 90; Nebraska, 84; California, 92.

The acreage of oats is 99.1 per cent. of last year's breadth. General condition, 88.5.

The clover area is nearly the same as in June of last year, and condition is 94.9.

President of the Farmers' Alliance Dead.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Col. L. L. Polk, President of the Farmers' Alliance, has died at Garfield Hospital. Col. Polk was a relative of President Polk. He was a native of North Carolina, where he was born about 55 years ago. His education was received in the common schools. During the war he served in the Confederate Army and resigned to go to the Legislature, to which body he had been elected. Later for several years he filled the office of Commissioner of Agriculture for North Carolina, and later still he began the publication of The Progressive Farmer, which he managed a long time. At the time of his death he was serving his third term as president of the body to which he has given so much of his time and attention. The death of Col. Polk is a severe loss to the Farmers' Alliance.

Laborers From Japan.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Fifty-three Japanese laborers were deported at San Francisco during the month of June.

TERRIFIC BATTLE.

Matto Grosso Rebels Win a Seven Days' Battle at the State Capital.

VALPARAISO, June 13.—Advices received from the rebellious State of Matto Grosso, Brazil, announce terrific fighting in and around the capital, Cuyaba, and the utter defeat of the government soldiers sent from Rio Janeiro some time ago by land and sea to quell the uprising.

The combat is said to have begun on May 7 and lasted until May 13, when the Government troops fled in the utmost disorder. They are reported to have left 1000 men killed upon the battle field and even a large number of wounded.

All the chief officers of the Government forces were killed. Cuyaba was then entered by the victorious rebels, who sacked it and assassinated all the Government officials. The Revolutionists say they have no desire to secede from the Republic, but that they want a good governor and officials, chosen by the residents of the state and not arbitrarily imposed upon them by the authorities at Rio Janeiro.

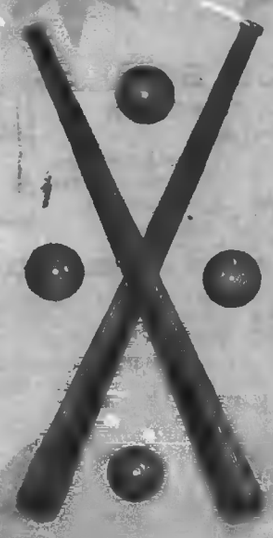
IT'S THE WEAR THAT TELLS!



Reader, may we ask you a question? Did you ever purchase a suit of clothes that looked exceedingly well, but which when it came to be worn proved to be as mean shoddy as could be scared up? Well, there is plenty of just such clothing in the market to-day. The place where you can be sure to find no such stuff is at GRAFTON & CO.'S, 393 George Street, Peterborough. Fine foreign fabrics at remarkably low prices is what you will find there. There you will be certain to obtain something that will not only be satisfactory in price but will also give satisfactory service. Every garment we sell is made up in our own factory in Dundas, of cloths directly imported by us, or from Canadian Tweeds. Before leaving our factory, every garment is closely examined and its actual cost computed. It is then marked at the lowest possible price, and as we are direct importers as well as manufacturers and retailers we can sell fine goods at first cost or from twenty to thirty per cent. cheaper than any other merchant. Our $9 Brighton Overcoat and our $7.50 London Sack Suits are but two of the many bargains we are now offering.

THE LEAFY MONTH OF JUNE.

Sunshades and Parasols combined with Summer Silks and Blouses, are the pleasant reminders for this month and constitute the true medium for keeping cool under a June sun. These can be found in great abundance and variety at the Golden Lion, and the figures we have marked them at will give them a ready sale.

Gloves, too, and Hosiery; well, no lady cares to go shabby in these articles of dress. There is no part of a lady's outfit which she can less afford to neglect. How well this store knows from long experience what's required in both these lines, need not be dwelt on. What you want is sure to be found in our extensive stock.

Carpets are yet an item both interesting and economic. The softening in of really warm weather affords an opportunity to complete changes in household arrangements. We have to thank the many customers who have already made their selections, and beg leave to say, notwithstanding the run on our stock, that we are still in a position to do the leading carpet trade.

In Curtains, we keep pace with the times in new designs. If you buy from us you will get the pick of the best markets.

Umbrellas re-covered while you wait.

The Governor-General has written the directors of the Provincial Exhibition stating that he will be unable to come here next month to open the exhibition. There is an element of uncertainty in Lord Stanley's reply, however, and the directors will still further urge their request.

The Roman Catholic ecclesiastics from the Pacific Coast are delighted with the C.P.R. route. Its magnificent scenery, and its resorts. Banff pleased them immensely.

Phippen and Scott of Belleville, Ont., have arrived here to establish an extensive soap manufactory.

Three hundred and fifty immigrants from eastern Canada settled in Manitoba during last week.

The Dominion Government official who was sent here in connection with the Manitoba fish hatchery has decided on Selkirk as the location. It will be the third largest fish hatchery in the world, having a capacity for 100,000,000 white fish and 10,000,000 salmon or speckled trout. The work is to be commenced immediately.

A Winnipeg man had a miraculously narrow escape in the Rocky Mountains recently. Thomas Parsons was working with three other men when a rock slide came down killing three near him, but leaving him unhurt.

O. Hallock of Washington arrived in the city yesterday. Hallock is of the Smithsonian Institute, and is engaged collecting curiosities for the Columbia Exposition. He will collect a great many old relics of this western country.

MRS. CARRUTHER'S CASE.

How the Verdict Was Reached—What the Trial Has Cost.

PORT ARTHUR, June 14.—At 9.30 Saturday evening, after six hours' absence, the jury, in the case of Nellie Carruthers, returned with a verdict of "Not guilty."

The whole of the day was devoted to addresses by counsel and the judge's charge.

Mr. Osler, Q.C., admitted that the famous "suicide letter" was in the prisoner's handwriting, but claimed that an innocent person knowing she was suspected would act as the prisoner had done.

Judge Armour's charge was a terribly strong arraignment of the prisoner. His Lordship told the jury that there could be no doubt whatever as to the prisoner's guilt.

The jury stood 8 to 4 for a conviction, but the persuasive eloquence of Foreman McCallum and Jurors Arthurs, St. Louis and Nicholson soon turned the others.

When the jury returned announcing the verdict of "Not guilty," Judge Armour remarked: "Prisoner, the jury has acquitted you; I hope your conscience has acquitted you. You are discharged."

The woman, though nervous at times when the jury was out, maintained her remarkable self-possession to the end.

The cost of the trial will be enormous, exceeding probably $7000, of which about $3000 will fall upon the Government. The balance of $4000 has to be met by the father and brother of the prisoner, who mortgaged the farm in Blanchard to raise funds for counsel and witnesses, thus financially ruining them.

Comedian M. C. Daly Dying.

LOS ANGELES, June 14.—Mr. M. C. Daly, the well-known comedian, is in a hospital here dying of meningitis of the brain. There is no hope of the actor's recovery. The comedian was traveling with the "Jane" company, with which she has been since the play was first produced, when he was taken ill. In the comedy he played the part of the old uncle. He has also appeared in "All the Comforts of Home." He is about 50 years old, and for a number of years was the stage manager of Miss Annie Pixley's company.

THE OTTAWA BUDGET.

Mailing at the Criminal Code—Gossip of the Capital—Legislators Under the Weather.

OTTAWA, June 14.—About two dozen weary-looking gentlemen, mostly members of the legal profession, sat and swelteredall yesterday afternoon in the House of Commons passing clauses of the Criminal Code in a languid and listless sort of way, as if law had no attraction for them with the thermometer registering 95 in the shade.

A thoughtful photographer, who was taking orders for copies of the great picture of the Conservative party, distributed about a dozen palm leaf fans, and the members sat and fanned themselves in a mechanical way and looked at Mr. Davin, who was acting as chairman of the committee, in a sort of dazed way, as if wondering how his bright and shining pate managed to keep so cool-looking, and how he succeeded in reading clause after clause of the act in such cheerful and spirited tones. About 60 clauses were read and passed, and all the discussion which took place would not fill half a column of The World, and none of it was of much interest to the general reader, it being confined to questions of law, which, however entertaining to the legal mind, would make but dull reading to the public.

How Long Will the Session Last?

The air was full of rumors to-day as to the possibilities of the length of the session, and stories were afloat both as to its prolongation into September and as to its sudden termination for the present. An impression got about that Sir John Thompson would make some important announcement when the Speaker took the chair after recess, and consequently every member of the press gallery was in his place and just 47 members of the House were in their seats. But as the late lamented John Henry Pope would have expressed it, "There wasn't nothing to it."

Chastising the Major.

The House proceeded with the Redistribution Bill, Mr. Somerville of Brant having the floor. He at once proceeded to pitch into Mr. Sam Hughes, the head and front of whose offending appeared to be that in The Victoria Warder, of which he is proprietor and editor, when writing of Roman Catholics he always uses a small "r" and "c," and also that in his speech on Friday night he said that he did not have a very high opinion of the legal knowledge of the members of the Opposition. This broke Mr. Somerville all up, and he poured out his wrath on the devoted Major's head in great shape.

Amongst the rumors afloat to-day was one that Sir John Thompson was wanted in England at once in connection with the Behring Sea arbitration, and that a proposal would be made to rush through the main estimates and adjourn the House for three or four months so as to give time for the arbitrators to meet, and after they had concluded their labors Parliament could reassemble and continue the discussion of the Redistribution Bill. This is not a very likely story, and inquiry on the part of The World failed to find the slightest foundation for it.

On the other hand, The Journal to-night publishes a statement that Senator Sullivan says that Sir Richard Cartwright asserted in Kingston on Saturday that prorogation would not under any circumstances take place before the first of September.

It is said that Sir Richard will bring up the whole of the Caron charges again, and that a week or two will be occupied discussing them over again. As has been already stated in these columns Sir Richard has put 31 questions on the order paper for Wednesday next, 21 of which are mere recapitulations of the statements made recently by The Globe in its articles on what it styles "The Reptile Fund." The other 10 questions are in the direction of wanting to know what the Government proposes to do about it. The last question is whether the Government proposes to appoint a committee of the House to inquire into the matter, and as the Government will undoubtedly say that it does not, it is believed that Sir Richard himself will bring the whole matter before the House on a want of confidence motion the first time the House is moved into committee of supply. If he does the House will no doubt have another long and acrimonious debate.

The Northwest Rebellion.

In the Senate this afternoon the Premier introduced a bill amending the act for granting scrip to those volunteers who participated in the Northwest Rebellion of 1885 by extending the time for the filing of claims to the end of the present year.

In answer to Mr. Choquette to-day, Sir John Thompson stated that the Government was aware that more than one year had elapsed without there being a session of the Quebec Legislature and that there had not been any correspondence with the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec on the subject.

Next Thursday being the Fete of Corpus Christi is a statutory holiday, and Sir John Thompson to-night gives notice that he will move on Wednesday that when the House adjourns it stand adjourned until Friday.

To-night Mr. Somerville moved an amendment in the Redistribution Bill to the effect that the readjustment should be limited to the provinces where it was made necessary by the recent census. The debate was continued by Messrs. Allan and Dawson until 11.10, when Mr. Mills moved the adjournment of the debate and the House adjourned.

Rain Needed in Bengal.

LONDON, June 14.—Advices from India say that showers have improved the pasturage in Madras, but have been sufficient to insure a good harvest. Rain has considerably stimulated the crops in Bengal, but the people are anxiously waiting for the regular monsoon with its abundant rainfall.

Fires At Guelph.

GUELPH, June 14.—A fire started in Cockburn's wood yard yesterday and had got a good start before the firemen got there, but it was quickly quenched.

Hull's tallow rendering establishment and slaughter houses, outside of the city limits, were totally destroyed by fire this morning. The loss is about $900.

Student Drowned.

KINGARDINE, June 14.—Last evening about 5 o'clock a High School student named John McKenzie was drowned while bathing in the lake with a number of other students. By the aid of grappling irons the body was recovered in less than an hour. The young man was unable to swim and getting beyond his depth was engulfed in the waves, which were flowing high at the time. He is a son of Mr. Hector McKenzie, Con. 9 Kincardine township, and wants his 17th year.

THE OLD STORY.

Two Young Englishmen Duped to Become Farm Pupils—How the "Pals" Were Worked.

THOROLD, June 14.—Considerable excitement has been caused here by the exposure of a farm pupil fraud similar to that practised by Birchall. A few months ago two young [illegible] saw an advertisement in one of the London papers to the effect that good situations were provided in Canada for young men who could pay board, lodging [illegible] bore the signature of a young man [illegible] and the address [illegible] to his terms. [illegible] them to [illegible] a large [illegible] taught pr[illegible] led to believe that [illegible] could make as farm apprentices $20 a month on an average. For the kind and solicitous care bestowed upon him by Warwick the younger paid him 13 guineas (about $65) and further loaned himself to pay another sum later on. The elder says he did not part with as much. The trio came to Thorold, where Warwick remained two days, when he disappeared. Before going he got the younger of the boys to work for Arthur Griffiths and the other for F. W. Townsend of Thorold Township.

The Shell Broken.

The boys found that they had been duped, when, in conversation with the farmers, they learned that Warwick owned no farm hereabouts, and that wages were a long way from $20 per month and board. They interviewed Constable Dandas, who escorted them to P. M. Fish, to whom they told their tale and asked that steps be taken to have Warwick arrested on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences. The boys, however, had no money to defray costs, so the magistrate advised them to communicate with their friends and obtain the very necessary wherewithal to push proceedings. They do not know where Warwick is located, but think at Ingersoll, as they say he told them that he owned half the stock of an electric company there.

Gave Up Good Salaries.

The name of the elder of the youths is Walter Culver of London, whose relatives reside at Folkstone (Kent); the younger boy is Ernest Edlington of London, aged 17. Culver had a first-class situation as librarian at the Gladstone Liberal Club Library, London, at a good salary. His health, however, not being good, he thought if he could get a situation in the open air he would improve. The advertisement, asking a premium of £18, attracted his attention. Warwick told him the work would be very light and pleasant; that he would get $10 and board the first month, $20 the second, and $30 the third, which was the average wages paid. Culver was not acquainted with Edlington in England, but met him in company with Warwick, and learned that he was coming to Canada also. He learned that other boys were expected to accompany Warwick, but for some reason on the day of embarkment they did not put in an appearance. The whole affair was arranged a few days previous to sailing, when there was no time to write to Canada to inquire into matters. In the agreement with Warwick, Idlington has bound himself to pay a further sum of five guineas at the end of a year.

Russian Famine Disappearing.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The Department of State has been informed that a ukase was issued by the Russian Government on the 1st (13th) ultimo relative to the famine relief measures. It is understood to indicate that the famine is drawing to a close. It is believed that a ukase will be issued on July 1, possibly as early as June 1 (old style), permitting the exportation of all grain except rye. The authorities will be able to deal easily with what remains of the famine, and the indications are that it will be unnecessary to send further contributions of grain.

One Hundred Degrees in the Shade.

BOSTON, June 13.—The heat in this city Monday is intense, the thermometer at the Signal Office at 2.45 p.m. registering 94. On the streets the glasses range from 96 to 100 in the shade.

Only One Lady Delegate.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 14.—The 40th annual convention of the International Typographical Union, which is to last a week or 10 days, began in the Music Hall of the Drexel Institute Monday. Mrs. Lola Julian of Kearney, Neb., was the sole female delegate. She represented union No. 109.

The Tonawanda Labor Troubles.

ALBANY, N.Y., June 14.—The Board of Arbitration will leave this morning for Tonawanda to look into the labor troubles there.

The Deeming Mss.

MELBOURNE, June 14.—The authorities have decided that the writings of the murderer Deeming, including his letters to the press, shall be destroyed.

Eighty Houses Burned.

PARIS, June 14.—Eighty houses have been destroyed by fire in the town of Dabez near Briancon, department of Hautes-Alps.

Destructive Overflow of the Danube.

VIENNA, June 14.—The overflow of the Danube and its tributaries covers 240 square miles, of which one-half is cultivated land and the remainder meadows and forests. Much game has been destroyed. Part of Pressburg is inundated, and the pillars of the Danube bridge there are submerged.

Candidates for the Next Parliament.

DUBLIN, June 14.—The convention of Parnellites in Cork selected William Redmond and Ald. Horgan to contest the city's seats at the next general election. Harrington presided. The anti-Parnellites have selected Vesey Knox, now M.P. for West Cavan, and Samuel Young, a Belfast distiller, to contest respectively East and West Cavan.

Cholera on a British Ship.

CALCUTTA, June 14.—The British ship Crofton Hall, which sailed hence a few days ago for Hull, has returned with some of her crew ill with cholera.

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS FOR PALE PEOPLE

THESE PILLS are a perfect blood and nerve tonic. They supply in condensed form all the ingredients needed to enrich the blood and to restore the shattered nerves, thus making them a certain and speedy cure for all diseases arising from impoverished blood, and shattered nerves, such as paralysis, partial, locomotor ataxia, nervous headache, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, nervous prostration, all forms of weakness, pimples, palpitation of the heart, scrofula, chlorosis or green sickness, that tired feeling that affects so many, etc. They have a specific action on the sexual system of both male and women, restoring lost vigor.

WEAK MEN

(young and old), suffering from mental worry, overwork, insomnia, excesses, or self-abuse, should take these PILLS. They will restore lost energies, both physical and mental.

SUFFERING WOMEN

afflicted with the weaknesses peculiar to their sex, such as suppression of the periods, bearing down pains, weak back, nicenesses, etc., will find these pills an unfailing cure.

PALE AND SALLOW GIRLS

should take these Pills. They enrich the blood, restore health's roses to the cheeks and correct all irregularities.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. These Pills are sold by all dealers only in boxes bearing our trade mark or will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of price—50 cents a box or 5 for $2.50.

Daily Examiner.

TUESDAY, JUNE 14, 1892.

THE Empire's market reports of Saturday give the price of eggs in Toronto as 10 1-4 to 10 1-2 cents per dozen. At Buffalo the price is 16 1-2 to 16 1-2. At New York, according to the Commercial Bulletin of Friday, the price for near by eggs is 16 3-4 to 17 and for others from 15 1-2 to 16 1-2. The Tory theory that the British demand would make up for the exclusion of Canadian eggs from the United States market by the McKinley tax of five cents is thus shown to be absurd. The Tories used to tell us also that the British demand for Canadian barley would keep the price in this country up to the American figure. There was a scarcity of barley and of every other kind of grain in Europe last year and the British demand was for a time exceptionally brisk. Yet our barley has hung fire, and according to the Empire of Saturday, No. 1 brings no more in the Toronto market than 49 cents.

The Reptile Vouchers.

Series of Questions on the Order Paper for Wednesday by Sir Richard Cartwright.

OTTAWA, June 10.—(Special)—Sir Richard Cartwright has put a series of important questions on the order paper for Wednesday. He will ask whether the Government are aware that the Toronto Globe published on the dates given the facsimiles of letters and vouchers signed by Sir John Macdonald, Sir A. P. Caron, Sir Hector Langevin, Thomas McGreevy and others, which he recites, and follows up with these questions:

1. Whether the Government have observed that the said documents if authentic prove that a very large fund was created and placed in the hands of Hon. Thomas McGreevy for the purpose of influencing the elections in the several constituencies referred to, and the said fund was regularly distributed in accordance with a careful, pre-concerted arrangement.

2 Whether the Government have observed that the said documents, if authentic, prove that several members of the government and many candidates and members of Parliament were fully informed of the disposition made and intended to be made of the said fund?

3 Whether the Government have observed that if the said documents be, as they report to be, accurate reproductions of the original letters of the several members of the Privy Council therein named they establish beyond doubt that the said members of the Privy Council were actively engaged in the distribution of funds throughout the several constituencies therein named to an extent wholly inconsistent with the statement that said funds were required for "legal purposes?"

4. Whether the Government is aware that the publication of said documents is calculated to convince the public at large that a very great number of constituencies were attempted to be carried by corrupt means by the use of the said funds?

5. Whether the Prime Minister or the leader of the House, or any other member of the Government has called the attention of His Excellency to the publication of the said letters and documents, and has conferred with His Excellency as to the method of dealing with the said publications?

6. Whether the Postmaster-General had made any statement or explanation to His Excellency, or to his colleagues, or to any of them in reference to such of the above letters and vouchers as purport to be signed with his name?

7 Whether the said Postmaster-General denies the authenticity of said letters, or any of them, and whether he alleges the said letters to be forgeries?

8 Whether the said Post-master-General in case he denies the authenticity of the said letters, has taken or proposes to take any steps to prosecute the Toronto Globe for publishing documents which he alleges to be forgeries?

9 Whether in view of the above statement the Government has made inquiry of any of the several other persons whose names appear as signatories of the said documents, and whether they admit or deny the authenticity of the same?

10 Whether the Government, in view of the facts now made public, and especially of the circumstance that these documents, if authentic, prove that upwards of $112,000 was expended in 24 constituencies, with the knowledge and approval of several members of the Cabinet and of many members of Parliament, intend to cause a committee of this House to be appointed to investigate into the said matters, and particularly to ascertain from and by whom the said funds were supplied to the Hon. Thomas McGreevy?

A Lady's Opinion,

Our Own Canadian People.

"YOUR letters and testimonials published from week to week in favour of Paine's Celery Compound, are the strongest, most convincing and best I have ever read in my experience."

These are the remarks of a Montreal lady, and there are thousands of men and women in all parts of Canada who have the same opinion. We can assert without fear of contradiction that no other remedy ever placed before an intelligent public has received such volumes of praise and commendation. No other remedy has ever published such strong, honest and convincing letters. Another strong point worthy of notice is that all these testimonials are from our own people—our friends—our neighbors—people who are known in Canada, and who can be spoken to regarding their cures. No foreign and suspicious testimony is entertained or introduced from people with a doubtful existence.

Paine's Celery Compound is spoken of by our Canadian people in a way that reflects credit and great honour. It has been honest and trustworthy as a medicine and healer, and has been elevated to the highest fame by its wonderful working and grand results.

Surely this is convincing proof of its worth in all forms of disease and suffering, and should convince all that it is the medicine that is required if health, strength and a new life are looked for.

THE FORCE OF HABIT.

WE have read of an old lady who for many years regularly pawned her silver teapot every Monday morning and took it out again every Saturday night. She had lost sufficient by paying interest to the pawn-brokers to buy several new pots, but it seems she could never get even with her creditors without sacrificing the tea-brewer at the beginning of the week. That was simply from the force of habit. The policy-holder is apt to get into the same habit when the premium on his policy is to be paid. Is there a dividend? Yes; then he must use that in payment of the premium. Many policy-holders having become used to paying full premiums in cash do so to the end, and the result is a wonderful accumulation, showing an investment rarely equalled in the history of finance. Some policy-holders will be persistent for a few years in their cash payments and then begin to use the dividends to pay the premiums. Having once begun they rarely stop the practice, and year after year they find it impossible to pay the premiums in any other way. They simply cease to save and lose the advantages which the Canada Life offers every investor in its policies.

The Hall's Glen Post Office

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Perhaps you are not aware that about nine years ago the Hall's Glen Post Office went begging for an incumbent, and that at the request of the people Mr. J. J. Crowe accepted the position and was appointed postmaster. This position he has filled to the satisfaction of all parties concerned. The public whom the post office serves have been well pleased with their treatment at the postmaster's hands, and Mr. Crowe's management of the office has been so satisfactory that in the course of nine years the inspector only paid it one visit, accounting for the infrequency of his visits by the fact that there was no need of his visits so long as the office was well managed. Now it was well known that at the last Dominion election Mr. Crowe took an active interest in promoting the interests of Mr. Rank, believing that the policy he represented was best adapted to promote the interests of the country.

Whether as a consequence or not of the course taken by Mr. Crough, a petition was circulated and forwarded to the Government asking that the post office be removed to Mr. Madill's and that he be made postmaster. On hearing of this move Mr. Crow circulated a counter petition, much more numerously signed by the parties interested than the petition in favor of Mr. Madill. Then an official of the Post Office Department, Ottawa, visited the Hall's Glen post office in charge of Mr. Crowe and said the office was well kept and that everything in connection with it was satisfactory. Yet in face of this examination, and in face of the large petition signed by a majority of the persons interested in the retention of the office by Mr. Crowe, the latter received a letter in April notifying him that the post office would be removed to Mr. Madill's, which in fact it has since been removed. And the removal is a great inconvenience to a very large number of persons who were accustomed to having their children, attending school, which was a short distance from Mr. Crowe's, bring their mail matter. Now these children have many of them to travel an extra mile, and there is no claim that this inconvenience is offset by any better attention on the part of the postmaster.

Mr. Crowe does not object to the removal of the post office, if the action is based on the principle that to the victors belong the spoils. If not, and he was guilty of no inefficiency or incompetency, he would like to know why the post office was taken from him, and many of the people would like to know why, when the people petitioned against the removal, and when their own official reported the office satisfactory under Mr. Crowe's management, the convenience of the people was disregarded, and the post office site and master changed at the instance of a few ward politicians. Is it possible that the snaky principle of bossism, which worms it way through the Government's actions, penetrates even to a country post office, over-riding the people's convenience to serve partisan ends?

Yours truly,
HALL'S GLEN.

No Other Sarsaparilla possesses the Combination, Proportion, and Process which make Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar to itself.

A Word to the Wise.

Reason and Science admit that the irresistible craving for liquor, which causes a man to drink to excess, and makes of him an habitual drunkard, is a paroidical disease.

The orgadic decomposition of regular food produces the heat and gases which form the natural stimulant of the human system. Whenever a new supply of this natural stimulant is needed hunger calls for it. But if the organism has been used to replace this natural stimulant—some partially, or, in some cases, almost completely—by an artificial one, by an alcoholic stimulant, then an uncontrollable thirst for alcohol calls for fresh supplies of the same, and takes the place of hunger.

HABIT IS A SECOND NATURE.—The organism which has been accustomed to the action of artificial stimulant is placed in a state of suffering by the sudden cessation or discontinuance of such action. This suffering is in consequence of the want and privation of an artificial stimulant which has not yet been replaced by the corresponding action of an additional portion of the natural stimulant.

These physiological laws were unknown to Medical Science until discovered by Dr. H. H. De Petterres, who has based upon them another discovery, a godsend to Humanity, the Antidote for Intemperance, known since 1873 under the name of The Father Mathew Remedy, which has proved an unfailing cure whenever used according to the directions, and which should now be found in the office of every physician who claims to keep pace with progress. 1d

The Court of Revision and the Township Council Meet for the Transaction of Business.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

COURT OF REVISION.

The municipal council met at the town hall on Monday, the 30th ult., as a Court of Revision. The following appeals were heard and acted upon as follows, viz.: Thos. Hammond, overcharge on real estate, assessment confirmed; John Tuohie, overcharge on real estate, and to have his name assessed as joint tenants, vice farmer's sons, assessment confirmed, and sons' names entered as requested; John Hatherly, overcharge on real estate and assessed for too much land, one acre struck off and assessment reduced $20; Jas. Armstrong, assessment reduced $200; Hugh Mathews, assessment reduced $200; Robert Dixon, John Young and John Leahy having given sufficient evidence that their dogs had been destroyed, they were struck off roll; James R. Girvin's name was entered on roll as joint owner with his mother; Robt. Walsh's name was retained on roll as owner and struck off as wage earner. The roll with the foregoing alterations was received and adopted, and the clerk authorized to attach the necessary certificate and corporate seal thereto.—Carried.

COUNCIL.

The council then went into session for general business. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. On motion the reeve was authorized to issue his order on Peter Hamilton for one road scraper required by the municipality. Orders on treasurer—B. Morrow, registration of bylaw No. 419, $3 00; Mrs. Thomas Crough, charity, $10; clerk, part of salary, $10; assessors' salaries for 1892, $45, and $5 extra for services in equalizing Union School Sections assessments for school purposes. Council adjourned at a call from the reeve.

Makes Flesh and Blood

When the system is all run down and there seems to be no hope of obtaining nourishment for the body by the ordinary process of food supply and digestion, when the body is sinking fast, then is the time to use Miller's Emulsion of pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil. DRY GOODS ESTABLISHMENT.

POSITIVE ALTERATION SALE!

About a year ago extensive alterations and improvements in our George and Simcoe Street premises were contemplated and publicly announced in good faith, and preparations were commenced to transform our store into one of the finest business premises in Peterborough. Unfortunately, owing to difficulties which arose at the time, we were compelled to postpone the work indefinitely. Now, however, we have determined that these alterations must go on, no matter what the Cost. We, therefore, beg to announce that during the month of July, in order to allow these important alterations to be made, we will be of the premises altogether, for about a month. To avoid the expense and trouble of removing the goods, we have decided to sell off our whole stock, and will commence at once a SWEEPING CLEARANCE SALE of everything in the store. Nothing will be reserved during the next two months. The stock consists of regular Staple Goods—all new and fashionable—bought for this season's trade. THE SPLENDID VALUES which will be given will afford the greatest inducements to Dry Goods Buyers which have been offered for many years to the people of Peterborough.

To secure a complete clearance we are prepared to make great sacrifices in every department. PRICES WILL BE A SECONDARY MATTER! THE GOODS MUST GO! THERE WILL BE BARGAINS FOR EVERYBODY!

Come and buy NOW, if you want to reap the great benefit of the surrender of profits which must be made during this Positive Alteration Sale.

is the banner route from Canada to Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, and all points south, west and north. The only line using the palace chair cars from Detroit, (free to all passengers.) Shortest and quickest route. Finest equipped trains in the world. All tickets agents sell tickets over this railroad. J. A. Richardson, Canadian Passenger Agent, Toronto. tf

Farmers' Institute Picnic.

At Jubilee, 16th June. The greatest picnic of the season, farmers from Northumberland, Durham and Peterborough will assemble at Jubilee, where they will be addressed by the leading professional men of Canada on agriculture. Dancing music will be provided on all the boats for the young people. Tables will be provided in the park for lunching. Meals will be served in the hotel. Everybody will be allowed to fish, Mr. Gilchrist, overseer, will be at Jubilee to issue permits. Don't miss it if you want a good solid day's fun. "Golden Rye" will leave the Peterborough wharf at 7.30 a.m. Return tickets only 50c. d6d

Bicycle Club.

The members of the Peterborough Bicycle Club to the number of twenty had another delightful run last night. At 7.15 o'clock the boys left the market square for the P. A. A. A. grounds where they had a few spins around track. Afterwards a meeting was held on the band stand, President Rogers presiding. It was decided to hold races and sports every two weeks on the grounds, the first of these to be held on July 7th. About thirty members of the club will go to Kingston along with the 57th Battalion to attend the great C.W.A. meet there. Another run will be held on Thursday night to Chemong and return. The boys will take notice and all turn out.

Chemong Summer Railway Service.

Yesterday the summer train service on the Chemong Valley Railway began. The service consists of two trains daily—and return—one leaving town at 8.30 a.m. and one at 5.30 p.m. The trains connect with the steamer Sunbeam for Bobcaygeon. Several tourists took advantage of the suburban service yesterday. The excursion season to Chemong opens briskly. There are already four excursions booked—Ettrick General Electric Company's excursion on Saturday, June 25th, St. John's Sunday school on July 1st, St. Mark's Sunday school on July 5th, Charlotte street Methodist church Sunday school on July 7th. It is not expected that the suburban train service on the Lakefield branch will begin before the end of the month.

A Pleasant Terminus.

A pleasant ending to a very pleasant drive, especially the "back drive," (leaving town at the "Methodist Cemetery") is Chemong Park, and a pleasant resting place is the home-like hotel of Miss Host Fobert. For an early afternoon drive the route mentioned cannot be surpassed with its bordering shade of beautiful green trees, a shelter from the hot sun for miles. On Sunday a great many persons take this drive, and last Sunday in spite of the heat it was largely patronized. A stroll round the park or a rest on the green in the shade at the shore of the lake, or a seat in the wide, cool balconies of the Hotel Fobert, was a pleasant change from the heat and dust of the town—quiet and restful. The hotel was as quiet as a church, and the attention of the employes and proprietor courteous and obliging, respectful attendance and excellent meals, made the stay a pleasant one to the many guests who made it their temporary home. All days of the week there are pleasures at the park, making the drive well worth taking, a fine ball room in the hotel and a pavilion in the park, where open air dancing may be indulged in. The summer population is beginning to arrive and numerous cottages are being placed in readiness for occupancy, and the cottages will doubtless now be rapidly filled, as the beginning of the Chemong Railway service will make access to the Park easy, and determine an abundant flow of summer travel in the direction of the Park.

Goods Still Too Cheap.

Also white flannel suits, tweed suits and cycling overcoats at Parkin's Steam Dye Works, Charlotte street.

To Sheep Lake, Dominion Day, July 1st.

Keep the above date open for a grand day's outing among the cool sequestered nooks and quiet waterways of this beautiful spot. The lake never looked better than this season. An energetic committee have the details of the excursion in hand, and will cater for all your wants. Particulars later.

C.M.B.A. Meeting.

Meeting this Evening.

The following members of the Sports Committee of St. Peter's Cathedral Picnic will meet this evening at 7 o'clock in Mr. J. J. Sheehy's store: Messrs. LeBrun, Brennen (Dr.), Muncaster, J. J. Sheehy, M. Giroux, W. Rudkins, Geo. Giroux, Herbins, Harry Phelan, A. J. Gough, F. Fahrni, Jas. Callaghan, J. P. Hurley. A full attendance of all the members is particularly requested.

The Fifty Seventh Will to the Front.

The results of the second match of the Canadian Military Rifle League series have been published and the team of the Rangers comes well up on the list, being in third place, Amherst, N.S., Rifle Association, and Guelph Field Artillery leading with 790, while Peterborough's score is 780. If our cracks keep up their aim they stand an excellent chance of leading when the final score is tallied up.

Douro's Great Annual Picnic.

This great annual event will take place at Douro on Thursday, June 16th. A splendid programme of enjoyment has been prepared and a gala day will be enjoyed by all who attend. Among the attractions are a splendid dancing platform and orchestra. During the whole day the most beautiful of Ryedyke will be on exhibition. Remember that 'buses will leave the Grand Central hotel, Peterborough, for the picnic grounds at different times during the day. Don't forget the date—Thursday, June 16th—and don't forget that the 16th will be a great day for Douro and all who attend her annual picnic.

An Exceedingly Narrow Escape.

Last night as the C. P. R. express due in Peterborough at 5.45, was bowling into Norwood station at a lively rate of speed, James Lytle, of the 12th concession of Dummer, seated in a lumber wagon with his son, was crossing the track near the mill, and the train struck the wagon, smashing the hinder part of it into atoms, and throwing out the occupants. The father was picked up unconscious, and the little boy, thinking his father was killed, jumped one of the horses and galloped home. Drs. Pettigrew and Moffat were summoned, and while attending to Lytle, the latter suddenly opened his mouth and said, "Pretty hard blow, doctor!" He was removed to a hotel in Norwood and his injuries found not to be serious. It was a close shave.

Court of Revision.

The Court of Revision met last evening in the council chamber to dispose of several pending appeals. The following were dealt with:—

1. Annie S. Hamilton, income tax struck off.

2. W. H. Claxton, on behalf of British North American Assurance Co., assessment confirmed.

3. Dr. Hugh Spears appealed against the assessment of his residence property on Homewood Avenue as being too high, and he show that it was too high, he entered an appeal against the assessment of W. A. Stratton, W. Fitzgerald, the Rutherford estate. The full text of Dr. Spears' appeal has been published in the Examiner, and at a previous sitting Dr. Spears' assessment was confirmed. Last night the assessments appealed against by him were raised, viz: W. Fitzgerald on lot 9, increased from $900 to $1,300. Lot 8 confirmed. Lot 27A increased from $250 to $350. Estate of A. Rutherford, lot 23, increased from $900 to $1100. W. A. Stratton, lots 26 and 27, increased from $250 to $350.

4. Jas. Lundy's appeal for Daniel Mahoney, to be assessed, and assessment reduced as last year.

5. H. T. Strickland, assessment confirmed.

6. John Cameron, reduced to $1,600 on stock.

7. Fred W. Parks to be assessed for lot 4 plan 54, in lieu of P. W. Reynolds struck off, and statute labor tax to be remitted.

The court also dealt with a number of matters referred to them by the council in reference to a number of tax remissions. A motion was carried that the assessment roll of 1892 as corrected and amended by the Court of Revision be confirmed. The court then adjourned.

Epworth League.

The Charlotte street Epworth League of Christian Endeavour met last week as usual. The subject taken up was "Japan." Mrs. Price gave a splendid paper on "The Social Life of Japan," and Miss Kennedy gave a very earnest address on "Missions." During the evening sabbath hymns were sung and several selections rendered by the League choir.

Sons of England Excursion.

The Sons of England excursion under the auspices of the societies of Lodge Peterborough and the Port Hope, Lindsay and Campbellford societies went to Toronto and Niagara Falls this morning. There were sixty-five tickets sold for Toronto and forty-four for Niagara Falls. A considerable number took the 6.40 train for the Lake Shore route and the remainder the 8.20 train by the Lindsay route.

The Fifty Seventh and the First.

The first of July the Rangers go to Kingston, and they want to go in good shape too. They will represent a live town and they will need to put their best foot forward and that it will not be the goose foot. It is imperative that there should be diligent attention to drill and the other necessary preparations for securing military efficiency. Let there be a full muster for the march out this evening, and from this till July 1st, every individual, volunteer, officer and private, should not miss a single parade. Peterborough wants the Rangers to "do the town proud" on Dominion Day.

B. B. A.

The Emeralds of Peterborough are running an excursion to Toronto on June 24th, and they make a special invitation to all the citizens of the town to attend. The Knights of St. John are meeting in convention in the Queen City on that day, and will parade in uniformed encampments to the number of 15,000. Such a night will well repay any one who may take in the excursion, to say nothing of the delightful trip which one will enjoy over the G.T. Railway via Port Hope, leaving here at 6.40 a.m. and arriving in Toronto at 9. Tickets for round trip $1.75, to be had at F. Fairey's and W. J. Devlin's or from any of the committee. d

Bankrupt in Lindsay.

The Lindsay Post has the following to say of the Wannamaker's True Irish Hearts Co. which recently played here:—Wannamaker's True Irish Hearts Co. reached town Saturday last from Omemee, somewhat in distress through playing hard luck. The manager hails from Trenton, and having in some manner obtained certain rights in a circus band wagon and pavilion tent took the road confident that he would scoop in the shekels easily. Saturday evening, owing to wet weather, their company played in the opera house, the audience consisting of about sixty people, and at 2 a.m. Sunday, Wanney mounted one of his horses and leading the other sparred briskly out of town in the direction of home, abandoning his company and wagon. By a lucky accident one of the members succeeded in making the rake of $100, and generously applied it in liquidating the hotel bills of fellow artists, who have decided to still try and hold together as a company.

Personal.

Mr. George H. Rogers, of Ottawa, is in town to-day.

Mr. B. Anderson, Crown Lands Agent, Apsley, is in town to-day.

Major Sam Hughes, M.P., and Mr. Chas. Fairbairn, M.P., were in town to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Adams and Mrs. W. Lewis, left this morning for Chicago by the G.T.R., where they will locate.

Mr. John Best who has been the guest of his brother for some time returned to his home in Denver, Colorado, on Saturday night.

Messrs. Jos. McMahon, Thos. Lahey and W. O'Brien left on Saturday night per G. T. R. for Mount Pleasant, Mich., where they will reside in the future.

Messrs. James Kennedy and D. Harvey left yesterday for Toronto to represent Peterborough Lodge, No. 13, Sons of Canada at the Grand Lodge meeting to be held in that city to-day and Wednesday.

Messrs. J. A. Harley and J. P. Harley were in Lindsay yesterday making final arrangements for the excursion of St. Peter's Court, No. 325, to that town on Tuesday, June 21st. They say that Lindsay is going to be right "wild 'ere" for that day.

Mr. T. R. Elliott, of the Bank of Commerce, Hamilton, is relieving at the local branch here for a few weeks in the place of Mr. G. A. Smith, accountant. Mr. and Mrs. Smith and family leave on Thursday for Montreal, whence they will sail by the steamer Numidian for a three months trip to England, Scotland and Ireland. Their many friends will wish them a pleasant trip and a safe return.

The Toronto papers contain reports of the narrow escape of Mr. E. W. Cox and a party of ladies from a serious accident by the running away of his horses. Had it not been for the bravery of a young man, Mr. C. E. Stinson, who rushed out into the street and pluckily seized the bridle of one of the horses, and held on for a distance of two or three hundred yards, there would doubtless have been a terrible tragedy to relate.

Why is HOOD'S Sarsaparilla

Such a great success, and why is it impossible for other Sarsaparillas and blood purifiers to compete with this great medicine? Because

No Other Sarsaparilla or blood purifier gives as much medicine for the money as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No Other Sarsaparilla has the careful personal supervision of the proprietor in all the details of its preparation, as has Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No Other Sarsaparilla has the merit to secure the confidence of entire communities and hold it year in and year out, as has Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No Other Sarsaparilla can produce from actual cures such wonderful statements of relief given to human suffering as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No Other Sarsaparilla possesses the Combination, Proportion and Process Peculiar to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and which makes Hood's Sarsaparilla in curative effect Peculiar to Itself.

No Other Sarsaparilla combines economy and strength as does Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the only preparation of which can truly be said, 100 Doses $1.

No Other Sarsaparilla has effected such remarkable cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla, of Scrofula, Salt Rheum, blood poisoning and all other blood diseases.

No Other Sarsaparilla has equalled Hood's Sarsaparilla in the relief it gives in the severest cases of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Heartburn, and other stomach disorders.

LeBRUN'S OLD STAND,

GEORGE STREET.

Obituary.

Mr. E. K. Ostrom, a Well Known Resident of the Town, Passes Away this Morning.

Mr. Elijah Ketchison Ostrom, an old and respected resident of the town, died this morning at 10 35 o'clock at his residence, corner of Charlotte and Park streets, after a short but very severe illness. Deceased had always enjoyed good health until about two years ago, when he was suddenly taken ill with la grippe, from whose effects he never entirely recovered. In consequence of his changed health he retired from active business. Last Friday morning he was suddenly prostrated with a severe attack of strangulated hernia, and notwithstanding the best medical skill was summoned, he gradually grew worse and this morning passed peacefully away to be numbered with the dead.

The late Mr. Ostrom was in his sixty fourth year, having passed his sixty-third birthday on Friday last, the 10th, the day on which he was taken ill. Deceased was born in the year 1829 on the Front of Sidney five miles from Belleville. He was a son of the late Simeon Ostrom, a prosperous and successful farmer of that locality. Mr. Ostrom followed successfully the profession of farming in Sidney township and latterly in the township of Thurlow, on the farm of his father-in-law, Mr. Thos. Archer About 18 years ago he with his wife and family removed to Peterborough where he has ever since resided. Since his long residence in Peterborough he was engaged extensively in the egg business at which he was very successful until he retired owing to poor health. Deceased was highly respected for his many good qualities and was much esteemed by all who knew him. In 1849 he was married to Catharine, daughter of Mr. Thos. Archer who with a large family survives him. The following children mourn the loss of a kind and loving father:—Mrs. E. H. Hawley, Belleville; Geo. S. Ostrom, St. Paul, B. A. Ostrom, Louisville, Ky., Mrs. A. D. Thompson, Duluth, M. T. and A. E. Ostrom, of Peterborough, and C. A W. Ostrom of Chicago. Deceased leaves several brothers and sisters among them being G. M. Ostrom and Mrs. Chas. Green, of Belleville. The funeral will take place from the family residence, corner of Charlotte and Park streets, on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, to Little Lake Cemetery.

An Enjoyable Trip.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—Summer is now upon us and the question arises where shall we spend an enjoyable day's outing? Now sir, I desire to call the attention of our citizens to a very desirable way to spend a holiday, one in which a person can enjoy a delightful sail, lovely scenery, and courteous treatment from the officers and crew of the boat and at the same time avoid the trouble and heat of taking train to the point of embarkation.

The boat I allude to is the Golden Eye, owned by our enterprising townsman, Mr. H. Calcutt, and the trip down the Otonabee river to Jubilee Point or to Idyl Wyld. I had the pleasure of availing myself of a trip on the Golden Eye on Saturday last and seldom have I enjoyed a more pleasant half day's outing; the scenery down the river is at this time of the year very beautiful. The grounds at Jubilee Point are underbrushed and walks made to different points on the Island from which a fine view of Rice Lake can be had, and tables are erected in different places for the use of picnic parties, for which purpose I know of no more enjoyable place.

I understand that it is the intention of the management to run an excursion every Saturday afternoon down our beautiful river, and believing that many of our citizens would gladly avail themselves of such an opportunity to spend a delightful afternoon were they aware of the fact, I considered it would not be out of place to call attention to it in the columns of your valuable paper. I may also state that I have been assured that no intoxicating liquor will be sold on the boat in the future; no doubt this change will remove the cause, why so many of our citizens have avoided this trip in the past.

Very truly yours,
J. D. COLLINS.

Somebody Suffers.

Yes, somebody suffers when these great take-em-away-for-nothing sales are announced, but it isn't the promoters, it is the confiding public who are eventually the sufferers. The goods look all right, but wear them, and how soon you will be surprised when they fall to pieces. Our reputation for selling reliable, trusty, serviceable shoes is quite sufficient to draw people to our store. It wouldn't do for a house of established reputation to indulge in sensational half-off, below cost, give-away sales. There's a moral to all this. Buy the best at Kidd's the bootman, and pay a reasonable price, and no more, and in the long run you will come off the winner. Kidd not only claims, but does sell the best of summer foot wear at the lowest living profit, at 376 George street.

Farewell to Canada.

Ensign and Mrs. Steele Bid Good bye to the Local Corps of the Salvation Army—Adjt. Mitchell and Wife, of Barrie, to be the Next Commanders Here.

There was a large attendance at the farewell services of Ensign and Mrs. Steele to the local corps of the Salvation Army, held in the Simcoe street barracks last night. At 5.30 o'clock a grand banquet was spread and four large tables laden with catering viands were filled and refilled, so large was the attendance of banqueters.

At 7.30 o'clock an open air parade and service was held, about fifty soldiers being in line. At 8 o'clock probably not less than five hundred people had assembled at the barracks to witness the farewell ceremonies. The proceedings opened with prayer by Brigadier Philpott, after which several songs and trios were sung and numerous fine selections rendered by the band. Trios were contributed with good effect by Bandmaster C. Pennington and Masters Carlos and Mendal Green, the former playing a second cornet and the latter a flat bass. Several solos were contributed to the effective accompaniment of Mrs. Green who ably presided at the organ, by Ensign Steele, Bandsmen Evans, Bandsman Paton and others. Brigadier Philpott then read the Scriptural lesson, Psalm xvi, and after giving an earnest exposition of its truths.

Captain BAILEY, who has been assisting Ensign Steele in the work for the past six weeks since the illness of Mrs. Steele, spoke a few words of earnest farewell address, thanking all the people and the Army for their kindness shown towards him, and asking God to bless all in their efforts to preach Christ and the Word. He eulogized the work of Ensign Steele, and while they were sorry to part, he hoped heaven's richest blessing would crown all his efforts in the old land.

The dedication service of the Army was next performed by Brigadier Philpott, who, beneath the Army colors, performed the dedication ceremony on Ensign and Mrs. Steele's child, "John Robert." The ceremony was an interesting and impressive one.

ENSIGN STEELE then gave a few short words of farewell to the army and the people of Peterborough, and Canada. He had been in this country some seven years and in Peterborough some 10 months, engaged in the work of the Army. Some eleven years ago he was converted and shortly afterwards sent as a cadet to the London corps. Since that time he had been stationed at 24 different corps and had always endeavored to fulfil his duties to the Army and perform his work as best he could under the guidance and direction of Christ. He had tried to help the soldiers here in private and in public and he hoped his work had been a success. Owing to her illness he was sorry that Mrs. Steele was unable to be present to speak a few words. He hoped God's blessing would rest upon all and that their prayers would follow.

BRIGADIER PHILPOTT, who is stationed at headquarters, Toronto, and has charge of special demonstrations, said that never had a stain been cast at Ensign Steele's character during his eleven years stay in Canada and no officer had given better satisfaction to headquarters both in his life and work than had the ensign. If Commissioner Rees were present he would speak in glowing terms of the grand work and noble efforts wrought by the efficient commander and his wife here, during the time to which they had been stationed at Peterborough. The band played "Praise God from whom all blessings flow," and "Shall we meet in that sweet by and by?" when the meeting dispersed at 9.30 o'clock, many lingering to shake hands with the departing commander and wish him good bye and a "God bless you."

Ensign and Mrs. Steele leave to-morrow at 11.45 o'clock per C.P.R. for Montreal where for a few days the Ensign by invitation will hold a final farewell at the Montreal corps, No. 1, one of his former stations. On the 18th they will sail by the steamer "Numidian," for England, where they will go on an extended visit to relatives in Castleford and Beverly. The trip is taken by the advice of Mrs. Steele's physician for the benefit of her health. Mr. and Mrs. Steele will not return to Canada again, but will engage in Salvation Army work in the old country. Ensign Steele since coming to Canada has been stationed as commanding officer at Toronto corps No. 1, Montreal corps No. 1, Quebec corps, Fredericton and Moncton, N.B., Amherst, N.S., Bowmanville and other places. He was also engaged A. D. C. in the reform work of the Prison Gate Home for some time in Woodstock. Since coming to Peterborough to succeed Capt. Gale, who was transferred to Montreal, he has been here longer than any other officer, and under him the membership of the Army has increased to 125, nearly all in good standing, and the band has been thoroughly equipped and organized until it is now one of the best in the province. The Army financially and spiritually is more prosperous than ever before.

Adjt. Michael and wife, of the soul-saving troupe, Barrie, will succeed Ensign and Mrs. Steele as commanders of the Salvation Army here. Adjt. and Mrs. Michael will arrive at 8 o'clock on Thursday night by the C.P.R., and will be thundered a hearty reception at the station here, after which services will be held in the barracks, conducted by them.

The County Court.

The General Sessions Open This Afternoon at 1 O'clock Before His Honor Judge Weller.

The general sessions of the county court opened this afternoon at one o'clock before His Honor Judge Weller. The following members of the bar were present:—W. H. Watson, Q.C., Toronto; R. Max Dennistoun, E. B. Stone, J. W. Bennett, Geo. Elmiger, J. H. Burnham and R. E. Wood. The grand jury were called and duly empanelled. Following are their names.

GRAND JURY.

R. S. Allan, Dunre; Chas. B. yes, Smith; M. Stockbridge, Aspendel; C. J. Blomfield, Lakefield; Jos. Barnard, Monaghan; A. Clegg, Peter Cameron, Peterborough; Jas. Dewart, Dummer; Michael English, A. A. Fife, Asphodel; Jas. Galvi, Peterborough. Wm. Graham, Lakefield; David Gary, Dummer; W. R. Greatrix, Peterborough; David Henderson, Otonabee; Theodore Ludgate, Ashburnham; Francis Mason, M.D. McKee, Peterborough; John Meletush, Monaghan; Aaron Nesbitt, Henry Robb, W. A. Sanderson, Henry Thompson, Peterborough; Pan Scott Asphodel.

Mr. C. J. Blomfield, of Lakefield, was elected foreman.

Judge Weller in his address to the Grand Jury, said there were no cases to claim investigation by them. Confined in the gaol at present were 17 prisoners, ten for vagrancy and one as a lunatic. He did not think that the gaol was the proper place for vagrants. A house should be provided for keeping them by the county of Peterborough. There was also one lunatic who should be removed. The county gaol was no place for confining vagrants and lunatics. His Worship then touched upon the grand jury system. He said there was strong opposition to the system by some judges on the bench, while others who now were strongly in favor of it might be led to favour the abolition of the system if a proper substitute could be suggested for the duties which they performed. He was glad that there was such excellent prospects of an abundant harvest, and that the crops were looking so well. He then ordered the Grand Jury to visit the gaol and Court House and make their report. The case of Ramsay vs. Lowes was then called. In this case Wm. and Robert Ramsay, of Emily township, seek $200 damages from Cuthbert Lowes for alleged breach of covenant contained in a lease of a farm and for the value of ploughing and other work done on the said farm. Kimmon & Dixon for plaintiff; Dennistoun & Stevenson for defendant. The plaintiffs' counsel announced that this case had been settled out of court and that the counsel had agreed upon a verdict of $160 damages to the plaintiffs, each party to pay their own costs.

The appeal case against the judgment of the Police Magistrate in the case of the Ashburnham house of ill-fame was then considered, to see if there were sufficient ground to warrant the appeal. His Honor reserved judgment until to-morrow morning.

The case of G. English vs. Singer M'f'g Co. was called and is now in progress.

How the children enjoy "dressing up!" Many an old garret has had its depths explored again and again to obtain costumes for fairies and goblins, Red Riding Hoods and Little Bo-Peeps. Often, too, the older folk have occasion to join in the search, and brains and trunks are ransacked to add to the attractions of an evening's entertainment by the representation of characters from history, mythology, or fiction.

The effectiveness of such a costume does not depend on the costliness of the material.

FIG. 1. ANGEL COSTUME.

Artistic drapery can produce wonderful results in the way of Grecian costumes, and gods and goddesses, out of so simple a material as sheeting. If the lines of drapery and the colors of the costume chosen as a model are followed, the result will be pleasing, whether the material used be cambric or silk. Beautiful color effects in draping can be obtained with the cheese cloths, which come in all the delicate shades. The writer once saw a number of young ladies dressed to represent the day. Some were robed in gray to represent the dawn, then came the rose-pink of sunrise, the deep blue of the morning hours, the white of noontide, the purple of waning day, and, finally, the brilliant gold of the setting sun.

A few simple costumes which can be manufactured from material to be found in every home, or that can be purchased at a trifling cost, are here described, with suggestions as to ways in which the costumes may be introduced to form a feature in a social gathering, either in the home, the church or the grange. For a celestial party, the guests are requested to dress as celestial beings. A musical programme would be suited to the character of the party, and light refreshments, such as angel cake and ices or lemonade should be served. An effective angel costume, after the old masters, is easily made of a sheet, white tissue paper and wire. Sew the two sides of the sheet together, leaving an opening near the narrow hem, large enough to permit the arm to pass through easily, and rip an opening in the seam for the other arm. Gather near the narrow hem, leaving the gathering string long enough to slip over the head, and gather far enough from the seam so that it can be turned in out of sight. Slip on the costume, fasten around the waist with a girdle, and arrange the fulness above the waist to hang over the girdle, leaving the skirt long enough to just touch the floor in front, and in the back long enough to trail. For the wings make a frame of wire, of the proper shape, and cover on both sides with tissue paper. The paper should be first drawn through the hands, to make it crinkly, and then sewed loosely to the frame, so as to hang in full, soft folds from the top of the wing to the bottom. Fasten the wings with wire to a piece of pasteboard, which is sewed in position on the costume. (See Fig. 1). Some can dress as fallen angels, as shown in Fig. 2. A suitable costume can be made of a suit of red under flannels, with hoofs of black cloth to slip on over the shoes, and horns also of black cloth. If the face is painted black, with touches of red, the result will be effective.

FIG. 2. FALLEN ANGEL.

It would be an omission if at a celestial party there were present no representation of the Celestial empire. For a Japanese costume, use any pieces of bright-colored cloth, either cretenne or worsted goods, long enough to cover the body from head to foot. The costume will have to be draped on the person. It is arranged to follow the lines of the body quite closely, and is drawn tightly around the ankles, so that the wearer can take only very short steps. The sleeves should be large and full, and drawn in at the wrists, leaving room around the body, under the arms, and tied in a large square bow in the middle of the back (see Fig. 3). Fairies, elves, butterflies and any other light and graceful costume, would be in keeping at such a gathering.

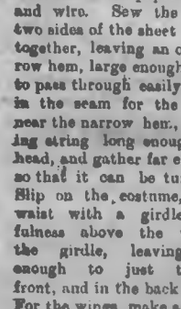

FIG. 3. A CELESTIAL.

To equip a Scottish Highlander in the most approved fashion, as in Fig. 4, requires two double plaid shawls, a toboggan cap, silver paper, and two rolls of red or blue dress braid. One of the shawls is folded lengthwise, through the middle, and made into a plaited kilt, reaching to the knees. Any kind of a dark waist can be worn with the kilt. The other shaw is also folded lengthwise and forms a plaidie, which passes under one arm, across the chest, and is fastened on the shoulder with a large buckle, cut from pasteboard and covered with silver paper. The cap is made of one of the toboggan caps which were in vogue two or three winters ago, by removing the pompons in front, and fastening two ends of ribbon to it in the back. Dark stockings, wound with the bright braid, and low shoes, decorated with large buckles, complete the costume. The costume for the women consists of the kilt made a little longer than for the men, a white waist, hair braided in two braids, with a kerchief tied about the head, low shoes, and black stockings.

FIG. 4 SCOTTISH HIGHLANDER.

An evening with the Scotch would be both instructive and entertaining for any social gathering, and would furnish an agreeable variation from pink and blue teas and cobweb parties. Arrange a literary programme, consisting of readings from Scott, Burns, and other Scottish authors, bits of Scottish history, and articles relating to the manners and customs of the Scotch. Those who are to take part should be dressed in the Highland costume, as described above. When the company is assembled, "The Campbells are Coming" is played behind the scenes, on combs, in imitation of bagpipes, and the Highlanders march in to the music. After they have marched around the room two or three times, that all may see the costumes, the literary programme is in order. This is varied by the singing of Scottish songs, such as "Scots wha has wi' Wallace Bled," "Annie Laurie," "Bonnie Doon," "Oh Wert Thou in the Cauld Blast." When these exercises are concluded the guests are invited to an adjoining room, were are served the simple dishes that constitute the principal articles of diet in Scotland, oatmeal "parritch," which is oatmeal cooked to the consistency of thick mush, oatcakes, a simple cake made of oatmeal, with little or no sweetening, and for a drink buttermilk. Such a lunch will hardly be likely to cause troubled dreams.

FIG. 5. A BROWNIE.

The Brownies were a race of beings fabled to dig and delve beneath the surface of the earth, and having the general appearance of old men. By the magic spell of a few words of brown cambric they can be induced to leave their haunts in the heart of the mountain, and come to help us pass a delightful evening. The costume (see Fig. 5) consists of a loose waist, short skirt, and leggings of the brown cambric, also white hair, a long, white beard, and a pointed cap, and in the hand is carried a spade. The Brownies could appropriately read selections from Robert and Mrs. Browning, and serve refreshments, consisting of chocolate cake, chocolate ice cream, and chocolate as a drink, their shovels being used as waiters. Quotations from the Brownings may be written on cards as souvenirs. Robin Hood and his merry men, who used to wander through the forests of Old England, will add a touch of brightness at any social gathering. They should be clad in green—the color the band always wore—and the costume is easily fashioned of cambric. It consists of a loose waist, short skirt and a round cape, draped over one shoulder. A cap resembling a Tam o' Shanter is trimmed with a long, white plume, and this, with low shoes, black stockings, wound with red braid, and bow and arrow, completes the costume (see Fig. 6). Let the band come into the room together running at full speed, with drawn bows. "Under the Greenwood Tree," and hunting songs can be appropriately sung by them.

FIG. 6. ROBIN HOOD.

"German Syrup"

Here is something from Mr. Frank A. Hale, proprietor of the De Witt House, Lewiston, and the Tontine Hotel, Brunswick, Me. Hotel men meet the world as it comes and goes, and are not slow in sizing people and things up for what they are worth. He says that he has lost a father and several brothers and sisters from Pulmonary Consumption, and is himself frequently troubled with colds, and his Hereditary often coughs enough to make him sick at Consumption his stomach. Whenever he has taken a cold of this kind he uses Boschee's German Syrup, and it cures him every time. Here is a man who knows the full danger of lung troubles, and would therefore be most particular as to the medicine he used. What is his opinion? Listen! "I use nothing but Boschee's German Syrup, and have advised, I presume, more than a hundred different persons to take it. They agree with me that it is the best cough syrup in the market."

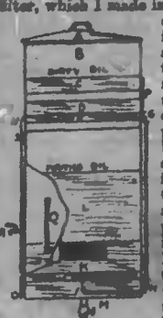
A Home-Made Filter.

A simple, inexpensive and effective oil filter, which I made in 1884 and have used ever since, is shown in the accompanying sketch. It is not patented, and your readers are free to make and use it. The oil to be purified is poured into the chamber B, passes through a coarse strainer C, into the chamber D, thence through a fine strainer E, cock G, pipe H, and elbow I, into the water space K. It then rises to the surface of the water through the filter J, and is ready to be drawn off from the chamber L through the cock R as required.



HOME-MADE OIL FILTER.

The filter is made of porous material, such as bone charcoal, about as fine as coarse sand. This is perhaps the best material for the purpose, though sponge, coarse sand, or sawdust may be used. When it becomes dirty, I take out the filling, wash it thoroughly with potash and replace it.

In the sketch, A is the cover, M is a clean-out cock, and N, O, is a ¾-inch steam pipe, which forms two heating coils, one in chamber D and one in K. These coils keep the oil and water hot, only enough steam being used to condense in its passage through and drip from the pipe at O. The two upper sections are removable for cleaning, couplings at S and P allowing the pipe to separate. P is the steam inlet, and Q is a gauge glass, the use of which is obvious. It may be thought that the oil would be injured by heating, but the temperature is never very high; and I have handled all kinds of oil without the least damage to them.—Power.

Answers to a Variety of Questions.

Writes a lady: "Will you kindly tell me, through your columns, if you know of any book on the chemistry of cooking? Would it not prove a subject of interest to all for a talk in your department? It seems to me as if some knowledge of the reasons for doing these familiar things, for putting such and such ingredients together to give such and such effects, would give additional interest to the performance of them."

There are two excellent works on the subject: "The Chemistry of Cooking and Cleaning," by Mrs. Ellen H. Richards, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and "The Chemistry of Cookery," by Mattieu Williams. Perhaps it will be possible, in the near future, to carry out the suggestions in regard to the scientific reasons why certain things are to done in household work.

A letter from a girl asks if it will be possible to have some dining-room doors painted, the old paint being so smooth that she fears new paint will not adhere. Painters say that the smoother the surface the better; so there need be no difficulty on that score.

A subscriber asks how she shall prepare a black walnut suite of furniture previous to painting it white. If she will rub every part with sandpaper and then shellac it, the furniture can be painted when dry.

Cement for repairing broken china, that will stand washing, is wanted. I know of nothing that will resist water, although that quality is claimed for many cements. If the china or glass be thick enough, and the piece or pieces large enough to hold fine rivets, it can be riveted together, and will be as firm as ever.

Fish Cakes.—Take any cold fish which is left (boiled is best), pick out all the bones and skin, pick fine, chop enough cold boiled potatoes to make twice the quantity of fish you have, beat up an egg and stir in, make into round cakes and fry in a kettle of hot fat.

A correspondent says that she made a lot of fruit cake, using wine and orange and lemon-juice, hoping to keep it through part of the winter; but it has begun to mould. Fruit cake, she should understand, should be wrapped in paper, placed in tin boxes, and kept in a cool, dry place. She can scrape off the mould, steam the cake for an hour or more, and then dry off in the oven. When perfectly cold put away as suggested. Her mistake was in putting it in stone and in the cellar, which is apt to be damp.

A Western girl asks why raisins fall to the bottom of a cake. Raisins should not be put in a cake that has a very thin batter. When it is heated it becomes thinner, and there is nothing to sustain them. Roll the fruit in flour, and stir into the cake very lightly, and at the last moment.—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Fair Ophelia.

'I thought thy bride bed to have decked, sweet maid
And not have strewed thy grave.'

The Danish queen was not an exemplary wife, but was doubtless sincere in her grief at Ophelia's death. In every land we see the purest and sweetest of Eve's daughters gathered to early graves. A perfectly reliable cure for female complaints is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a medicine beyond all praise, which has saved many a young life threatened by the insidious approach of disease. For chronic female derangements, weak back, lassitude, nervousness and poor appetite, it is without an equal; a generous tonic, a safe nervine, purely vegetable, and warranted to give satisfaction or the price ($) refunded. This guarantee is always adhered to. Of all druggists. b

Health Department.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

By constipation is meant irregular action of the bowels, often called costiveness, and commonly caused by dyspepsia, neglect excess in eating or drinking, etc. It is a serious complaint and not to be neglected under any circumstances, as it leads to impure blood, headache, debility, fevers, etc. A uniformly successful remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters, which, if faithfully tried, never fails to effect a prompt and lasting cure even in the worst cases. The following extract from a letter from Mr. Jos. M. Carson, Banff, will speak for itself:— I have been troubled with constipation and general debility and was induced to use your B.B.B. through seeing your advertisement. I now take great pleasure in recommending it to all my friends, as it completely cured me." dw

Sentenced to Death.

ALBANY, June 13.—Walter Nelson has been sentenced to be executed at Clinton Prison by electricity the week beginning July 25. He took his sentence calmly and did not show any sign of fear, a smile playing about his lips. Nelson is 27 years old, and was convicted of murdering his wife, 20 years of age, by cutting her throat with a razor. The crime occurred on Sunday, December 23, and by his own confession was premeditated, he having made an attempt the week prior. Nelson went to the house where his wife was staying and asked to see her. She came out on the steps and he seized her by the throat, dragging her about 18 feet away, stifling her cries, laid her upon the ground, and drew a razor across her neck, almost severing the head from the body. In his confession he said he was sorry he did not cut her head off so that he could send it to her sister.

Another Bicycle Record Broken.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—Frank Walker of Oakland yesterday rode 363 miles 1596 yards on a bicycle in 24 hours, breaking the world's record of 361 miles 1446 yards, held by W. A. Pelham. He started at 6 o'clock Friday evening on the Alameda Bicycle Club's track, and rode continuously until 6 o'clock last evening. He rode the first 12 miles in 30 minutes 46⅗ seconds, and 19 miles 500 yards in the first hour.

THE CRONIN MURDER.

The State Attorney Said to be in Possession of a Confession.

CHICAGO, June 13.—A family quarrel has led to some startling revelations in connection with the Cronin murder. State Attorney Longenecker, it is hinted, has not only much information recently gathered about it, but has something tangible to support and verify the latest revelations. He has in his possession the instrument with which Dr. Cronin was killed, which turns out to be a stone-cutter's chisel, and not the ice-pick of O'Sullivan. It is said he has under observation and has seen the wagon which carried the trunk and the doctor's body to the catch-basin in Lake View, and it is further said that he has a confession or document in his possession embodying the above information and much more of an equally startling and sensational character. The State Attorney does not admit the assertions.

HIS ADVENTURES OVER.

He Was Twice Sentenced to be Shot and Was on Maximilian's Staff.

PHŒNIX, Ariz., June 13.—Pablo Pera, a Mexican exile, has just died in this city, aged ninety-one. Fifty years ago he was one of the most active men in Mexican politics. He was twice sentenced to be shot, but made his escape into Central America. He espoused the cause of Maximilian and held a position on his staff.

Expelled From Russia.

BERLIN, June 13.—It is announced here that Penitency Bigelow, the well-known American traveler and writer, has been expelled from Russia.

Feeling in Germany.

BERLIN, June 13.—The course of the Republican convention at Minneapolis was followed with the greatest interest in political circles here, where it was generally expected and hoped that Mr. Blaine would be successful, not because Mr. Blaine was liked, but because his success would have been regarded as a partial rebuff to the McKinley policy, which the German manufacturers are still smarting under. All here are in sympathy with the Democrats. While the personal character of President Harrison and the ability of Mr. Reid are universally conceded, little attempt is made to conceal the hope that they will be beaten at the polls. The leaders in the newspapers reflect the general feeling.

THAT THORNY PROBLEM.

HOME RULE IS THE QUESTION OF THE HOUR.

Date of the Dissolution Announced — Elections Next Month—Priests Against Parnellites—Mr. Gladstone's Campaign —Election Fever—What "Member of Parliament" Says.

LONDON, June 14.—The House of Commons presents a dreary spectacle this month. Few of us put in more than an irregular attendance, for we have to hold the fort in our various constituencies, and a close siege is being laid by our adversary.

We have not so much time in preparation as is allowed in the Presidential canvass. Parliament will be dissolved on the 25th, and in less than 10 days all the borough elections will be over, and by the third week in July we shall know the result everywhere. It is not a question of waiting four or five months for the verdict.

Mr. Gladstone Lends Off.

Mr. Gladstone begins the campaign next week, first fortifying himself with a dinner at the Garrick Club with some of his supporters. Mr. Balfour cannot look after his election until all is over in Parliament. The rest of us are left to do the best we can for ourselves. Meanwhile we flit about the House like so many ghosts. The necessary business has to be wound up. The Government finds itself with little or no opposition.

The Conservatives are decidedly more impatient for the fight to begin than the Gladstonians. "Home Rule" when put straight to the people seems a nauseous dose to swallow. It may be gulped down, but the Gladstonians evidently have grave doubts about it. The Unionists are growing more confident every day, and so the rival armies stand at present.

The Parnellites.

The interesting thing is what is to become of the Parnellites. One or two agents have been over here from the United States to enquire into the position of affairs, and I believe have gone back rather puzzled. The Parnellites under Mr. T. Harrington and John Redmond at present number 30 men in the House of Commons—a formidable contingent, if they hold their own, and they might be able to decide the fate of the next government, but the anti-Parnellites, backed by the priests, are confident that of these 30 seats they can capture 24, leaving a miserable remnant of six to represent the views of the late "uncrowned king" in the next Parliament. This, of course, means simply annihilation. Mr. Redmond has gone to America to see if he can get pecuniary help, but the anti-Parnellites do not care about that. They say that with or without money they can put the Parnellites to total rout. In that case about 79 Irish votes in Parliament will be cast for Mr. Gladstone as long as he obeys the bidding of the owners thereof; when he resists they will cast them for the Conservatives. The old game of see-saw is to be renewed.

The One Issue.

I can scarcely find anybody in the House whose seat is not being contested except the lucky members for the universities, and so long as they behave themselves they are all right.

The labor eight hours party is creating divisions in some places and the temperance people are beating their big drums in all directions. We shall in the main fight out the battle on the plain, simple issue, "Will or will you not give Ireland an independent and separate Parliament and practically remove her from the control of England?" On that question the majority returned an emphatic "No" in 1886. Have they jumped right-round without a special cause or reason assigned? Are they now prepared to pay "Yes"? This really is the sole matter in controversy. The most skilful electioneers admit they cannot do more than guess the verdict which will shortly be delivered.

Statement by Balfour in the Imperial House.

LONDON, June 14.—In the House of Commons Mr. Balfour, the Government leader, stated that Parliament would be dissolved between June 19 and 25.

Mr. Balfour added that the Government would conclude the Irish Education and several other bills before Parliament was dissolved, but it would be impossible to proceed with the Irish Local Government Bill.

Mr. Thomas Sexton (McCarthyite), member for West Belfast, declared that the Irish would strenuously oppose the Irish Education Bill at every stage.

Timely Letter From the Archbishop of Canterbury On the Topic.

In view of the near approach of the general election, the Archbishop of Canterbury was approached with a suggestion that he should invite to a private conference the leaders of the different denominations. The Archbishop has written the following reply to a correspondent:

"LAMBETH PALACE, S.E., June 1, 1892.

"Dear Sir,—There can be no doubt that all religious men agree with you that persons judicially condemned on grounds of immorality of all kinds are not proper legislators. A conference of religious men declaring that they thought so would not carry their own opinion or other people's opinion any further, but, if it did not rest there, it would, I believe, soon find itself resolved into semi-political caucuses from which the religious character would mainly disappear. What does seem to me infinitely more effective than any conceivable result of a conference is that all religious people should by their action and influence aid in the choice of representatives and in the tasks they would impose upon them assert the already existent common understanding. When this seems to be defective preachers should do their plain duty of endeavoring to restore or raise the sense that morals are life to the community. Believe me, yours very truly,

"(Signed) EDWARD CANTUAR."

Livingstone, W. C. Sanderson, A. J. Jackson, Thomas Scott and H. A. Fish were permitted to attend college. Rev. Dr. Stone and Rev. L. W. Hill were appointed auditors. Albert College presented its report through Rev. G. Webber. There are 43 pupils preparing for matriculation there.

The Superannuation Fund report came next, Rev. James Gray presenting it. He reported the permanent fund as $185,153.93 and the annual fund as $83,684.67. The General Conference fund amounts to $6305.77, of which Toronto sends $647.10. This closed the work of the morning session.

The Memorial Committee was next on the list. Its report suggested the appointment of a committee to assist the Prisoners' Aid Association. Then came the Contingent Fund, reporting $1043 on hand. Some cases were referred back after a smart discussion, in which Rev. Dr. Stone took a leading part. The question was whether all cases submitted for aid be allowed and a percentage of each claim be paid, or whether each case in succession be paid in full, and when the funds were exhausted the remaining cases be thrown over.

Cigarets Avaunt!

Then came the Temperance Committee with an important report, which provoked a good deal of discussion. The first recommendation was that in all Sabbath schools there be placed pledge books, with two pledges, one against the use of liquor, the other against the use of profane and obscene language and of tobacco. These pledges the superintendents are to see signed by teachers and pupils as far as possible. Temperance text books for the public schools were favored. The cent-in-the-slot cigaret machines were vigorously condemned. Still another clause recommended that no man not a total abstainer and ready to use his voice and influence for prohibition receive the votes of church members in running for any municipal or other office. The Dominion Alliance's suggestion as to the appointment of a representative of the temperance interests upon the Royal Commission was approved.

Shall Ministers Be Detectives?

There was a clause suggesting that a column be inserted in the circuit schedule saying if members were total abstainers. This brought on a vigorous dispute and finally the clause was struck out.

"There are other questions we might ask," said Dr. Sutherland; "we might ask how many had voted for temperance candidates, and we might get unpleasant results."

Dr. Stone genially alluded to the clause as to the one making ministers detectives. The clause referring to opposition of non-prohibition members called forth more discussion. Rev. Dr. Sutherland presented in addition a motion that the conference feels that the liquor traffic cannot be crushed as long as the political parties are committed to the policy of license, and that the parties will not change until Christian voters withhold their support. Rev. Mr. Blackstock pointed out that this was endorsing the policy of the Roman Catholic Church. Rev. Dr. Dewart was also unwilling to commit the conference to a third party movement. Finally it was carried by a vote of 93 to 32.

The Sunday School Committee reported. The un-Canadian character of some Sunday School literature was condemned, thus reaching with ex-Ald. J. B. Boustead's thorough approval. The new hymnals were highly praised and recommended to all Sunday schools. The suggestion of appointing a traveling Sunday school agent was reported against. The report was accepted.

IT'S THE WEAR THAT TELLS!

Reader, may we ask you a question? Did you ever purchase a suit of clothes that looked exceedingly well, but which when it came to be worn proved to be as mean shoddy as could be scared up? Well, there is plenty of just such clothing in the market to-day. The place where you can be sure to find no such stuff is at GRAFTON & CO.'S, 393 George Street, Peterborough. Fine foreign fabrics at remarkably low prices is what you will find there. There you will be certain to obtain something that will not only be satisfactory in price but will also give satisfactory service. Every garment we sell is made up in our own factory in Dundas, of cloths directly imported by us, or from Canadian Tweeds. Before leaving our factory, every garment is closely examined and its actual cost computed. It is then marked at the lowest possible price, and as we are direct importers as well as manufacturers and retailers we can sell fine goods at first cost or from twenty to thirty per cent. cheaper than any other merchant. Our $9 Brighton Overcoat and our $7.50 London Sack Suits are but two of the many bargains we are now offering.

Full English Cassimere Suit - -	$9.00 to $17.00	Aberdeen Cassimere Suit - -	$14.00 to $16.50

THE LEAFY MONTH OF JUNE.

Sunshades and Parasols combined with Summer Silks and Blouses, are the pleasant reminders for this month and constitute the true medium for keeping cool under a June sun. These can be found in great abundance and variety at the Golden Lion, and the figures we have marked them at will give them a ready sale.

Gloves, tor, and Hosiery; well, no lady cares to go shabby in these articles of dress. There is no part of a lady's outfit which she can less afford to neglect. How well this store knows from long experience what's required in both these lines, need not be dwelt on. What you want is sure to be found in our extensive stock.

Carpets are yet an item both interesting and seasonable. The softening in of really warm weather affords an opportunity to complete changes in household arrangements. We have to thank the many customers who have already made their selections, and beg leave to say, notwithstanding the run on our stock, that we are still in a position to do the leading carpet trade.

In Curtains, we keep pace with the times in new designs. If you buy from us you will get the pick of the best markets.

REDISTRIBUTION BILL

PASSED ITS SECOND READING AT OTTAWA.

The Measure Is Now in Committee—Sir John Thompson and Rev. Dr. Douglas—Chinese Immigration—Railway Passenger Rates.

OTTAWA, June 15.—At last the Redistribution Bill has been advanced a stage the second reading being passed on a vote of 97 for to 60 against, and the House getting into committee and passing the first clause, which fixes the number of members in the House from each province.

Yesterday's debate was very slow with the exception of the speech of Mr Mills, which was carefully prepared and full of information. The balance of the debate on Mr. Somerville's amendment was taken up by the Prince Edward Island members, Messrs. Davies, Macdonald, Yeo, McLean and Perry speaking in the order named, after which the amendment was lost, 59 for to 95 against.

In the committee an attack was made by Mr. Mills and other members of the Opposition on British Columbia's representation, which it was claimed should only be four instead of six. This called forth the ire of the British Columbia members, and Messrs. Mara, Cerbould and Gordon jumped on the Opposition in great shape, pointing out that they had always tried to hamper and injure British Columbia.

Sir John Thompson said that British Columbia entered the union on what was to all intents and purposes a treaty, which fixed her minimum representation at six. It could not be reduced, although it might be increased when the population warranted it.

The clause then passed and the committee reported progress.

Rev. Dr. Douglas' Attack.

In an interview with an intimate friend to-day Sir John Thompson, in answer to the question whether he intended to reply to the attack of Rev. Dr. Douglas in the Methodist Conference, said: "It would be idle to give reasons to those who do not believe that a man may conscientiously become a Catholic."

Chinese Immigration.

It appears that Mr. Gordon's bill amendment to the Chinese immigration act is not to be on the order paper in the annual "slaughter of the innocents," as Hon. Mr. Chapleau gives notice to-night that he will move that it be removed from private bills and orders to Government orders, which means that it will come up for discussion, but it by no means follows that the Government will not oppose it.

Railway Passenger Rates.

Mr. W. F. Maclean of East York gave notice last night of a very important amendment he proposes moving on the third reading of the bill amending the act incorporating the Midland Railway company. It is as follows: "Nothing in any bylaw or regulation of the company, whether approved of by the Railway Committee of the Privy Council or not, shall be so construed as to allow any rate of fare for way passengers greater than two cents per mile to be charged or taken over the track or tracks of such company." Although this applies to the Midland rate above, it is understood that Mr. Maclean will suggest to the Minister of Railways and Canals that it might be incorporated in the Railway Act and made to apply to all railways in Canada.

RETALIATION.

What the Persecution of Southern Negroes May Bring About.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 15.—Albion W. Tourgee said yesterday: "If there is not a marked change in the attitude of the country toward the colored race we shall have within the next 10 years a massacre such as has not been paralleled since the French revolution. I am amazed that the negro has been so patient under the intense persecution which he has had to endure. Since the proclamation of emancipation there have been more colored men murdered by whites in the south than there have been days in all the years which have elapsed, and yet in this fearful array of crimes justice has avenged only four. The persecution which is showered upon the negro in the south knows no amelioration. The Christian Church endorses slavery and has transmitted to its adherents the hatred of the race." Judge Tourgee also expressed the opinion warmly that the Republican party was not doing its duty toward the colored men.

Mortality Through the Heat.

NEW YORK, June 15.—With the excessive warm weather comes an increase in the number of deaths throughout this city. On Sunday 106 deaths were reported and yesterday 100. The increase was particularly heavy in the tenement districts. A number of persons succumbed to the heat in the streets yesterday.

Accident to the Scotch Express.

LEEDS, June 15.—The Scotch express on the Midland Railway ran into an engine at the Leeds station yesterday. Seven persons were severely injured.

British Sailors Die from Cholera.

CALCUTTA, June 15.—Six of the crew of the British ship Croftin Hall, which put back to this port a few days after sailing for Hull, have died from cholera.

Italy is Willing.

ROME, June 15.—The Government has notified Mr. Porter, the American Minister, that Italy accepts the invitation to take part in the international monetary conference.

Barracks Fired by Lightning.

BERLIN, June 15.—The barracks and forage stores at Bayreuth were struck by lightning and entirely consumed.

The Colonies and Great Britain.

MELBOURNE, June 15.—The Victorian Cabinet has expressed its willingness to take part in an international congress on the colored labor question, such as has been proposed by the Hon. T. Playford, Premier of South Australia. Mr. Vale, who recently introduced the motion adopted by the Legislative Assembly condemning the Queensland Parliament for passing the Kanaka labor bill, has given notice of a motion declaring that the position of the colonies to Great Britain, and to one another is unsatisfactory. The resolution further declares that any change that may be made should be made in the direction of allowing the colonies to impose differential duties on foreign products in favor of other colonies or the empire at large; that the British tariff should be made favorable to the products of the whole empire, and that the colonies should be granted a voice in the foreign policy of the empire.

HON. EDWARD BLAKE

INVITED TO CONTEST AN IRISH CONSTITUENCY.

Five of the Irish Leaders Send Him a Cablegram Inviting Him to Stand at the General Election—The Great Canadian Has Not Given a Definite Reply—He is in Correspondence With the Home Rule Leaders.

TORONTO, June 15.—That Edward Blake would hold a seat in the Imperial Parliament was discussed very much some years ago when he paid a visit to the British Isles and took part in some public meetings there. He met Mr. Gladstone then and spoke for him in Midlothian, besides meeting Mr. Justin McCarthy and other leaders of the Irish Home Rule party. It was not, therefore, such a surprise when the rumor was circulated yesterday that Mr. Blake had received an invitation from the leaders of the Home Rule party in Ireland to accept a nomination for an Irish seat at the forthcoming election in Great Britain. The Telegram published the substance of the despatch and a World reporter waited upon Mr. Blake and showed him this publication. Mr. Blake said he had not authorized the publication of the despatch, but said that he had received such a communication.

The Cablegram.

Hon. E. Blake, Toronto:

Irish parliamentary party unanimously invites you to accept an Irish seat at the General Election.

JUSTIN MCCARTHY.
JOHN DILLON.
MICHAEL DAVITT.
T. M. HEALY.
WM. O'BRIEN.

As to whether he would accept the proffered seat in the British House of Commons, Mr. Blake declined to make a statement.

Evidence of the favor with which he regards the proposition, however, was apparent in his remark that he was now in communication with the Irish leaders on the matter. It is probable also that the offer was not wholly a surprise to the Hon. Edward, and altogether his attitude bespeaks a strong probability that he may soon take a seat at Westminster.

FEARFUL RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

An Engine and 16 Cars Fall Through a Trestle—Engineer, Conductor and Fireman Killed—Others Injured.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., June 15.—A frightful wreck occurred at the trestle spanning the Lopeconie Hollow on the K.C.M. & L. R.R. yesterday afternoon at 2.15 o'clock.

Freight engine No. 10 with 16 loaded box cars went through the trestle to the ground below, falling a distance of 230 feet.

The engineer, Frank Sargent, fireman Henry Slater and conductor Duckworth were killed outright. Four are mortally wounded and six others slightly hurt.

The northbound passenger train, with 100 passengers, was only saved by being half an hour late. A special from this place went to the scene of the wreck and brought back the dead and injured.

Three colored brakemen jumped just as the last span of the trestle gave away.

THE GENERAL VICTORIOUS.

Rumor That the Venezuelan President Has Fled the Country.

NEW YORK, June 15.—A special to The Herald from Curacoa says intelligence has reached there from Caracas, capital of Venezuelae, that President Palacio is a fugitive, and that the revolution is within a few hours of ending in favor of General Crespo. It is difficult to verify the report on account of the demoralized condition of the country and the strict censorship exercised over all telegraphic and cable despatches, but the news comes from a most reliable source. Palacio is said to have taken refuge on a vessel at La Guayra.

KING OF HIS TRADE.

Capture of a Notorious Burglar—A Valuable Lot of "Swag" Recovered.

NEW YORK, June 15.—James Wallace, alias John Scanlan, the most notorious flat house robber in the country, is a prisoner at police headquarters. In his house were found $10,000 worth of watches, jewelry, clocks, pictures and numerous pawn tickets. On Wallace's confession several pawnbrokers were arrested. A large portion of the stolen property has been identified by the thief's victims.

Four Killed at a Fire.

ROME, June 15.—A cask of benzine was ignited accidentally by a match in a shop in Pavia to-day. The cask exploded, the floor and ceiling collapsed and the building caught fire at once on the first and second floors. Four persons were killed and five were injured. The fire was extinguished shortly.

A Cyclone Brings Death and Destruction.

PEORIA, Ill., June 15.—Word has reached this city that Galva, a town in Henry County, 45 miles north of here, was wrecked by a cyclone last evening. Several persons are known to be killed and many buildings were destroyed.

THE CHOLERA

Persians Dying at the Rate of 400 Daily —Sanitary Precautions.

LONDON, June 15.—The mortality from cholera at Meshad, Persia, has reached 400 daily. Business is completely suspended. The Persian Government has ordered that a military cordon be placed around Teheran. The Russian Government is taking rigorous and expensive measures to prevent the entry of cholera into Russia, and has persuaded the Ameer of Bokhara to cleanse his capital and put it in a sanitary condition. The sanitary operations nearly caused a native revolt, and the Ameer had to threaten beheading as the penalty for non-compliance with the new regulations.

The Celebration at Kevelaer.

DUSSELDORF, June 15.—The village of Kevelaer in this district was thronged by a crowd of people to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the foundation of the chapel enshrining the miraculous image of the Virgin to which for hundred of years pilgrims have brought their sick to be cured. A train of clergy and Knights of Malta, followed by the Archbishop of Cologne and the Bishops of Muenster and Treves, left the Marienkirche and proceeded to the votive chapel, where they received the image with great ceremony, and returned to the Marienkirche, where the crown of gold, which the Pope has permitted to be placed on the Virgin's head, was consecrated by the Bishop of Muenster. Pontifical high mass was celebrated and a sermon preached by the Bishop of Treves. At the conclusion of the sermon the procession was reformed and the image was taken back to the votive chapel and replaced in the shrine.

IT WAS A DAY OF FIRE.

GREAT DESTRUCTION AND MANY LIVES LOST.

A Million Dollar Fire At Baltimore—Shipping And Wharves Burned—A Petroleum Ship Explodes And Is Blown to Pieces—Other Vessels Fired by the Burning Oil—Fifteen Lives Lost.

BORDEAUX, June 15.—A terrible accident occurred at the petroleum wharves in the harbor of Blaye, [illegible] miles northeast of this city on the Gironde river. The harbor was filled with vessels, [illegible] commanded by [illegible] arrived June [illegible] The usual routine [illegible] was being performed on board, when suddenly there was a flash and a tremendous roar and the vessel was blown to pieces. Huge fragments of the deck and deck houses were carried upward to a great height. The shock of the explosion alarmed the town, and hundreds of people rushed to the wharves to discover the cause of the noise. It was readily seen that the disaster was due to an explosion of gas that had formed from the petroleum comprising her cargo. Burning oil was floating on the water. This drifted with the tide, and several vessels lying at anchor near by were set on fire. Two or three other vessels were ignited by burning oil that fell on their decks or tarred riggings. The petroleum was burning furiously and the heat was so intense that it was dangerous for the many small boats that were launched to approach her. Dense volumes of stifling smoke hung over and around the burning steamer. Some of the more venturesome of the boatmen heard cries for help and rowed as closely as possible to the party. They succeeded in picking up 16 of her crew, three of her engineers and the second officer. Some of the rescued men were severely burned. They were taken ashore as rapidly as possible and physicians summoned to attend them. The survivors said there were 20 others on board the vessel when the explosion occurred, and search was made in the vicinity of the steamer for them, but not a body was found, and it is believed every one of those 20 men perished. The crews of the other vessels that caught fire did their utmost to quench the flames, but their efforts were fruitless, and some of the craft, mostly vessels engaged in the river and coasting trade, were burned to the water's edge.

The Lighters Sink—The Wharves Burned.

BORDEAUX, June 15.—The lighters near the Petrolia sank a few minutes after the explosion and three men who were aboard of them were drowned. The fire was communicated by burning oil to the landing stage, which was soon a mass of flames. The woods along the bank of the river were also set on fire and a quantity of valuable timber burned. The damage is very extensive.

BORDEAUX, June 15.—Further information from Blaye shows a thunderstorm was prevailing at the time the explosion occurred, and that the disaster was caused by lightning striking the vessel.

BORDEAUX, midnight.—Fifteen persons were killed by the explosion and fire.

Great Fire At the Rathbun Shops.

DESERONTO, June 15.—Fire broke out in the Rathbun Company's car shop this evening. At 6.45 an alarm was sounded and in a few minutes streams of water were pouring in from the different departments, but owing to the rapid progress of the fire the south end, where the fire originated, was soon consumed, together with the valuable machinery, car castings and lumber, which had been prepared and ready for the construction of new cars. This was completely destroyed. The loss is estimated between $15,000 and $17,000.

Great Fire At the Docks.

BALTIMORE, June 15.—Fire broke out on the Norfolk steamboat Caroline at Union Dock this afternoon. Nearly 1000 barrels of whisky were stowed on the dock with other inflammable merchandise. A large schooner caught fire from the steamer and getting loose floated about the harbor. The flames communicated to the fruit-packing house of W. W. Boyer & Co.

The Preacher's Pistol the Quickest.

BRISTOL, Tenn., June 15.—Rev J. W. Panell, a crippled preacher, and W. R. Davidson, a tough, became involved in a quarrel yesterday. Davidson whipped out a knife and was about to stab the preacher, when he got three bullets in succession in his body from the preacher's pistol. He died in a few minutes.

The preacher was arrested and given a preliminary hearing. He will probably be acquitted.

The Trial of Ravachol, the Anarchist.

PARIS, June 15.—The Court of Appeals has pronounced against the appeal of Ravachol, the Anarchist, who appealed against the decision of the Chamber of Write, which returned a true bill against him for the murder of Brunel, the hermit of Chambles, and for the murder of two ladies named Marcon at St. Etienne, and his trial has been fixed for June 20 before the Montbrison assizes. The jury will be selected by lots and their names will not be disclosed. This is to guard against Anarchist friends of the prisoner attempting to intimidate the jurors.

Success of the Canada Loan.

LONDON, June 15.—The tenders for the Canada loan of two and a quarter millions sterling have just closed. About seven millions were applied for and the loan was covered over three times. The minimum price was 91.

The price obtained is somewhat below the hopes first held out. Tenders at £91 18s 6d got 50 per cent. and all went at 91. The tenders numbered 500. In 1888 only 267 tenders were received for four millions, showing that the present loan has been taken by the smaller non-speculative holders.

Suburban Sanitation.

Report of the Medical Health Officer, Mr. Clarke, to the Ashburnham Board of Health, Presented at the Recent Meeting.

To the Chairman and Members of the Ashburnham Board of Health:

GENTLEMEN,—In presenting my report for the year 1891 I have pleasure in stating that, although in common with nearly every municipality in the Province, the death rate shows a slight increase on the preceding year, still it is so slight and the rate so low that there is reason for congratulation. In 1890 the rate was 12.5 per thousand, and this year 12.7. The increase may be safely assumed to be due not so much to local conditions as to those morbid influences which have prevailed for the last two years over the whole world. Three cases of diphtheria, one of which proved fatal, two of typhoid fever, constitute the record of infectious diseases. In each case the patient was completely isolated and disinfection thoroughly performed with the result that only one case occurred in each house.

The slaughter house question was on a much more satisfactory basis last year. The owner of the one about which most complaints were made moved out of the village during the summer and the others being mainly at the outskirts caused very little nuisance. Your officers made regular inspections throughout the year, and as a rule the places were found in good order.

Pigs were kept only at the slaughter houses at the lower end of the village. As no complaints of importance were made about these we did not interfere with them, but insisted upon the pens being kept in good order. A few pigs are still found every year hidden away in different parts of the village, so carefully that only the closest inspection reveals them.

House to house inspections have been made throughout the year, and notices served where necessary. The majority of premises are kept in good order, but some few need constant looking after. Garbage and ...ements are removed to a greater extent each year. I am continually recommending the use of cheap disinfectants constantly around yards and premises even where no disease exists. That prevention is better than cure is the key-note of all health operations. Earth closets are exchanged for privy vaults very slowly, but as the latter are kept in much better condition than formerly, it is not a matter of very great sanitary importance, especially when we see what nuisances earth closets become when not properly looked after.

Many complaints have been sent in which have been attended to as well as possible. The greatest difficulty arises where the complaint refers to something offensive to the senses and yet not positively detrimental to the public health. In such cases your officers have done the best they could.

Samples of well water have been sent in from time to time for analysis. The principal cause of impurity is inattention to the provisions of the Health Act, which requires that all wells shall be cleaned out before the first of July in each year. This is sometimes hard to enforce, or rather easy to evade, but it is of great importance.

Nine samples of milk have been sent in during the year, which have been found to be watered considerably. If this becomes common, as seems to be the case, milkmen will have to be licensed and regular inspections made.

I inspected St. Joseph's Hospital and found it in a good sanitary condition, the refuse and excreta being disposed of in such a way as to create no nuisance. I also inspected the public school building which is in a much better condition than it was a few years ago.

I would direct the attention of the Board to an Order-in-Council of the Lieutenant-Governor, dated 23rd December last, which requires much more stringent precautions to be taken where a case of diphtheria occurs. Among other points, if the case be fatal, it is ordered that the Medical Health Officer shall cause the body to be enveloped in a sheet thoroughly saturated with a solution of mercuric chloride in the proportion of one in five hundred parts. An outer sheet shall also be applied to prevent evaporation. As soon as possible the body shall be placed in a coffin and surrounded by a quantity of chloride of lime and the coffin shall be immediately thereafter permanently closed. It shall also be his duty to see that the funeral be strictly private. These requirements are of great importance and it will be necessary to see that they are strictly enforced.

I would also call the attention of the Board to the necessity for providing a dumping ground for cinders and refuse. The village is growing, and as scavenging is now carried on very considerably the scavengers are at a loss to know what to do with refuse.

Appended is the sanitary inspector's report.

I remain, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
J. CLARKE,
Medical Health Officer.

Cold Springs, Otonabee.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

It is seldom that it is our sad duty to chronicle in the same week the death of two of our old and respected residents. On Wednesday, June 8th, Mr. David Thompson passed away at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Peter Gillespie, at the advanced age of seventy-three years. The deceased was a native of Ireland and came to this country many years ago. Two daughters and one son remain to mourn his loss. In politics he was a staunch Reformer. He was a member of St. Paul's church, Peterborough.

On Friday, June 10th, Mr. Andrew Heslip, another of our old residents, died at the residence of Mr. Thomas Heston. He also came from Ireland to this country many years ago, and spent a great part of his life in Otonabee. Some years ago, he and his brother retired from farming and went to live at Ashburn. His brother has since died, and now he himself, the last of a family of two sisters and six brothers, has gone the way of all flesh at the ripe old age of eighty-four. The bereaved relatives of both of these deceased residents, to whom, we trust, death was but the portal through which they entered into life eternal, have the sympathy of the entire neighborhood in their bereavement.

As a mark of respect to the memory of the late Mr. Heslip, whose funeral was on Sunday afternoon, the Cold Springs Union Sunday School closed for the day. The lesson thus missed will be taken up next Sabbath instead of the review of the quarter's lesson.

THE FORCE OF HABIT.

WE have read of an old lady who for many years regularly pawned her silver teapot every Monday morning and took it out again every Saturday night. She had lost sufficient by paying interest to the pawn-brokers to buy several new pots, but it seems she could never get even with her creditors without sacrificing the tea-brewer at the beginning of the week. That was simply from the force of habit. The policy-holder is apt to get into the same habit when the premium on his policy is to be paid. Is there a dividend? Yes; then he must use that in payment of the premium. Many policy-holders having become used to paying full premiums in cash do so to the end, and the result is a wonderful accumulation, showing an investment rarely equalled in the history of finance. Some policy-holders will be persistent for a few years in their cash payments and then begin to use the dividends to pay the premiums. Having once begun they rarely stop the practice, and year after year they find it impossible to pay the premiums in any other way. They simply cease to save and lose the advantages which the Canada Life offers every investor in its policies.

Mothers' Errors

How Death Reaps the Harvest of Little Ones!

NOTWITHSTANDING the warnings of physicians, mothers will persist in feeding their infants with cow's milk of doubtful quality. This fatal error is made principally in our larger cities and towns; and from this source alone death reaps a rich harvest of little innocents.

Mothers during the hot weather do not properly realize the dangers that beset the frail and puny infant. The little specimen of humanity has to contend with weak digestion, and the enervating and depressing effects of the weather. No wonder that diarrhœa, dysentery and cholera infantum take off so many children; the imperfect and poor dieting does the work.

If mothers act wisely, and value their infants' lives, they will use Lactated Food, and nothing else. Thousands of mothers in Canada know its value, and will not permit their little ones to be fed with any other preparation.

Lactated Food is specially prepared; it takes the place of mother's milk, as it contains all its nourishing qualities. Lactated Food does not tax the strength of the infant's stomach and digestive organs, as it is predigested. Lactated Food tones and strengthens the whole digestive system, and quickly builds up the child, causing it to rest and sleep well. Lactated Food is a blessing to child, mother and the household generally.

How Paris Buries Its Dead.

In every great city, says Edmund R. Spearman, in the April Forum, the poor live by the worldly vanities of the rich. In Paris they die in the same way. It is the manufacture of innumerable superfluities which makes up the bulk of the industry of the working classes. The French capital has developed an ingenious system by which the poor are furnished with a free burial at the expense of the "pride, pomp, and circumstance" which Dives considers his due on the way to the tomb. One of the largest, best managed, and most profitable industries in Paris is that of the Pompes Funebres, the gigantic monopoly which alone has the privilege of transporting the dead through the streets of Paris in funeral style. It possesses undertakers' material to the value of over four millions of francs, does some six millions a year of business, and turns over nearly two and a half millions of this as clear profit to its accredited owners, the church establishment of the city, after gratuitously and decently burying some three out of every five of the dead as indigent subjects.

Each country and each age have their own fashion of disposing of their dead, from the Patagonian who makes "lion meat" of his spouse back to the ancient Roman with his ancestral urns. Taken all in all, perhaps there is no more reasonable arrangement than that of the thrifty Parisian who manages to have each disposal of the dead carried out "decently and in order" through the exploitation of a love of lavish display in a minor portion of the community. One sees nothing of the ghastly side of the undertakers' work in visiting the vast premises which have been recently devoted to the use of the Pompes Funebres, away out in the extreme northeast of Paris, in La Villette. There we found only "the trappings and the suits of woe," the materials for the funeral decorations and the funeral corteges. Take it altogether, a ramble over the establishment is one of the most interesting sights of the city.

Characteristics of Hood's Sarsaparilla: The largest sale, the most merit, the greatest cures. Try it and realize its benefits.

Makes Flesh and Blood

When the system is all run down and there seems to be no hope of obtaining nourishment for the body by the ordinary process of food supply and digestion, when the body is sinking fast, that is the time to use Miller's Emulsion of pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil. It always works wonders, because it is a flesh and blood maker, and contains all the constituents for nourishment found in wheat, in fact Miller's Emulsion is a perfect "staff of life," and has saved and cured thousands. DID NOT ADAPT FROM DARWIN.

Denial of Taine's Declaration Regarding the Philosophy of Spencer.

A man from whom, on account of his own contributions to the study of psychology and of his wide and deep knowledge of England and English thought, a more correct judgment might have been looked for—I mean M. Taine—has thus summed up his view of Mr. Spencer's work: "Mr. Spencer possesses the rare merit of having extended to the sum of phenomena—to the whole history of nature and of mind—the two master-thoughts which for the past thirty years have been giving new form to the positive sciences, the one being Mayer and Joule's 'Conservation of Energy,' the other Darwin's 'Natural Selection.'" Now all this, to the extent to which expressly or by implication it relegates to Mr. Spencer merely the labors of an adapter, enlarger or popularizer of other men's thoughts, is entirely false and unfounded, says W. H. Hudson, in the Popular Science Monthly, ludicrously false and unfounded, as the general survey of Mr. Spencer's writings which we have just taken shows beyond the faintest shadow of a doubt. So far from its seeming "rather absurd" to credit to Mr. Spencer any great personal contribution to the formulation of the doctrine of evolution; so far from his being in any sense of the term a pupil or unattached follower of Darwin, we have seen that he had worked his own way independently from a different starting point and through an entirely dissimilar course of investigation, to a conception of evolution as a universal process underlying all phenomena whatsoever before Darwin himself had made public his special study of the operation of one of the factors of evolution in the limited sphere of the organic world. A simple comparison of dates will serve to make this point sufficiently clear. The first edition of the "Origin of Species" was published in the latter part of 1859. The essay on the "Development of Hypothesis" appeared in 1852; in 1855—or four years before the advent of Darwin's book—there came the first edition of the "Principles of Psychology," in which the laws of evolution (already conceived as universal) were traced out in their operations in the domain of mind; and this was followed in 1857 by the essay on "Progress; Its Law and Cause," which contains a statement of the doctrine of evolution in its chief outlines, and an inductive and deductive development of that doctrine in its application to all classes of phenomena. Spencer's independence of Darwin is thus placed beyond possibility of question.

High Polishing Wood.

For various ornamental purposes wood with a mirror polish is now being satisfactorily employed in Germany as a substitute for metal. In carrying out this plan the wood is suitably prepared by being first submitted to a bath of caustic alkali for two or three days at a temperature of about 175° Fah., then dipped into hydrosulphate of calcium for twenty-four to thirty-nine hours, after which a concentrated solution of sulphur is added. After being subjected to another dip in an acetate of lead solution at about 100° a shining metallic surface is imparted by polishing when dry with lead, tin or zinc.

A Word to the Wise.

Reason and Science admit that the irresistible craving for liquor, which causes a man to drink to excess, and makes of him an habitual drunkard, is a periodical disease.

The organic decomposition of regular food produces the heat and gases which form the natural stimulant of the human system. Whenever a new supply of this natural stimulant is needed hunger calls for it. But if the organism has been used to replace this natural stimulant—either partially, or, in some cases, almost completely—by an artificial one, by an alcoholic stimulant, then an uncontrollable thirst for alcohol calls for fresh supplies of the same, and takes the place of hunger.

HABIT IS A SECOND NATURE.—The organism which has been accustomed to the action of artificial stimulant is placed in a state of suffering by the sudden cessation or discontinuance of said action. This suffering is caused by the want and privation of an artificial stimulant which has not yet been replaced by the corresponding action of an additional portion of the natural stimulant.

These physiological laws were unknown to Medical Science until discovered by Dr. H. H. De Petterren, who has based upon them another discovery, a godsend to Humanity, his Antidote for Intemperance, known since 1878 under the name of The Father Mathew Remedy, which has proved an unfailing cure whenever used according to the directions, and which should now be found in the office of every physician who claims to keep pace with progress. 1d

THOMAS KELLY'S
DRY GOODS ESTABLISHMENT.

POSITIVE ALTERATION SALE!

About a year ago extensive alterations and improvements in our George and Simcoe Street premises were contemplated and publicly announced in good faith, and preparations were commenced to transform our store into one of the finest business premises in Peterborough. Unfortunately, owing to difficulties which arose at the time, we were compelled to postpone the work indefinitely. Now, however, we have determined that These Improvements must go on, no matter what the Cost. We, therefore, beg to announce that during the month of July, in order to allow these important alterations to be made, we will be of the premises altogether, for about a month. To avoid the expense and trouble of removing the goods, we have decided to sell off our whole stock, and will commence at once a SWEEPING CLEARANCE SALE of everything in the store. Nothing will be reserved during the next two months. The stock consists of regular Staple Goods—all new and fashionable—bought for this season's trade. THE SPLENDID VALUES which will be given will afford the greatest inducements to Dry Goods Buyers which have been offered for many years to the people of Peterborough.

To secure a complete clearance we are prepared to make great sacrifices in every department. PRICES WILL BE A SECONDARY MATTER! THE GOODS MUST GO! THERE WILL BE BARGAINS FOR EVERYBODY!

Come and buy now, if you want to reap the great benefit of the surrender of profits which must be made during this Positive Alteration Sale.

Saturday Afternoon Excursion.

The steamer Golden Eye will run a cheap excursion to Victoria Park on Saturday afternoon, the 18th June. Prof. Butcher's orchestra will be on the dancing scow. The boat will leave the Peterborough wharf at 2 p.m. and return at 8 p.m, remaining at Victoria Park for tea. Hot water provided on the boat. This will be the cheapest excursion in Canada—six hours dancing and a sail on the most beautiful river in Canada. Return tickets, 25 cents; children return tickets, 15 cents. Victoria Park is situated ten miles below the Locks. If patronized, this excursion will be continued every Saturday afternoon. 3d

Deare's Great Annual Picnic.

This great annual event will take place at Deare on Thursday, June 16th. A splendid programme of enjoyment has been prepared and a gala day will be enjoyed by all who attend. Among the attractions are a splendid dancing platform and orchestra. During the whole day the most beautiful of Ryedyks will be on exhibition. Remember that 'buses will leave the Grand Central hotel, Peterborough, for the picnic grounds at different times during the day. Don't forget the date—Thursday, June 16th—and don't forget that the 16th will be a great day for Deare and all who attend her annual picnic.

Farmers' Institute Picnic.

At Jubilee, 16th June. The greatest picnic of the season, farmers from Northumberland, Durham and Peterborough will assemble at Jubilee, where they will be addressed by the leading professional men of Canada on agriculture. Dancing music will be provided on all the boats for the young people. Tables will be provided in the park for lunching. Meals will be served in the hotel. Everybody will be allowed to fish. Mr. Gilchrist, overseer, will be at Jubilee to issue permits. Don't miss it if you want a good solid day's fun. "Golden Eye" will leave the Peterborough wharf at 7.30 a.m. Return tickets only 50c. d6d

A Day's Enjoyment.

A sail down the river to Jubilee Point at any time is of itself an attraction, but when to that is added a picnic with a full programme for entertainment the attraction should be irresistible. That is what is provided for on Thursday, June 23rd, when the Harwood R. C. picnic will be held at the Point. The steamer Golden Eye with palace barge attached will leave the wharf at 7.30, with Butcher's quadrille band on board, and will call at Hale's Bridge and Campbellstown. A special train will leave Cobourg at 9 a.m. and the steamer Beaver will ply between Harwood and the Point. It will be a great day for all who attend.

The Emeralds of Peterborough are running an excursion to Toronto on June 24th, and they make a special invitation to all the citizens of the town to attend. The Knights of St. John are meeting in convention in the Queen City on that day, and will parade in uniformed encampments to the number of 15,000. Such a sight will well repay any one who may take in the excursion, to say nothing of the delightful trip which one will enjoy over the G.T. Railway via Port Hope, leaving here at 6.40 a.m. and arriving in Toronto at 9. Tickets for round trip $1.75, children's tickets 90 cents, to be had at F. Fairen's and W. J. Devlin's, or from any of the committee. d

The Sewerage Question.

The council met in committee of the whole last night to discuss the sewerage committee's report which was submitted to the council at its last meeting. The council discussed the sewerage question in all its details until 12 o'clock. "We discussed it fine enough to split a hair," was the remark of a councillor this morning. The report of the committee as presented to the council was finally carried. Mr. Cahill's motion to engage the services of another engineer to submit plans and make levels was voted down, as also another motion of his to pay for the system by a general tax. The report recommends the two main sewers on George and Aylmer streets be paid for by a general tax, and that the expenses of the remainder of the system be covered by a fronting tax. The town solicitor will frame a bylaw immediately, and as soon as it gets in shape, the bylaw will be submitted to the people for their consideration at on once—all within the next five weeks.

County Court.

The Grand Jury Brings in its Report—Cases on.

The general sessions of the County court holden this Honor, Judge Weller, which began yesterday afternoon, are still in progress. The grand jury brought in its report at 10.30 o'clock this morning, which was as follows:

GRAND JURY'S REPORT.

PETERBOROUGH, June 15th, 1892.

To His Honor, Judge Weller:

We the Grand Jury, beg leave to present that we have inspected the gaol and have found it in excellent order, clean and neat, and are satisfied that the inmates have been properly fed and provided for. We have visited however, to find in the women's ward a lunatic who was reported at times to be very violent, and to such an extent even as to constitute a serious danger to Mrs. Nesbitt, the gaoler's wife, and the inmates. The immediate removal of accommodation in the Toronto Lunatic Asylum was given as the reason for her being there, and a reply to the last letter to the Principal on this subject was being anxiously awaited. We are strongly of the opinion that the Government should increase the accommodation of the lunatic asylum without delay, so that lunatics in this and other counties could be forwarded as soon as sufficient evidence of insanity should be forthcoming. Special provisions and precautions are necessary in this class of cases which cannot be supplied at county gaols. The present system of incarceration we consider to be to some extent an encouragement to vagrancy. We recommend therefore that vagrants and tramps and those convicted of minor offences, should be employed in work outside the gaol for the benefit of the town, such as breaking stones or other work on the streets. We do not consider the gaol a suitable place for the aged and infirm and those incapable of earning a living. The innocent and the guilty, in our judgment should be kept apart as far as possible. The gaol provides a home, clothing and food for the former and so far the action of the authorities is to be commended. The liberality, however, of the christian community might go much further than this. We therefore recommend that the county and town should unite to provide a House of Refuge, or, as we prefer to call it "A Home for the Friendless."

The details we leave to the representatives of the county and town, should they see fit to act on our recommendation, merely stating our opinion that a site should be selected in the country, a reasonable distance from the town—a farm property of not less than fifty acres, on which a suitable building should be be erected. This should be a commodious one, as the municipalities would have the right to reach people of the class indicated above, to "The Home for the Friendless." In such an establishment work could be provided, suitable to the capacities of the inmates. The aid that would be given them would to some extent be earned, and would at all events be free from the objection that must be felt to that now given them, as it is in the form of punishment.

From a report before us, that of the county of Ontario, it does not appear that the amount assessable against the various municipalities for this object would be excessive, and the amount needed could probably be spread over a number of years by the issue of bonds. The Government, moreover, would doubtless aid in a work of this kind. Several houses of industry or refuge have been established in other counties, that in the county of Waterloo as long ago as 1869, so that in this, our recommendation, we can point to the experience of others as a guide and encouragement. The report referred to above says:—Their erection appears to have obviated except in the smallest degree, grants to indigents by the minor municipalities. Had materially lessened the number of tramps and vagabonds, and had provided a comfortable home for the help'ess who otherwise would have suffered severely under the best means available to minor municipalities. Until such an establishment can be provided we recommend that the aged, needy and infirm and all innocent persons within the prison wall be allowed to wear their own clothes which will no doubt be supplemented by the liberality of private citizens and that they have the freedom of grounds attached to the county buildings under such restrictions as may be deemed advisable. With reference to grand juries generally we cannot suggest any better system than that now established.

All of which is respectfully submitted on behalf the grand jury.

CHAS. J. BLOMFIELD, Foreman.

His Honor thanked the jury for their kindness and expressed himself as heartily endorsing the remarks in the report concerning the finding of a Home for the Friendless in the county. He said he would bring that part of the jury's report before the county council for their consideration.

The case of GOLDSMITH ENGLISH vs. the SIMCOE MFG. CO. for the sum of $200 for services and expenses due him while acting as salesman for the said company, is still in progress. E. B. Edwards for plaintiff; W. H. Watson, Q.C., Toronto, for defendant.

Somebody Suffers.

Yes, somebody suffers when these great take-em-away-for-nothing sales are announced, but it isn't the promoters, it is the confiding public who are eventually the sufferers. The goods look all right, but wear them, and how soon you will be surprised when they fall to pieces. Our reputation for selling reliable, trusty, serviceable shoes is quite sufficient to draw people to our store. It wouldn't do for a house of established reputation to indulge in sensational half-off, below cost, give-away sales. There's a moral to all this. Buy the best at Kidd's the booters, and pay a reasonable price, and no more, and in the long run you will come off the winner. Kidd not only claims, but does sell the best of summer foot wear at the lowest living profit, at 376 George street.

Marriage Bells.

The Nuptials of Mr. R. O. Robbins, Omemee, and Miss Snowdon.

A happy event took place in the private parlour of the Snowdon House at nine o'clock this morning in the presence of about thirty guests. Mr. D. O. Robbins, the popular traveller for the large distillery of H. Corby, M. P., Belleville, was wedded to Miss Annie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Snowdon. The interesting ceremony was performed by Rev. C. B. Kenrick, M.A., curate-in-charge of St. John's church. The bride looked charming, dressed in a pretty costume of corded cream silk, trimmed with thread lace, with cream roses bunched at the throat. Miss Mary Dean, of Bridgenorth, acted as bridesmaid. She was prettily attired in a white henrietta cloth. Mr. A. S. Foster of Guelph, ably supported the groom. The bridal couple stood beneath a large horseshoe of varied hued roses which was suspended from the centre of the parlor. After the ceremony the bridal party and guests adjourned to partake of an enticing wedding breakfast. The happy couple left on the 11.45 o'clock train by the C.P.R. followed by the best wishes of their many friends. They will stay for two days reception at the Windsor in Montreal from whence they will go on a seven weeks sojourn to Halifax, British Columbia and the Rockies. The presents were numerous and costly, among them being a handsome silver tea set from Mr. and Mrs. Corby, M.P., Belleville, silver pudding dish, Mr. T. J. Bird, Belleville, set of cutlery, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Belleville, and many other costly presents from friends in Belleville, Montreal, Winnipeg and other places. Mr. and Mrs. Robbin will reside in Belleville, where their many friends will wish them a long married life.

Turner—Carr.

A pleasant social event took place this morning at 258 Brock street, when Mr. E. H. Turner, of the Peterborough Malt Co., was united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Miss Ida H. Carr, eldest daughter of the late Thomas Carr. The pleasing ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. Locke, pastor of the George street Methodist church, in the presence of a few friends of the contracting parties. The bride was charmingly attired in a costume of cream crepon and lace and wearing a pretty bouquet of white roses. She was assisted by her sister, Miss Bertha Carr, who dressed in a costume of pale blue cashmere, acted as bridesmaid, and by Miss Lillian Hill as maid of honour. Miss Hill was dressed in white lawn. The fortunate groom was ably supported by Mr. Jas. A. McGill. After the wedding the happy company sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast which was duly partaken of. The bridal couple left on the 1.40 o'clock train by the G.T.R. for a wedding trip east, followed by the best wishes of a host of friends. The presents were numerous and costly. Mr. and Mrs. Turner will take up their residence in Peterborough.

LeBRUN'S OLD STAND,

GEORGE STREET.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

The Midsummer Session Opened.

The Warden's Address—Ambitious Hamlet—Look Anxious for Incorporation.

The June session of the county council began at the court house yesterday afternoon at 2 30 o'clock. There were present Warden Forster in the chair, Messrs Burnham, Casement, Finlay, Robb, Hawtherne, McAuley, Aanger, Shaw, O'Connor, Moore, Fitzpatrick, Maloney, Sanderson, McIlmoyle, Anderson, Nelson and Johnston.

THE WARDEN'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Warden Forster then addressed the council as follows:—

To the members of the council of the county of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Among the matters that especially call for your attention at this session, is the bill recently passed by the Ontario Legislature which provides that the three Bobcaygeon bridges and the Pigeon Creek floating bridge shall be maintained by the counties of Victoria and Peterborough, the proportion of the cost of such maintenance, if not mutually agreed upon, to be settled by arbitration.

In the month of February, Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P. for West Peterborough, notified me that bills were to be brought before the Legislature directly affecting this county, viz., a bill by the member for Victoria in reference to the Bobcaygeon bridges, and a bill by Dr. Willoughby respecting the Trent Narrows Bridge.

I called a meeting of the Legislation committee for the purpose of meeting Mr. Stratton and discussing the matter, and arrangements were made that a deputation should go to Toronto, when notified by Mr. Stratton. On the 9th of March.

THE DEPUTATION WENT TO TORONTO

and interviewed the Ministers, Mr. W. A. Stratton, our solicitor, stating the case for the county.

The Trent Narrows Bridge Bill, which, if it had became law as introduced, would have made this council liable for the partial rebuilding and maintenance of the bridge, was amended in committee of the house and authority given to abandon the bridge.

Strenuous opposition was made in behalf of this county to the passage of the Victoria and Bobcaygeon Bridge Bill. Mr. Burnham and our solicitor, Mr. Stratton, addressed the committee of the House and did all in their power to cause the defeat of the bill when it was discussed by the committee, as also did our local members, Messrs. Stratton and Hazard, but the bill was passed by the committee.

Propositions were then made by both counties with a view to a mutual agreement being arrived at, but no basis of settlement could be agreed upon and the bill finally passed the house.

I think it only due to our representatives in the Legislature to say that they did all they could to protect the interests of those they represent.

Early in May the Warden of Victoria notified me that the Forest House Bridge, Bobcaygeon, was in need of repairs. I arranged to meet him, and we jointly, together with our county engineer and Mr. Hopkins, Reeve of Ops, and Bobcaygeon bridges.

INSPECTED THE PIGEON CREEK

We found the flooring of the Pigeon Creek was considerably worn, and that the curbing in the channel was not properly secured. The west end of the bridge and the apron also need repairs, and a new guard must be placed on the bridge. I learned that in some parts of the bridge the floating capacity is deficient.

With the exception of the stone work the Forest House bridge, Bobcaygeon, is so entirely worn out that we all agreed that it would be useless to attempt to repair it. The other bridges were found in a fair state of repair.

The Treasurer has received from the Provincial Treasurer the sum of $983 23, being balance to the credit of the county on account of fines under the Canada Temperance Act.

The council having on January last referred to the Reeve of Harvey the matter of engaging a fit person to operate and take charge of the Gannon's Narrows ferry, Mr. Shaw has arranged with Mr. J. P. Chase to attend to this matter at a salary of $125 a year.

In compliance with your instructions, the county clerk applied to Mr. Crowe for payment of the bond given in the matter of inquiring into the expenditure of the county grant in the 9th line of Dummer. Mr. Crowe's answer will be submitted to you.

The report of the Finance Committee adopted in January recommended that Geo. Cochrane be employed as Inspector of Licenses with instructions to enforce the bylaw relating to the same, but owing to the absence of Mr. Cochrane no arrangement was arrived at as to his remuneration. In this connection, I direct your attention to the fact that Mr. W. A. Stratton, the county solicitor has informed me that the Peddlers License By-law, now in force in, in his opinion, defective and has suggested that another by-law be passed relating to this matter.

Your instructions that proceedings be taken to quash the conviction under which the Storms family was committed to jail were carried out, and the family were discharged from the jail, the Township of Dummer having, I believe, assumed the responsibility of seeing that the family are provided for.

The grand jury for the April court of assize state in their presentment that they found in jail some prisoners whose only crime is poverty and helplessness or old age and suggested that a house of refuge be provided for this class of the community.

The award made in 1837 fixing the amount to be paid by the town to the county, for the administration of justice, repairs of the registry office and providing books for same, repairing and maintaining the court house and jail has now been acted on for five years, If you think that the changes for the past five years in the relative positions of the town and county are such as to make it expedient that another arbitration should take place, I suggest that you pass a bylaw appointing an arbitrator for that purpose.

As the municipal amendment act of 1891 is very emphatic in its direction as to the manner of using or disposing of money collected for sinking fund purposes, and we have now upwards of $7,000 of accumulated sinking funds not invested, I think we should decide upon some plan for investing the same.

The Debenture Bylaw passed last year provides for the levying annually a sum for interest considerably in excess of the amount actually required for this purpose, the debentures having been sold to bear interest at an average rate of 4½ per cent. per annum. I suggest the expediency of adopting a resolution instructing the clerk to levy for interest the amount actually required for that purpose from year to year and that the surplus levy of last year be transferred to general county fund.

The Road and Bridge Committee in January recommended that the special standing committee on Roads and Bridges personally visit the Burnt Mills bridge in the township of Belmont and consider the possibility and advisability of closing up one of the three bridges in that locality and in the immediate vicinity of one another.

The committee on Feb. 7th, visited and inspected the locality and after careful inquiry decided that the Burnt Mill bridge could be dispensed with and that it be closed.

J. FORSTER, Warden.

THE ADDRESS DEALT WITH.

On motion of Mr. Finlay, seconded by Mr. McIlmoyle, Messrs. Burnham, Maloney, Casement, Anderson, and the mover and seconder were appointed a committee on the Warden's address.

A petition was received from 100 freeholders and householders of Havelock asking the county council to erect the village of Havelock into an incorporated village. The petition prayed that the bounds of the new municipality include 400 acres. The present population of the village is 700.

A petition was presented signed by 22 of school section No. 6, Belmont, praying that the corporation of Havelock should not extend further south than the present section; and also a resolution of the council of Belmont to the same effect.

Mr. McAuley introduced a by-law to authorize Messrs. Geo. A. Whitton and A. J. Copp to take the census of the proposed village of Havelock. The by-law was given its second reading.

On the motion of the third reading Mr. Maloney inquired if there would be 700 population with school section No. 6, Belmont, left out.

On motion of Mr. Aanger, seconded by Mr. Shaw, the matter was laid over till a deputation from Belmont could be heard.

Mr. Casement pointed out that the present proceedings were only preliminary and that objections could be taken later on.

Mr. Burnham moved that the enumerators be instructed to inculcate in what township lot the persons enumerated reside.

This was agreed to and Mr. Aanger withdrew his motion and the bylaw was read a third time and passed.

SECOND DAY—WEDNESDAY.

Council went into session at 10 o'clock. All the members present, the Warden in the chair.

RICHARD WIGMORE'S MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

After routine

Mr. J. B. Pearce and Thomas Rork were heard before the council in reference to the death of the late Richard Wigmore, whose body was found in the river in Peterborough and who, it appears, was last seen on the eve of January 1st. Mr. Pearce stated that there was a feeling in the vicinity of Norwood that there had been foul play. It was pretty certain that the deceased had on his person when he came to town on Dec. 30th, about $336 50, and there was no accounting for the absence of this money from his person at time the body body was found. It was evident that a flagrant crime had been committed. The councils of Dummer and Asphodel felt that an investigation should be made, and the popular feeling to that effect was increasing and he suggested the advisability of the county council taking some action in the matter.

Mr. THOS. RORK said this was not the first action taken and this application to the council was regarded as the last resort. There was a strong feeling that something should be done. Mr. Rork detailed the steps taken by himself and Mr. Pearce. Though detective Rogers had failed to discover any grounds for action, and the post mortem examination showed no marks of violence, yet the feeling remained that foul play had been instrumental in Wigmore's death, and he would ask the council to offer a reward for the discovery of the perpetrators. The deceased was sober when he left Croft's at 11.15 o'clock, December 31st, to take the train, and all the circumstances point to the fact that foul play had been instrumental in his death.—Referred to Finance Committee.

HIGH COUNTY CONSTABLE.

A communication was read from Mr. R. R. E. Wood, county attorney, in reference to the appointment of Mr. George Cochrane, as high county constable. A motion was adopted requesting the County Judge to appoint Mr. Cochrane high county constable.

THE WARDEN'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Burnham, chairman, read the report of the special committee.

The special committee appointed to consider the Warden's address, beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your committee approve of the action taken by the Warden with reference to the special legislation as to the Bobcaygeon bridges asked for by the county of Victoria. Your committee feel very strongly that the granting of such legislation was wrong in principle inasmuch as it was tantamount to amending the general Municipal Act by a private and special bill. Your committee desire to place on record its appreciation of the valuable and unceasing exertions made by the members of the Local Legislature for the county, viz: Messrs. Stratton and Hazard in the interests of this county. Your committee recommend that the whole matter with respect to these bridges be referred to the special committee on bridges.

2 Your committee congratulate this council that the opposition of this county to similar legislation brought forward on behalf of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham was successful and that this county has been relieved from any further difficulties with respect to the Trent Narrows bridge.

3 Your committee approve of the action of the Reeve of Harvey with respect to the appointment of Mr. Chase as caretaker of the Gannon's Narrows Ferry. Your committee however feel that the salary of the caretaker is too high and that the services should be performed at a lower rate.

4 Your committee recommend that the county solicitor be instructed to prepare a bylaw with respect to peddlers' license conformatory to the existing law.

5. Your committee are pleased to learn that the conviction under which the Storms family were committed to the county gaol was formally quashed. Your committee strongly disapprove of Justices of the Peace committing such persons to the county gaol instead of arranging for their keep by the local municipalities and your committee recommend that in future all such commitments should be watched by the council and a stop put to the practice of foisting indigent persons upon the county's bounty.

6. Your committee recommend that this council procure a copy of the charge of the presiding judge to the Grand Jury at the last assizes in so far as it deals with the question of the maintenance of houses of refuge, and also a copy of the presentiment of the Grand Jury with respect thereto, and that the same be referred to the consideration of this council.

7 Your committee recommend that the matter of appointing an arbitrator for this county with respect to the amount to be paid for the expenses of administration of justice, repairs to registry office, etc., etc., and also to the question as to the sinking fund and the issue of debentures referred to in the Warden's address, all be referred to the Finance Committee.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN BURNHAM,
Chairman.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough, June 15, 1892.

Report adopted.

The letter from Mr. Richard Crowe in reference to his bond in the ninth line Dummer investigation was referred to the Finance Committee.

The council adjourned.

Assessment Appeals

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR.—As the facts of my appeals may not be obtainable, please publish and oblige. There are six appeals—a store on George street assessed at full value, and an unfinished house on Homewood Avenue assessed at 65 per cent, confirmed. The others are two unfinished houses and two lots on Homewood Avenue assessed at $2600 raised $3450, increased $850 or one-third. Should the court see fit to investigate the irregularities I can prove many properties, assessed at not over one-third their real value. Moreover there are two properties one on George street worth $1000 and another on Gilmour street, worth $2000 privately exempted, which may be best explained by "There's method in his madness." It is too bad to raise, just equalize the assessment which was my sole aim. I feel certain were these irregularities properly made known to the mayor and council they would be rectified at once. However it is the intention to carry all my appeals to the revision judge who may reduce mine. True, many "choose to bear the ills they have than fly to others they know not of."

Yours sincerely,
HUGH SPEARS

LORNE ON PALMERSTON.

THE MARQUIS SHOWS MORE LITERARY MERIT THAN EVER BEFORE.

Her Majesty's Son-in-Law's Sketch of the Famous English Prime Minister—A Style Somewhat Prosy, but on the Whole Rather Entertaining.

The Marquis of Lorne's life of Lord Palmerston in "The Queen's Prime Minister's" series is not the first appearance of Her Majesty's son-in-law in the ranks of the writers. Travels and travels have appeared from his pen, neither of which have proved him to be a man of great literary gifts. His "Viscount Palmerston, K. G.", is a much better written book than any that has heretofore born his lordship's name on the title page.

Lord Palmerston has been written of before. Lord Dalling and Evelyn Ashley have appeared as his biographers and Lord Lorne has to stand up against comparison with his predecessors. He comes off quite as well as one could expect of a man who has had no literary training and is without natural gifts as a writer. Lord Lorne has followed the safe plan of letting the subject of his memoir speak for himself whenever this could be done. He has been fortunate in having had access to a lot of material that was unknown to or at any rate untouched by Lord Dalling or Mr. Ashley. Some of the letters quoted and almost all of the long comments and criticisms upon public affairs appear in print for the first time. Says Lord Lorne:

"To show how Lord Palmerston did his duty, what he thought was his duty, and why he thought the line he took should be followed is the kind of biography he himself would have liked best, and this within the limits assigned is what the author has attempted. Palmerston never cared for fulsome adulation, nor would he have desired to be painted either as a saint or a demi-god. He was a 'fair and square' political fighter who made his way to power when and where he could, but always by above-board work and always by expressing in public the reasons he gave in private. To bespatter him with flattering epithets would have seemed to his straightforward and unimaginative temperament misplaced attention and in the worst possible taste—praise absurd in form as silly in thought."

His Lordship compares Palmerston with his colleague, Wellington, who despised gush and gushers. He quotes an anecdote of Wellington which he says could just as well have been told of Palmerston so far as the spirit of it goes:

"The old Duke was about to cross along the crowded street from the Green Park to Apsley House when a worshipper appeared upon the scene and begged to be allowed to escort him. After the worshipper had walked with the Duke across to the pavement near the Duke's house the gentleman who had thus volunteered his company took off his hat to the Field Marshal and with a low bow expressed his deep sense of the high honor that had been permitted to him, etc.; on which the old Duke, standing on the pavement, turned his eagle nose and blue eyes on him and said only: 'Don't be such a fool, sir!'"

The Marquis' estimate of Palmerston follows:

"Palmerston was emphatically painstaking, but he was not a genius whose work may be manifold, but whose career is seldom steady. Genius is more apt to give trouble to others than to take pains itself. Palmerston had a good head, good health, which is seldom found with genius, and a matter-of-fact way of going ahead, making his experience of one matter the solid step from which to judge of the next that came before him. He repeated himself over and over again consistently, in act as well as in phrase—a very ungenius-like quality. A plain Englishman, with many an Englishman's want of the feminine attributes of character, but with most of its masculine qualities, he plodded on, and finally won that goal of an English statesman's ambition—the honorable, but not always enviable, position of first Minister of the crown."

The extracts from Palmerston's letters begin from the time when he was a Harrow boy. He writes brightly, and even in those early days showed a talent for "sizing up" people.

Palmerston was not four and twenty years old when he left college to enter upon his parliamentary duties. It was not until he had been in the House for nearly a year that Palmerston made a speech.

During the parliamentary recesses Palmerston made little trips to France, where he met everybody worth meeting and took copious notes on what he saw and heard.

In 1844 Palmerston again travelled on the continent, visiting Berlin and Wiesbaden and Dresden. In his notes of this trip occurs the following:

"One is the more struck with the activity of the people in these parts of Germany in intellectual development, because they are so far behind in most of the mechanical arts connected with the habits of domestic life. In a country where the winters are very severe there is not such a thing as a window-shutter to be seen, doors and windows never shut, locks are such as were made in England a century and a half ago, and all things of this kind are still a hundred years behind what are seen with us now. To be sure, their palaces are magnificent; but that is characteristic of imperfect civilization. The middle ages and half civilized countries have combined splendid palaces with comfortless habitations for private individuals; not, however, that the German houses are uncomfortable, for we have met everywhere with very good inns."

Lord Lorne has certainly improved in his manner of writing. In his novel his style was what is with more picturesqueness than elegance called "sloppy," but in the present volume, for example, this is a sufficiently condensed style:

"In 1847 the Irish people had risen in number to over double what the soil could support except for the introduction of the potato; and hence with the failure of that plant came disease and death. Along the St. Lawrence and on many spots on the eastern coast of the United States are still pointed out the places where the hospitals were erected to shelter and isolate the wretched persons who came over from Ireland by the hundred and by the thousand, smitten with fever. There on the shores of the promised land very many died, victims of their improvident and thriftless habits, and of resistance to the introduction among them of home of better agriculture, and that improvement which always appears to the imagination of the unmixed Celt as an alien garb to fetter his limbs.

"At this time a contract was made for the voluntary emigrants of some of the poor from his land in the County Sligo, and Lord Palmerston wrote that if the terms were not sufficient to treat his people well to rescind the terms and put in a higher tender, to enable them to get the best entertainment on board the ships. Ten pounds sterling were given to each captain of ships conveying any of Lord Palmerston's people to induce the officer to be kind to them, and some brandy and port wine as well for the use of the passengers if sick as for the enjoyment of the skipper."

Again Lord Lorne writes with a ready pen when he reaches the chapter treating of Lord Palmerston's summary dismissal from the Foreign Office:

"In the year 1851 the dispute occurred between Lord Russell and Lord Palmerston which led to the Foreign Office being given to Lord Grenville. It had always been Lord Palmerston's custom in his negotiations not only to use the weapons of the arguments of official dispatches, but also to employ very large private correspondence, and semi-official or personal representation of the case he desired to enforce. He used to say that such a method of procedure was often necessary to the smooth working of affairs. 'You may as for yourself,' he would write to an Ambassador, 'say to the King or to the Minister, that it will be to his interest to act in such and such a way.' Of these communications to British representatives abroad there was, of course, no trace left in any official correspondence. The official dispatch sent with the concurrence of the Cabinet would perhaps follow the same general argument or even use the same phrase; but often the private letter, or the inculcation of a particular tone on our Plenipotentiary in dealing with the Ministers of a foreign power, was not in strict accordance with what would appear publicly in the Blue Book submitted to Parliament. It was essential, Lord Palmerston said, that a Foreign Minister should be allowed to work in this way.

"But some of Lord Palmerston's colleagues were jealous of such exercise of influence. The reasons given against anything being sent except the letters known to the Cabinet were briefly that 'a man must either write, when Foreign Secretary, letters for which in that capacity he is prepared to be publicly answerable, or if he writes as a private person he must not ask the British Minister, if the British Minister at a foreign capital be his correspondent, to press the views given in a private letter, because for such his colleagues at home cannot be answerable, and they do not even know the purport of such practically secret communications.' 'Speak either as Foreign Secretary or not at all in such matters,' was the language used by men distrustful of Lord Palmerston's tendencies. 'No; public matters can be softened and disputes prevented by my private letters,' said Lord Palmerston in effect, and he continued to act on the idea to the last.

"From this habit it may have happened that he was apt to take a too independent line, and do things on his own responsibility which should only have been done with the consent of his colleagues. It can readily be imagined that a habit of this kind might grow, and that it was tolerably certain to lead to friction. The Queen and the Prince Consort paid great attention to foreign affairs, and they were not likely to approve of the total disregard which sometimes followed suggestions made by them in the drafts of dispatches submitted to them. Remonstrances from Lord John Russell and a memorandum from the Queen herself had no perceptible effect. Moreover, there can be no reasonable doubt that he acted with precipitation when his old acquaintance, Louis Napoleon, effected the coup d'etat in 1851. Comparisons were used by Lord Palmerston in his communications with the new government at Paris which would not have been sanctioned if they had been previously read to the Cabinet.

PIANOFORTES
we are able to offer advantages to the public which are impossible to the ordinary dealer.
Our instruments have an established reputation for excellence of TONE, TOUCH, WORKMANSHIP, and DURABILITY, and Every Instrument is Fully Warranted for Seven Years.
Chief among our instruments which have received preferences from the best musical artists, stand
—THE—
AND
EVANS PIANOS.

These instruments have been before the Canadian public for a number of years, and the great praise bestowed upon them by musical experts, along with the continued increase of sales year by year, testify to their high excellence.
The aim of the manufacturers of these two favorite Pianos has persistently been to produce the best instruments at a moderate price. They are of solid build, warranted for durability, of handsome appearance and good finish; pleasant touch and quick repetition. TONE: rich, full, bright and resonant. Beautifully singing and sympathetic in quality. The prices are moderate, and within the reach of the majority of purchasers.
We are exclusive agents in Peterborough for the celebrated
KARN ORGANS
which stand ahead of all competitors. We have also at all times in stock the well-known and popular
THOMAS ORGANS,
AND OTHER MAKES.
Our large and well-lighted show room enables us to carry the Largest Stock ever shown in Peterborough, and as regards Prices, we have only to say that we positively will not be undersold.
Those not having the inclination or the means to purchase an instrument outright, can by a small monthly investment, secure a Piano or Organ on rental until paid for.
JACKSON & CO. wish it to be distinctly understood that in cases of emergency, they are always desirous of dealing justly and fairly with their customers. They do not want both the money and the instrument.
NOTICE.
To insure confidence and satisfaction, Jackson & Co. are willing to exchange any instrument purchased from them within twelve months if not approved of, themselves bearing all expense of carriage and allowing all that has been paid, towards any other instrument selected.

"August Flower"

The Hon. J. W. Fennimore is the Sheriff of Kent Co., Del., and lives at Dover, the County Seat and Capital of the State. The sheriff is a gentleman fifty-nine years of age, and this is what he says: "I have "used your August Flower for several years in my family and for my "own use, and found it does me "more good than any other remedy. "I have been troubled with what I "call Sick Headache. A pain comes "in the back part of my head first, "and then soon a general headache "until I become sick and vomit. "At times, too, I have a fullness "after eating, a pressure after eating "at the pit of the stomach, and "sourness, when food seemed to rise "up in my throat and mouth. When "I feel this coming on if I take a "little August Flower it relieves "me, and is the best remedy I have "ever taken for it. For this reason "I take it and recommend it to "others as a great remedy for Dys-"pepsia, &c."

Self Application of Electricity

BY THE

DORENWEND

ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments

HEAD OFFICE—103 Yonge St., Toronto

THE WORLD'S BEST.

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without chemicals) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASES, BRAIN DISEASES, NERVOUS DISEASES, PARALYSIS, NEURALGIA, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCY, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and vaults as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not close this Belt with the humbug sensations of leather and steel, with which the country is flooded. If you wish to experiment with these articles, try THEM, but if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. J. D. TULLY, Agent, Peterborough. eod w

FROM OVER THE SEA.

Interesting News From the Old World—The Daily Round of Life's Changes and Changes.

LONDON, June 14.—Seven firemen were buried in the fall of a burning building at Holloway. The building is occupied as a dancing academy, and a panic was caused among the pupils as well as the teachers when the fire was discovered. The firemen were uncovered as speedily as possible. One was already dead, and the other six were so seriously injured that is feared that more will die.

New Judges.

LONDON, June 14.—Sir Francis Henry Jeune has been appointed President of the Probate, Divorce and Admiralty Division, in the place of the Right Honorable Sir Charles Parker Butt, deceased; and Mr. John Gorell Barnes, Q.C., Justice of the High Court by reason of Sir Francis Jeune's appointment.

HEAVEN'S ARTILLERY.

Ten Killed and Twenty-eight Others Were Injured by a Lightning Bolt.

MADRID, June 14.—Terrific thunderstorms prevailed in different parts of Spain yesterday and heavy loss of life and injury by lightning are reported. The electricity appeared to pick out churches as objects on which to show its power, and unfortunately it did so while the services were in progress. At Melias, in the province of Orenz, the parish church was crowded with worshippers attending mass when the storm burst. Though the peals of thunder were very low and the flashes of lightning extremely vivid, not much attention was paid to the storm at first. Suddenly a most terrific crash of thunder, followed almost immediately by a flash of lightning that was blinding in its intensity, caused the worshippers to spring to their feet in fear. Women shrieked in terror and little children clutched their parents in agony of fear. For two or three seconds after the flash it was impossible to see anything, the transition from sudden brightness to extreme darkness rendering the people practically blind. Then almost confusion prevailed. Finally when order was restored the congregation was horrified to find that 10 of their number had been struck by the lightning and instantly killed and 28 others had been seriously injured.

THE YOUNGER BISMARCK.

His Nuptials Will Cause Embarrassment to the Court at Vienna.

VIENNA, June 14.—During the recent fetes in Budapesth, the Emperor sanctioned the recognition of the city as a capital and royal residence.

The coming visit of Prince Bismarck and his family to attend the wedding of Count Herbert Bismarck to the Countess Margaret Heyos excites keen interest here. The Prince will arrive on the 19th inst. If he stays here two days the Emperor and the Court cannot avoid noticing him.

The Allgemeine Zeitung says the Berlin Foreign Office has instructed the German ambassador here to confine its participation in the ceremonies attending the wedding of Count Herbert Bismark to the merest conventional formality. In accordance with these instructions the German ambassador with his colleagues will attend the wedding ceremony but not the breakfast.

CAUGHT BY THE SQUALL.

Father and Daughter Drowned In Bantry Bay—He Died For Her.

LONDON, June 14.—A sad accident is reported from Bantry Bay, in the southwest of Ireland. Frederick Waller, a magistrate of that vicinity, who was also a gentleman of considerable landed estate, was out yachting with his daughter Jena. The waters of the bay were only rippled by a slight breeze. Suddenly one of the squalls so frequent in that neighborhood sprang up and the yacht instantly capsized. Mr. Waller, who was a good swimmer, came quickly to the surface, but his daughter was nowhere to be seen. He was seen to dive repeatedly evidently with the object of rescuing her, and although he could easily have saved himself by swimming, he continued to dive in his vain search until he was utterly exhausted, and he himself sank, not to come up again. When the rescuer arrived both father and daughter were drowned. Upon righting the yacht the girl's body was discovered entangled in the rigging.

The Fair Ophelia.

'I thought thy bride bed to have decked, sweet maid,
And not have strewed thy grave.'

The Danish queen was not an exemplary wife, but was doubtless sincere in her grief at Ophelia's death. In every land we see the purest and sweetest of Eve's daughters gathered to early graves. A perfectly reliable cure for female complaints is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a medicine beyond all praise, which has saved many a young life threatened by the insidious approach of disease. For chronic female derangements, weak back, lassitude, nervousness and poor appetite, it is without an equal; a generous tonic, a safe nervine, purely vegetable, and warranted to give satisfaction or the price ($) refunded. This guarantee is always adhered to. Of all druggists. b

Health Department.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

By constipation is meant irregular action of the bowels, often called costiveness, and commonly caused by dyspepsia, neglect exercise in eating or drinking, etc. It is a serious complaint and not to be neglected under any circumstances, as it leads to impure blood, headache, debility, fevers, etc. A uniformly successful remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters, which, if faithfully tried, never fails to effect a prompt and lasting cure even in the worst cases. The following extract from a letter from Mr. Jas. M. Carson, Banff, will speak for itself:—I have been troubled with constipation and general debility and was induced to use your B.B.B. through seeing your advertisement. I now take great pleasure in recommending it to all my friends, as it completely cured me." dw

A Great Surprise

Is in store for all who use Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs, the great guaranteed remedy. Would you believe that it is said on its merits and that any druggist is authorized by the proprietor of this wonderful remedy to give you a sample bottle free? It never fails to cure acute or chronic coughs. All druggists sell Kemp's Balsam. Large bottles 50 cents and $1. dw

The Dreaded La Grippe.

Following this scourge of humanity come a train of evils in the shape of obstinate colds, coughs, lung troubles, etc. There is no remedy so prompt, and at the same time effectual and pleasant, as Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion with Wild Cherry and Hypophosphites, which is the latest and best combination of anti-consumptive remedies. Price 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. dw

Sandwich.

SIRS.—For five years I suffered from lumbago and could get no relief until I used Hagyard's Yellow Oil, and must say I find no better remedy for it.

dw JOHN DESJARDINS, Sandwich, Ont.

INTENSE SUFFERING!

Mr. William Buchanan, 24 years engineer in the Cunard Steamship Company's service, 8 St. John's Road, Kirkdale, Liverpool, Eng., writes: "I suffered two years of agony from an affection in the head which six physicians pronounced incurable. They were divided in opinion as to whether it was acute neuralgia of the head or rheumatic affection of the brain, but all agreed that I could never recover. In my paroxysms of pain it needed two and sometimes three men to hold me down in bed. When at death's door, was applied to my head. It acted like magic. It saved my life. I am well and hearty, and have had no return of the trouble."

ST. JACOBS OIL

"ALL RIGHT! ST. JACOBS OIL DID IT."

Hundreds of Lives Lost Through Carelessness—Four Miners Arrested.

THE TWO POTENTATES.

The Kaiser Will Re-Return Visit the Czar—Withdrawal of Frontier Troops.

Orders have been given for the withdrawal of a portion of the Russian troops on the German frontier.

THE FARMER'S GARDEN.

An Apparently Sensible Plan Suggested by Farm and Home.

Every farmer ought to have one acre of garden fenced with woven wire and lath, or so the chickens will not trouble it. That acre should be long and all rows run the entire length of the ground so that the horse can be used in cultivating. The site, if it can run over a knoll so as to give southern and northern slope, will prolong the fruiting season about ten days. Plow deep and after plowing put on from 20 to 40 loads of well-rotted manure and harrow it in. Do not plow manure in, as you thereby lose nearly one-half its value. If the garden lays 16 by 10 rods north and south, take the east side, four feet from the fence, for a row of asparagus. Where this stands if a dead furrow can be made deep and filled with good manure and 6in. of earth plowed on before the plants are set, it is best, and the only case where I recommend burying manure. This row of asparagus will last a life time, therefore put it on one side of the garden.

On the west or north side, 6ft. from the fence, plant a row of grapes 8ft. apart; second row, 8ft. from the grapes, currants and gooseberries, 3ft. apart; third row, blackberries, 8x3ft.; fourth row, 8x3ft., raspberries; fifth row, black raspberries; sixth row, strawberries, 8ft. from the last and 2ft. in the row, only perfect blooming kinds; seventh row, 4ft. from the last and 2ft. apart, strawberries, all pistillate varieties. You may ask why plant any pistillates? They are, when properly pollenized, our best bearers, and by planting as I have described, you can always find pure plants on the outside of each row, and you want to plant a new bed each year and after two crops of strawberries plow under the old bed. This is the reason why the last rows are next the vegetable garden. The other rows may continue on the same land for 10 to 20 years.

Plant potatoes or peas next to the strawberries, so that the ground will be in good condition for your next two rows of strawberries. Plant all rows through the whole length of the garden and wide enough so that you can cultivate with a horse. Put in plenty of seed, tend well, thin out properly and then what room you have left plant to sweet corn or potatoes and this acre of ground well cared for will be the most profitable acre on the farm.—George J. Kellogg, in Farm and Home.

Removing Mildew from Clothes.

"What shall we do with mildewed clothes?" is a frequent question. Put about a tablespoonful of chloride of lime in a wooden pail, or earthen bowl, and add four quarts of cold water. Stir until all the lime is dissolved, using a wooden spoon or paddle. Now put the mildewed article into the water and work it about, using the spoon or paddle. Let the article stay in the water until all the mildew has disappeared, then throw it into a tub of cold water. Wash well in this, and then rinse in a second tub of cold water; finally, wring out and dry. If the rinsing be thorough the fabric will be uninjured. It is only white goods that can be treated in this way, as the chloride of lime removes colors, as well as mildew. Indeed, I have sometimes bleached a faded colored garment in this manner, with very satisfactory results. I have napkins in use to-day that were freed from mildew in this manner as many as eight years ago.—Maria Parloa, in Ladies' Home Journal.

NEWS FROM FAR AFIELD.

WHAT THE CABLE TELLS US OF THE OLD WORLD.

Railway Catastrophe at London - Rioting at the Belgian Elections—Funeral of an Indian Chief With 25 Bullets in His Body—Terrible Tragedies—Shocking Accidents.

LONDON, June 15.—Five persons were killed and eight injured by a collision that occurred early yesterday at the Bishopsgate station of the Great Eastern Railway. Through some misunderstanding of signals or orders two workingmen's trains, which daily bring to their work thousands of people from the suburbs, ran into each other. Hundreds of working girls were in the carriages and the excitement naturally attendant upon accidents of this kind was added to by their wild shrieking. Many of them went into hysterics, others fainted and were carried from the carriages in an unconscious condition. The five dead were taken to the morgue, while ambulances carried the injured to the hospital.

STARTLING NEWS FROM AFAR.

Charges That Protestant Forces are Slaughtering Uganda Catholics.

BRUSSELS, June 15.—Further letters from the White Fathers' Mission in Uganda, East Africa, repeat the charges made against the Protestant forces in that kingdom of mowing down the Catholics, including many women and children, with a deadly rain of shot from the mitrailleuse with which they were supplied. The letters also say that after the Catholic army had three times repelled the desperate attacks made on their ranks, the survivors were at length driven towards Victoria Nyanza. So hard pressed were the routed forces of the Catholics that they were actually forced into the great lake, and from 500 to 600 of the people were drowned like a herd of animals. Major Keuhne saved the lives of Bishop Hirth and King Mwanga, who led the Catholics, by his timely arrival at the scene of carnage and his display of the German flag.

The Lepers in Siberia.

BERLIN, June 15.—Miss Kate Marsden, who is interested in a project to establish a leper colony in Siberia, has arrived here from St. Petersburg on her way to the United States. In an interview to-day she gave a graphic description of her six weeks' tour of the leper colonies of Siberia. She says that as soon as any person shows signs of the disease the victim is at once driven into the depth of the forest, there to live upon tree bark and upon rotten fish. This food is furnished by relatives, who deposit it at a distance from the miserable and filthy huts of the victims. The huts are one-half under ground for the sake of warmth, and are hundreds of versts apart, so that supervision is impossible. Miss Marsden and 30 guides were obliged to cut a path for themselves through the undergrowth of the forests and to proceed in single file. They found the lepers ill-clad and living in indescribable filth and vice, dragging out a horrible existence for years, until they die of disease or starvation, after becoming so loathsome that they have lost all semblance to humanity. Miss Marsden says that there has been found in Yakutsk a plant that is reputed to cure leprosy, but she has not been able to test it as yet. She intends to return to Yakutsk to establish a colony at Veluisk.

A Traveler Suicides.

YORK, June 15.—A commercial traveler named George Shepherd, residing at Birhopthorpe, York, committed suicide in a most determined manner yesterday. The unfortunate gentleman, who had been in ill-health for some months and had in consequence been obliged to resign his position, locked himself in his bedroom and blew his brains out with a double-barrelled gun, which, along with a fire shovel, by means of which it is supposed he contrived to discharge the weapon, was found lying at his side.

Pleuro-Pneumonia in Ireland.

DUBLIN, June 15.—The outbreak of pleuro-pneumonia in the Lisburn district of County Antrim has turned out a serious matter. About 70 head of cattle have been slaughtered by order of the Government Inspector, and a number of others are marked for similar treatment. The disease has manifested itself on several grazing farms. The prompt steps taken to stamp out the scourge have given great satisfaction to local farmers.

Hastening the Breakfast With Kerosene—The Usual Result.

IMPERIAL, Pa., June 15.—Mrs. Jules Leroy, wife of a coal miner, tried to hasten the breakfast yesterday by pouring kerosene on the fire. An explosion followed and Mrs. Leroy and her two children were fatally injured.

Newspaper Man Killed.

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 15.—John Schrader, for many years marine and commercial editor of The Courier, and one of the best known marine writers on the lakes, fell into the hold of the steamer Scranton yesterday and was killed. He leaves a wife.

Three Murders in One Week.

CHARLESTON, S.C., June 13.—Robert Gales was fatally stabbed yesterday by Robert Simms over a game of cards in a low negro dive. The murderer surrendered himself and claims that the act was done in self-defence. This is the third murder occurring since Sunday last.

The Belgium Elections.

BRUSSELS, June 15.—The deepest interest is manifested in the elections everywhere. In several of the manufacturing districts work has been suspended, and the workingmen are devoting all their energies to securing the return of their own initiates—all of whom are in favor of so changing the constitution as to bring about manhood suffrage.

BRUSSELS, midnight.—Returns show that the Catholics re-elected their candidate by large majorities in Bruges, Louvain and Bastogne, and that they were also victorious in Dinant, Maseoyck and Neufchateau. The Liberals carried Liege and Brussels, where the Catholics lose 13 deputies and seven senators. The Liberals have made gains in Ostend, Thuin and Huy. Ministers Beernaert, De Bruyn and De Burlet and all the party leaders are re-elected. The Liberals have lost three seats in Charlerol.

Great excitement prevails in Liege, where rival demonstrations led to disturbances. In Brussels the streets were crowded and several free fights occurred, but without serious result.

The disorders at Ath continue. The Catholic Club has been wrecked. A detachment of mounted police rode down the people, who offered a stubborn resistance. Many sabre injuries were inflicted. The mob tore up the street pavement and pelted the gendarmes with the stones. The windows of many Catholic houses were shattered. Among the wounded is a magistrate.

Stanley's Comrade, Captain Stairs, Dead.

ZANZIBAR, June 13.—Advices from the interior of Africa state that Captain Stairs, commander of the Katanga expedition, is dead.

DREADFUL PSORIASIS

Covering Entire Body with White Scales. Suffering Fearful. Cured by Cuticura.

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose, and almost covering my face. It ran into my eyes, and the physician was afraid I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread all over my head, and my hair all fell out, until I was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on my arms and shoulders, until my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head, and shoulders being the worst. The white scales fell constantly from my head, shoulders, and arms; the skin would thicken and be red and very itchy, and would crack and bleed if scratched. After spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using two bottles CUTICURA RESOLVENT, I could see a change; and after I had taken four bottles, I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years. I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using the REMEDIES. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them. My hair is restored as good as ever, and so is my eyesight.

MRS. ROSA KELLY, Rockwell City, Iowa.

Cuticura Resolvent

The new Blood Purifier, internally (to cleanse the blood of all impurities and poisonous elements), and CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally (to clear the skin and scalp and restore the hair), have cured thousands of cases where the shedding of scales measured a quart daily, the skin cracked, bleeding, burning, and itching almost beyond endurance, hair lifeless or all gone, suffering terrible. What other remedies have made such cures?

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 75c.; SOAP, 35c.; RESOLVENT, $1.50. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston.

Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases," 64 pages, 50 illustrations, and 100 testimonials.

IT'S THE WEAR THAT TELLS!

Reader, may we ask you a question? Did you ever purchase a suit of clothes that looked exceedingly well, but which when it came to be worn proved to be as mean shoddy as could be scared up? Well, there is plenty of just such clothing in the market to-day. The place where you can be sure to find no such stuff is at GRAFTON & CO.'S, 393 George Street, Peterborough. Fine foreign fabrics at remarkably low prices is what you will find there. There you will be certain to obtain something that will not only be satisfactory in price but will also give satisfactory service. Every garment we sell is made up in our own factory in Dundas, of cloths directly imported by us, or from Canadian Tweeds. Before leaving our factory, every garment is closely examined and its actual cost computed. It is then marked at the lowest possible price, and as we are direct importers as well as manufacturers and retailers we can sell fine goods at first cost or from twenty to thirty per cent. cheaper than any other merchant. Our $9 Brighton Overcoat and our $7.50 London Sack Suits are but two of the many bargains we are now offering.

Full English Cassimere Suit	$9.00 to $17.00	Aberdeen Cassimere Suit	$14.00 to $16.50
Liverpool Business Suit	3.25 to 10.00	English Club Suit	9.00 to 16.00

THE LEAFY MONTH OF JUNE.

Sunshades and Parasols combined with Summer Silks and Blouses, are the pleasant reminders for this month and constitute the true medium for keeping cool under a June sun. These can be found in great abundance and variety at the Golden Lion, and the figures we have marked them at will give them a ready sale.

Gloves, too, and Hosiery; well, no lady cares to go shabby in these articles of dress. There is no part of a lady's outfit which she can less afford to neglect. How well this store knows from long experience what's required in both these lines, need not be dwelt on. What you want is sure to be found in our extensive stock.

Carpets are yet an item both interesting and reasonable. The wheeling in of really warm weather affords an opportunity to complete changes in household arrangements. We have to thank the many customers who have already made their selections, and beg leave to say, notwithstanding the run on our stock, that we are still in a position to do the leading carpet trade.

In Curtains, we keep pace with the times in new designs. If you buy from us you will get the pick of the best markets.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

BUSINESS IN THE COMMONS YESTERDAY.

Mr. Maclean Makes His Maiden Speech in Favor of Lower Railway Fares—The Redistribution Bill—The Election Judge's Official Report.

OTTAWA, June 16.—The House then went into committee on the Redistribution Bill, when Mr. Mills moved an amendment to the effect that the constituencies should be fixed on the old county boundaries, subdivided. The debate was continued by Mr. McMullen up to recess.

When the House was in committee on the Midland Railway Bill last night, Mr. Maclean (East York) moved an amendment to the effect that the maximum rate for travel on the road be two cents per mile, as the initial step towards extending the principle to other roads. For 30 years the passenger rates on railways in Canada remained the same. It was time that it was now reduced. He promised his constituents during his election that he would move in this direction and now he was doing so, and would continue to do so until a statutory enactment was passed to that effect. Instead of diminishing the receipts of the roads it would increase them. The adoption of the system in England satisfactorily proved this, although Old Country railway companies were first opposed to the idea.

Hon. Mr. Haggart said that if the member for East York would withdraw the motion he would have a chance of moving it when the bill to amend the general railway act came up.

Mr. Maclean: "Will the Minister of Railways give me the promise that that bill will be pressed this session?"

Mr. Haggart gave his promise.

Mr. Sproule seconded the amendment in a brief speech.

Mr. Tisdale thought it was too late to press the matter this session.

Mr. Mills (Bothwell) suggested to Mr. Maclean to move for a special committee so as to have an opportunity to examine railway men and others. This would best attain Mr Maclean's object and railroad interests would be protected in this way.

Mr. Sutherland supported the amendment.

Mr. Maclean said he was willing to withdraw it and take the suggestion of Mr. Mills into consideration, but he intended to educate the House—[hear, hear]—and the House could stand to be educated on this matter—[hear, hear]—until such time as the law was changed.

The bill passed.

New Members Introduced.

Two new Conservative members were introduced this evening. Immediately after recess Mr. Calvin, the newly-elected member for Frontenac, was introduced by Sir John Thompson and Hon. Mr. Bowell, amid considerable applause. Almost exactly at midnight and just before adjournment Mr. Jeannotte, who was elected by acclamation on Saturday for l'Assomption, was introduced by Hon. Mr. Chapleau and Hon. Mr. Ouimet.

Changes in the Bill.

The announcement made by Sir John Thompson to-night that no change would be made in the county of Russell, and that Clarence township will remain in the same electoral division of Russell instead of being placed in Prescott, was received with such bad grace by the Opposition as to make it doubtful whether the rumor which is afloat to-night that it is also intended to leave the city of London unchanged and to divide the county of Ottawa East and West instead of North and South, may not be incorrect. The rumor is that the Government has decided to make these two changes in the Redistribution Bill in addition to the one announced to-night and by so doing eliminating every feature of the bill to which objection could be taken. If these changes are made the effect should be to quickly shorten the debate.

The whole of the evening session was taken up discussing Mr. Mills' amendment to the second clause of the Redistribution Bill, the only marked feature of the debate being a little difference of opinion between Hon. Mr. Haggart and Mr. D'Alton McCarthy.

The Judge's Report.

On motion of Sir John Thompson, the report of the trial judge in the Chicoutimi and Saguenay election was laid on the table. In this case it will be remembered that the judge reported extensive corrupt practices, which prevents the issue of a writ without action by the House. Sir John announced that he would move that the writ be issued.

The House adjourned at 12.10 until Friday.

TORONTO GRAIN MARKETS.

Business Transacted and Prices of Grain in the Queen City.

TORONTO, June 16.—The receipt of grain on the street yesterday were represented by 100 bushels of wheat at 83c. for standard and 70c. for geese, and 300 bushels of oats at 34c. to 34½c. Hay was in good supply, 50 loads selling at $12 to $14 for timothy and $9 to 10.50 for clover. Straw sold at $6 to $10.

On call board No. 3 red winter wheat offered at 80c, with 80½c bid. No. 1 hard to arrive North Bay offered at $1.04, without bids, and No. 2 hard to arrive North Bay offered at 95c with 92c bid. No. 1 regular at North Bay offered at 88½c, No. 2 regular, North Bay, was wanted at 87c. The same afloat was wanted at 47c, without offerings. No. 1 Northern, North Bay, offered at 97c, and No. 2 northern, North Bay, offered at 87c, without bids. Peas nominal at 61c. Oats steady, quoted at 32c to 33c on track.

Six Men Drowned.

NAPOLEONVILLE, La., June 16.—Six men were drowned here yesterday by the sinking of a small ferry boat in Batou La Forche.

Drowned in a Well.

ST. THOMAS, June 16.—Mrs. Daniel Moore, Manitoba-street, was found drowned in a well this afternoon, where she had apparently fallen. The body had the appearance of having been in the water two or three hours. As Mr. Moore, who is a painter at the M.C.R. shops, takes his dinner with him in the morning, no one missed her for some time.

BLAKE AND HOME RULE

THE INVITATION TO THE IMPERIAL HOUSE.

It was the Universal Topic Yesterday—What People Think About It—It is Generally Regarded with Feelings of Pride

TORONTO, June 16.—The invitation of the Irish leaders was the topic for discussion everywhere yesterday. Home Rulers of all shades of opinion were in transports of delight, this feeling being shared as well by Conservatives as by Reformers. The latter were of course particularly proud that such a vast career seemed to be opening up for the great Canadian Commoner. Young Canadians, too, spoke glowingly of the possibilities that were thus put in the way of the first of Canadians. There is a general feeling that this time in which a decision must be arrived at is very short. Mr. Blake is not the man to take so serious a step without knowing the ground upon which he is about to stand, and to arrive at this understanding may consume a great deal of time. There can be no doubt, however, that Mr. Blake's acceptance of a seat in the Imperial Parliament would be a source of peculiar pride to all Canadians.

Other Local Opinions.

Mr. Robert Jaffray: "I would be sorry to see Mr. Blake out of Canadian politics for good, but it is a splendid opportunity. He would be a great figure in the Imperial Parliament and he should accept the offer, an offer that would give free scope to his splendid abilities."

Mr. George A. Cox: "If Edward Blake enters the Imperial Parliament I believe that he will be Gladstone's successor."

Opinions at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 16.—There has been much discussion about the announcement respecting Mr. Blake. The general opinion is that the late leader of the Opposition will wait until Mr. Gladstone requests him to join his ranks. Should the leader of the Liberals do this, there is no doubt in the mind of the majority of the membership that Mr. Blake will accept a place in St. Stephen's.

How Mr. Laurier Views It.

Said Mr. Laurier, when asked his opinion: "To the Irish Parliamentary party he will prove a tower of strength. His experience in Federal Governments will be most valuable to the Home Rulers, and, in fact, will be useful to the whole Imperial Parliament. While his accession will be most valuable to the Home Rulers Canada's loss will be great. I think his return to our own Parliament was only a matter of time."

Sir Richard Cartwright said: "I think Mr. Blake will almost immediately become the leader of the party which he will join. While his statesmanship will be of value to the Home Rulers, his knowledge of constitutional law and his experience in Federal Government will make him one of the most prominent figures in imperial politics. Canada will be a gainer, inasmuch as the mere fact of this country being called upon to send a man to aid an imperial party will say much for Canada."

Hon. David Mills: "I think Mr. Blake will accept the offer, and if Gladstone ever more assumes power you will probably see Mr. Blake Secretary of State for Ireland. That he will within a short time become leader of the Irish party is a certainty."

WHAT O'BRIEN SAYS.

The Anti-Parnellites Will Make No Concession.

DUBLIN, June 16.—William O'Brien, M.P., spoke at Cork yesterday. He said that the proposals for an armistice offered by Mr. Harrington were not intended to be accepted; they were merely intended for consumption in America. It was less important, he said, to avoid petty election squabbles than to allow Ireland to speak with no uncertain voice.

This is regarded as an indication that the anti-Parnellites will make no concession, and will go into the general election separately and without regard for the Parnellites.

IRISH EDUCATION.

Concessions to the Nationalists—State Aid for Catholic Schools.

LONDON, June 16.—In the House of Commons yesterday the Irish Education Bill was under discussion. Mr. Balfour accepted all the amendments offered by Mr. Sexton of Belfast on the subject of public aid to the schools managed by the Christian Brothers. The Government consented to a compromise, whereby the schools in question should be enabled to receive state subsidies. The Irish members thereupon withdrew their opposition to the bill and it will doubtless pass. This compromise is certain to arouse vehement criticism in certain quarters that strongly oppose state aid to any schools managed by Christian bodies.

Home Rule and Unity.

LONDON, June 16.—The National League of Great Britain, Pierce Mahony, president, has issued an address to Irishmen in America, saying:

In view of the fact that Mr. Redmond is among you, we, your fellow-exiles, appeal for your aid and sympathy, which will be able to do much to restore the solidarity and influence which the party held under Mr. Parnell's leadership, without which Home Rule will be postponed indefinitely. The refusal of Mr. Harrington's terms will lead to a repetition of the regrettable contests in Kilkenny and Cork, will result in a loss of Gladstonian seats in England and will reduce Mr. Gladstone's chance of producing an effective bill.

A.O.U.W. Supreme Lodge.

HELENA, Mont., June 16.—The annual session of the Supreme Lodge of the A.O.U.W. opened here yesterday. Delegates are present from all parts of the United States and the British Provinces.

Mercier and His Creditors.

MONTREAL, June 16.—A meeting of ex-Premier Mercier's creditors was held yesterday. The assets are $55,000 and liabilities $61,000.

Killed by a Bumble-Bee.

SARNIA, June 16.—Freddie, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lovick of Fort Gratiot, died Thursday afternoon from the effects of a bumble-bee sting. The little fellow, bare-footed, went out to gather dandelions. A bee stung him on one of his big toes and he immediately went into convulsions, dying before a doctor could be secured.

A U.S. Consul's Death.

NOGALLES, Ariz., June 16. — United States Consul A. Willard at Guyamas, Mexico, died there yesterday of paralysis.

THE GREAT BOAT RACE.

Cornell an Easy Victor by Four Lengths.

ITHACA, N.Y., June 16.—The Cornell-Pennsylvania boat race took place at 6.30 o'clock yesterday. Both crews seemed in the pink of condition as they rested on their oars at the starting point.

Cornell got the best of the start, and at the quarter both crews, pulling at 42, Cornell led by a length. When the half was reached Cornell had gained three-quarters of a length, pulling at 38, Pennsylvania at 36. The race then became interesting, as Pennsylvania spurted and gained half a length at the three-quarters. Cornell pulled stronger, and when the mile was reached Cornell led by 2½ lengths pulling 36. At the 1½ miles Cornell were 3½ lengths ahead. Pennsylvania was still in the race, pulling 30 strong, but Cornell's stroke told, and at two miles Cornell was three lengths ahead. At the 2½ mile mark Cornell had gained one-half a length, both pulling at 36. Then came the finish, and to everybody's surprise neither crew raised the stroke. Cornell passed the line an easy winner by 5 lengths in 17 min. 26 sec., Pennsylvania 17 min. 46½ sec.

The course was three miles straightaway.

OVER THE RAPIDS.

Two Reckless Boatmen Tried to Shoot a Dam.

BELLEVILLE, June 16.—From additional particulars of the drowning accident at Burnell's dam, it appears that John Walterhouse and Edmund Huddleston, both young men, actually attempted to shoot the dam in their punt. The descent of the river is very rapid at this point and the boat fairly flew over the dam, accompanied by a drive of Rathbun's logs which had been started down the river. The fall stunned the young men. Walterhouse succeeded in getting on a log and this saved his life. Huddleston was just in the act of pulling himself out of the water when a passing log struck him with great force and he was thrown back and hurled to death on the rocks.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

Sad Fate of a Galt Man Who Tried to Stop a Runaway Horse.

GALT, June 16.—John Chater, an employe in Goldie & McCulloch's Safe Works, aged about 60 years, while on his way back to work during the noon hour, attempted to stop a runaway horse, and was run over and almost instantly killed. The horse, which belonged to Mr. James Anderson, veterinary surgeon, was left tied in front of the Queen's Hotel. The escaping of steam from a Grant Trunk engine in the vicinity frightened the horse, which broke loose. Deceased was an Englishman by birth. He leaves a widow and grown-up family.

Starvation and Misery.

HALIFAX, June 16.—The steamer Panther, which arrived from points north of Newfoundland, after five weeks' absence, reports much starvation and misery experienced among the people on the Northern coast and at Island Domino. The inhabitants suffered terribly, having scarcely any food, and Battle Harbor and Cartwright, where relief could be obtained, were not accessible to the unfortunate people owing to heavy ice. Their situation was desperate in the extreme.

A Deputy-Reeve Sentenced.

SARNIA, June 16.— Yesterday Andrew Crawford, first deputy-reeve, who had been indicted for aggravated assault on Mrs. Frances Johnston and Miss Annie Fleming, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one month in the jail here.

Killed by a Circular Saw.

EDGAR STA., Essex Co., June 16.—While working in Pare's sawmill, two miles north of this place, yesterday Joseph Anderson, about 20 years old, caught his foot and was thrown on a circular saw. Death was instantaneous as the body was cut in two.

Married in a Cemetery.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 16.—One of the strangest marriage ceremonies ever witnessed was performed yesterday morning in Greenmound Cemetery. The groom was Col. Hendrick von Stamp, ex-Minister of Denmark to the United States and a Knight of the Order of the Dannebrog, and the bride was Miss Mildred Hammond, daughter of the late General Hammond of this city. The ceremony was performed while the two contracting parties stood upon the graves of the bride's parents. The selection of such a place for the service was due to the sentiment of the bride and her devotion to the memory of her father and mother, who died 20 years ago.

Astaburnaga Dead.

VALPARAISO, June 16.—Senor Francisco Astaburnaga, Chilian Minister to the United States in 1879, is dead.

The program of the new ministry is favorably regarded by the press.

The office of El Vandad at Yumbel has been sacked by friends of Balmaceda. The office of the Conservative paper was also wrecked on account of the pronounced Liberal views of the editor.

Murdered by Italians.

MARTIN'S THERRY, O., June 16.—Henry Naylor of Bridgeport was murdered yesterday by Italians and his body thrown on the Cleveland, Loraine & Wheeling Railroad track and cut to pieces. Nine Italians are under arrest for the murder. There was an old grudge between Naylor and one of the Italians. Lynching is talked of.

Three Boys Drowned While Playing.

ROCK ISLAND, June 16.—The bodies of three boys, ranging in ages from 8 to 14 years, named respectively Swan, Peterson and Eric Eng, were found in a pond near Moline, where they lived. They had been drowned while playing on a raft of their own construction.

A Clergyman Killed by an Engine.

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 16.—The Rev. Dr. Julius Werner, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, was struck by an engine on the west end track last evening and instantly killed.

How He Escaped Lynching.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 16.—"Jim" Weems, the negro charged with committing a white woman, was brought into court guarded by 40 armed deputy sheriffs. Weems pleaded not guilty. He was sentenced to 21 years in the penitentiary. The trial lasted just 10 minutes.

He Blew His Brains Out.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—Rather than live afflicted with a disease which he knew was incurable and entailed long suffering Dr. Isaac C. Terry, a well-known physician, blew his brains out yesterday. He was 56 years old.

North Monaghan on the Sewerage Question.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—I notice in your weekly issue of June 9th, Mr. E. B. Edwards' opinion and advice on the action of the North Monaghan township council in refusing to allow the town the use of one of our public highways for the laying of their sewerage pipes therein, and in his opinion it will be a question for arbitration as to damages for the injury to such road. As the township council here had unanimous protest from the resident owners of land along the river against allowing the town to empty their sewerage into the river, our action in refusing to allow the sewer pipe to be laid through our township is, to all fair thinking men, justifiable. Notwithstanding the rumors to the effect that members of the sewerage committee used undue influence with the Provincial Board of Health in inducing that body to allow them the use of the Otonabee river for the outfall of the sewerage system of the town, I have yet to learn of facts that would convince me of such a dishonourable action on the part of any of the civic and provincial gentlemen dealing with the matter; but wise and honourable men often make "mistakes." I had the pleasure of being present at the meeting in Peterborough of the Provincial Board of Health and representatives of the municipalities, and as the matter was new to local men there was not much discussion, except by Mr. MacDougall, the engineer, and one of the members of the Provincial Board of Health, Dr. Bryce. Mr. MacDougall apparently used his best efforts in trying to convince those present that the sewerage would be in such a condition by the time it reached the river that it would take a flight through space or change into something pure or palatable fit to use for any purpose. No doubt he was endeavouring to make a point for the town in a pecuniary way, but as he used the phrase "I don't think it would do any harm by being emptied into the river," he did not commit himself to intent of his entire remarks. Councillor Cahill and others entertain the opinion that it would be a long period before the entire population would use the sewerage system, but it is quite evident from a business rule that when people pay for a thing they will feel disposed to make use of it at the earliest opportunity, which rule I think will be followed in this case.

Now Mr. Editor, all must agree with Dr. Bryce when he states that sewerage is sewerage no matter where it is put, and will render the river water unfit for use, and may possibly be the cause of disease and fever. But he points out to us that the land along the river has the appearance of a good formation for spring wells, and that people will not be materially injured in being deprived of the use of the river, but I think that the doctor has overlooked the most important point, that when as often does occurs a prolonged drought, spring wells dry up and people are compelled to resort to the large streams for water for man and beast, which I understand has been often the case in this township. It is evident that the Provincial Board of Health have granted the request of the town council in order to save them the additional expense of purchasing a sewerage farm, which Mr. MacDougall stated would only require about twenty acres of land, which can be purchased at convenient distance from the town at a small cost. There can be no doubt that the board of health have made a grave mistake in consenting to allow the sewerage to be emptied into the river as it will materially affect people who are engaged in dairying, as much depends on the purity of the water that is used, for the quality of milk, and, as ice is one of the prime necessities for butter dairying, no estimate could be put on the loss to those that will be deprived of this absolute necessity in connection with their industry. I think if these official gentlemen who are dealing with the matter would stop and think of the great injury that is likely to result to the public and private parties from Peterborough to Rice Lake in the way of being deprived of the use of the water and the possibility of creating some contagious disease, they will arrive at the conclusion that the risk involved will far overbalance the few extra thousand dollars that will be necessary to purchase a piece of land for the same purpose which they intend to use the river. True, the Board of Health says that complaint may be made to them if there is a nuisance created by the system, but everyone knows that it is much easier to never place a system that may need removing at some future time, especially in a public matter like this where there are two or more large corporations to satisfy, as there would be in this case. As I have said before our action in objecting to allow the extension of the sewerage pipes through this township is justifiable as we are not protesting for the sole object of receiving damages, or as monetary consideration would induce us to allow the sewerage to be emptied into the river if we can all prevent it. Thanking you Mr. Editor for your valuable space, I am,

Yours, etc.,
T. M. HUNTER,
Councillor.

"I would like to sound the praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla over the entire universe," writes Mrs. Longenecker, of Union Depot, Penn.

Peterborough Baptist Association.

The Women's Annual Meeting in Connection with the Baptist Association Held Tuesday.

The women's annual meeting in connection with the Baptist Association was held in Port Hope on Tuesday. A number of ladies were present. The morning session was largely devotional. In the afternoon reports were read from the various circles and Mission Bands, officers elected, etc. Miss Frances Carswell, of Belleville was elected Director, and Miss Chisholm Secretary for the ensuing year. The seventeen circles have contributed for mission work during the year over $600, and the bands about $200. This is an increase over last year.

In the evening an interesting programme was carried out by the women, to which all were invited. A paper on Home Missions was read by Miss Barker, of Smith. Our work among the Indians on the Lake Winnipeg Reserve was treated by Miss Squires, of Cobourg. Our agent there is a native convert, who is meeting with phenomenal success, with his head-quarters at St. Peter's.

Mrs. Booker, who has spent many years among the Telugus of India, delivered an interesting and powerful address, showing as she went along what progress has been made in our mission there since its inception 18 years ago. Then there was but one station and one missionary, now we have 24 churches there, 2,600 converts, a seminary, boarding schools and other schools, 25 missionaries and a host of teachers, Bible readers and native preachers.

A paper by Mrs. Kidd, of Peterborough, on our work at Grande Ligne, Quebec, and a recitation by Miss Jessie Squires, of Cobourg, brought the meeting to a close.

The association proper, which includes 22 churches of this district, opened yesterday.

THE FORCE OF HABIT.

WE have read of an old lady who for many years regularly pawned her silver teapot every Monday morning and took it out again every Saturday night. She had lost sufficient by paying interest to the pawn-brokers to buy several new pots, but it seems she could never get even with her creditors without sacrificing the tea-brewer at the beginning of the week. That was simply from the force of habit. The policy-holder is apt to get into the same habit when the premium on his policy is to be paid. Is there a dividend? Yes; then he must use that in payment of the premium. Many policy-holders having become used to paying full premiums in cash do so to the end, and the result is a wonderful accumulation, showing an investment rarely equalled in the history of finance. Some policy-holders will be persistent for a few years in their cash payments and then begin to use the dividends to pay the premiums. Having once begun they rarely stop the practice, and year after year they find it impossible to pay the premiums in any other way. They simply cease to save and lose the advantages which the Canada Life offers every investor in its policies.

The Usual Complaints at This Season.

How the Difficulties are Removed.

I AM tired, weary and run-down! "The hot weather oppresses me, and I feel used up!" These are very common remarks at this season of the year, and in all cases come from men and women who are in bad health.

The healthy man and woman are not oppressed by the warm weather; they have a stock of strength and vitality to resist the enervating and weakening effects of any sudden change of temperature. It is different however with the weak, wearied, rundown, sleepless, dyspeptic, nervous and despondent; the hot weather to them condenses to extreme weakness, insomnia and irritability; and unless great care is observed and prompt action taken, sickness and disease will prostrate them.

There is only one sensible course for such individuals to pursue; there is only one safe avenue of escape from dreadful consequences. The grand deliverer and rescuer from danger is Paine's Celery Compound; to this remedy must our people fly, if they would shake off ill-health and coming sickness. It is able to take away every trace of disease, and leaves the subject in such a condition that work and duty become pleasurable, and life in all its varied forms is enjoyable.

Reader, if you are not feeling as you should feel, at this time, act wisely; give the Compound a trial, and you will be agreeably surprised at the results.

The Crops of the County.

The Prospects of the Season of 1892.

Interviews with the reeves or deputy reeves of the several municipalities give a fair idea of the present condition of the crops in the several localities. The following is a summary of the opinions given:

NORTH MONAGHAN.—Crops of all kinds promise well. The fall wheat is in bond and all present promises a good yield. Barley, oats and peas are all full of promise. Hay is a magnificent crop. There are no complaints of damage by too much rain. Fruits of all kinds make a good showing at present.

DUMMER, ETC.—Splendid prospects all round, except as to root crops. All sorts of fall and spring crops are in good condition. Hay is "coming up by the roots with growth."

BELMONT.—All the crops promise well except rye. Fruit is excellent, there being no early frosts. Wild fruits especially abundant.

DOURO.—The fall wheat, spring grain and hay make the best showing for years. Fruits—apples good—small fruits deficient. No complaints from wet.

ASPHODEL.—All the crops both fall and spring are good. The present prospects are excellent. Slight damage from wet in low lands. There are fears of rust in both fall and spring wheat if damp warm weather continues.

OTONABEE.—Big prospects at present if dry weather continues, but there are fears of rust for both fall and spring grains. Hay is a fair crop—there was no damage by spring frosts. All the spring crops are promising, though there is very little barley sown.

SMITH.—All kinds of crops are looking splendidly, including hay. There seems to be no danger of rust in wheat. Fruit is fair, plums below the mark. There is an immense promise of small fruits. Wet has done some damage in the northern part of the township.

ENNISMORE.—Fall wheat and spring are good on high lands, defective on low. Hay a good crop. All crops on low lands have suffered from the wet. The fruit crop is not the best.

HARVEY.—All grain crops promise well. There is a considerable breadth of wheat sown. Fall wheat is very good, and the prospects all round are promising. Fruit shows signs of a good yield.

GALWAY.—The crops are fair in promise at present. Both hay and spring wheat are promising.

DUMMER.—Fall wheat and spring wheat are both good, no fears entertained of injury from rust. All spring crops promise well. Hay excellent. A good all-round fruit crop the present indication.

"Tired All the Time."

In the complaint of many poor mortals, who know not where to find relief. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses just those elements of strength which you so earnestly crave. It will build you up, give you an appetite, strengthen your stomach and nerves. Try it.

Hood's Pills act especially upon the liver, rousing it from torpidity to its natural duties, cure constipation and assist digestion.

MY FRIEND, look here—you know how weak and nervous your wife is, and you know that Carter's Iron Pills will relieve her, now why not be fair about it and buy her a box? dw

The Dreaded La Grippe.

Following this scourge of humanity come a train of evils in the shape of obstinate colds, coughs, lung troubles, etc. There is no remedy so prompt, and at the same time effectual and pleasant, as Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion with Wild Cherry and Hypophosphites, which is the latest and best combination of anti-consumptive remedies. Price 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. dw

The Eye-Electrons

have passed by and we can now consider the best protection against disease. There is unrestricted reciprocity of sentiment between all people in Canada in pronouncing Burdock Blood Bitters the very best blood purifier, dyspepsia and headache remedy, and general tonic renovating medicine before the public. dw

You hardly realize that it is medicine when taking Carter's Little Liver Pills; they are very small; no bad effects; all troubles from torpid liver are relieved by their use. dw

MICHAEL THE PRINCE.

Efforts to Suppress the Evidence Being Made Public.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 16.—The trial of Prince Michael was begun here yesterday before Judge Kinne. The moral and godly residents regard it as a great injustice that so sensational a case should be tried in their midst. Several clergymen have done all in their power to have the public excluded and a publication of the proceedings forbidden, but their attempts have been unsuccessful. Judge Kinne at first refused the motion of counsel for the defence that their witnesses on the case be subpœnaed at the expense of the county, on the ground that if the prisoner could afford to employ high-priced attorneys to defend him he could pay his own witnesses. But the counsel for the defence took the witness box and swore that his services were donated, and that he had also been compelled to pay "Lucifer's" fare to Ann Arbor. He had discovered that all the property in Michael's name was held in trust for the colony. The judge then ordered that the witnesses be sent for at the expense of the county. A number of these witnesses are from Toronto and the neighborhood.

Paying Rent With a Rose.

MANHEIM, Pa., June 16.—The ground on which is erected Zion's new Lutheran Church was donated to the congregation 120 years ago for the consideration of an annual payment of one red rose by Baron Henry William Seigel, who founded Manheim, and was the first glass and iron manufacturer of any note in the United States. He demanded the rose twice and was paid. The Baron died poor and filled an unknown grave, and the payment was not legally demanded until to-day, when, by arrangement, Mr. J. C. Seigel, a great-grandson of the Baron, came from Harrisonburg, Va., to receive it. Services throughout the day had a memorial tinge. Rev. Mr. Monges preached an eloquent sermon from the text, "I am the rose of Sharon." The afternoon was devoted solely to exercises incident to the payment of the rose and interest, the whole town taking part.

OCCASIONAL doses of a good cathartic like Burdock Pills are necessary to keep the blood pure and the body healthy. dw

EXTENSIVE CHANGES IN
THOMAS KELLY'S
DRY GOODS ESTABLISHMENT.
POSITIVE ALTERATION SALE!
About a year ago extensive alterations and improvements in our George and Simcoe Street premises were contemplated and publicly announced in good faith, and preparations were commenced to transform our store into one of the finest business premises in Peterborough. Unfortunately, owing to difficulties which arose at the time, we were compelled to postpone the work indefinitely. Now, however, we have determined that These Improvements must go on, no matter what the Cost. We, therefore, beg to announce that during the month of July, in order to allow these important alterations to be made, we will be of the premises altogether, for about a month. To avoid the expense and trouble of removing the goods, we have decided to sell off our whole stock, and will commence at once a SWEEPING CLEARANCE SALE of everything in the store. Nothing will be reserved during the next two months. The stock consists of regular Staple Goods—all new and fashionable—bought for this season's trade. THE SPLENDID VALUES which will be given will afford the greatest inducements to Dry Goods Buyers which have been offered for many years to the people of Peterborough.
COMPELLED TO MOVE OUT
To secure a complete clearance we are prepared to make great sacrifices in every department. PRICES WILL BE A SECONDARY MATTER! THE GOODS MUST GO! THERE WILL BE BARGAINS FOR EVERYBODY!
Come and buy now, if you want to reap the great benefit of the surrender of profits which must be made during this Positive Alteration Sale.

The picture presents a fine appearance and is nicely framed in oak. It is a lithograph from a cut of the building which cost $300, and is the work of Ralph Smith & Co., the noted Toronto lithographers. Mr. Rush is the local agent for the company whose building is exhibited in the lithograph.

Saturday Afternoon Excursion.

The steamer Golden Eye will run a cheap excursion to Victoria Park on Saturday afternoon, the 18th June. Prof. Butcher's orchestra will be on the dancing scow. The boat will leave the Peterborough wharf at 2 p.m. and return at 6 p.m, remaining at Victoria Park for tea. Hot water provided on the boat. This will be the cheapest excursion in Canada—six hours dancing and a sail on the most beautiful river in Canada. Return tickets, 25 cents; children return tickets, 15 cents. Victoria Park is situated ten miles below the Locks. If patronized, this excursion will be continued every Saturday afternoon. 3 d

The Hamilton Co. Abroad.

A column is devoted by the New Westminster, B.C., Columbian to a description of the latest addition to the industries of that place. This is the shingle and saw mill of the Pacific Coast Lumber Company, the manager of which is Mr. J. G. Scott, who was, two or three years ago, engaged in the lumber business in Toronto. It would seem that the mill is a thoroughly equipped one, the machinery being supplied by the Wm. Hamilton Company of Peterborough. The Perkins power shingle machine is claimed to be the first of its kind introduced into British Columbia. From fifty to sixty clips per minute are made by it, and at every clip a good wide shingle is dropped, perfect at tip and butt.

Somebody Suffers.

Yes, somebody suffers when these great take-em-away-for-nothing sales are announced, but it isn't the promoters, it is the confiding public who are eventually the sufferers. The goods look all right, but wear them, and how soon you will be surprised what they fail to please. Our reputation for selling reliable, trusty, serviceable shoes is quite sufficient to draw people to our store. It wouldn't do for a house of established reputation to indulge in sensational half-off, below cost, give-away sales. There's a moral to all this. Buy the best at Kidd's the bottom, and pay a reasonable price, and no more, and in the long run you will come off the winner. Kidd not only claims, but does sell the best of summer foot wear at the lowest living profit, at 376 George street.

Mr. O. H. Perry, a Toronto sprinter, writes the Examiner as follows:—"Having been in Peterborough on the 24th of May, I expected there would be some professional foot races then. In that I was disappointed, so now I will give some of Peterborough's runners a chance. I will run any man in Peterborough a foot race from 100 yards to 10 miles for $25 or $50 a side, but prefer to meet Mr. M. Bird in a half-mile race to take place on the First of July. I hope to hear from some of them soon."

I. O. L. District Meeting.

The semi-annual district meeting of the range lodges of the Peterborough district was held at Nassau Tuesday night. Bro. Jno. A. Davidson, District Master, presided. There was a large attendance of members, including a number from Peterborough. Several masters report progress of their lodges. Five incorporated warrants were taken out during the past year. District Master Davidson gave a report of the grand lodge meeting held at Montreal and Napanee. County Master J. G. Weir also gave an address on the Grand Lodge meeting, and the advancement which the lodges have made. He spoke encouragingly of the great celebration to be held at Lakefield on July 12th. The Peterborough lodges together with the Nassau brethren will attend divine service on Sunday, July 9th. The Smith lodges will attend service on the same Sunday in Smith, and the Lakefield lodge in Lakefield. Committees were appointed to make arrangements for these services.

A Sadly Sudden Death.

The residents of Gilmour street were sadly shocked yesterday by the sudden death of Mrs. J. M. Taylor, who died at two o'clock after an illness of only two hours. She was about her residence during the morning, and at twelve went up to her room, and in two short hours death had done its work, though all that obstetrical skill could effect was done. Mrs. Taylor was a most estimable lady, of retiring, domestic disposition, who lived only for her husband and children, though she was greatly beloved by others who had the privilege of being counted on her list of friends. The family had just become settled in their elegant new residence and the suddenness of the blow of the wife and mother's death, blights the hopes of the happy years they seemed to have before them. Mrs. Taylor's death leaves five motherless children, the eldest fifteen. Both they and Mr. Taylor have the warm sympathy of the many friends they have made during their short residence in Peterborough to which they removed from Ottawa over a year ago. Funeral from the family residence, 77 Gilmour street, on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

commend to public approval the California liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs. It is pleasing to the eye and to the taste and by gently acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, it cleanses the system effectually, thereby promoting the health and comfort of all who use it.

Ontario Canoe Company.

The Kingston Whig says:—It is stated upon good authority that the canoe company whose factory was burned down in Peterborough, has a desire to locate here providing it gets exemption.

The World says:—The Peterborough Canoe Company, limited, with a capital stock of $2000, divided into 200 shares of $10 each, has been incorporated.

Female Flower Thieves.

This morning three young women, apparently en route to the farmers' excursion, visited Gilmour street at 7 o'clock, and stopping in front of the large grounds of a residence, coolly reached over the fence and plucked sufficient flowers for their purpose, which they placed in their girdles, which, it is said, have a more literal than figurative relation to the famed cestus of the Goddess of Love. This done the predatory damsels coolly returned and made their way down town.

Bridge Inspection Tour.

To day members of the county council held their annual aquatic session, including inspection of bridges under county jurisdiction and bridges under joint jurisdiction of this county and Victoria, in the northern waters. The councillors were accompanied by the county officials and other invited guests including members of the town council and by town officials. They took G.T.R. train for Chemong where they take steamer for the tour of the lakes to Lakefield, returning by the Lakefield line.

A Missing Child Found.

About three o'clock yesterday afternoon a little two-year-old girl of Mrs. L. Rousseau, who lives in the northern part of the town, strayed away and it was some minutes before the mother noticed the absence of the child. The neighbours were soon alarmed, and a thorough search instituted but no trace of the missing could be found. About five o'clock when the mother was almost frantic with fear, her child was discovered near the Union School, quietly playing along the roadside, unharmed. The little one was missing over two hours.

Might Have Been Serious.

This morning about half past eight one of the most startling events of the day occurred in front of Grafton & Co.'s clothing store. Owing to the increase of business they have been obliged to increase their staff. The young man who has the honor of becoming an employee, undertaking to arrange the goods at the door for the first time, had a little misunderstanding with the chair on which he was standing and the result was that he and the chair covered a small portion of George street. While he was falling he grasped one of the $2 75 men's suits which was hanging close by, and had it not been strong enough to hang a man he would have fallen through the plate glass. It evidently pays to keep good goods.

Life and Times of Hon. Alex. Mackenzie.

When a man of the sterling character and of the long honourable and useful public career of the late Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, leaves the scene of earth'y action, there will be a vast deal in his life worth recording and there will be found willing and competent writers to undertake the duty—for it is a duty to place the incidents of a life whose many and noble acts were founded on principle, before a people who live in an age when statecraft is exercised to a deplorable extent on the low moral ground of expediency. Such competent writers are found in the authors of "The Hon. Alex. Mackenzie; his Life and Times"—Mr. Wm. Beckingham, the deceased statesman's private secretary, and Hon. G. W. Ross, Minister of Education, names that guarantee fullness and literary excellence. The book contains over 600 pages printed on fine paper in the highest style of the typographical art. It contains sixteen full page illustrations and is well bound. The Ross Pub. Co. and C. B. Parish & Co. are the publishers. Every chapter of the work is full of interest, as the late Mr. Mackenzie began his experience of Canadian politics in 1842, when the country had entered upon the experiment of responsible government, and the stirring scenes with which he has been since associated so actively are all truly and clearly laid down in his life. No doubt the work will have a wide sale. Mr. Will H. Pollard is introducing it in Peterborough and his courtesy as well as the great merit of the book he is offering for sale by subscription, commend him to the confidence and kindly recognition of the public.

Lacrosse Jottings.

Here is what the Kingston Whig says:—"The report is circulated that Kingston can boast of an exceptionally "swift" lacrosse team this season, hence it is almost impossible to arrange a match, and when such a game is finally arranged it is generally called off. The boys were building on a game with Peterborough to-day, it having been as good as arranged, when, last night, a telegram was received stating that a game could not occur. All the Kingston club asked were expenses, and surely any town, village or hamlet, able to boast of eleven lacrosseists, could support such an agreement." Well, if this isn't self-assurance and self-assertion pure and simple! The Secretary of the Kingston lacrosse club is evidently trying to sustain the reputation of his club on newspaper vaunting about their ability and prowess. The Kingston club wrote the Secretary of the Peterborough club a card sometime ago wishing to play here on July 15th, their Decoration Day. Before a reply could be forwarded a telegram was received asking the Peterboroughs for a game here on the 15th inst, giving the home team the exceedingly short notice of one day to advertise the game and make all arrangements. The Kingstons wanted the earth in asking for all their expenses. A reply was at once returned refusing the challenge on so short a notice and offering the Kingston's $25 if they would give the boys time a week's notice. The Peterborough Lacrosse club can arrange matches with first class teams allowing them $20 for expenses and they would hardly be so inconsiderate of their dignity and high standing as a club to give a second or third class team full expenses, merely for the fun of playing with them.

The field at corner of Park and McDonnel sts., and one on McDonnel st., opposite Mr. Berry's, are to be sold in lots on Saturday night at 6 p.m. by Public Auction. The sale is put at that hour to enable mechanics to attend it. Easy terms of payment are offered and to one who will build, the money may all stand out at six per cent interest. This is a good chance to get a cheap home in a pleasant part of the town. This land was formerly owned by the G. T. R. 2d

The Boys' Picnic.

A considerable number of Peterborough citizens went out to-day to attend the St. Joseph's annual picnic, where it is certain, rain excepted, they will spend a delightful day.

To Stony Lake, Dominion Day. July 1st.

Keep the above date open for a grand day's outing among the cool sequestered nooks and quiet waterways of this beautiful spot. The lake never looked better than this season. An energetic committee have the details of the excursion in hand, and will care for all your wants. Particulars later.

Of Interest to Bicyclers.

The Peterborough Bicycle Club will hold another of their popular weekly spins to Chemong Park to-night, leaving the market square at 7 15. All the boys should turn out, as a regulation pace has be n adopted by the club, and inexperienced wheelmen can keep up with the procession. The boys will take an hour to run the distance. A good time may be expected.

—Mr. Chas. Cameron, J.P., presided on the bench at the police court this morning. A man who was arrested last night for being drunk and disorderly was discharged with a warning.

Farm For Sale!

The Executors of the late Thomas Hetherington offer for sale that well-known property, in the Township of Smith, in the County of Peterborough, composed of Lot No. 32 in the 11th Concession of the said township, containing two hundred acres of land more or less. This farm is free from bad weeds, is well fenced and in a good state of cultivation. It is well adapted for stock and grain, and is situated one mile from Young's Point, fronting on Katchewanaka Lake. Steamboats passing daily during the summer, touch at the farm. On the premises are erected the following buildings all in first-class repair:—

Dwelling house, one-and-a-half stories high, 32x30, extension kitchen 21x17 with cellar under both, and hard and soft water conveyed to the house. There are surrounding the dwelling about one-and-a-half acres of grounds and orchard, stocked with apple, cherry, pear and plum trees, grapes, strawberries, currants, etc., all bearing.

The outbuildings consist of a frame barn, 32x50 basement used for cow byre, and capable for two horses at end of upper storey; a frame barn 32x36 with extension 18x28; a log barn 18x24, sheep house attached 20x14; driving house 15x28; hay-ground house 16x12; summer kitchen and wood house 14x12; pigsty and poultry house, one-and-a-half storeys with stone basement, 12x12.

Intending purchasers can have full information as to price and terms of sale, which will be fair, on application to any of the undersigned executors, namely:—Hon. Mary Hetherington, on the premises; Lawrence S. Hetherington, Lakefield; William Lennox, Township of Douro; or to Wedding Bells.

The Nuptials of Mr. Thomas Armstrong, of Lindsay, and Miss Dawe.

A pleasant event occurred in the Charlotte street Methodist church at 4 30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when Mr. Thomas Armstrong, of Lindsay, formerly of Fairweather & Co., Peterborough, and manager of their house in Lindsay, was united in wedlock to Miss May Dawe. Rev. Geo. Edwards, pastor, performed the interesting ceremony. The groom was supported on the important occasion by Mr. George Matthis, of Lindsay, while Miss Lottie Green performed the duties of bridesmaid. The presents were numerous and of rare value, amply attesting to the high esteem in which the bride was held by her many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong took the 5 10 train for a short honeymoon trip followed by the best wishes of their many friends. The newly-wed will take up their residence in Lindsay.

Hinton-Davis.

Last evening at 9 30 o'clock a very happy event took place at the residence of Mr. Somerville, Aylmer street, when Mr. Wellington Bates, of Enily, was married to Miss Cora Davis, niece of Mr. J. Young, Mount Pleasant. The bride, an estimable young lady, was attired in pale blue and cream lace, being attended by her sister, Miss Kate Davis, who was similarly attired. The groom was supported by Mr. Herbert Finch. Rev. J. B. Locke, of the George street Methodist church, performed the ceremony. The bride, who is well known in town and vicinity, received numerous and costly presents from her many friends and acquaintances. Mr. and Mrs. Bates will reside in Peterborough.

County Court Sessions

Concluded at Noon To-day—The Cases Disposed of and Judgments Given.

The general session of the county court before His Honor Judge Weller were concluded at noon to-day.

GOLDSMITH ENGLISH vs. SINGER MANUFACTURING CO, was disposed of last night. In this case the plaintiff brings an action to recover the sum of $200 for services and expenses connected therewith rendered as salesman when employed by the defendants. The trial lasted from Tuesday afternoon until 6.30 o'clock last night, when the case was given to the jury. At 9.30 o'clock they returned finding a verdict in the main action for the defendants, and on their counter claim against the plaintiff a verdict for $52.

PERCIVAL vs BAIN & CO.—This is an action brought by R. C. Percival against W. G. Bain, to recover $248 85, the amount of a promissory note and interest thereon. Settled out of court.

In the appeal case against a conviction, by police magistrate Dumble, of May Wilson, Lena Johnston and Cyrena Davis, for being inmates of a house of ill fame in Ashburnham, the conviction was quashed on the ground that the statutory requirements had not been observed in the prosecution of the original charge. Mr. Wood for prosecution, Mr. Stone for appellants.

DENUSSO vs. OSTROM.—An action brought by Joseph Denusso to recover the balance of an account amounting to $114 13, and interest thereon. Enlarged until to-morrow to come up before His Honor Judge Weller in Chambers.

Hall's Bridge.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Last year the Gilmour company obtained possession of the waters below Buckhorn two hours before the Dickson company. This year the Dickson company has the advantage. Already three of their drives have gone through and three more are close behind. According to custom the firm first getting possession of the waters have the right to use them. Consequently the Gilmore company have to wait till the Dickson company's drive is through, and as this will take about four weeks, the Gilmour company have removed their forces for the present.

The Hall's Bridge Sunday school will hold their annual picnic on Monday, June 20th, at the grounds known as "the flat rock," on the Smith side of the bridge, and the friends are asked to come and help make this a grand day for the children. The Rev. Mr. Raley and wife will be present. Sports of different kinds will be engaged in, and an enjoyable time is anticipated.

Piano Tuning.

Mr. G. Gemprieht is in town. Orders may be left at Messrs. Taylor & Macdonald's or at the Peterborough Bookstore. d

ALASKA'S VOLCANOES.

ONLY A DOZEN NOW GIVE VENT TO SUBTERRANEAN FURY.

Two Important Physical Facts—One of the Most Beautiful of Mountains, with Smoke Curling from Its Summit—The Greatest Region of Plutonic Activity.

If you were asked to mention two very striking physical facts to be observed in Behring Sea and on our neighboring coasts you might safely say that they are these:

1. The earth's crust in that region is gradually rising. Behring Sea is becoming gradually shallower. If this tendency is continued it will not be a very long time (measuring time by geographical epochs) before Behring Sea, or the most of it, becomes dry land, and Asia and North America are united above the sea level.

2. There has been in recent times a considerable diminution in volcanic activity along the Alaska peninsula and the Aleutian chain where the plutonic forces in

MAKUSHIN VOLCANO.

North America now mainly expend their energy. Of the sixty-one volcanoes which the Russians declared to be active in the last century, only ten or twelve now show any signs of life. Volcanoes, which, at various times during the eighteenth century, were reported to be in a state of violent eruption have become extinct or at least quiescent. There had been no remarkable eruptions for many years until Bogoslov, a few years ago, began its remarkable activity. Earthquake shocks, too, have become much less frequent and violent than formerly. The record of all these phenomena is very incomplete, but it is certain that there is now much less to record than in much earlier times.

It may be said that in that Alaska are to be found the only volcanoes still showing signs of life within North America, except Mount Baker in Washington, which is almost quiescent, and the recent indications of volcanic activity near Mount Rainier in the same State, of which we have as yet no authentic information. Half of the volcanoes now alive in Alaska were seen in a high state of activity by Gov. Lyman E. Knapp, of that territory, during his visit to the Alaska peninsula and the Aleutian chain last summer.

Little need be said here of Bogoslov, whose remarkable conduct in the past few years has excited the attention of the world. Bogoslov is a little rock in the Aleutian chain about a hundred miles directly west of the Island of Unalaska. By a great submarine eruption a new Bogoslov has been thrust about 600 feet into the air less than half a mile from old Bogoslov. From innumerable fissures in the surface of this newly appeared rock clouds of smoke and steam pour. During the convulsions attending its appearance columns of smoke and flame shot into the air to a height of several miles, and ashes were sifted over the ocean and islands for a long distance around.

All vessels going to or from the seal islands of the Pribylov group have a splendid view in clear weather of the volcano of Makushin, the chief point of scenic interest on the island of Unalaska. It is one of the busiest of volcanoes. A hundred years ago last summer this giant chimney was smoking, and vessels that visited the neighborhood last year reported that the immense volumes of steam and white smoke which were slowly but steadily pouring from its crater were visible on clear days for fifty miles at sea. Makushin is about 5,690 feet high, and lifts its slopes, snow-covered, almost from the water's edge, at the extreme north-west corner of the island. The view of the volcano presented here was taken from the north in Behring Sea, at a distance of twenty-six miles. The natives of Unalaska accuse Makushin of making loud noises and shaking the earth, but no more serious charges are brought against the old mountain, and the fact that there is a settlement of natives at its base shows that they have confidence it will behave fairly well.

A little further east on the small Akutan Island is the volcano of the same name, which is the observed of all observers when ships are in its neighborhood. All last summer the wide open mouth of its summit was violently puffing out black and white smoke at intervals of a few seconds. The records, imperfect as they are, show the Akutan has been in frequent eruption during this century.

Everyone ought to know of beautiful Sheshaldin. It comes nearer to being a perfect cone than any other mountain in the world. It is the chief ornament of the Island of Unimak, a little east of Akutan. Unimak, as the Russian records show, was always regarded by them as "the roof of a subterranean smelting furnace." The island has been the theatre of the most stupendous spectacles of plutonic activity in Alaska in historic times. Those who read the Russian records have observed that they usually speak of the Sheshaldin as "emitting flames," while the most of the volcanoes they mention only smoke and ashes. The beautiful proportions of the mountain rise to a height of about 8,75[illegible] feet above the sea. No foothills obstruct the view. The magnificent mountain rises directly from the lowlands of Unimak. The waves dash into spray against its base. The mountain was smoking very gently last summer. When the steamers first reached Unimak late in April the mountain was clad in robes of snow, but down the sides facing the sea was a broad and blackened pathway of ashes that had fallen to the base from the huge orifice near the sharp-pointed apex. From all points of the compass the mountain presents the same symmetrical, cone like appearance. Not far from Sheshaldin on the same island, is Progromnia, which is also seen in the picture. It is considerably lower than its grand consort, and is reported in the Russian records as a volcano. There is no information, however, that the mountain has been in eruption in recent times.

It was on the Island of Unimak that the Russians first observed the remarkable manner in which the natives obtained fire. From the volcanoes they procured an abundance of sulphur. It was their practice to scatter the powdered sulphur over moss spread upon a rock. Then with a large stone in hand, a native would strike the sulphur-sprinkled mass with all his might. The sulphur would ignite, setting the dry moss on fire.

Still a little further east we come to the Alaska Peninsula, and on the mainland Pavlof Mountain puffs out great volumes of dense black smoke from an opening on one side of the mountain, perhaps a thousand feet below its sharp-pointed summit. The mountain is little if any over 4,000 feet high. The puffs of smoke occur at intervals of about thirty seconds, and the snow on the side where the orifice is is blackened to the base. There are a number of records of Pavlof's eruptions from 1762 to recent dates.

All these active volcanoes are magnificent sights from the sea. Some of them rising to heights of 12,000 feet are more impressive, apart from their Plutonic activity, than the tallest of the Alps, for the reason that they are viewed from the sea level and all their giant stature is revealed to the gaze.

ILLIAMNA VOLCANO.

Still journeying east, we come to Cook's Inlet, the deep indentation whose northern shore is lined with mountains rising steeply and ruggedly from the sea. These summits belong to the Alaskan range. Grandest of all these peaks is Illiamna, the most prominent fire mountain of the chain. The picture shows its peculiar shape and the curling smoke that rises from an orifice half way down its side. The mountain is over 12,000 feet in height, and the smoke that rises above its pinnacle is brownish in color, probably because of the strong infusion of sulphur. Illiamna is said to be constantly active. There are records of its activity at different periods in the eighteenth century.

Redoubt Volcano, also on the north side of Cook's Inlet and about sixty miles northeast of Illiamna, is also constantly active. It is only a thousand feet lower than Illiamna. It has never been explored and has only been seen at a distance.

Mount Wrangell, at the forks of the upper part of the Copper River, was reported a few years ago to be smoking. The report has not been substantiated on reliable authority and is perhaps erroneous.

About 150 miles north of Kadiak Island is Mount St. Augustine, which was active for some months in 1883-84, but it seems ever since to have been quiescent. While the eruptions were in progress the decks of vessels were covered with ashes from it for hundreds of miles at sea.

Chrikof, on an island of the same name, was reported to be active about ten years ago.

In a number of museums of our country are preserved seventeen mummies which were discovered years ago in a cave on Kagamil, one of the islands of the little group known as the Islands of the Four Mountains, west of Unimak. These islands are now seldom if ever visited. When Capt. Leonan in 1874 was sent to these islands to carry away the mummies that had been found there he discovered Kagamil, a low mountain near the water's edge, from the base of which issued through many orifices jets of sulphurous steam, smoke, and noxious gases. The odor was so offensive that his vessel was compelled to stand off the shore. No other report of this eruption has ever been made.—New York Sun.

Cure for A Constipation and Headache

Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that, when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents package.

Do not suffer from sick headache a moment longer. It is not necessary. Carter's Little Liver Pills will cure you. Dose, one little pill. Small price. Small dose. Small pill. dw

Testimonials.

On the recommendation of my Doctor I for several years used "Indigenous Bitters," for derangement of the stomach, indigestion, loss of appetite and general weakness, the natural consequence of such affections.

These bitters, which have the advantage of being very cheap, have done me so much good, that I have thought it my duty to recommend them to my friends, who suffer from the same disease, and all who have used them have to my knowledge received the greatest benefit.

"German Syrup"

A Cough and Croup Medicine.

For children a medicine should be absolutely reliable. A mother must be able to pin her faith to it as to her Bible. It must contain nothing violent, uncertain, or dangerous. It must be standard in material and manufacture. It must be plain and simple to administer; easy and pleasant to take. The child must like it. It must be prompt in action, giving immediate relief, as childrens' troubles come quick, grow fast, and end fatally or otherwise in a very short time. It must not only relieve quick but bring them around quick, as children chafe and fret and spoil their constitutions under long confinement. It must do its work in moderate doses. A large quantity of medicine in a child is not desirable. It must not interfere with the child's spirits, appetite or general health. These things suit old as well as young folks, and make Boschee's German Syrup the favorite family medicine.

Terrible Parricide.

LEAMINGTON, June 15.—A terrible parricide has been perpetrated here. Mr. James Frederick Greatrex, a retired leather merchant, aged 76, late of Walsall, Staff., was leaving his house, Moss Close, Guy's Cliffe-road, Malverton, about 11.30 in company with his late wife's sister, for a walk into Leamington, when his son, William Ernest Greatrex, aged 37, who has been living at 45 Clifton-road, St. John's Wood, London, rushed up an entry, and, ejaculating a threat, fired at his father. The bullet struck him on the breast, and penetrated the heart. The old man swerved round towards his companion, and the son fired a second time, striking the father, already fatally wounded, in the back as he fell to the ground. The murderer stood looking at him, and a constable who was at hand appeared in time to see smoke issuing from the barrel of the revolver held by the murderer, who immediately handed the weapon to him, and was taken into custody without resistance. Mr. Greatrex, who was taken up dead, was possessed of considerable wealth and had lived in Leamington some years. The son evinced a roving disposition and had been away from home for a long time. There had been considerable ill-feeling between him and his father about money matters. The accused remarked: "I have got him with the second shot." When apprehended he remarked: "It ought to have been done years ago."

Aristocratic Weddings.

LONDON, June 15.—The Earl of Huntingdon was married at St. George's, Hanover Square, to Maud Wilson, daughter of Sir Samuel Wilson, M.P., who made millions by squatting in Australia. The bridegroom is 24 years old, and his title is one of the most ancient in the peerage, he himself being the fourteenth earl, but the ancestral estates yield scarcely any income. The Wilson family is not of blue blood, but the bride is extremely rich.

Lieut. Victor Christian William Cavendish, nephew of the Duke of Devonshire, being the eldest son of Edward, the Duke's surviving brother, and therefore in the line of succession to the dukedom, will marry on July 23, Evelyn Emily Mary, the eldest daughter of the Marquis of Lansdowne. Young Cavendish was born in 1869, and his intended bride in 1870. The marriage will be a brilliant affair, and it is expected that the Duke of Devonshire will bestow on the young couple a liberal income. The young man is a lieutenant in the Derbyshire Yeomanry cavalry.

An Invasion of Locusts.

PARIS, June 15.—The locusts which were reported in swarms coming across the Desert of Sahara about a month ago have reached the Mediterranean coast, after crossing the Atlas Mountains. There is hardly a farm in Algeria and Tunis that is not suffering from them. The general situation is fully as bad as last year. The Government is spending large sums of money to mitigate, if it cannot destroy, the evil. Scores of miles of deep trenches have been dug on the northern side, on which cotton cloth is stretched on poles several feet above the ground. The locusts striking against this cloth fall by thousands into the deep trench, from which they are unable to escape. The natives and colonists are also abroad day and night, armed with oil and turpentine cans, on which they play the wildest tom-tom music to frighten the pest. The locusts have even entered the city of Algiers, but only in small numbers. It is believed that the insects, or a large part of them, come from clear across the Sahara, originating in the Soudan. Several weeks ago clouds of them were reported as appearing in some of the desert oases. They were on their way north.

GRAIN MARKETS.

The Prices and Business Done at Toronto To-day.

Receipts of grain on the street market: 100 bushels of wheat at 84c for fall and 70c for goose, 300 bushels of oats at 34½c to 35c and two loads of barley at 41c. Hay was in good supply, 50 loads selling at $12 to $15 for timothy and $8 to $11 for clover. Straw is quoted at $9 to $10. Dressed hogs nominal at $5.50 to $6.75.

Business was inactive on call board, with few offerings and no sales. Flour—Quiet at $3.60 to $3.70 for straight roller. Wheat—No. 1 regular afloat at Port Arthur offered at 61c, without bids. Peas—9000 bushels of peas, freight old rate, for export Montreal offered at 60½c, with 57½c bid. Oats—Steady, quoted at 33c to 33½c on track.

The Poet's Soliloquy.

"Kiss" rhymes to "bliss," in fact as well as verse.
And "ill" with "pill," and "worse" with "hearse;"
In fact and verse, we find "complete recovery" Rhymes best with "Golden Medical Discovery."

For driving out scrofulous and all other taints of the blood, fortifying the constitution against lung-scrofula or consumption, for strengthening the digestive organs and invigorating the entire system by sending streams of pure blood through all the veins, there is nothing equal to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the only GUARANTEED Blood, Liver and Lung remedy sold.

Health Department.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

By constipation is meant irregular action of the bowels, often called costiveness, and commonly caused by dyspepsia, neglect, excess in eating or drinking, etc. It is a serious complaint and not to be neglected under any circumstances, as it leads to impure blood, headache, debility, fevers, etc. A uniformly successful remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters, which, if faithfully tried, never fails to effect a prompt and lasting cure even in the worst cases. The following extract from a letter from Mr. Jas. M. Carson, Banff, will speak for itself:— I have been troubled with constipation and general debility and was induced to use your B.B.B. through seeing your advertisement. I now take great pleasure in recommending it to all my friends, as it completely cured me." dw

A Great Surprise

is in store for all who use Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs, the great guaranteed remedy. Would you believe that it is sold on its merits and that any druggist is authorized by the proprietor of this wonderful remedy to give you a sample bottle free? It never fails to cure acute or chronic coughs. All druggists sell Kemp's Balsam. Large bottles 50 cents and $1. dw

Makes Flesh and Blood.

When the system is all run down and there seems to be no hope of obtaining nourishment for the body by the ordinary process of food supply and digestion, when the body is shaking fast, then is the time to use Miller's Emulsion of pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil. It always works wonders, because it is a flesh and blood maker, and contains all the constituents for nourishment found in wheat. In fact Miller's Emulsion is a perfect "staff of life," and has saved and cured thousands. In big bottles 50c. and $1, at Peterborough Drug Stores. dw

Enrich the blood by the use of Miller's Iron, Iron and Wine, which supplies the necessary blood building material. dw

VERY MANY SUCH.

RHEUMATISM.—COL. DAVID WYLIE, Brockville, Ont., says: "I suffered intensely with rheumatism in my ankles. Could not sit, and; rubbed them with St. Jacobs Oil. In the morning I walked without pain."

NEURALGIA.—MR. JAMES BONNER, 166 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont., writes: "St. Jacobs Oil is the only remedy that relieved me of neuralgia, and it effectually cured me."

BACKACHE.—"I can highly recommend St. Jacobs Oil as being the best medicine in existence; it promptly cured me of severe lumbago." C. M. BOYER, Carillon, Quebec.

SPRAINS.—"My mother received a very severe sprain and bruise by falling down stairs. St. Jacobs Oil cured her in a couple of days." R. BURNAND, 124 Tecumseth St., Toronto, Ont.

BRUISES.—MR. AITCHISON, Hamilton, Ont., Fire Department, says he met with a serious accident and his back and shoulders were terribly bruised, but by the use of St. Jacobs Oil he was completely restored.

British Interests in Madagascar.

ANTANANARIVO, June 15.—It is the unexpected that always happens in politics. British interests were supposed to be safeguarded by the Anglo-French Convention. In that understanding a clause was inserted to the effect that British subjects in Madagascar should continue to enjoy the rights and immunities they were in possession of at the time of the establishment of the French Protectorate. This Protectorate has not been established, nor is it likely to be. Consequently we are in the power of the Government of Madagascar, and it is open to them to determine whether they leave us any rights and immunities. Had the phrase used in the convention been the privileges in enjoyment at the time England recognized the Protectorate, the outlook for British subjects might not be so gloomy. But it is not so, and the Hovas have once again evinced their administrative capacity by discerning the advantage the difference in wording gives them, and to bring moral pressure to bear upon the British Government of this country have the intention of annulling the Anglo-Malagasy Treaty, should the judiciary control and consular representation of British subjects be given by England to France. This step would leave British subjects without rights and immunities in this country. But this is not all the danger. It is further intended to heavily increase the customs dues on British goods. This is perhaps the most serious retaliation, for against it there can be no appeal to France, as she does not claim any right to interfere in the collecting of the revenues of this country.

An Indian Chief Buried at London.

LONDON, June 15.—An unusual ceremony took place at West Brompton. It was the burying of Long Wolf, an Opallala chief, who died at the Wild West encampment from the effects of wounds received in various campaigns during his career as a Sioux warrior. His body contained twenty-five bullet wounds, all of which had become more or less painful, with increasing age. When the hostages came in during the recent Indian outbreak Long Wolf was the first Indian to give up his gun to General Miles. He did this in order to set a peaceable example to the hostile members of his band. The burial ceremonies were attended by all the members of the Wild West show and a large crowd of Englishmen, who had never witnessed a proceeding so strange. Long Wolf's makes the fifth Indian grave at West Brompton. It lies within a few feet of the last resting-place of Adelaide Neilson.

A Cornell Student Drowned.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 15.—The junior class of Cornell University is plunged in grief over the death by drowning of C.S. Strong, one of its most popular members. The parents of the deceased student live in Cleveland.

BUENOS AYRES, June 15.—The Electoral College has nominated Senor Saenz Pena for the Presidency and Senor Uriburu for the Vice-Presidency.

A Terrific Hail Storm.

DONIPHAN, Neb., June 15.—A terrific hail storm struck this vicinity at 6 p.m. yesterday, destroying all fruit and growing crops in its track and breaking every window in the town exposed to the fury of the storm. Hailstones as large as hen's eggs banked up in some places to a depth of two feet.

Earthquake Shocks in California.

SANTA ANNA, Cal., June 15.—An earthquake shock, lasting nearly 30 seconds, was felt here yesterday morning.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., June 14.—The heaviest earthquake felt here in many months occured at 5.30 yesterday morning.

Italy's Queen.

The Queen of Italy is described as a tall, fair-haired lady, a little inclined to be stout, but very pretty. She is a highly-educated woman, with a special taste for literature and a knowledge of languages, which enables her to talk to her foreign ambassadors each in his native tongue. Perhaps the greatest gift of this greatly beloved Queen, whom her subjects fondly call the Pearl of Savoy, is a rare womanly grace and tact which endears her to all her subjects.

Recent Patents to Women.

Patents recently granted to women include a sewing machine, an ice machine, a sliding window, and a needle employed in the manufacture of felted fabrics.

FROM OVER THE SEA

MANY ITEMS OF INTEREST BY THE CABLE.

Miss Collins, Sarah Bernhardt and Paderewski—A Gordon Memorial—The King of Sweden at Berlin—Persecution in Russia—Another Murder in London—Behring Sea Arbitrators Appointed.

BERLIN, June 16.—A number of German families, who had been arbitrarily turned out of Russia, have arrived at Thorn, a town of West Prussia. These people tell of the vigorous methods adopted by the Russian Government in dealing with those persons who dare to disobey imperial mandates. They say that they had settled in Kieff and had established comfortable homes in that place. During the recent religious movement in Russia they were ordered to join the Orthodox Church under pain of banishment. They refused to give up their own religion and were thereupon summarily expelled from the country, not even being granted time to sell their property.

O, HOW SHOCKING!

A Prince Marries an Opera Singer—Queen Victoria Tried to Prevent It.

BERLIN, June 16.—Despatches from Darmstadt announce that Prince Henry of Hesse-Darmstadt has married in that city Fraulein Milena, a member of the Grand Ducal Opera Company. The ceremony was performed before only a few witnesses. The announcement was a genuine and disagreeable surprise to court circles both here and in Darmstadt.

Fraulein Milena is a beautiful young woman, who is celebrated for her acting of passionate parts. She is dark, of fine figure, and has a most remarkable head of wavy hair. She is said to be about 25 years of age. Her appearance in "Carmen" first attracted the Prince, who, despite his 52 years, is a familiar figure in the green-room of the opera house. He paid her court, to the scandal of the ducal family, but she accepted with apparent reluctance his public attentions. Then he ceased showing himself nightly in a box, and confined his visits to the greenroom. Fraulein Milena received enormous quantities of flowers anonymously, but it was generally understood that they came from the Prince. The Prince was frequently at Fraulein Milena's apartments, yet, owing to his reputation, this fact elicited little comment.

Rumors of his approaching marriage became current shortly before Queen Victoria's last visit to Darmstadt, and she is said to have exerted herself to prevent the union, pointing out that the House of Hesse had been sufficiently disgraced already by the Grand Duke Ludwig's morganatic marriage, as well as that of the Prince himself with Fraulein Wittich in 1878. Prince Henry was supposed to have promised to give up his proposed marriage, and for a short time after the Queen's visit his ardor apparently cooled. He was not seen at the actress' apartments, and he ceased visiting her behind the scenes. Three weeks ago, however, he returned to her and arranged for the marriage, which has now taken place.

A London Watchman Kills His Wife.

LONDON, June 16.—A shocking murder occurred at 2 yesterday morning in Westminster, a night watchman named James Taylor having beaten out his wife's brains with a wooden roller. The prisoner, an elderly man, entered the Gloucester-road Police Station and said: "Sergeant, you had better send some one down to No. 8 St. Matthews-street, where you will find a woman in bed. I hit her on purpose to kill her, having had several rows with my wife. I hit her on the head with a mangle-roller, which you will find on the mangle in the room." The officer found the woman lying in bed with her skull broken. Her baby was lying by her side asleep, uninjured.

Franz Joseph's New Palace.

VIENNA, June 16.—Emperor Franz Joseph has made Budapest, the capital of Hungary, a royal residence, thus depriving Vienna of the exclusiveness which the city has enjoyed heretofore in this respect. The compliment is an acknowledgment of the warm welcome which the Hungarians gave him during the celebration this week of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his accession to the Hungarian throne.

Tara-Boom De-Ay!

LONDON, June 16.—Lottie Collins and her rollicking "Tara-Boom-de-Ay" has signed to go to America with Charles Frohman. Her engagement is to last from Sept. 1 to the middle of December, as she is under contract to sing in London next Christmas in pantomime. Frohman will pay her $120 a week.

TO ARBITRATE.

Lord Hannen and Sir John Thompson Appointed Britain's Commissioners.

LONDON, June 16.—Lord Hannen, formerly president of the Probate, Divorce and Admiralty division of Her Majesty's High Court of Justice, and Sir John S. D. Thompson, Minister of Justice of the Dominion of Canada, have been appointed representatives of Great Britain in the Behring Sea arbitration. Sir John Thompson was a representative on the Fishery Commission at Washington in 1887.

ROME, June 16.—The great scarcity of silver change continues at Rome and the measures taken to prevent its exportation have not remedied the trouble. Stricter orders have been given with a view to preventing clandestine shipments.

Spanish Labor Troubles.

MADRID, June 16.—Serious labor disorders have occurred at Ferrol among the men who until recently were employed in the naval dockyard there. The Prefect of Corunna has arrived at Ferrol with a detachment of gendarmes to restore order.

Results of the Belgian Elections.

BRUSSELS, June 16.—The Independance Belge estimates that after the necessary reballots are taken the Senate will consist of 46 Clericals and 30 Liberals and the Chamber of Deputies of 88 Clericals and 64 Liberals.

Cholera in Mesopotamia.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 16.—A plague has broken out in Mesopotamia, the country between the Euphrates and Tigris Rivers. It is thought to be cholera, which is traveling eastward from Persia and has entered Asiatic Turkey.

IT'S THE WEAR THAT TELLS!

Reader, may we ask you a question? Did you ever purchase a suit of clothes that looked exceedingly well, but which when it came to be worn proved to be as mean shoddy as could be scared up? Well, there is plenty of just such clothing in the market to-day. The place where you can be sure to find no such stuff is at GRAFTON & CO.'S, 393 George Street, Peterborough. Fine foreign fabrics at remarkably low prices is what you will find there. There you will be certain to obtain something that will not only be satisfactory in price but will also give satisfactory service. Every garment we sell is made up in our own factory in Dundas, of cloths directly imported by us, or from Canadian Tweeds. Before leaving our factory, every garment is closely examined and its actual cost computed. It is then marked at the lowest possible price, and as we are direct importers as well as manufacturers and retailers we can sell fine goods at first cost or from twenty to thirty per cent. cheaper than any other merchant. Our $9 Brighton Overcoat and our $7.50 London Sack Suits are but two of the many bargains we are now offering.

Full English Cassimere Suit	$9.00 to $12.00	Aberdeen Cassimere Suit	$14.00 to $16.50
Liverpool Business Suit	3.25 to 10.00	English Club Suit	9.00 to 16.00
Leeds Diagonal Suit	15.00	Clay's Diagonal Suit	16.50
A Good Business Suit	$6.00.

Saturday, the 25th day of June, inst.,

the following lands and premises namely:—

The West Half of Lot No. twenty-eight, in the eighth concession of the Township of Dummer, in the County of Peterborough.

The soil is a clay loam and there are about thirty-five acres of cleared land, the balance is well timbered with maple, hemlock and cedar mixed.

The following improvements are said to be erected on the premises—A log dwelling house, half frame and log barn and a cattle shed.

The farm is situated about twelve miles from Norwood and thirteen miles from Lakefield, and is readily accessible to both places by good roads.

The property will be offered for sale subject to a reserved bid which has been fixed by the Master.

TERMS OF PAYMENT—Ten per cent. down at the time of sale to be paid to the plaintiff or their solicitors, the balance within thirty days thereafter without interest, to be paid into court to the credit of this action. In all other respects, the terms and conditions of sale will be the standing conditions of the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice.

Further particulars may be had from Messrs. Hall & Hayes, Barristers; E. A. Peck, Esq., Barrister, Peterborough or John Hoskin Esq., Q.C., Toronto.

NEW GOODS

Constantly arriving at

TURNBULL'S

Sluggish streams stagnate, so do sluggish stocks—they become decayed—they are not fit for commercial use more than decayed meat. Finally, they are known as dead. Do you appreciate the advantage of buying always from a clean, fresh stock of new goods? If you do, you can have that advantage by trading at Turnbull's.

Just opened out 3,300 yards Flannelette, full width and heavy; usual price 10 and 12½c., our price 6½c. No one else has these goods or can have them, as we cleared the whole lot at a loss to the holder.

Black Henrietta Cloths, Silk Warp and Wool Fillings at 50c., regular price $1.00. Come quickly if you want to be in the race for these goods.

Ladies' Cotton Skirtings, heavy enough to stand alone; fast colors; at 12½c.

Fine Scotch Tweed Dress Goods, double fold, good shades, 40c.

Pure Silk Gloves to fit every hand, 35c. a pair.

Boys' Suits fresh from the factory, at $2.00, $2.25 and $2.50 each, all the latest cut. Better goods as cheap in proportion.

Ladies' White Underwear, all desirable goods, at prices to suit everybody.

Housekeepers, do you want Carpets? We are showing a fine line of American-made goods, 36 inches wide, at 35c., a yard. This is a line that we will not be able to get in again.

All the latest patterns in Summer Prints and Challies placed in stock.

Notwithstanding the quantity of flowers we showed earlier in our Millinery department, fresh lots arriving weekly with all the new shapes, which keeps our Millinery room attractive.

FURY OF THE STORM KING

MORE FEARFUL CYCLONES AND THUNDERSTORMS.

Terrific Storms at Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul and District—Great Destruction of Property—Scores of Lives Lost—Hundreds of Persons Injured—Terrible Scenes.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 17.—A special from Manka to Minneapolis says: One of the worst disasters that ever visited Southern Minnesota occurred between 5 and 6 o'clock last evening. The terrible funnel-shaped tornado again swept over the land and laid waste scores of happy homes and sent 30 or 60 souls into eternity. The extent of country devasted was greater than ever before known in the history of the state. Starting near Jackson in the Southern Minnesota road, the cyclone moved eastward and passed four miles south of Minnesota Lake, there took a broad circle to the south and passed away south of Wells. Considerable rain had fallen during the afternoon and about 5 o'clock the atmosphere became almost suffocating.

Schoolhouse Demolished—18 Children Killed.

Curiously shaped clouds appeared over the southwest and many people gazed in wonder at the sight. About 5.30 o'clock the wind rose and the circling black cloud was seen advancing and tearing asunder everything in its course. It passed two miles northwest of Shelburne, and it is reported that it there struck the district schoolhouse, in which were the teacher and 18 schoolchildren. The building was demolished and the teacher and 15 scholars were killed.

Swept Everything in Its Path.

At Easton three buildings were destroyed and several persons were injured. Lisdon was visited and many houses were torn from their foundations. One family of three persons was killed and others were injured. A large group of trees was completely uprooted. The storm passed on eastward, destroying farm houses, barns and in fact everything in its path. At Wells, sidewalks were torn up, store fronts blown in and other damage was done. Several men were blown down by the force of the wind.

Fifty Persons Killed Here.

Four miles south of Minnesota Lake five farm houses and the outbuildings were utterly demolished. Four persons were killed and three injured. Much damage was done south of Wells, and it is reported that from 40 to 50 persons were killed south and west of that village. Most of the damage was done in the country, and the full extent of the disaster is not half known.

It is impossible at present to get a list of those killed or injured. Probably not less than 100 persons were wounded.

Bridges and Houses Washed Away.

MILWAUKEE, June 17.—A cloudburst occurred in the western part of the state last night doing great damage. At Boscobel five bridges were carried away. The water rose 11 feet in Turtle River in a few minutes.

At Sparta one end of the tunnel three on the Northwestern Railway caved in, and five houses were washed away. At Prairie du Chien and other places great damage resulted.

Terrific Hail Storm.

ST. PAUL, June 17. — At Rochester, Minn., last evening a terrific hail, rain and electric storm broke and continued for six hours. Rain fell in sheets, and the surrounding country is inundated.

At Austin, Minn., the storm was fearful. Many cattle and horses were drowned and a number of bridges were washed away. The people escaped in boats.

Stopped Railway Traffic.

WAUCOMA, Ia., June 17.—Northeastern Iowa was visited by a cloud-burst last evening. Water fell in a deluge for four hours. Streets were converted into rivers and many bridges were washed away. Railway train service is at a standstill. The country is completely flooded.

MAPLETON, Minn., June 16.—Ten people are reported killed near here and twenty injured.

Another Fatal Thunderstorm.

CHICAGO, June 17.—Three persons were killed, two seriously injured and the Grant Monument slightly damaged in a short but fierce thunderstorm last night. The killed are Lewis Myer, Mrs. Shelly of Chicago and an unknown man. The injured are Harry Phillips and Mrs. Mattie Olson, also of Chicago. The catastrophe was the result of a bolt of lightning which struck the monument, in the corriders of which nearly 50 persons had sought shelter. Everybody with the exception of three men were thrown to the ground, but all were uninjured except those named. The bolt did not strike the bronze figure of Grant and the damage to the monument will be covered by a few dollars.

GOT HIS DESERTS.

The French Jew-Baiter Creates a Scene in Court.

PARIS, June 17.—M. Drumont was yesterday sentenced to three months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of 1000 francs for falsely charging that M. Bardeau had accepted bribes from the Bank of France when drafting the report on the renewal of the bank's charter. M. Drumont, who defended himself, called upon the jury to shout with him, "Down with the German Jews; France for the French." When he left the court he received an enthusiastic but disorderly greeting from his friends, who shouted, "Long live Drumont; down with the Jews." Several were arrested.

Railway Works in Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 17.—M. Witte, Minister of Communications, will shortly examine the plan for constructing a railway across the main chain of the Caucasus Mountains. The line will have a length of nearly 100 miles and will present great engineering difficulties. It will have two tunnels—one 4½ and the other 3½ miles long.

A special commission has been appointed to consider the question of constructing a railway connecting the Volga with the Black Sea.

A Professor Drowned While Bathing.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 17.—A Yale student, W. H. Bronson of Rye, N.Y., went sailing yesterday with some fellow students. When a mile from the shore some of them went in swimming and started for the land. They all reached it but Bronson, who was either attacked with cramps or fatigued. He was drowned. Bronson had high standing as a student, having been appointed an assistant professor in the academic department.

THREATS OF CIVIL WAR.

PREPARATIONS FOR ULSTER'S GREAT CONVENTION.

Excitement Waxing Hot—Ten Thousand Will Be Present—Passive Resistance Will Be Urged to Any But a Unionist Government.

BELFAST, June 17. — For the Ulster Unionists' convention, which opens in this city on Friday next, a pavilion has been erected on a piece of ground at the intersection of College Park-avenue and Rugby-road, convenient to the Botanic Gardens, where the outdoor demonstrations will be held.

The main platform is large enough to accommodate 600 persons. Immediately below it is the press inclosure, where seats are provided for 100 journalists; and in front, in seven blocks, running right back to the main entrance, are the delegates' benches.

The delegates' seats are divided into sections, one being allotted to each Parliamentary division in the province. Accommodation for 10,000 has been arranged for.

Among the papers to be presented to the convention is one entitled "Passive Resistance; or, The Position of Ulster in Certain Contingencies."

Two Parallels.

The pamphlet is of special interest on account of the parallels the writer draws between the possible situation in Ulster and that of America in 1775. He declares that in the event of the establishment of a separate Irish Parliament and an Executive, "We have resolved that we will meet its laws, its administration and its taxes imposed, with passive resistance."

"It is not out of place here to point out that the best model that the history of the world affords of passive resistance, eventually, however, under absolute necessity, becoming active, is to be found in the proceedings of the American colonists, particularly those of Massachusetts, during the four or five years that preceded the breaking out of the war at Lexington and Bunker Hill."

Must Have No Bull Run.

With reference to the Ulster troops and their necessary training, the pamphlet says:

"We must have no Bull Run; better to wait for months till our soldiers shall have acquired discipline than incur such a danger. We must not begin serious work with a scratch army, although we should have nothing but a scratch army to fight."

NATIONAL LEAGUE MANIFESTO.

It Will Take Three Years to Dispose of the "Justitans."

LONDON, June 17.—The National League of Great Britain has issued a manifesto to Irishmen in Great Britain. It says that the anti-Parnellites have rejected honorable terms for a truce and have declared war to the knife, and predicts that three years will elapse without Home Rule for Ireland being granted. At the expiration of that time, the manifesto continues, part of the McCarthyites will have deserted to the enemy and the others will have fled the country in disgrace. The little band of Parnellites will then form the nucleus of a new Irish army to save the nation.

Colonel Saunderson and Home Rule.

LONDON June 17.—Colonel Saunderson has written the following letter to a correspondent respecting the action of the Liberal leaders on the Home Rule controversy: "31 Elizabeth-street, S. W., June 1st, 1892. Dear Sir,—If you had asked me in 1885 whether I thought there was any danger of Mr. Gladstone or Lord Spencer becoming Home Rulers, I should have answered No. But you see they did. If Gladstone, Spencer, Trevelyan and Harcourt, with all their knowledge of the subject, adopted the insane policy, I take it that there is danger of their less instructed followers following the bad example.—Yours faithfully, EDWARD SAUNDERSON."

Irish Land Commissioners Denounced.

DUBLIN, June 17.—The farmers of County Down, assembled in convention yesterday, adopted a resolution denouncing the Irish Land Commissioners and advocating state ownership of land. The resolution earnestly urged Mr. Gladstone, if successful in the coming elections, to settle the Irish land question.

IS THIS TRUE?

Report That Gladstone Will Pare Down His Home Rule Measure.

LONDON, June 17.—The Central News announces that owing to the pressure brought upon him from within the Liberal ranks, Mr. Gladstone will alter his Home Rule project with a view to exclude the Irish from representation in the Imperial Parliament or to reduce to a minimum their power of interfering with British business therein.

A Big Legacy From Her Old Lover.

MADISON, Ind., June 17.—The wife of Thomas B. McClain, a Methodist minister, has been bequeathed a fortune of $2,000,000 by an old time lover. When she was Miss Louise Bowman a young foreigner became infatuated with her, but sought her hand in vain. Six years ago he died a bachelor and left his property to be hers if she were alive seven years after his death. Next year Mrs. McClain will receive the legacy.

Mrs. McClain is Indiana's postess for the World's Fair.

Held a Child Over the Fire.

ELKTON, Md., June 17.—Mary Pressbury, colored, was arrested at Rowlandsville yesterday on the charge of setting fire to a colored boy aged 7, and burning him so badly that his life is despaired of. The boy was taken by her to raise and he claims she set a lot of paper on fire in a barrel and held him over the flames without any motive and burned his back and arms.

A Widow's Great Fortune.

ANDERSON, Ind., June 16.—Mrs. Joan Taylor, a widow, who has a humble little home in this city, has fallen heir to a fortune of from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 by the death of John Goodman, a bachelor brother in California. Goodman made his fortune in the mining business and met his death by an accident.

This Time the Whitecaps Suffered.

COLUMBIA, S.C., June 16.—Three white men attempted to enter a negro cabin near Edgefield yesterday morning when the occupants fired and riddled one of the intruders with bullets. They were attempting to play whitecaps. Threats of lynching are made and the Governor has ordered out the militia.

KILLED EACH OTHER.

An Injured Husband and His Wife's Paramour Shoot Again.

ARKANSAS CITY, June 17.—A wayward woman was the cause of a double tragedy late last night at the Gladstone Hotel. J. A. McCormick, who figured in the role of the avenging husband, and D. C. Jones, Mrs. McCormick's paramour, are both dead. McCormick was a wealthy ranchman at Willow Springs, 20 miles south of this city. Jones lived in Kingfisher, O.T. For several days Mrs. McCormick has been visiting in this city. Jones was also here and was constantly in her company. Their actions excited much comment. A friend of McCormick sent him word and he immediately came here. At 9.30 o'clock last night he went to the hotel and found Jones in Mrs. McCormick's room. Without a word McCormick began shooting. He wounded Jones at the first shot, and then Jones reached for his revolver and opened fire. Jones was shot three times and McCormick twice. Both died quickly. Mrs. McCormick managed to escape to an adjoining room. She was afterwards arrested.

STRANGE SPECTACLE.

A Bishop Temporarily Excommunicates 800 Persons at One Time.

CLEVELAND, June 17.—There was a highly dramatic scene at St. Stanislaus Church last night when Bishop Horteman denied the rites of the sacrament to nearly the entire congregation. There has been serious trouble in the church for two weeks, culminating with a riot Saturday and numerous fights Sunday and Monday. The bishop has been out of the city. When he returned he at once sent the congregation word that he would address them that night. The church was jammed with people. After stating to the members that no power on earth could remove Fr. Rosinski, the pastor, who is objectionable to a faction, the bishop extended his hands over the heads of the congregation, and in a deeply tragic voice ordered the congregation to its knees. Then in a solemn voice he said: "I hereby deny the right of sacrament to all members of this congregation who have participated in these ungodly actions until they shall make public confession of their repentance at regular services before this congregation." This temporarily excommunicates at least 800 members.

WHAT REMORSE DID.

A Faithless Wife Expiates Her Sin By Taking Poison.

ROCHESTER, June 17.—Frank Merrick, a farmer, who had suspected his wife of infidelity, found her on Saturday night in a compromising position. After horsewhipping her male visitor he ordered her to leave, telling her he would not live any longer with her. Merrick stayed all night at a neighbor's house and on returning in the morning found his wife dead. She had committed suicide by taking poison.

Fatal Labor Row.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 17.—For the past few days a small strike of employes of the Anchor steamer line existed here, but has not interfered with traffic. Last night a collision occurred between 25 strikers and the same number of "scabs." The fight opened with clubs and stones, but soon pistols were used and a negro striker was killed.

TORONTO GRAIN MARKETS.

Business Transacted and Prices of Grain in the Queen City.

TORONTO, June 17.—The receipts of grain on the street yesterday were represented by 100 bushels of wheat at 83c. for white, 77c. for spring and 79c. for goose, and 200 bushels of oats at 32c. to 34c. Hay was in good supply at $12 to $14 for timothy and $9 to $10 for clover. Straw sold at $9 to $10.

On call board No. 2 fall wheat was wanted at 75c., and No. 3 fall offered at 77c. with 55c bid. No. 2 red was wanted at 80c., without offerings. No. 1 Manitoba hard at North Bay was wanted at $1.01, and one car of No. 2 hard, North Bay, sold at 92c. No. 3 hard was wanted at 83c., North Bay, without offerings. No. 2 regular, to arrive Sarnia, offered at 83c., without bids.

Seven Victims of a Tornado.

MONTREAL, June 17.—In the tornado which struck a small village a few miles from here, called St. Rose, roofs of houses were torn off, fences were obliterated and trees uprooted. Two minutes sufficed to ruin the village school. Of the 25 scholars three were killed, four cannot recover and all are more or less injured. The loss to property will exceed $75,000. Two children were killed by the collapse of another school in the neighborhood of St. Therese, and two more met their death by the collapse of a barn near Upton.

Fatal Storm Near Ottawa.

OTTAWA, June 17.—Mr. J. McElroy of East Templeton with his wife and family were seated at dinner when a storm struck their house, which collapsed. Mr. McElroy was struck by the falling timbers, his head crushed in and he was killed instantly. Mrs. McElroy and one son escaped with severe bruises, while a daughter was lifted off her chair and carried by the wind for more than an acre. The house of B. Madore was also destroyed, and he and his family were badly hurt by the flying timbers. Mrs. Albert Scarff had her leg broken and is not expected to live.

Charge of Smuggling Opium.

LOCKPORT, N.Y., June 17.—The examination of Thomas B. Deane, who in company with George Loney of Toronto, was arrested on the morning of June 6 on a charge of smuggling opium, was begun before the United States Commissioner this afternoon. Several witnesses gave testimony. The examination was then adjourned until Saturday morning.

The Cost of a Strike.

DURHAM, June 17.—An estimate has at length been made of the effect of the coal strike in Durham, which lasted for about three months. The owners find that their receipts for this year have been reduced no less than £130,000.

Drowned at East Aurora.

EAST AURORA, June 17.—About 6 o'clock last evening, while swinging by a rope attached to the limb of a tree over a deep place in the creek where the boys go to swim, Bert, the 12-year-old son of Frank Gaylord, lost his hold. He dropped into seven feet of water and was drowned.

Two Men and a Boy Drowned.

ST. JOHN'S, N.F., June 17.—James Bridgen, Temple Knight and a boy named Saunders were drowned at Southwest Arm, Green Bay, yesterday, by the upsetting of their skiff.

It Does Not Equalize.

The ostensible purpose of the government's Gerrymander bill is to equalize the population of electoral districts. But it does not equalize at all. It is founded upon no principle or rule. The pitchforking of Clarence township from Russell into Prescott will not equalize the population of those counties. At present Russell has 5,000 more inhabitants than Prescott, while Mr. Haggart's proposal will give Prescott 5,000 more than Russell. There is no equalization about that and there is no excuse for an equalization project which does not equalize. Russell with 30,000 population has a better right to two representatives than Soulanges and Vaudreuil with 20 000 between them. Mr. Haggart proposes that Grenville county with 26,000 inhabitants shall have two representatives in Parliament, while East Simcoe with 26,000 shall have only one. That is his idea of equalizing the population, and giving the people representation according to their numbers. And Mr. Ouimet follows his example by giving Vaudreuil and Soulanges, with 20,000 inhabitants, two members, while Drummond and Arthabaska, with a population of 43,000, will only be allowed to return one. This is Mr. Ouimet's idea of "equalization." And is it an accident that all these anomalies in the provisions of the gerrymander bill inure to the benefit of the Tory party? On the contrary there is no accident about it. Had the rule of uniting small counties, which was adopted with respect to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, been followed in Ontario and Quebec no reasonable complaint could have been made, though the party in power might have reaped some advantage. Here is a table showing how the ministers have "equalized" the population of some of the constituencies with the view of giving a minority of Tory voters the power to return a majority of parliamentary representatives:

LIBERAL DIVISIONS.		TORY DIVISIONS.
Bothwell	25 594	Brockville	15,853
Essex North	31,522	Cardwell	15 382
Kent	31 434	Durham East	17 053
Lincoln	27,043	Frontenac	13,455
Welland	26 944	Grenville S.	12,929
North Oxford	26,131	East Hastings	13 050
North Perth	26,907	Leeds and Gren.	13 521
Prescott	30 717	Lennox	14 900
Russell	25,100	West Northld.	14,947
N Waterloo	25 325	W Peterboro'	15 806
S Waterloo	25,139	North Victoria	16,842
N Wellington	24,956	W Middlesex	17,288
	335,813		183,035

Average population of twelve Liberal divisions, 27,233 Average population of twelve Conservative divisions, 15,670. Talk is representation by population with a vengeance. And in Quebec the disparity is even more apparent, as the following table shows:

LIBERAL COUNTIES.		TORY COUNTIES.
Beauce	37,222	Beauharnois	16,682
Drummond & Arthabaska	43,923	Brome	14,709
Iberville and Johns	24,175	Two Mountains	15,027
Nicolet	28 705	L'Islet	13,623
Portneuf	25,813	Montmorency	12,309
Shefford	23 263	Vaudreuil	10,792
Levis	25,995	Soulanges	9,608
Quebec East	36,334	Quebec West	8,700
	245,510		101,630

Average population of eight Tory counties 12,580. Average in eight Liberal counties, 30,687. And this is how matters will stand, be it remembered, after the Gerrymander bill has been passed, or after the ministers have, according to their own statements, "equalized the population."

Important Insurance Changes.

At the High Court of the Canadian Order of Foresters at Stratford, on Wednesday, the greater part of the day was taken up with the discussion of motions of which notices had been previously given, and several important changes were made. Heretofore members have been allowed to take out an additional $1,000 of insurance, but the premiums upon the same were kept in a separate fund, from which death losses were to be paid. After a lengthy and animated discussion the clause providing for their separation was repealed, and the funds amalgamated. The rates to be charged for additional insurance to members above the age of 45 have also been changed. Until now the rates have been from 45 to 50 years of age $1 00 per month, from 50 to 55, $1 75 per month, and from 55 to 60, $3 per month. According to the amendment passed to-day the rates will be from 45 to 48 $1.25, from 48 to 50 $1.60, 53 to 55 $2, 55 to 57 $3, and from 57 to 60 $4 per month. Present members of the order over the age of 45 will have the privilege of applying for additional insurance at any time before January 1, 1893, after which no applications from persons over 45 years of age will be entertained. The nomination of officers resulted in a large number of candidates being put forward. The number of aspirants for the minor offices is much greater than for the more important ones, there being only two nominees for the office of high chief ranger, Brother Edward Towe, the present chief ranger, and Brother C. E. Britton, while for the office of senior woodward there are eleven, and for senior beadle fifteen. There were only two elections by acclamation, that of Thomas White, Brantford, who was re-elected high secretary, and John Neelands, Wingham, who was re-elected high treasurer.

THE FORCE OF HABIT.

WE have read of an old lady who for many years regularly pawned her silver teapot every Monday morning and took it out again every Saturday night. She had lost sufficient by paying interest to the pawn-brokers to buy several new pots, but it seems she could never get even with her creditors without sacrificing the tea-brewer at the beginning of the week. That was simply from the force of habit. The policy-holder is apt to get into the same habit when the premium on his policy is to be paid. Is there a dividend? Yes; then he must use that in payment of the premium. Many policy-holders having become used to paying full premiums in cash do so to the end, and the result is a wonderful accumulation, showing an investment rarely equalled in the history of finance. Some policy-holders will be persistent for a few years in their cash payments and then begin to use the dividends to pay the premiums. Having once begun they rarely stop the practice, and year after year they find it impossible to pay the premiums in any other way. They simply cease to save and lose the advantages which the Canada Life offers every investor in its policies.

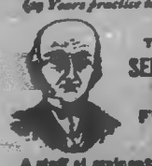
THE AMERICAN DOCTORS

(20 Years practice in Europe and America.)



THEIR SERVICES ARE FREE.

A staff of eminent American Physicians and Surgeons have opened an office for medical and surgical attendance, at No. 202½ St Catherine Street, Montreal. They give free advice to all who call upon them before August 1st, 1892, and frankly tell you if your case is curable or not. All incurable cases are rejected. Special attention is paid to every case. Invalids living outside of Montreal should address their letters to Mr. JOHN MURRAY, Manager, and inclose two 3 cent Stamps for symptom blank and question sheets.

The Baptist Association and Political Corruption.

The Globe's report of the proceedings of the Toronto Association of Baptist church, contains the following:—"When Rev James Grant moved the following resolution a storm immediately burst forth and raged for upwards of an hour:—"Believing that Christian principles should govern social and national life, and that righteousness exalteth a nation, resolved that we place on record our sense of the need of a fuller recognition of the principles of righteousness in the affairs of our country."

In introducing his resolution Mr. Grant said that it was far milder and more non-committal than the original draft which he had drawn up, but still this was better than nothing, and rather than create a political controversy upon the floor of the conference he accepted the substitute. It was well known to all the gravest charges of immorality were being made against our public men; every day disclosures were made in the papers, and not the slightest attempt was made at denial. The effect of this upon the general mass of the people was terrible, public sentiment was being debauched and degraded, and upon other nations who are entirely friendly to Canada the effect had been most unfavorable and hurtful. It was therefore too serious a matter to be flippantly dismissed. It mattered not what political opinions the brethren might hold, they all knew in their consciences that public affairs were seriously wrong, and they all must and did deplore them. I was not necessary to particularize further, and he hoped the resolution would be adopted unanimously.

Rev. W. J. Mackay seconded upon similar lines as the previous speaker, and was followed by Chancellor Rand and Rev. O. S. C. Wallace, each of whom spoke strongly upon the subject.

Rev. Dr. Thomas complained that the resolution was not definite enough. What did it mean? Of course every member was opposed to unrighteousness, so that meant nothing. The country was in the presence of a great outrage, and why should not the resolution speak frankly.

Other brethren supported this position, and finally the following amendment was put in and adopted unanimously:—"That this association expresses its regret at the corruption in Canadian politics as revealed by recent disclosures at Quebec and Ottawa."

Simon the Poet's Invitation to a Dominion Day Tea.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—HM—HM,
On the first of July in John Moore's grove,
There is going to be a tea, and I'm going, by Jove;
I know from the bills it is sure to be big,
So girls get your beaux to bring out their rig.
If you don't get there you'll miss a big treat,
For nothing this season will with it compete,
The High Park Buns Band will on that day appear,
Which alone is worth going a long way to hear;
For a fine-looking lot these boys take the cake,
So come along, ladies, and a mash you may make.
There'll be sports and amusements of all kinds, I see,
As football, baseball and climbing an apple tree,
There'll be a big time, there's no use of talking,
So when the day comes, now, don't be found hanking,
You can eat of the following till your hunger departs:
Fruit cakes, jelly cakes, tea cakes and tarts,
Plain bread, currant bread, sandwiches, buns,
Slap jacks, flat jacks and other fancy ones;
Roast beef, boiled beef, veal and mutton too,
Steamed 'taters, mashed 'taters, and those not cooked through;
Cold tea and hot tea, lemonade and ice cream,
Butter milk, thick milk, and milk made by cream,
Cod fish and cat fish, and fish from the Nile,
With frogs legs, calves heads, done up in fine style,
And remember, a quarter, Sir, feeds the whole bill,
No matter how big, you're guaranteed your fill.
The people of the neighborhood are going to take,
So from this bill of fare, friends, you see what to make;
I hope you'll be as liberal with flour and with lard,
For should I go hungry, I'll think you are hard.
I know though, quite well, there'll be plenty for all,
So come on ye people, ye folks great and small;
This will be the picnic, on that you can rely,
And remember it comes on the first day of July.

Respectfully yours,
SIMON THE POET.

Mr. S. Lachance.—Sir, a thousand thanks for Dr. Coy's Remedy, which I bought at your Store, it is a medicine whose is worth ten times the price you sell it for. It is the best purgative I have ever seen.

To Start Cuttings Early.

Common roofing slates have hardly been appreciated as a help in raising vines from cuttings out of doors. Place the row of cuttings 1ft. apart, covering the ground solid between them with slates. These draw the heat of the sun, causing an immense network of roots to run close to the surface under the slates, keeping the ground warm, moist and mellow. They do away in a large measure, with the expense of weeding and cultivating. The slates, though expensive, are indestructible except from breakage. A correspondent of Farm and Home has also experimented successfully by planting cuttings close behind slates set at an angle, half way in the ground, so as to catch on their faces the full rays of the sun. The slates become very warm, and their warmth is imparted to the soil, where the base of the cuttings close to the slates throw out a mass of roots, while the bud which starts, being immediately behind the slate above ground, is shaded from the burning and direct rays of the sun, until the growth is strong enough to endure it.

The Girl With Three Gowns.

Who ever heard of a girl with only three gowns to her name? Well, we have, and she is one of the best dressed and most stylish young women of our acquaintance. The way she manages is this: She always gets the best, has it made in the very latest style, and does not have a lot of half-worn, out of date gowns hanging up in her wardrobe. One is a tailor-made cloth that is suitable for street, church or informal calls; another is a charming black gown with two bodices, one low for evening wear and the other trimmed with gold passementerie for afternoon receptions, the theatre, etc., and the third is a delightful house dress that she never runs elsewhere. Thus she keeps her street and evening gowns fresh, and always looks most charmingly and stylishly robed. Follow her example and do not load up with a lot of clothes that will inevitably become passe long before you will be able to wear them out.

EXTENSIVE CHANGES IN
THOMAS KELLY'S
DRY GOODS ESTABLISHMENT

POSITIVE ALTERATION SALE!

About a year ago extensive alterations and improvements in our George and Simcoe Street premises were contemplated and publicly announced in good faith, and preparations were commenced to transform our store into one of the finest business premises in Peterborough. Unfortunately, owing to difficulties which arose at the time, we were compelled to postpone the work indefinitely. Now, however, we have determined that These Improvements must go on, no matter what the Cost. We, therefore, beg to announce that during the month of July, in order to allow these important alterations to be made, we will be of the premises altogether, for about a month. To avoid the expense and trouble of removing the goods, we have decided to sell off our whole stock, and will commence at once a SWEEPING CLEARANCE SALE of everything in the store. Nothing will be reserved during the next two months. The stock consists of regular Staple Goods—all new and fashionable—bought for this season's trade. THE SPLENDID VALUES which will be given will afford the greatest inducements to Dry Goods Buyers which have been offered for many years to the people of Peterborough.

To secure a complete clearance we are prepared to make great sacrifices in every department. PRICES WILL BE A SECONDARY MATTER! THE GOODS MUST GO! THERE WILL BE BARGAINS FOR EVERYBODY!

Come and buy now, if you want to reap the great benefit of the surrender of profits which must be made during this Positive Alteration Sale.

Word was received to-day by the officers of the 57th Battalion stating that the 57th and 14th Battalions would be inspected together in Kingston on the morning of July 1st. Lieut.-Col. Montizambert will be the inspector. It is imperative that every man should turn out to drill every night from this out, as the time between now and inspection day is very short, and it is of the utmost importance that the men should present a good appearance and know their drill thoroughly on inspection. A battalion parade will be held on Tuesday next headed by both bands. Let all the men turn out.

County Court and General Sessions.

The case of Demuzio vs. Ostrom, is in progress to-day before His Honor Judge Weller, in Chambers. In this case Jos. Demuzio, of Louisville, Ky., brings an action to recover the sum of $114.13 balance of an account and interest thereon. The defendant claims that the 300 boxes of oranges on which the claim is based were bought by his father and that he bought the carload of oranges from him. Plaintiff claims that the father was only an agent of the defendant. Edmison & Dixon for plaintiff, W. H. Moore, for defendant. The evidence was concluded to-day. Argument by counsel on Tuesday next.

Stereopticon Exhibition.

Mr. Struthers, of Toronto, gave a fine stereopticon exhibition in the Sunday school room of the Charlotte street Methodist church last night. There was a fair attendance. The brilliant light was flung upon a canvas some 26 feet square. Some of the fine scenes produced on the canvas, and which delighted the audience, were several good scenes, Battles of Gettysburg and Trafalgar, city of Gettysburg before the battle, St. Peter's Cathedral, London Tower, London Tower on fire, the great temperance story of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," 30 views illustrating the life of Christ from His birth to His ascension. The audience sang "From Greenland's Icy Mountain," and as each line was sung it was illustrated by fine views. The entertainment closed by all singing the doxology, and the benediction pronounced by Rev. Mr. Edwards.

Peterborough's Piscatorial Privileges.

From the handsome hand book just issued—"Fishing and Shooting on the C.P.R," the following extract in reference to Peterborough fishing is taken:—"One of the brightest towns of the more important centres of Canada is Peterborough, which may be considered the birth-place of the modern canoe. It is a convenient point from which to reach some fine lakes where good bass and lunge fishing can be had during June, July, August, and September. Rice Lake distant twelve miles, is reached by steamer, and is an admirable point for camping. Chemong Lake is seven miles distant by rail, and Kestchewamook, nine miles. Live minnow bait will prove deadly with lunge and bass; the fishing is generally excellent, and a couple of weeks may be pleasantly spent with rod and canoe at trifling expense. Fairly good duck and grouse shooting can be had, but deer must be sought at distant points.

Baseball Fixtures.

To-morrow afternoon an interesting as well as what promises to be an exciting game of baseball will take place on the P. A.A.A. grounds at 3 o'clock sharp. There should be a large attendance to witness the great struggle between the two rival teams, the Ellises and the Peterboroughs. Following are the names of the players:

PETERBOROUGH.		ELLISES.
McCabe, Heap	pitcher	Pomfret
O'Brien	catcher	Smith
Lipsett	1st base	Foster
Hynes	2nd base	Le Page
S. Ray	short stop	Parks
Burnes	3rd base	Duckworth
Heap, McCabe	left field	Sweetlove
Lyle	centre	Arthur
Mackey	right	Elliott

The Peterborough nine will go to Lindsay on June 21st to play that town, and Cobourg nine will play here on the 24th.

Cobourg baseball club will play the Cobourg team at Bellaville on Dominion Day.

—While Mr. Wm. J. Patterson, Norwood, was oiling a mower knife, which was being held, a shovelful of ice was accidentally dropped down and struck him on the head. He will be laid up for a few days.

The Douro Picnic.

Rev. Father Kelly's Annual Picnic the Most Successful Yet Held—A Large Attendance—Lots of Games and Sports.

The annual picnic of the parish of St. Joseph's, Douro, took place yesterday under the efficient management of Rev. Father Kiddy, parish priest, and was a splendid success in every way. The scene of the enjoyment of the day was in the fine large maple grove of Mr. Dennis O'Brien. There was a very large attendance, including Rev. Father Rudkins, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, Rev. Father Scollard, and a great many pleasure seekers from Peterborough. The pleasure began to gather on the grounds at 10 o'clock and until 2 o'clock the steady pouring in of visitors from all points continued. Excellent meals were served under the supervision of the ladies of the parish, and partaken of with keen relish by hundreds. In the afternoon a first-class programme of sports was run off in capital style under the charge of a competent committee. Following is the list of sports and the names of the winners.

100 yards race, boys under 15—1 Dennis O Brien, 2 John Condon.

Boot Race—1 Dennis O'Brien, 2 John Sullivan.

100 yards race, boys under 10—1 John O'Brien, 2 B Libey.

Throwing heavy stone—1 J. McMillan, Westwood, 2 J. Doherty, Westwood.

Hop step and jump—1 R. Hickson, Douro, 2 P. Heffernan, Asphodel.

Standing jump—1 R. Hickson, 2 Jas. Welch.

Running long jump—1 Jas. Welsh, 2 Dennis McCarty.

Hitch and kick—1 Fred White, Peterborough, 2 Thos. Kennedy, Emismore.

Standing kick—1 Thos. Kennedy, Emismore, 2 Fred White, Peterborough.

Dancing Irish Jig—Richard Cavanagh, Otonabee, and Miss Collins, of Emismore.

Dancing Irish Reel—Richard Cavanagh, and Miss Bridget Welsh, Douro.

Best shot on grounds—Geo. Clark, Douro.

In the prize drawing contest for a handsome three year old Ryedyk colt, a town gentleman was the happy winner, he being fortunate enough to own the lucky number drawn from the box at the picnic. Good prizes were offered in all the events in the programme. The picnic was the most successful ever held, both in point of enjoyment and attendance. Rev. Father Kelley deserves great credit for the interest and concern he took in everything pertaining to the picnic. He was here, there and everywhere, having a welcome smile and good word for everyone.

News Nuggets.

—The Gun Club are holding a shoot this afternoon.

Suffering Children

Our girl was a beautiful baby, fair and plump and healthy. But when she was two years old, sores broke out behind her ears and spread rapidly over her head and forehead down to her eyes, and into her neck. We consulted one of the best physicians in Brooklyn, but nothing did her any good. The doctors said it was caused by a scrofula humor in the blood. Her head became offensive to the smell and dreadful to look at. Her general health waned and she would lay in a large chair all day without any life or energy. The sores caused great itching and burning, so that at times we had to restrain her hands to prevent scratching. For 3 years with this terrible humor. Being urged to try Hood's Sarsaparilla we did so. We soon noticed that she had more life and appetite. The medicine seemed to drive out more of the humor for a short time, but it soon began to subside, the itching and burning ceased, and in a few months her head became entirely clear of the sore. She is now perfectly well, has no evidence of the humor, and her skin is clear and healthy. The Cruise of the Councillors.

An All-day Flirtation With Mary Ellen.

Yesterday the members of the county council except Messrs. Moore, Elmhurst and Cohan, who favoured the farmers' picnic at Jubilee Point with their presence, took their annual June excursion for the purpose of inspecting the county bridges and the bridges at Bobcaygeon. There accompanied them as guests several members of the town council—Messrs. T. Cahill, H. C. Wash, R. M. Donaldson, and A. V. R. Young, who joined the party at Bobcaygeon, ex councillors R. S. Davidson and W. Langford, street inspector Pope, Edg. Pearse, county clerk, W. A. Stratton sessional clerk and J. E. Belcher, county engineer. The venerable Isaac Garbutt, of Smith, now 85 years of age, a former member of the county council was also a member of the party, and W. B. Kelly of Bridgenorth, who occupied the honorary position of pilot. Arrived at Chemong the party boarded the steamer Mary Ellen, and steamed directly to Bobcaygeon without halt. At this beautiful village the parties interested visited the Forest House bridge which is practically "played out"—it before its days of usefulness return. The iron bridge received attention, but the Little Bob bridge was not visited. At the Forest House a little informal gathering was held, presided over by Mr. Mosom Boyd. Short speeches of a spirited character were made, and the entente cordiale between the Bobcaygeon end of Victoria at least and Peterborough firmly re-established. The stay in Bobcaygeon was of an hour and a half duration—from 11 30 to 1 o'clock. The party started out on the return trip, retracing the morning route. Gannon's Narrows ferry was seen in the distance but not inspected. A run was, however, made to the Pigeon Creek bridge, and the members of the council promenaded this floating structure almost from end to end. It was found in generally good condition except the Peterborough shore end which is somewhat out of position and will require to be replaced while the water lasts. The railing is also absent and new railing will have to be provided.

WILL HAVE TO BE REPLACED

Another steam of a few knots brought the party to Chemong Lake and they were proceeding to examine the Mud Lake floater, but had hardly begun their inspection when the impatient snorts of the iron horse at the Chemong Valley terminus intimated to the county legislators the necessity of making a choice between cutting their inspection short and anchoring in Chemong Lake all night, or camping on the burning bridge. On the arrival at the wharf—time was taken, however, to move a cordial vote of thanks to Mr. Young, of the "Mary Ellen," for the unfailing courtesy he had extended to the party during the day. He had been most obliging, using every endeavour to meet the wishes of his passengers. The party arrived home safely at eight o'clock, and this morning the councillors were ready for business at an early hour, and they are to-day wrestling with the mighty questions that their representative capacity thrusts upon them.

Somebody Suffers.

Yes, somebody suffers when these great take-em-away-for-nothing sales are announced; but it isn't the promoters, it is the confiding public who are eventually the sufferers. The goods look all right, but wear them, and how soon you will be surprised when they fall to pieces. Our reputation for selling reliable, trusty, serviceable shoes is quite sufficient to draw people to our store. It wouldn't do for a house of established reputation to indulge in sensational half-off, below cost, give-away sales. There's a moral to all this. Buy the best at Kidd's the blosters, and pay a reasonable price, and no more, and in the long run you will come off the winner. Kidd not only claims, but does sell the best of summer foot wear at the lowest living profit, at 376 George street.

The Institute Picnic a Grand Success.

The Union Picnic at Jubilee Largely Attended Professor Shaw's Admirable Address—Other Prominent Farmers—The Picnic an all Round Success.

The third annual Farmers' Institute union picnic given under the auspices of the Farmers' Institutes of East and West Peterborough, East and West Northumberland and East Durham, which was held at Jubilee Point (Rice Lake) Thursday was a great success. The steamer Golden Eye left Peterborough at 8 o'clock, and after calling at Ashburnham had on board over 200 persons. While passing through the locks the boat grazed one of the piers, but no damage was sustained, one of the fans not being smashed, as was reported in yesterday's issue. A large number met the steamer here, and the number of passengers on board already was augmented by fifty or seventy-five more. Here the palace scow was attached to the steamer and the journey down the river made. Prof. Butcher's orchestra who accompanied the excursionists struck up a lively air, and the young people indulged in the whirl of the mazy dance on board the scow all the way down the river. By the time Jubilee Point was reached—at 11 30 o'clock—by the calls which the steamer had made at Goodfellow's, Hale's Bridge, Campbelltown and Perrin's, the number on board had increased to over 400—all on pleasure bent. As is invariably the case, the Golden Eye was the first to reach the Point, and in the dim distance the Daisy might be seen approaching with two scows—one on each side—all laden with human freight, which the boat had gathered at Keene, Curtis' Point and Harwood. The Golden Eye went to her assistance and helped the plucky little steamer into port with her load. A few minutes later the steamer Beaver arrived up the lake from Hastings, black from her load of people. The Pearl also brought up a large number from Bewdley, Bernards Landing and other places. After dinner the picnickers enjoyed themselves in various ways at the Point. Prof. Crow's orchestra supplied sweet music in the dancing hall and here a large number of lads and lassies indulged in this favorite pastime for two or three hours. A platform meeting was also held and interesting and instructive addresses given on agriculture, by Professor Shaw, of the Guelph Agricultural College, who, on the way down the river on board the Golden Eye, answered many questions for the benefit of the farmers, delivered a practical address which was much appreciated by the large numbers of farmers present.

PROFITABLE FARMING

Prof. Shaw gave an admirable and instructive address upon practical farming. He said the system of farming must be modified. Farm land must not only be kept producing, but kept producing good crops. Farmers could not afford to let their land lie idle a whole season, that they might produce a wheat crop that could not be sold for more than 60c. a bushel. Summer fallowing caused a loss of materials in the soil especially in a wet season, when they were washed out of the soil. The chief benefit from summer fallowing was the clearing of the soil from weeds. But weeds could be destroyed without fallowing and the loss of a crop, besides raising a good crop, too. At the Experimental Farm, Guelph, they had cleared fields of weeds, at the same time growing good crops. The means adopted was growing clover and rye, and cutting them at the proper season and growing hoed crops, caring for them well, and paying due attention to fall cultivation. He confidently asserted that in a few years, if the right methods were used, farms could be almost completely cleared of weeds and at the same time bear paying crops. The weed bill of the county was enormous, and it could not be lessened except by a thorough, intelligent and systematic fight. More attention must be paid to the preservation of fertility. The profit of farming usually consisted in the extra bushels of a crop. There were three modes of keeping up fertility—artificial manures, which must be used carefully, keeping stock, and the third was the growing of clover and peas as a prelude to wheat crops. Clover would produce two crops in a year and leave the soil richer in nitrogen at the end. To add to the profits of stock we must economize in feeding, and therefore easily kept breeds must be raised. Good blood on the side of the sire was most important. Scrub dairy stock did not pay—a cow should not be kept that would not produce 5,000 or 6 000 lbs of milk a year. Corn was the best food crop to grow. To make money by farming at present prices, close attention must be paid to methods and discard all those of even doubtful utility.

Addresses was also delivered by Messrs. Thos. Blezard, M. P. P., D. Kennedy W. Collins, Jas. Moore and other prominent farmers. The various steamers left the wharf the wharf about five o'clock, making their return trip home in good time and without mishap. The Peterborough contingent arrived home at ten o'clock after having a very pleasant day's outing. The passengers had only the highest words of praise for Commodore Calcutt and his obliging officers on the boat. The officers of the excursion committee to whose untiring and energetic efforts in large measure is due the success of the third annual outing of the Farmers' Institutes, was composed of Messrs. F. Birdsall, president, W. Collins, secretary, D. Kennedy, treasurer, Col. Bolton, W. J. Westington, West Northumberland, T. B. Carton and J. B Ewing, East Northumberland, D. Kennedy, W. Collins, West Peterborough; Jas. Moore, Jas. Miller, East Peterborough; W. H. Westington and R. Vance, East Durham.

A Hearty Welcome Extended

Adjt. Michiel and Wife the new Commanders of the Local Corps of the Salvation Army Warmly Welcomed to Peterborough Last Night.

Adjutant Michiel and Mrs. Michiel, of Barrie, the new commanders of the local corps of the Salvation army, arrived in town at 8:30 last evening by the C.P.R. They were met at the station by the band and a large number of salvationists who after a hearty volley had been fired and a handshake had been indulged in, a procession was formed headed by the band and the principal streets of the town paraded. A short open air meeting was held on the corner of Simcoe and George streets, and after a few earnest words of christian experience were delivered by the new commander and the soldiers, the procession again reformed and marched to the barracks where a large number had already assembled.

After devotional exercises and the singing of several lively Salvation hymns, prayers were offered and a short testimony meeting held. The veteran Mark Spenceley in a few eulogistic words introduced the new commander as a good leader, an earnest Christian and a faithful Salvationist. After a volley had been fired in his honor, Adjt. Michiel said he was glad to be present and to have extended to him so cordial a welcome by the soldiers of the Army and the people of Peterborough. He was sent here to do good and he wanted to do God's will and obey His commandments in everything. His greatest desire was to save souls for Christ. He had a faithful and earnest Christian wife to help him, and he hoped that their stay in Peterborough might be productive, by the help of God, of much blessing and power. He then read a portion of Psalm cxix, and gave an earnest exposition of its searching truths. Mrs. Michiel also added a few words, exhorting all to flee from the wrath to come, and to accept Christ as their Saviour and Life.

Meetings will be held as usual at the Simcoe street barracks every night as well as the usual services on Sunday.

Adjutant Michiel is a young man of about thirty-five years, a fluent and earnest speaker, and a fine singer and musician. He was converted in the Salvation Army eight years ago in his native town, Barrie, and since then has labored zealously under their flag. He visited Peterborough last winter as commander of a soul-saving troupe. He has been engaged in divisional work for two years and for five years has commanded various corps—Bowmanville, Uxbridge, Lindsay, Whitby, Markham and other places. He was spoken of in the highest terms and as a work strongly commended by Brigadier Philpott at his address here on Sunday afternoon.

The adjutant was married a month ago last night to Lieut. Busby, stationed at London, who has been a tried soldier and will render her husband much assistance in his his command of the Salvation Army corps in Peterborough.

Teas Reduced.

J. J. SHEEHY'S

WAY OF DOING BUSINESS.

Last week we attended the Great Stock-Taking Sales in the wholesale markets and purchased THREE THOUSAND FOUR HUNDRED AND TWENTY-SIX DOLLARS worth of Seasonable Dry Goods. The purchases consisted chiefly of the following lines:—

Dress Goods and Prints	$800	Victoria Lawn and Muslins	$250
Parasols	225	Linen and Domestic Goods	500
Gloves and Hosiery	315	Flannelettes (special lot)	235
Lace Curtains	275	White and Grey Cottons and General Staple Dry Goods	825

These Goods were bought at especially low figures, and as the business of this season will not extend over two months, we are bound to rush them off in that time and to do so we have decided to give (as we did last October with great success) a discount of 5 PER CENT. to every Customer who purchases a parcel of ONE DOLLAR or over.

An advertisement from us has not appeared in any newspaper for some months. We now mean business and cordially invite all close buyers to give us a call.

Here is a sketch of a cheap and handy bag holder, which can be quickly constructed. The portion which holds the mouth of the bag is made of a ½-inch iron rod, 1½ feet in length, bent into a half circle. On the back of the circle, weld a piece of iron four inches long, and pass it through the upright or standard. This piece of iron should have a thread cut on it, and be provided with a hand-nut, figure 1. The standard should be 2 by 4-inch stuff, and have a slot so that the rod that holds the bag can be adjusted to different lengths. The standard, figure 2, should be fastened to a piece of plank large enough for a bag to stand upon, when the holder is complete.

FIG. 1. THE HOLDER.

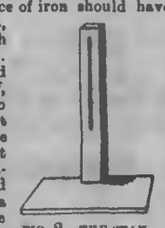

FIG. 2. THE STANDARD.

A correspondent sends this sketch of a harness clamp, and writes: "Take an ordinary trestle 3 by 4 inches, and firmly secure half of a barrel stave to the right side of it, and fasten the other stave or side of the clamp so that it will open and close, by means of a hinge, against the other stave. Dress the top of the staves so that they will join evenly together. Attach a strap near the center of the movable clamp, pass it through a hole in the center of the other, and fasten it to the foot-lever." One end of this foot-lever is screwed to a cross-piece between the forward legs of the trestle, as seen in figure 3. A seat can be provided, the bottom of an old chair, or even a board will answer, nailed upon the trestle. He found the notch-piece of an old waggon-brake, and attached it underneath the trestle to hold the lever. A notched stick of hard-wood, or one of wooden pins would answer as well. He also writes us of a small harness clamp with a device for holding the clamp open. "The inside of the clamp must be made loose in the mortise, and work freely, but not so as to fall out when not in use. Press down with the hands, and the clamp opens for the work and stands thus until the handle is raised as in figure 4."

FIG. 3. TRESTLE HARNESS CLAMP.

FIG. 4.—A SMALL CLAMP.

QUALITY IN DRAFT HORSES.

It Is Possible to Get Both Quality and Quantity.

Our correspondent wrote as one who knew whereof he spoke when he described the disastrous results from using draft sires more distinguished for bulk than quality. One cross of stump legged sires "squared up the form and gave size." The second cross increased bulk, but at the expense of wearing qualities in some instances. But the third cross brought with it all the ills of "boggy" hocks, round spongy bone, upright ankles and shelly feet. Night no more surely follows day than this result attends the use of rough legged, obese, "beefy" draft sires. The Gazette has not ceased to cry aloud against these hulks of horseflesh set on post legs. To that persistent thundering of "Weight! weight!" it has answered, "Quality! quality!"

Granting the possible value of the first cross of bulk only on our small boned, spindle shanked, light waisted mares, it has warned against the intensification of this coarse legged, short patterned blood by a second cross, and has times almost without number declared that quality should be the prime requisite. If associated with sufficient substance, well and good, but with all their getting it has uniformly advised American draft horse-breeders to get understanding. Still-feeding of stallions tends to soften tissues and cause degeneracy, but especially does it make its evil effects manifest in the condition of the legs. The farmer who has secured bulk in two or three crosses, at the expense of the tough hoofs and flinty and clean though light bone of his foundation mares, may well claim indulgence while he meditates upon an outcross to the light but sound legged sire.

Quality and size are not incompatible; this much as been so frequently proved that further discussion is idle. The draft horse must have bulk, straight, weight in the collar, but with it he needs breeding, elasticity and wearing joints. Provide bone, meaty legs, "boggy" hocks handicap horse and master. It is the breeder's province to substitute flinty, flat bone, clean limbs and bony hocks.

A hereditary tendency toward flabby muscles, meaty legs, thick hocks and stiff joints is not value received for the service fee. Careful selection of sound sires with gun metal legs and clean, limber joints, and judicious work to harden the muscles, toughen the sinues and oil the joints is what every owner of brood mares has a right to demand of every stallioner. Quality first, bulk afterward.—Breeder's Gazette.

Spring Chickens.

Now is the time when the poultry keepers need to be on the alert. April or the early part of May is none to early to get chickens out, whether intended for the Thanksgiving or Christmas market, for exhibiting at fall fairs or winter poultry shows, or intended to be kept to furnish eggs next winter while the high prices prevail. But more important than early hatching is the keeping up a constant growth through the summer and fall. They need food abundant and varied in kinds to make this growth, and they need it regularly. A hearty feed "now and then" is not enough. See that they have enough three times a day, one of those times being as early in the morning as they are stirring, and the other just before they house up for the night, with the third about midday between the two. While they are small, and before they begin to roam about in search of insects and green food, give five feeds a day, or food once in two hours. Do not give food of a fattening character, but vary it. Do not allow them to crowd one another in the pen nights, and see that there is pure water and clean gravel for them to have free access to. Take especial pains to keep all vermin away from them. Lice kill more chickens every week than do hawks, owls, skunks and weasels combined.—American Cultivator.

Shopping by System.

"But," says some woman, "we must 'shop'; we must get the things we want." Certainly. Bless your heart, shop all you want, but why not apply some kind of a system to the idea? writes Edward W. Bok, in the May Ladies' Home Journal. Don't make a day of it. Give an occasional morning to take pleasure (?), and break it up in pieces. "Easy talking," says some one, "but we cannot always leave our homes when we want to, as you men can." My dear woman, God gives you just exactly the same amount of time as he does to men, and he hasn't given you a particle more to do within that period of time. The trouble is that women are not systematic enough. I played the part of eavesdropper in some of the stores, and was surprised to find how few women really knew just what they wanted. They knew in a general way, but not in a definite sense. Now, when a man goes shopping he knows precisely what he wants, asks for it, gets it, pays for it and goes away. Women's purchases are undoubtedly different, and such a simple system cannot, perhaps, be followed by them. But that women could simplify their shopping expeditions, numbers of their own sex have confessed to me within in the last few days.

Girl Friendships.

After a girl is twenty, writes Mrs. John Wanamaker in May Ladies' Home Journal, she is very apt to make friends of married women, women other than those she has known in early childhood, and who have since married. On these married friends she often lavishes affection and admiration in larger quantities than she has before given her girl friends. Such friendships are—if their objects are the right kind of women, and a careful mother will prevent an intimacy with any other kind—of great benefit to a girl, showing her a wider sphere of woman's influence than she has yet investigated. And anything which widens the appreciation and opens the intellect is valuable.

Women as Market Gardeners.

So many women who wish to earn their own living have gone into the millinery business, that it has been suggested that some other field of labor might prove more profitable. Years ago, before Mrs. Langtry went on the stage, she hesitated which she should do, go in for growing lettuce, cauliflower and asparagus, or play "Pauline" and "Lady Clancarty." She was certain she would succeed in the first, and she felt sure that vegetables from her farm would have a good sale; however, she elected to go on the stage. But why does not some other woman follow her idea, and make the vegetables from Mrs. Brown-Jones' farm the most desirable and the most sought after in the market!—Ladies' Home Journal.

Cure for A Constipation and Headache

Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that, when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents package.

D. KELLY & SON,

"August Flower"

Mrs. Sarah M. Black of Seneca, Mo., during the past two years has been afflicted with Neuralgia of the Head, Stomach and Womb, and writes: "My food did not seem to strengthen me at all and my appetite was very variable. My face was yellow, my head dull, and I had such pains in my left side. In the morning when I got up I would have a flow of mucus in the mouth, and a bad, bitter taste. Sometimes my breath became short, and I had such queer, tumbling, palpitating sensations around the heart. I ached all day under the shoulder blades, in the left side, and down the back of my limbs. It seemed to be worse in the wet, cold weather of Winter and Spring; and whenever the spells came on, my feet and hands would turn cold, and I could get no sleep at all. I tried everywhere, and got no relief before using August Flower Then the change came. It has done me a wonderful deal of good during the time I have taken it and is working a complete cure." ©

A Memorial of Gordon in Westminster.

LONDON, June 16.—The Royal Engineers have placed a bronze memorial to the late Gen. Gordon of Chinese and Khartoum fame in the nave of Westminster Abbey. The head of Gen. Gordon is in bas relief and below is a shield bearing his titles and mention of his exploits. The late Gen. Gordon did his first military service in the Royal Engineers, having entered that corps as second lieutenant 40 years ago this month, and being promoted to first lieutenant two years later.

The Divine Sarah and Paderewski.

LONDON, June 16.—Sarah Bernhardt has bought a new one-act French play written by Oscar Wilde. Henry Abbey has put it in rehearsal and will produce it in two weeks.

Paderewski made so much money in America that he will consent to play at only one concert in London this season. St. James' Hall was packed to-day with people who paid fancy prices. The pianist was welcomed with tumultuous applause.

The Fair Ophelia.

'I thought thy bride bed to have decked, sweet maid,
And not have strewed thy grave.'

The Danish queen was not an exemplary wife, but was doubtless sincere in her grief at Ophelia's death. In every land we see the purest and sweetest of Eve's daughters gathered to early graves. A perfectly reliable cure for female complaints is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a medicine beyond all praise, which has saved many a young life threatened by the insidious approach of disease. For chronic female derangements, weak back, lassitude, nervousness and poor appetite, it is without an equal; a generous tonic, a safe nervine, purely vegetable, and warranted to give satisfaction or the price ($1) refunded. This guarantee is always adhered to. Of all druggists. b

Health Department.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

By constipation is meant irregular action of the bowels, often called costiveness, and commonly caused by dyspepsia, neglect exercise in eating or drinking, etc. It is a serious complaint and not to be neglected under any circumstances, as it leads to impure blood, headache, debility, fevers, etc. A uniformly successful remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters, which, if faithfully tried, never fails to effect a prompt and lasting cure even in the worst cases. The following extract from a letter from Mr. Jas. M. Carson, Banff, will speak for itself:— I have been troubled with constipation and general debility and was induced to use your B.B.B. through seeing your advertisement I now take great pleasure in recommending it to all my friends, as it completely cured me." dw

Science & Progress

The Sims-Edison electric fish torpedo, says Harper's Weekly, is the latest American invention in the line of submarine weapons. Its range is three miles and more, while its speed exceeds 25 knots an hour. Other advantages are that its direction and propulsion can be absolutely controlled by electricity.

FLOAT AND FISH.

The torpedo consists of two distinct parts—the float and the fish. The dimensions of the float are: Length, 28 feet; beam, 28 inches; depth, 18 inches. The fish is 32 feet long, and has a diameter of 25 inches. The float prevents the sinking of the torpedo, while the fish contains the mechanism. These two parts are connected by means of steel bars.

WHAT THE MONSTER CARRIES.

The forward compartment of the three-mile torpedo carries a charge of 500 pounds of immensite, with an explosive force equal to 1,000 pounds of No. 1 dynamite.

The next compartment is empty, and the third carries the cable. To keep the weight down no reel is employed, and to avoid the risk of tangle, the cable is ingeniously wound into a hollow coil, from which it pays out absolutely limp and without any torsional strain.

The fourth compartment contains the electric motor and steering gear. The screw, 30 inches in diameter, revolves at a speed of 750 to 800 revolutions, being geared down from the motor, whose speed is 1,500 to 1,600. The rudder is fixed aft, about one metre in front of the screw.

The total weight, ready for service, is 3,000 pounds. The motor weighs 764, and the cable about 10 ounces per foot.

MOTOR AND GENERATOR.

The motor and generator are Edison's invention. The motor is two poles, series wound, and of great resistance. The generator is an Edison marine dynamo, with a normal capacity of 1,800 volts at terminus, and 28 amperes. At full speed the motor absorbs from 1,300 to 1,400 volts, which at 25 amperes of current develop mechanically about 33 horse-power. The steering of the torpedo is affected by a powerful electro-magnet.

HOW IT IS MANAGED.

The torpedo is operated from a key-board with two keys, or one pole-changing key and switch, which, under the hand of the officer in charge, control the relay in the fish, and the rudder may thus be thrown to starboard or port at will. This fully explains why the course of the boat can be changed in any desired direction at any moment. A dial on the key-board indicates every movement of the launched torpedo, and also shows whenever the deadly weapon strikes an obstacle, whether it is day or night.

The Great Faith Cure Priest Dead.

NEWS OF THE OLD WORLD

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM FAR OFF PLACES.

Earthquake in Scotland—A Celebrated Engineer Dead—International Negotiations About Missions—Immigration to Vienna—Shocking Crimes—Many Fatalities—The Sultan's Illness—British Politics.

NAPLES, June 17.—The volcanic energy of Mount Vesuvius shows no sign of abatement. A most magnificent sight is presented in the Atrioi del Cavillo, the valley been the two summits of Monte Somma and Vesuvius proper. Here the lava ejected formed an immense bridge across the valley, and it is constantly gaining fresh accretions. The lava glows with a white heat and at night the bridge is magnificently beautiful. Hundreds of persons from Naples daily ascend the mountain by means of the railway to look at this freak of the lava. A new eruptive mouth has opened on Somma. The centre of the principal crater shows increased activity and huge masses of lava are frequently ejected.

LEVIED BLACKMAIL.

She Was the Cause of Two Suicides—A Seven Years' Sentence.

VIENNA, June 17.—The trial at St. Pelten, Lower Austria, of a woman accused of levying blackmail upon 16 residents of the town, on the charge of having immoral relations with her daughter, aged 13 years, was finished yesterday. The girl's mother was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment. All of the male prisoners were acquitted. The wives of two of the men implicated have committed suicide.

Randy is Indifferent.

LONDON, June 17.—Lord Randolph Churchill exhibits no sign of interest in the coming general election. He will seek a re-election for Paddington, but has no present intention of taking the stump on behalf of the Tory party. Only two items of news relating to this erratic genius and disappointed politician have appeared in the newspapers this week. The first is to the effect that he lost a lot of money at the Lewes races on Thursday by backing the wrong horse in the chief race and the second records that he has given to the Natural History Museum a very fine stuffed lion and lioness which he did not shoot in Africa.

How Not to Collide.

LONDON, June 17.—Negotiations have been opened between England, France, Belgium and Germany for the purpose of defining their respective spheres of missionary influence in Africa, with a view to prevent collisions between the missions. It is generally believed that the recent troubles in Uganda arising from the conflicting interests of Catholic and Protestant missionaries have had much to do with the opening of the negotiations.

In Memory of the Duke of Clarence.

LONDON, June 17.—The ceremony of unveiling the stained glass window which will be erected in Holy Trinity Church, Windsor, in memory of the late Duke of Clarence, will be performed by the Prince of Wales in the presence of most of the members of the royal family, who will assemble for that purpose, and to perform what they all regard as an exceedingly sad duty.

Daylight Crime in Vienna.

VIENNA, June 17.—A murderous assault was committed here in broad daylight on a widow who keeps a little watchmaker's shop. A man entered the shop and asked to look at some watches. As she bent down to take out a drawer he drew out a hatchet and gave her several blows, so that she fell to the ground. She was not unconscious, but sat on the floor while he took eight gold watches and walked quietly out. The woman was so injured that she was only able to creep to the door and lock it until her assistant returned from dinner. This is the fourth crime of this kind in four months, and in each case the murderer or would be murderer has escaped.

Death of a Celebrated Engineer.

LONDON, June 17.—The death is announced of Sir James Brunlees at Argyle Lodge, Wimbledon, who was born at Kelso, N.B., in 1816, and was educated at Edinburgh University. In 1839 he became an assistant engineer to Mr. Alexander Adie on the Bolton and Preston Railway. Subsequently, under Sir John Hawkshaw, he was occupied with the works of the Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway. He next constructed the Londonderry and Coleraine Railway and then the works of the Ulverston and Lancaster Railway. This was about 40 years ago. Since that time he has had a high rank as an engineer, his principal works being the Solway Junction Railway, the Clifton Extension Railway, the Mersey Tunnel Railway and the Avonmouth, King's Lynn and Whitehaven Docks, the San Paulo Railway, the Minas and Rio Railway, the Porto Alegre Railway and the Central Uruguay and Bolivar Railway. He was also joint engineer with Sir John Hawkshaw of the proposed Channel Tunnel. He was knighted six years ago, and had received from the Emperor of Brazil the decoration of the Order of the Rose. Sir J. Brunlees was a past-president of the Institution of Civil Engineers.

Double Bathing Fatality.

BIRMINGHAM, June 17.—Two young men named Chavasse and Anstey, belonging to Harborne, near Birmingham, went down to Bewdley to spend their [illegible] and while bathing in the Severn were [illegible] drowned. Anstey lost his life while trying to rescue his companion.

Shocking Death of a Cyclist.

SHEFFIELD, June 17.—A shocking accident occurred yesterday at Baslow, a village a few miles from Sheffield. A young man named Moorhouse was riding on a bicycle by the side of a wagonet, in which was his sweetheart, when one of his treadles came into contact with a kerbstone, and he was thrown into the road. The wheels of the wagonet passed over his face and he was killed instantly.

Killed a Mutineer.

THE HAGUE, June 17.—The appeal of Capt. Bakker, commander of the Netherlands-American line steamer Obdam, who in March last was sentenced to a year's imprisonment for shooting and killing a mutinous stoker on board his vessel, has resulted in a victory for him. The Court of Appeal acquitted Capt. Bakker of the charge of homicide and found him only guilty of cruelty. The sentence was reduced to a term of three months in jail.

A Heathen Chinee.

TIENTSIN, June 17.—Owing to the urgent representations of the Chinese ambassador to Great Britain and France the position of General Tcheng Ki Tong, who has been some time under arrest, has become very serious. It is stated that the ambassador will tender his resignation unless the Chinese Government deal very promptly with the ex diplomatist. The facts connected with the matter referred to in the above telegram are as follows: General Tcheng Ki Tong when acting Chinese Charge d'Affaires in Paris obtained in his official capacity a loan from the Banque de Paris et des Pays Bas without the authority of his Government, and the proceeds he converted to his private use.

Emigrants for America.

LONDON, June 17.—Mr. Howard Vincent (National Conservative), member for the Central Division of Sheffield, has called attention in the House of Commons to the statement that 2295 immigrants had entered England from the Continent in a month, of which number 373 did not intend to proceed to America. Mr. Vincent asked the Government, in view of the present depression in trade, to name a day for the introduction of a measure of restriction. The Right Hon. Henry Matthews, the Home Secretary, admitted that thus far in 1892 3993 immigrants more than in 1891 had entered the country. The destination of many of these immigrants was not stated. Mr. Matthews said he understood they had proceeded to America. In conclusion he said the Government could not name a day for the purpose specified by Mr. Vincent.

An Englishman Shot in Rome.

ROME, June 17.—Mr. Theodore Phelps, who is well known here as the proprietor of an exchange office on the Piazza di Spagna, has been shot. A man entered the office and asked Mr. Phelps to change a note. While the latter was getting the money, the stranger drew a revolver and fired at him, the bullet wounding him seriously in the abdomen. The man then walked quietly out of the office while the people were rushing thither from all sides. A policeman stopped him, and he quietly pointed to another man who was rapidly walking away. As his manner and appearance were the reverse of suspicious, the policeman started after the other man, and so Mr. Phelps' assailant escaped. The motive of the deed seems to have been plunder. Mr. Phelps was taken to the hospital, where he lies in a critical state, it not having so far been possible to extract the bullet.

Bismarck's Ambition.

BERLIN, June 17.—The Vossische Zeitung, in a sarcastic article, asks whether it is true that the ex-Chancellor is really not indispensable to the empire. The paper credits him with a desire to enlist the personal intervention of the King of Saxony and Emperor Francis Joseph in favor of his restoration to power. The Zeitung also says Prince Bismarck would be satisfied if General Count von Waldersee were made Chancellor and his son, Count Herbert Bismarck, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Horrible Murder.

SCHENECTADY, N.Y., June 16.—The tenement house, 106 Rotterdam-street, this city, was the scene of a horrible murder yesterday. A 12-year-old girl called at the house and found the doors locked. A man's voice responded in broken English to her knock, saying: "Nobody ain't home." A muffled sound as of pounding and moaning followed and directly afterward a man rushed from the house and ran into the streets. Lying in a pool of blood on the floor of a front room was found the body of Mrs. Alexander Demacaka. Her skull had been crushed by three blows from a hammer and her throat had been cut from ear to ear. The police are searching for the murderer, who is unknown.

IT'S THE WEAR THAT TELLS!

Reader, may we ask you a question? Did you ever purchase a suit of clothes that looked exceedingly well, but which when it came to be worn proved to be as mean shoddy as could be scared up? Well, there is plenty of just such clothing in the market to-day. The place where you can be sure to find no such stuff is at GRAFTON & CO.'S, 393 George Street, Peterborough. Fine foreign fabrics at remarkably low prices is what you will find there. There you will be certain to obtain something that will not only be satisfactory in price but will also give satisfactory service. Every garment we sell is made up in our own factory in Dundas, of cloths directly imported by us, or from Canadian Tweeds. Before leaving our factory, every garment is closely examined and its actual cost computed. It is then marked at the lowest possible price, and as we are direct importers as well as manufacturers and retailers we can sell fine goods at first cost or from twenty to thirty per cent. cheaper than any other merchant. Our $9 Brighton Overcoat and our $7.50 London Sack Suits are but two of the many bargains we are now offering.

THE LEAFY MONTH OF JUNE.

Sunshades and Parasols combined with Summer Silks and Blouses, are the pleasant reminders for this month and constitute the true medium for keeping cool under a June sun. These can be found in great abundance and variety at the Golden Lion, and the figures we have marked them at will give them a ready sale.

Gloves, too, and Hosiery; well, no lady seems to go shabby in these articles of dress. There is no part of a lady's outfit which she can less afford to neglect. How well this store knows from long experience what's required in both these lines, need not be dwelt on. What you want is sure to be found in our extensive stock.

Carpets are yet an item both interesting and commendable. The sobering in of really warm weather affords an opportunity to complete changes in household arrangements. We have to thank the many customers who have already made their selections, and beg leave to say, notwithstanding the run on our stock, that we are still in a position to do the leading carpet trade.

In Curtains, we keep pace with the times in new designs. If you buy from us you will get the pick of the best markets.

TURNBULL'S

Sluggish streams stagnate, so do sluggish stocks—they become decayed—they are not fit for commercial use more than decayed meat. Finally, they are known as dead. Do you appreciate the advantage of buying always from a clean, fresh stock of new goods? If you do, you can have that advantage by trading at Turnbull's.

Just opened out 3,300 yards Flannelette, full width and heavy; usual price 10 and 12½c., our price 6½c. No one else has these goods or can have them, as we cleared the whole lot at a loss to the holder.

Black Henrietta Cloths, Silk Warp and Wool Fillings at 50c., regular price $1.00. Come quickly if you want to be in the race for these goods.

Ladies' Cotton Skirtings, heavy enough to stand alone; fast colors; at 12½c.

Fine Scotch Tweed Dress Goods, double fold, good shades, 40c.

Pure Silk Gloves to fit every hand, 35c. a pair.

Boys' Suits fresh from the factory, at $2.00, $2.25 and $2.50 each, all the latest cut. Better goods as cheap in proportion.

Ladies' White Underwear, all desirable goods, at prices to suit everybody.

Housekeepers, do you want Carpets? We are showing a fine line of American-made goods, 36 inches wide, at 35c., a yard. This is a line that we will not be able to get in again.

All the latest patterns in Summer Prints and Challies placed in stock.

ARMING FOR THE FIGHT.

FORCEFUL SPEECHES AT THE BELFAST MEETING.

Opening of The Great Anti-Home Rule Convention Yesterday — Unbounded Enthusiasm of Ten Thousand Delegates.

BELFAST, June 18.—The great Ulster convention to consider the negative side of the Home Rule question was held in this city Friday. Work was generally suspended, the shops and houses being decorated with flags and bunting and mottoes expressive of the Ulsterites' declaration for Government rule in preference to an Irish Parliament. From early morning the streets were crowded, not only with citizens of Belfast but with thousand of persons who came in from all parts of the province.

The proceedings were opened with a prayer by His Grace the Primate of All Ireland, after which the 46th Psalm, "God is Our Refuge and Our Strength," was read.

Sir William Ewart proposed the following resolutions, which were adopted:

The Resolutions Passed.

1. That we avow our fixed resolve to retain unchanged our present position as an integral portion of the United Kingdom, and to protest in the most unequivocal manner against the passage of any measure that would rob us of our inheritance in the Imperial Parliament, under the protection of which our capital has been invested and our homes and rights safeguarded.

2. That we record our determination to have nothing to do with a Parliament certain to be controlled by men responsible for the crime and outrage of the Land League, the dishonesty of the Plan of Campaign, and the cruelties of boycotting, many of whom have shown themselves the ready instruments of clerical domination.

3. That we declare to the people of Great Britain our conviction that the attempts to set up such a parliament in Ireland will invariably result in disorder, violence and bloodshed such as have not been experienced in this century, and announce our resolve to take no part in the election or the proceedings of such a parliament, the authority of which, should it ever become constituted, we shall be forced to repudiate.

4. That we protest against this great question which involves our lives, property and civil rights being treated as a mere side issue in the impending electoral struggle.

5. That we appeal to those of our fellow-countrymen who have hitherto been in favor of a separate parliament to abandon a demand which hopelessly divides Irishmen, and to unite with us under the Imperial Legislature in developing the resources and furthering the best interests of our common country.

Inflammatory Speeches.

Sir William Ewart said that the love of civil and religious freedom was the cause of the meeting. All the loyalists of Ulster were welded together by a common danger which caused all differences of creed and party to be forgotten.

Mr. Thomas Sinclair declared that Ulster men were determined never to submit to the hateful ascendancy of children of the revolution and would ignore the existence of acts passed by the Dublin parliament.

Mr. Andrews, president of the Ulster Reform Club, declared on behalf of the Liberal-Unionists that they would never elect members to a Dublin parliament and would never give their allegiance to such a body. Mr. Andrews concluded his speech amid the greatest enthusiasm, the whole convention rising and wildly waving hats and handkerchiefs. He declared that as a last resource we are prepared to defend ourselves and we will do so.

Rev. Dr. Lynd, a Presbyterian clergyman, denied that Ulster men were animated by bigotry. They were animated by a dread of bigotry, for a Dublin Parliament, when not dominated by a reckless spirit of lawlessness, would be dominated by a most intolerant and arbitrary priesthood.

Rev. Dr. Kane, a clergyman of the Church of Ireland, Mr. J. D. Dunville, Mr. W. J. Doulgham, a tenant farmer, Mr. Robert Greer and others spoke. They reiterated the idea of resistance.

Captain Sharman-Crawford proposed a vote of thanks to the Duke of Abercorn for presiding. The vote of thanks was passed, and the immense crowd then arose and joined in singing "God Save the Queen."

The volume of sound was tremendous. Rev. Dr. McCutcheon, president of the Methodist College at Belfast, then pronounced the benediction, and the convention ended. The proceedings occupied a little over two hours.

HOME RULE FIRST.

Mr. Gladstone Declines to Discuss the Eight-Hour Day.

LONDON, June 18.—A deputation from the London Trades Council waited on Mr. Gladstone. In reply to the argument of the deputation in favor of establishing a legal eight-hour day, Mr. Gladstone said the Home Rule question blocked the way of any consideration of the matter under discussion. The eight-hour question, he declared, was not one for him to deal with, but for the men who would come after him. He was not even prepared to admit the eight-hour principle was in any wise correct. Mr. Gladstone added that he had dedicated the remainder of his public life to one especial question—that of Home Rule.

HON. EDWARD BLAKE.

He Will Have a Safe Seat—No Need of a Personal Fight.

LONDON, June 18.—Hon. Edward Blake's acceptance of a seat for an Irish constituency in the British House of Commons is causing considerable discussion in political and other circles. All agree that he has undoubted qualifications, and that should he be elected his aid would be invaluable in the event of Home Rule being carried. When Mr. Blake was on a visit to Limerick recently he expressed the fullest sympathy with the Home Rule movement.

It is the intention of the Irish leaders to provide a perfectly safe seat which Mr. Blake need not fight personally, even should the Parnellites or Unionists contest it.

The Pall Mall Gazette suggests that other leading colonists be invited to stand for seats in the Imperial Parliament.

HIS LORDSHIP'S OPINION.

The Home Rule Measure Will Be Solid As Niagara Chasm.

LONDON June 18.—Lord Rosebery, speaking at Kelso, Scotland, said last night when the terms of the Home Rule measure were divulged it would be found as firmly settled as Magna Charta. It would retain to the Imperial Parliament those powers which the Union has accomplished to retain, and would also afford an opportunity to establish a tribunal to which any difference between the Imperial Government and the Irish Parliament might be referred. Home Rule, with such a tribunal, would be the means of cementing firmly the union of the different sections of the British Empire. It was a crime, he said, to hint at civil war to accomplish political ends. The Ulster convention was intended not to save Ireland or Protestantism, but to save the Government.

Chamberlain On Gladstone.

BIRMINGHAM, June 18.—Mr. Chamberlain, speaking at a Liberal-Unionist meeting here, said: "Mr. Gladstone accepted Home Rule only to secure the support of 85 Irish members—Home Rule which up to that time in the long course of 50 years of political experience he had always denounced as impossible and even as absurd."

Mr. Gladstone on the Sacred Liberal Cause.

CHESTER, June 18.—Mr. Gladstone addressed a large gathering of Liberals, chiefly from Warwickshire, from the terrace of Hawarden Castle. He said: "You will stick to your flag. You will continue, I hope, to support the cause which tends to the welfare of the people and the strength and prosperity of the empire. Depend on it you never had a better, a more sacred, a more hopeful cause than that which is to be decided, please God, at the coming election."

THE ODDFELLOWS.

Elect Their Officers and Agree to Meet in Brantford Next Year.

ST. CATHARINES, June 18.—The election of officers resulted as follows:

Grand Master—Bro. H. A. Collins, Toronto (re-elected).

D.G.M.—Bro. A. S. Warner, Inwood.

Grand Secretary—Bro. R. Fleming, Toronto.

G. Treasurer—Bro. J. Boxall, Toronto.

G. Chaplain—Bro. G. W. Bradfield, Hamilton.

G. Guard—Bro. G. Cockram, St. Thomas.

G. Warden—Bro. J. Ferguson, Ingersoll.

G. Med. Ref.—Bro. Dr. H. Bingham, Cannington.

G. Trustees—Bro. S. R. Harris, Toronto; W. Thompson, Toronto; C. H. McKay, Hamilton.

G. Auditors—M. B. Thomas, Dundas; W. R. Young, Markdale; E. R. Wilson, Colborne.

D.D.G.M. for Hamilton District—R. Clark, Troy.

The Grand Lodge will meet in Brantford on the second Tuesday of June next year.

A HUSBAND'S AFFECTIONS.

A Woodstock Lady Fixes for Them at an Estimate of $5000.

WOODSTOCK, June 18.—A writ for $5000 damages was served on Mrs. Agnes Church at the Canter House last night at the instance of Mrs. Joseph Quick for alienating her husband's affections. The case is a peculiar one in some respects, and should it go to trial racy developments may be expected. The reading public will recall Joe Quick's desertion of his wife and family two years ago to join Mrs. Church, formerly a resident of Blandford station. The pair were followed by Mrs. Quick to Green Bay, Wis., where Mrs. Church had bought a hotel and installed Quick as landlord. Mrs. Quick's failure to induce her husband to return with her excited the pity of those acquainted with the facts of the case. She has since been living here with her family in extreme poverty, her domestic troubles having reduced her to a physical wreck.

THE DIVINE PRINCE.

Progress of the Trial—Great Excitement Aroused.

ANN ARBOR, June 18.—Great interest is still manifested in the trial of J. K. Mills, alias "Prince Michael," and Eliza Courts, his "spiritual wife." Many witnesses have been examined, including a number from Toronto. Mrs. Rozetta Mills, who was to have given evidence, is still in Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Bickle, the parents of Bernice Bickle, who was an inmate of the "Prince's" house, were in the court room, and Mr. Bickle was required to give evidence as to the relations of his daughter and himself with Prince Michael. The prosecution has finished its presentation of the case, and the defendant's counsel is making great efforts to discredit the evidence given for the prosecution. The prosecution is said to have in reserve several witnesses from Canada, whose evidence will show the Prince's past history in a most unfavorable light. A verdict will probably be reached very shortly.

THE PYTHIANS.

The Officers Elected—Petrolia the Next Place of Meeting.

ST. THOMAS, June 18.—The Grand Lodge of Ontario Knights of Pythias has concluded its labors. The following officers were elected: J. B. Davidson, St. Thomas, grand chancellor; J. H. Rispin, Chatham, grand vice-chancellor; Dr. English, London, grand prelate; W. J. Carbeck, Toronto, grand master-at-arms; D. J. Peace, Hamilton, grand master of exchequer; G. H. Mitchell, Toronto, grand keeper of records and seals; W. C. Mapledoram of Fort William, inner guard; G. W. Pyke, Toronto, outer guard.

Last Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The business failures for the past week number for the United States 183 and for Canada 26, a total of 179, as compared with the totals of 192 last week and 207 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 253, representing 224 failures in the United States and 29 in Canada.

A Boy Forger Caught.

ORILLIA, June 18.—For some time past forged orders for various goods have been presented to town merchants. Constable Dwyer arrested Theodore Wilmot, a boy of 15. At the Police Court he was charged on four separate indictments and pleaded guilty. He was sent to Barrie jail to await his trial.

An Antipodean Theatre Burned.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., June 18.—The Theatre Royal, in which Mrs. Bernard Beere was playing an engagement, caught fire last night. The auditorium was completely gutted, but the stage was not touched by the flames. Mrs. Bernard Beere's wardrobe was saved.

GOSSIP AT THE CAPITAL.

Some Companies Incorporated—Revenue and Savings Swept for the Northwest.

OTTAWA, June 18.—To-day's Canada Gazette will contain the appointment of Edwin B. Rogers of Calgary as commissioner to take affidavits for exchequer court; of William Thomas Whitely of Clinton, Ont., as sub-collector customs and of Lewis Daniel Pertram of Montreal as clerk in Her Majesty's customs.

The return of James Nicoll Grieve for North Perth and of Hermidas Jeannette for l'Assomption will be gazetted to-morrow.

The Kingsville and Pelee Navigation Company gives notice of application for letters patent of incorporation, with a capital of $7000, and headquarters at Kingsville.

John Joseph Hawkins, secretary of the Brantford, Waterloo and Lake Erie Railway Company, gives notice of a special general meeting of the company at Brantford on July 22 for the purpose of considering an amalgamation of the company with the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway Company.

Letters patent have been issued incorporating the J. D. King Company of Toronto, to purchase the boot and shoe factory of J. D. King & Company, capital $250,000.

The inland revenue during May amounts to $701,527.

During the same month the deposits in the Government savings banks amounted to $267,256, and withdrawals to $205,302, balance at the credit of the depositors $16,683,627.

The first divorce notice for next session will appear in to-day's Gazette. It is by John Francis Schaweller of Thorold from his wife on the ground of desertion, adultery and bigamy.

Letters patent have been issued to the Wescott Wrecking Co. of Sarnia, capital $20,000, and also to the Canada Coal Co. of Toronto, capital $50,000.

N. Erickson of Sunswald, Sweden, passed through here to-day on his return from Manitoba and the Northwest, where he has just escorted a party of 160 Swedes from the Sunswald district, who have settled at New Sweden and New Stockholm. He reports the Swedes already settled there as doing well and says he expects another party to leave Sunswald on the 28th inst., and that between three and four hundred will leave the Sunswald district for Canada this fall.

Messrs. Curran and Bergeron, M.P.'s, today introduced to the Ministers of Finance and Customs a Montreal deputation consisting of Messrs. J. A. Cantlie, James Slessor, Jonathan Hodgson and R. L. Ganet, who desired a change made in the manner of appraising double width Melton used for ladies' dresses, which is now classed the same as men's cloth by the appraiser at Montreal. The Dominion appraiser stated that no instructions to that effect had been given, and, although the tariff seemed to lend itself to a different interpretation, the meaning was held to be clear in favor of the contention of the importers, and the Ministers promised that instructions would be given accordingly.

TORONTO GRAIN MARKETS.

Business Transacted and Prices of Grain In the Queen City.

TORONTO, June 18.—The receipts of grain on the street yesterday were represented by 100 bushels of wheat at 82c for white and 68c for goose; 300 bushels of oats at 34c to 34½c, and one load of peas at 61c.

Hay was in good supply and lower, selling at $11 to $13 for timothy and $8 to $10 for clover. Straw sold at $6 to $10.

On call board No. 1 Manitoba hard wheat to arrive offered at $1.04, with $1.03 bid. No. 2 hard to arrive North Bay offered at 95c, with 92c bid, and No. 3 hard at North Bay was wanted at 87c. No. 1 regular, to arrive North Bay, offered at 70c, with 69c bid. Peas on the Midland offered at 61c. Oats on the Midland offered 32c and on track 34c was offered and 33c bid.

Winnipeg Wirings.

WINNIPEG, June 18.—John Dalgrais, farmer, living near Brandon, committed suicide by taking poison.

William Ure, a passenger on route from Vancouver to Liverpool, died yesterday at Brandon.

Principal McDermid of Winnipeg has been appointed a member of Advisory Council of the World's Congress of instructors of deaf and dumb in connection with the World's Fair.

The Congregational Church here has invited Rev. T. Hodgkinson of Melbourne, Quebec, to become its pastor.

Winnipeg temperance people will send a number of delegates to the World's Temperance Council meeting in connection with the World's Fair.

There is quite a big movement in wheat in Manitoba just now. Nearly 300 cars were inspected here last week. Threshing has been resumed in many sections of the province, and reports received by grain dealers are of a most satisfactory nature. Wherever any care was taken in stacking grain is turning out equal to that threshed last fall, and much of the wheat still in the country will grade as hard as northern. It is estimated that between five and six million bushels of wheat of the crop of 1891 will be exported out of Manitoba this summer, which will make it pretty busy for both farmer and railway.

Senator Sanford of Hamilton, who is now here, says there will be a large influx of German agriculturists to Manitoba shortly.

A party of 200 foreign immigrants arrived here this afternoon. To-morrow 400 settlers will arrive by C.P.R. east bound, many of them being from Ontario, but a majority British immigrants.

It is unofficially announced that the Manitoba general elections will take place on July 22. Premier Greenway and the members of his Cabinet have arranged dates for a tour of the province, and will address meetings every night until July 11.

Ten Thousand People at the Hanging.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 18.—Joe Wallace, the murderer of Henry Cote, a peddler, was hanged near Jasper, Marion County, Friday. Ten thousand people witnessed the execution.

Heroic Conduct of a Child.

TAUNTON, June 18.—Harry Sharp, a child aged 6, was drowned while bathing here, and George Quick, a little fellow, aged 8, who attempted to rescue him, narrowly escaped a similar fate.

The Question of Sewerage.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I have been looking over the plans, profiles, specifications and estimates for sewers of our town with the view of determining whether I will vote for the by-law or not. The plans and papers purporting to represent the sewers to be constructed in the works contemplated, I cannot understand from a casual inspection, and I am certain not one of the councillors does so either. In reading the specification it appears to me that the profiles and plans now filed do not represent working plans, and are not expected to be correct, as the specification clearly states that the contractor must lay out his own work and that the "levels from "which the sections of the ground is made "are supposed to be correct, but the contractor is to verify the same should he "think fit so to do, as he will be held responsible for the consequences of any "error contained therein, or omissions therefrom." I would advise the council to get Mr. MacDougall to make such surveys as are really necessary, and get himself thoroughly conversant with the locality, as will enable him to erase such objectionable clauses as are now in his specification, and make such profiles as are necessary to obtain a more reasonable estimate of the probable cost. I am certain if he made himself more familiar with the location that he would not send such a doubtful and unreasonable specification, and include in it advantages which exist for the well-working of the sewers which he has not mentioned in his specifications. This will place the enterprise more comprehensively before the public, and make plans and specifications more simple, so that any contractor who might wish to tender for the work (instead of asking him to do the engineering work, etc., to suit the resident engineer) might fulfil his contract in the ordinary manner. The engineering question is not the main or most difficult one placed before the voters. Provision for the supply of money is equally, if not more, important. I believe the town's credit to be good, but the public are the actual borrowers and they must decide the question, and it is but natural that they will want to be informed of the manner in which they will be required to pay for this work when completed. The by-law will actually decide how the work is to be paid for, but, in my humble opinion, it would have been better to have the sections to be built thoroughly discussed and made public, and the time and manner of payment decided on. The allotted time for advertising the bylaw is rather short in which to ask the voters to make up their minds how they will vote with such vague information as is placed before them to work on. The plans have been modified at the suggestion of the Sewerage Committee, and consequently we do not know what is to be done, or what it is likely to cost. Neither plans nor papers, etc., as to what the committee intend to undertake have been placed before us, so what is the use of advertising a bylaw to do something without knowing what is to be done? It is generally conceded that we want and must have sewers in this town; why not proceed in a business-like manner by deciding what work is to be executed, have plans and papers prepared for that particular work, and published, how and who is to be assessed for it? It is not reasonable to ask competent voters to vote upon such unreliable and undecided information as the whole has already been placed before them. The committee has dictated changes, the engineer agrees to them, other levels have been taken and the specification exhibited as a general one, which is as well suited to London or Paris as Peterborough. In conclusion I would humbly advise the council to ask Mr. MacDougall to come here and make proper surveys, plans, papers, etc, and agree with the committee what work is necessary to be done, and to get about it without any further delay. I can scarcely believe that the committee knows enough about engineering to dictate to the engineer if he had given this work due consideration and made proper investigations about it. Therefore we should not be called upon to vote on this matter until there is something tangible to vote upon.

Yours, etc.,
G. W. RANNEY,
Civil Engineer.

GOUGH BROTHERS

Are with you in the Clothing Trade. They are here to shatter old values, to fracture old fogy notions about Clothing, to open the eyes of the buyer of goods, to show the people how much a dollar will return when expanded with men who know their business as sellers and know you know yours as buyers. We are anxious to please! We are always square! We grow better and better! We are satisfied with so small profits! Throw aside your ideas that Ready-Made Clothing and Boots is not what it should be. We know it is. We know that style, fit and finish are as much a part of our goods as of the best custom goods. Capital, skill and enterprise have made Ready-Made Goods the equal of the best. Hustle here! Hustle with us; we'll hustle too! Our goods must be pushed! We'll pay you to do your share of the pushing.

A Serious and Critical Time!

Safely Depends Upon Proper Diet.

WE quite understand your baby's condition, dear mother. You are anxious, fearful and watchful, because you know it is a critical period for baby. Your child is teething; it is fretful and peevish; it does not rest well. You have indeed good cause for alarm and dread, dear mother, in this heated term.

Let us assure you that your babe's safety just now depends wholly upon its diet. If it is fed upon the ordinary prepared foods, it will wither and die, as does the tender shoot without a strong root in the fierce and burning sun. These common foods and diluted cow's milk cause irritation and inflammation of the little stomach; no wonder your baby is feeble, weak and cross. Its very existence and safety depends upon proper nourishment; this life-giving nourishment is Lactated Food, now so strongly recommended by the best physicians.

A few feedings with this wonderful Food will quickly prove its superiority over all others. Lactated Food will soon revive and strengthen the weakest infant and bring it in safety through the trying time of teething.

Canadian Forestry Statistics.

During the year $69,000 has been paid out in death claims, leaving a balance on hand of $191,208. During the year 3,853 applications have been received, of which 300 have been rejected for various causes. There were 69 deaths, which, computed upon an average membership of 13,250, give 5 20 per 1,000 of the membership. The deaths for the Foresters' year 1891-92 were exactly the same as the present year 1891 92. There have been organized since last report 43 courts. There have been 3 050 members initiated during the year; 1277 have been suspended, and 69 have died, leaving a net increase of 1,704 members, and a total membership of 14,208.

THE FORCE OF HABIT.

WE have read of an old lady who for many years regularly pawned her silver teapot every Monday morning and took it out again every Saturday night. She had lost sufficient by paying interest to the pawn-brokers to buy several new pots, but it seems she could never get even with her creditors without sacrificing the tea-brewer at the beginning of the week. That was simply from the force of habit. The policy-holder is apt to get into the same habit when the premium on his policy is to be paid. Is there a dividend? Yes; then he must use that in payment of the premium. Many policy-holders having become used to paying full premiums in cash do so to the end, and the result is a wonderful accumulation, showing an investment rarely equalled in the history of finance. Some policy-holders will be persistent for a few years in their cash payments and then begin to use the dividends to pay the premiums. Having once begun they rarely stop the practice, and year after year they find it impossible to pay the premiums in any other way. They simply cease to save and lose the advantages which the Canada Life offers every investor in its policies.

Peterborough Baptist Association.

WEDNESDAY—AFTERNOON SESSION.

Devotional exercises were led by Bro. Evans, of Franklin.

The reading of the church letters was continued. Prayer for God's blessing on the Association was offered by Bro. P. Hinman, of Grafton.

Bro. J. J. Ballor, Campbellford; Bro. Howse, Venelia, and Bro. Roughly, of Stirling, were introduced to the Association and made suitable replies.

The representative of the Grand Ligne Mission, Mr. Manse, was present and spoke a few words in reference to work in that field.

Mr. P. C. Parker, of Toronto, (formerly of Peterborough), was called on to say a few words, and responded in his usual pleasing style. Mr. Parker is here representing the Baptist Home Mission Board of Ontario.

Mr. Roberts, business manager of the Canadian Baptist and Baptist book room, of Toronto, was next introduced to the Association.

The Committee on Nomination presented their report, which was adopted, and the following were appointed as the Home Mission Board for the Association: Rev. J. M. Munro, Belleville; Rev. W. S. Barber, Smith; Rev. J. E. Trotter, Peterborough; P. Hinman, Grafton; L. B. Randall, Port Hope.

The Committee on Resolutions reported, with the following result. The Canadian Baptist was recognized as the official organ of the denomination, and recommended that efforts be made to introduce the Baptist into every family connected with our Association. Rev. Roberts very ably responded to the resolution.

Professor Farmer, of McMaster University, was introduced. The annual circular letter of the Association was read by Rev. W. L. Palframan, of Lakefield, and was followed by a short discussion.

A very able, interesting and instructive address was given by Professor Farmer, of Toronto, on "Ministerial Education."

EVENING SESSION.

The opening exercises were conducted by Rev. D. Ruddick of the Port Hope church. Prayer was offered by Rev. J. W. Roughly. A duet was beautifully sung by the Misses Richardson and Chisholm.

The annual sermon was preached by Rev. J. M. Munro, of Belleville, from the words found in Mark iv, 35, "Let us pass over unto the other side."

After singing a hymn, the Rev. P. C. Parker, of Toronto, very ably presented the cause of 'Home Missions.' An anthem was given by the choir, and Mr. Manse spoke a few words in reference to the Grande Ligne mission work.

Miss W. Chisholm sang a solo in her usual pleasing style. The meeting was closed by the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. J. E. Trotter.

You are Responsible for Your Condition

You can Effect a Great Change.

Do not complain and grumble about your condition of health. No one is to blame for your weakness, nervousness, dyspepsia and dyspepsia but yourself. These troubles were induced owing to your own neglect and disregard of nature's laws.

You may, if you have decision, be like your friends and neighbours—strong, vigorous and healthy. You may enjoy life, and become a blessing to every one around you. You are now in such a state, that you require something that will reach to the very root of your difficulty and eradicate every trace of disease.

The only reliable remedy for this great work is Paine's Celery Compound; it is sufficient for the most stubborn of maladies, and will never fail in giving relief and bringing a perfect cure.

Knowing this fact it is folly and madness to delay the good work. Every hour lost, increases your sufferings and agonies. Be wise; follow the example of others around you who have found a new life through the virtues of earth's grandest medicine. Begin to-day with Paine's Celery Compound, and test the powers of one bottle.

The Following Certificate is Published by Permission.

DELHI, N.Y., August 20, 1878.

"To the Father Mathew Temperance and Manufacturing Co.:

GENTLEMEN:

I am gratefully pleased to have in my power to testify to the efficacy and restorative qualities of your medicine in my own deplorable case.

"I was for eight years a martyr to alcohol, and "under the ban" from being, as all supposed (the knew me (and as I myself thought), beyond cure from my reliance upon ardent spirit. Liquor took the place of food, and I was so prostrated, mentally and physically that I courted DEATH as the only freedom from my wretched sufferings. A kind and noble friend (through your instrumentality) induced me to take your invaluable remedy. The first bottle strengthened and gave me appetite, and after finishing the fourth I felt completely cured, and have had no relapse whatever. Appetite and energy have returned, and I am out of the city whose late associations have been so painful, and am engaged in useful occupation, with no desire for alcohol. Six months have now passed since I took my last drop of liquor, and my restoration to friends and life I claim only to have gained through your disinterested medical aid.

Permit me to subscribe myself forever your debtor.

Why Can't They Marry.

A young lady and gentleman are in love with each other, but will not marry because the lady's mother's brother-in-law is the young man's father. What relationship exists between the young lady and gentleman?

To the first person sending the correct answer to the problem the publishers of THE LADIES' PICTORIAL WEEKLY will give Seventy five dollars in cash; for the second correct answer Fifty dollars in cash; for the third correct answer an elegant Gold Watch; for the fourth correct answer a first class boy's or girl's Safety Bicycle; for the fifth a French Music Box; for the sixth a pair of genuine Diamond Earrings in solid setting; to the seventh a first class Kodak Camera, with a complete outfit for using same; to the eighth a complete Lawn Tennis Outfit; for the ninth an elegant pair of Pearl Opera Glasses; to the tenth a Silk Dress Pattern in any color desired).

Everyone answering the above puzzle must enclose with the same Thirty cents in silver (or ten three cent stamps) for one months' trial subscription (five copies) to the LADIES' PICTORIAL WEEKLY, Canada's High Class Illustrated Newspaper. The envelope which contains correct answer bearing earliest postmark will receive first prize, the balance strictly in order as received.

All answers must be mailed on or before July 15th. Names and addresses of prize-winners will be published in our journal. Address LADIES' PICTORIAL WEEKLY, (44) Toronto, Ont.

Detection of Copper in Distilled Water.

Distilled water, the purity of which has been ascertained by the ordinary methods, becomes colored yellow on dissolving in it potassium iodide. A closer examination admits of the detection of infinitesimal quantities of copper, which neither ammonia nor potassium ferrocyanide had revealed. The presence of this impurity occasions the yellow coloration of the solution of potassium iodide in the water. The reagent gives a feeble yellow coloration with 1 part in 200,000 parts of water. The liquid must not contain any other substance capable of decomposing the iodide and liberating iodine.—Herman Thoms, in Pharm. Centralhalle.

Thought Transference.

Professor Lodge, president of the section of Mathematics and Physics at the late meeting of the British Association, used the following language: "May there not also be an immaterial (perhaps an ethereal) medium of communication? Is it possible that an idea can be transferred from one person to another by a process such as we have not yet grown accustomed to, and know practically nothing about? In this case I have evidence. I assert that I have seen it done and am perfectly convinced of the fact."

It is what Hood's Sarsaparilla actually does that tells the story of its merits and has given it the largest sale of any medicine.

A PRIZE PORTRAIT REBUS.

This young lady has three brothers, each one of whose picture is combined in the above portrait. The manufacturers of PEARLIFOAM, THE LATEST SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY FOR CLEANSING AND PRESERVING THE TEETH, will give a handsome Gold Watch to the person who can make out the faces of the three brothers FIRST; to the second an elegant pair of genuine DIAMOND EARRINGS; to the third a PIANO LAMP in Antique Silver; to the fourth either a SILK DRESS PATTERN or a SWISS MUSIC BOX playing six pieces; to the fifth a beautiful pair of PEARL OPERA GLASSES; to the sixth an elegant MANTEL CLOCK; to the seventh a pair of SOLID GOLD CHAIN BRACELETS, with Padlocks, and to the eighth a COIN SILVER WATCH.

Each contestant is to cut out the picture rebus and make a cross with a lead pencil on the three brothers faces, and send same to us, with ten three-cent Canadian postage stamps (or 30 cents in silver) for one package of Pearlifoam, before July 20th, 1892. The envelope postmarked first which contains the three brothers' faces correctly marked will receive the first prize, the balance in order as received. For the last correct answer we will also give a handsome Gold Watch; to the next to the last a complete BUSINESS EDUCATION; to the second to the last an elegant pair of genuine DIAMOND EARRINGS; to the third from the last a PIANO LAMP in Antique Silver; to the fourth a SWISS MUSIC BOX playing six pieces; to the fifth a SILK DRESS PATTERN; to the sixth a pair of PEARL OPERA GLASSES; to the seventh an elegant MANTEL CLOCK, and a valuable prize will also be given to every person who is able to answer this picture rebus correctly until 100 prizes have been awarded if there should be that number answering correctly. Nothing is charged for boxing and packing prizes. We shall offer extra premiums to all who are willing to help us introduce Pearlifoam. Our prizes are entirely FREE. Our object is to introduce and attract attention to Pearlifoam, which is the only preparation whose manufacturers are willing to offer a reward of $100 to any dentist who can show that it contains anything injurious to the teeth. Ladies who have used Pearlifoam cannot say too much in its favor. A mouthful of pearly white teeth is the sure result of its constant use. It is recommended by the leaders of the profession everywhere, ask your dentist what he thinks of it.

Pearlifoam is sent by mail postpaid. Prizes in the above Portrait Rebus are to be carefully awarded strictly as deserved. Address, EXQUISITE TOILET MFG. CO., 176 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont.

EXTENSIVE CHANGES IN THOMAS KELLY'S DRY GOODS ESTABLISHMENT.

POSITIVE ALTERATION SALE!

About a year ago extensive alterations and improvements in our George and Simcoe Street premises were contemplated and publicly announced in good faith, and preparations were commenced to transform our store into one of the finest business premises in Peterborough. Unfortunately, owing to difficulties which arose at the time, we were compelled to postpone the work indefinitely. Now, however, we have determined that These Improvements must go on, no matter what the Cost. We, therefore, beg to announce that during the month of July, in order to allow these important alterations to be made, we will be of the premises altogether, for about a month. To avoid the expense and trouble of removing the goods, we have decided to sell off our whole stock, and will commence at once a SWEEPING CLEARANCE SALE of everything in the store. Nothing will be reserved during the next two months. The stock consists of regular Staple Goods—all new and fashionable—bought for this season's trade. THE SPLENDID VALUES which will be given will afford the greatest inducements to Dry Goods Buyers which have been offered for many years to the people of Peterborough.

To secure a complete clearance we are prepared to make great sacrifices in every department. PRICES WILL BE A SECONDARY MATTER! THE GOODS MUST GO! THERE WILL BE BARGAINS FOR EVERYBODY!

Come and buy NOW, if you want to reap the great benefit of the surrender of profits which must be made during this Positive Alteration Sale.

HON. EDWARD BLAKE AND THE IRISH INVITATION.

The friends of representative justice to Ireland, will read with interest the telegraphic despatch in another column announcing that Hon. Edward Blake, the first Canadian jurist, and one of the most commanding intellects in the Dominion, has accepted the invitation of the leaders of the Irish parliamentary party to contest an Irish seat in the Imperial Parliament. This invitation itself is a double compliment—to Hon. Mr. Blake himself, whose force of character, high honesty of purpose and commanding intellect make him worthy of being a peer of the great minds that rule the destinies of the empire. It is a compliment also that the first colony in that empire should be so distinguished. Hon. Mr. Blake is a thorough Canadian—by birth, by education and by heart, yet he sacrifices no jot of loyalty to his native land, by being an ardent advocate of the extension to Ireland of the same civil and representative liberty his native land possesses. Mr. Blake will not only be a distinct addition of strength to the Irish Parliamentary party but he will be a member of the Imperial Parliament, who will lend weight to its councils and hold his own with the best intellects that shine under the shades of St. Stephen's. If Mr. Gladstone wins, as he has great hope of doing in the pending general elections, no one will be surprised at seeing our own Edward Blake hold the position of Secretary for Ireland in his cabinet.

Fiera's Festival.

The finest children's entertainment of a musical and spectacular character ever given in Peterborough will be presented in Bradburn Opera House on Tuesday evening, June 28th, when 300 white-clad and flower-decked children will present Bradbury's beautiful cantata, "Fiera's Festival" under the direction of Mr. J. H. Ketcham. The sight of 300 children, arrayed on the stage in airy costumes and bright with bouquets of roses, will be well worth the price of admission, not to speak of the beautiful music, which weeks of careful rehearsal and training will enable the grand chorus to present with splendid effect. Keep the event and date in mind, and remember that reserved seat tickets can be had at Greatrex's drug-store, Hunter street, where plan of hall can be seen. General admission 25c, children under twelve, 15c, reserved seats 35c.

The Park Concerts.

The great pleasure resulting from the park concerts is unfortunately given at the cost of considerable injury to the grounds. Persons will persist in running up and down the terrace banks to their great injury, for they are usually soft from either rain or regular watering. Last night a shoal of boys were rushing up and down the banks, and the park gardener, Mr. Warrington, has three of their names. It comes to this, if the park is to be kept in good condition, the concerts must be dropped or the public must cease to injure the grounds. And it is not likely that a lot of unruly young scamps and some older horticultural hoodlums will be allowed to destroy the park and the public enjoyment of the concerts. If they persist in running up and down the bank and otherwise injuring the park, they will be severely dealt with. Persons of sense leave their dogs at home when visiting the park, but some leave their sense where they should leave their dogs—at home. Dogs do great injury to the delicate flowers in the beds. The public are requested to assist the park commissioners in preserving it from injury.

A Distressing Situation.

What a dreadful thing it is to wake up in the middle of the night suffering from cholera,—the nearest doctor a mile away and no one to send for him. Imagine a more distressing domestic situation, if you can; and yet cases of this kind are very common. The trouble, however, would never have become serious if the man of the house had a bottle of PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER on hand, for it is a remedy that never fails to cure cholera, cramps, diarrhœa, or dysentery. All druggists keep it. 25c. for large size.

Coolness Called For.

This fine weather calls for fine and light shoes. J. T. Stinson's stock is full of the coolest and most reasonable shoes, including Ladies and Misses Oxford Ties in black and colored goods, Gents Tan shoes made on possible lasts, and Children's Strap Slippers and Oxford Ties. Come to Stinson's for comfort in footwear for the whole family. See the attractive window display.

These Enjoyable Concerts.

The band again delighted thousands of people in the Court House park last night by another of those popular and highly appreciated Friday night concerts. Some of the selections were especially well rendered and immensely delighted the great throng who lined the various walks and avenues. The band's efforts are deservedly popular this year and Peterborough should render substantial support to her musical organization in every possible way.

A Living Calendar.

Mr. Warrington, park gardener is placing an unique floral ornament, in the Court House Park, north of the central flower plot. It consists of a circular bed about twelve feet in diameter, filled with coleveria plant, the outer edge having the number of the days of the month from "1" to "31" defined in different tinted plants from the body of interior which contains the year and month in bold letters, similarly defined. An ornamental dial index, moveable when unlocked, indicates the number of the day of the month.

A Day's Enjoyment.

A sail down the river to Jubilee Point at any time is of itself an attraction, but when to that is added a picnic with a full programme for entertainment the attraction should be irresistible. That is what is provided for on Thursday, June 23rd, when the Harwood R. C. picnic will be held at the Point. The steamer Golden Eye with palace barge attached will leave the wharf at 7.30, with Butcher's quadrille band on board, and will call at Hale's Bridge and Campbellstown. A special train will leave Cobourg at 9 a.m. and the steamer Beaver will ply between Harwood and the Point. It will be a great day for all who attend.

Decoration Day Observations.

The joint decoration committee of the Peterborough and Otonabee lodges of Oddfellows will meet to-night in the Peterborough lodge to make further arrangements in regard to Decoration Day on Friday afternoon next, June 24th. The committee hope that the many friends of the Oddfellows who have always generously donated flowers to decorate the graves of the deceased brethren will not withhold their floral contributions this year, but assist in every way possible in making this important day one long to be remembered. Flowers may be left at Mr. R. Long's restaurant or the store of A. Mercer & Co., where they will be thankfully received.

Peterborough Baseball Club.

The Peterborough Baseball Club will play Lindsay at Lindsay, on Tuesday, June 21st. The team, along with all the rest of the citizens of Peterborough, are going out on the great excursion of St. Peter's Court No. 225, C. O. F. If you go along, and no one doubts but that you will, many ways of enjoyment and amusement will be open to you on all sides. There will be dancing in the pavilion, the agricultural grounds will be open for the use of the picnickers, a fine programme of sports will be run off and excellent prizes donated the winners, the baseball match, a visit to the Lindsay Collegiate Institute and other attractions too numerous to mention, will make this trip one long to be remembered. Go one, go all. Next Tuesday by the G. T. R. Secure your tickets, which are very cheap, early. Adults, 75c., children 35c. Don't forget the date. 1d

Bishop O'Connor in Cobourg.

The Cobourg Saturday Morning Post devotes a column and a half to the official visit of the Rt. Rev. R. A. O'Connor, D.D., Bishop of Peterborough, on the occasion of his first formal visit to the Cobourg mission on Sunday last. His Lordship celebrated Bishop's mass in the church at 8 o'clock, and at 10 30 high mass was sung by Rev. Father Murray, immediately after the conclusion of which an address of welcome to the bishop was read by Dr. McNicholl on behalf of the congregation, to which Bishop O'Connor replied in a felicitous manner. His Lordship then proceeded with the administration of the sacrament of Confirmation, for which holy rite there were nearly 200 candidates, after which the bishop delivered an address explaining the nature of the sacrament. In the evening after vespers Bishop O'Connor lectured upon the miracles of our Divine Saviour. At both services in the morning and also at evening there were large congregations, and his Lordship was evidently well pleased with his first visit to Cobourg.

A Peculiar Species of Bird.

Mr. R. J. Kidd while at the farmers' picnic on Thursday, noticed a peculiar variety of the winged creature flying over the mouth of the Otonabee river where it empties into Rice Lake. He raised his gun and shot. The bird is indeed a peculiar one. Mr. Kidd, who is well versed in ornithology, says it is a rare species known as the "Least Bittern," a kind of crane. Studer, the great U.S. naturalist, says it is somewhat smaller than the crane, the average species measuring 16 inches across the wings and 12 inches from head to tail. Wilson says the Least Bitterns are sometimes found around the Don, in Russia. The head is black, the bill and eyes yellow, front of neck yellow shading off to light brown on back, primaries black, secondaries light brown shading off to fawn colour on tips. Mr. Kidd, who is quite a skilful naturalist, has mounted the bird and has had it preserved among his many other curios of ornithological creation.

No smoker who has ever used the Myrtle Navy tobacco for, say a month, every relinquishes it for any other brand. Its flavor is rich and full, and it never burns the tongue or parches the palate. It is in fact, the no plus ultra of smoking tobacco.

News Nuggets.

—All is quiet in police circles.

—The market this morning was a large one.

—Regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. on Monday afternoon at half past three in rooms over express office, George street. All ladies made welcome.

—While W. Stock, baker, was proceeding up George street this afternoon the hind door of his wagon flew open and several loaves of bread were strewn along the streets.

—Mr. J. J. Turner & Son shipped a large tent capable of holding 200 people to Deseronto to-day for the Rathbun Company. This firm also shipped six large awnings to Smith's Falls this morning.

—Owing to the number of patients who were unable to see Dr. Jibb, the optical specialist, during his stay here, he has decided to remain till Wednesday next at W. R. Greatrex's drug store. Examination of the eyes and sight free. 142 2i —The annual meeting of the Peterborough Light and Power Co. was held yesterday afternoon at the office of Dennistoun & Stevenson. All the old directors were re-elected: President, T. G. Hazlitt; vice-president, T. E. Bradburn; secretary, A. Stevenson.

—A telegram was received this morning by the secretary of the cricket club from Millbrook asking the Peterboroughs to send a second team of junior cricketers, along with the team going to Port Hope, to play the Millbrook juniors. Owing to the short notice another junior team could not be secured. The juniors left for Port Hope at noon to-day.

—The Bobcaygeon Independent says:—A Peterborough delegation went to Ottawa last week to ask for a bonus to their Lake Ontario and Sault Ste. Marie Line. They wanted a grant for a piece of the line, the piece to be between old Mrs. Swanson's, in Ashburnham, and Charlie Way's, in Glamorgan, with a few spur lines thrown out at intervals, one of them going to this village. Fancy a spur line to Bobcaygeon from the Buckhorn Pine Lake main road! Such a spur-line attempt at a railway scheme is horrid, even for Peterborough.

Havelock Incorporated.

At the session of the county council this morning a by-law was passed making Havelock an incorporated village and appointing Mr. Matheson returning officer to hold the first election of municipal representatives. This is a wise step for this ambitious village, which was handicapped by its connection with the township, which could not practically sympathize with the desire of the village for the necessary improvements in the shape of walks, etc, which its new status will enable it to make. A reeve of Havelock will take his seat at the council board (if he can find a place without crowding out the press). The EXAMINER wishes the new village the greatest success, and a liberal share to the public spirited gentlemen who secured its independent municipal existence.

Died From an Overdose of Morphine.

Mr. J. G. Holmes, a talented young lawyer of Toronto, died yesterday morning from taking an overdose of morphine. He had been busily engaged in preparing his cases for the criminal assizes, and being nervous and unable to sleep, he had resorted to the fatal drug to produce sleep. After he had taken it, he immediately noticed that he had taken an overdose. Medical aid was summoned, but though every effort that science could suggest was put forth, Mr. Holmes succumbed. Deceased was 28 years of age, and a distinguished graduate of Toronto University. Mr. Holmes was well known in Peterborough. He was engaged as counsel here in an important case at the Spring Assizes, and while in town was the guest of Mr. R. Max Donnelson.

Mr. Blake is Willing.

Canada's Great Statesman Conditionally Accepts Ireland's Invitation; If he can be Useful to the Great Cause.

(Special Telegram to the Examiner.)

TORONTO, June 18th.—Hon. Edward Blake has issued a statement for publication in reference to the invitation to accept an Irish seat in the Imperial House of Commons, tendered him by the Irish leaders. In this statement he says that he has cabled to the effect that he feared that he was too old and not sufficiently familiar with the arena to be serviceable, yet if it were thought that he could be in any degree useful to the great cause he would accept a safe seat, but he could not attempt a doubtful or costly contest.

Mr. William Hamilton's Serious Illness.

He is Stricken With Paralysis While on Duty.

Last evening about 5 o'clock Mr. William Hamilton, president and founder of the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company, while going through the establishment with Col. J. Z Rogers and Mr Geo. Munro, superintendent, he was stricken with paralysis. He reeled and was about to fall, when Mr. Munro caught him in his arms. Mr. Hamilton was removed on a couch to the office and thence to the house, and physicians at once summoned, and they consider his attack a serious one. The left side is paralyzed, but the venerable patient is conscious. It is thought that the attack is due to the pressure of effused blood upon the brain. This afternoon Mr. Hamilton's condition remains unchanged. He is conscious but unable to speak. Mr. Hamilton's thousands of friends will sympathize with him in his severe affliction and fervently hope that the life of one of the most useful citizens the town has known in its history may be prolonged.

Personal.

Mr. W. A. F. Campbell, barrister, of Norwood, is in town to-day.

Mr. John Garvey, of London, is in town, registered at the Grand Central.

Miss Vale, of Boston, registered at the Grand Central, left for the lakes this morning.

Mr. R. A. Vick, who has been engaged in real estate transactions in Orillia the past month, returned to town last evening.

Mr. A. Crofton, of the Bank of Montreal, is spending his holidays in Halifax, N. S., and Mr. G. M Boers, of the Ontario Bank, is recuperating in Lefroy, N. Y

Mr. Stewart, Provincial Inspector of Licenses, has been in town during the past two days on an official visit inspecting the licenses of East and West Peterborough districts.

Messrs. R. A. Cockburn and A. Hayward, who have been taking a three months' course in the Cavalry School, Quebec, returned home last night. They will go into camp with "C" troop of cavalry at Belleville on Tuesday next.

Mr. Perry Goldsmith yesterday received word that he had passed the medical matriculation examination for McGill University. He took a high percentage on all the subjects. Mr. Thomas Ferguson also passed the matriculation examination in the faculty of applied science of McGill. Congratulations!

—The Norwood Register says:—Fred Rutherford, who was injured in Saturday's lacrosse match, returned to town on the nine o'clock express last night and will resume his studies at the High School to-day.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Rescued Their Child from Scrofula.

For Scrofula, Salt Rheum, and all other foul humors in the blood of children or adults, Hood's Sarsaparilla is an unequalled remedy. Read this:

"We are so thankful to Hood's Sarsaparilla for what it did for our little girl that we make this statement for the benefit of other anxious parents and

Suffering Children

Our girl was a beautiful baby, fair and plump and healthy. But when she was two years old, sores broke out behind her ears and spread rapidly over her head and forehead down to her eyes, and into her neck. We consulted one of the best physicians in Brooklyn, but nothing did her any good. The doctors said it was caused by a scrofula humor in the blood. Her head became offensive to the smell and dreadful to look at. Her general health waned and she would lay in a large chair all day without any life or energy. The sores caused great itching and burning, so that at times we had to restrain her hands to prevent scratching. For 3 years with this terrible humor. Being urged to try Hood's Sarsaparilla we did so. We soon noticed that she had more life and appetite. The medicine seemed to drive out more of the humor for a short time, but it soon began to subside, the itching and burning ceased, and in a few months her head became entirely clear of the sore. She is now perfectly well, has no evidence of the humor, and her skin is clear and healthy. She seems like an entirely different child, in health and general appearance, from what she was before taking

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

The Closing Sitting of the June Session.

Reports Read and Dealt With—Havelock Incorporated—Other Bylaws Passed.

FIFTH DAY—SATURDAY.

The council went into closing session at 9 o'clock, all the members present, the warden presiding.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

ROADS AND BRIDGES.

Mr. Maloney, chairman, presented the report of the committee on Roads and Bridges as follows:

Your Committee on Roads and Bridges beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your committee recommend that the report of the County Engineer be received.

2 Your committee recommend that this county maintain and keep in repair the Burnt Mill bridge in the township of Belmont and that the special Standing Committee on Bridges take the matter in charge with power to act.

3 Your committee recommend that the action of the County Engineer with reference to the Mud Lake bridge be approved.

4. Your committee recommend that the reeve of Dysart and the County Engineer be a special committee with power to repair the Nassau Bridge in such manner as they deem wise.

5. Your committee recommend that the County Engineer be instructed to make all necessary repairs to the Locke Bridge in conjunction with the town of Peterborough.

6 Your committee recommend that the matter of the repairs to the Warsaw Bridge be left in the hands of the County Engineer.

7. That no action be taken upon the application of Mr. A R Kidd to refer the costs re the Crowe investigation to the Judge.

8 Your committee consider it advisable for this council to personally inspect the Ashburnham bridges which are now in dispute between this county and the county of Victoria and that the County Clerk be instructed to make all necessary arrangements therefor.

9. You committee recommend that this council grant the sum of $150 towards the repair of the Curvath Bridge in the township of Dysart upon condition that the township of Dysart grant the sum of $70.00 for the same purpose, this county not assuming any responsibility for any future maintenance or future repairs with respect to this bridge.

10 Your committee recommend that this council make a special grant of $50 towards the Stony Lake road in the township of Belmont upon condition that the township of Belmont and Methuen grant $50 for the same purpose and the Ontario Government grant $100 for a like purpose.

11 Your committee recommend that a special grant of $75 be given to the Nicholas Long road in the township of Chandos, and $75 to the Julian's landing road in the township of Burleigh and that the reeve of Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos be commissioner for the expenditure of the same.

12 In reply to a telegram from county clerk of Victoria your committee recommend that the clerk of this county be instructed to reply that this county has appointed an arbitrator with respect to differences between the county of Victoria and Peterborough.

JOHN MOLONEY, Chairman.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough, June 18th, 1892.

DROPPED FROM THE 100 FEET SCHEDULE.

On motion of Mr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Cohan, to adopt the report,

Mr. O'Connor moved, seconded by Mr. Shaw, that the report be referred back to the committee with instructions to strike out clause 2 and clause 9 of the report, relating to the Burnt Mill Bridge, Belmont, and the Curvath Bridge, Douro.

The amendment was carried.

Mr. Maloney said the Burnt Mill Bridge was on the schedule of county bridges and a bylaw would be necessary to give effect to the elimination of the clauses from the report.

On motion of Mr. Maloney, seconded by Mr. Hawthorne, the report as amended was adopted, and the usual conformatory bylaw was passed.

EQUALIZATION OF ASSESSMENT.

Mr. Burnham, chairman, read the report of the committee on equalization of assessment, which was, with changes of date, substantially based on the report of last year. The report was adopted and the usual confirmatory bylaw was passed.

COUNTY PROPERTY.

Mr. Sanderson chairman, read the report of the committee on county property:

The Committee on County Property beg leave to report as follows:—

1 That the County Engineer be instructed to repair the flooring in the office of the Clerk of the County Court and to place a stove in such office and also to repair the platform in front of the office.

2 That the County Engineer be instructed to put a wash basin, water and necessary connections into the Registry office.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

M. SANDERSON, Chairman.

County Council Chamber Peterborough, June 18th, 1891.

The report was adopted and the usual confirmatory by-law passed.

Somebody Suffers.

Yes, somebody suffers when these great take-em-away-for-nothing sales are announced, but it isn't the promoters, it is the confiding public who are eventually the sufferers. The goods look all right, but wear them, and how soon you will be surprised when they fall to pieces. Our reputation for selling reliable, trusty, serviceable shoe is quite sufficient to draw people to our store. It wouldn't do for a house of established reputation to indulge in sensational half-off, below cost give-away sales. Taere's a end to all this. Buy the best at Kidd's the boosters, and pay a reasonable price, and no more, and in the long run you will come off the winner. Kidd not only claims, but does sell the best of summer foot wear at the lowest living profit, at 376 George street.

J. J. SHEEHY'S

WAY OF DOING BUSINESS.

Last week we attended the Great Stock-Taking Sales in the wholesale markets and purchased THREE THOUSAND FOUR HUNDRED AND TWENTY-SIX DOLLARS worth of Seasonable Dry Goods. The purchases consisted chiefly of the following lines:—

Dress Goods and Prints	$800	Victoria Lawn and Muslins	$250
Parasols	225	Linen and Domestic Goods	500
Gloves and Hosiery	315	Flannelettes (special lot)	235
Lace Curtains	275	White and Grey Cottons and General Staple Dry Goods	826

These Goods were bought at especially low figures, and as the business of this season will not extend over two months, we are bound to rush them off in that time and to do so we have decided to give (as we did last October with great success) a discount of 5 PER CENT. to every Customer who purchases a parcel of ONE DOLLAR or over.

An advertisement from us has not appeared in any newspaper for some months. We now mean business and cordially invite all close buyers to give us a call.

IT RESTS THE BACK

Most women know all about the misery of washday. To many it means Backache, Sore Hands, Hard Rubbing over a steaming tub, and long hours. This falls to the lot of those who use poor, cheap, and injurious soaps.

This Soap does away with Hard Rubbing, Tired Backs, Hot Steam, and Sore Hands. It brings comfort to millions of homes, and will do so to yours if you will use it.

Remember the Name

"SUNLIGHT"

WORKS: PT. SUNLIGHT LEVER BROS., LIMITED
NEAR BIRKENHEAD TORONTO

Here is an ice box or refrigerator that can be made at a cost not exceeding $6, and perhaps less, if made at home, which will be as serviceable as one costing $25 to $100. The box shown is first made of inch boards 4ft. square in front, and extending back 3ft. One hundred and twenty-five feet of boards will more than make it. It should be heavily supported at D D by 3in. scantling which is to extend 2in. below its botton edge for legs. Screws or heavy wrought nails clinched are needed. After boring the legs and mounting the box on heavy casters the door should be cut at B in the first illustration. A penciled line should be carefully followed with the compass saw, as this portion of the box will always be conspicuous. Cleat the boards removed and build a beveled packing 4in. thick on the inside of this door to fit the packing of the box closely.

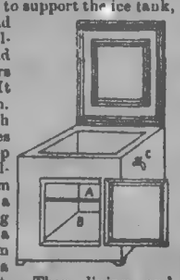
Now get into the box and line it so it can hold between lining and outside 4in. of powdered charcoal or ground cork, which is equally useful as a non-conductor of heat and moisture, much cleaner to handle and better, because the completed refrigerator will be lighter than with dust. The bottom will not need over 2 or 3 ins. of the material. The cork can be got for little or nothing at a restaurant where fancy fruits are bought. It is used to pack them safely from heat and moisture. Next nail cleats to the inside of the lining 20 in. from the top, and place 1x2 inch strips on them across the box to support the ice tank, see AA. This should be made of zinc soldered securely and stayed at the corners with extra strips. It is 2x3 ft. and 18 in. deep with a two-inch flare and loose edges to turn down on top of the lining for nailing in place. From its deepest point a small pipe 6 in. long should lead out on a line from the bottom and be fitted with a screw to a faucet. Then lining and side must be bored, the pipe put through and the cork attached. This is for removing the melted ice. If preferred the pipe can lead into the cooling space beneath and the water be caught in a pitcher kept there for the purpose, or it can convey it through the packing and drip with or without a faucet in a pan under the box. The box cover must be packed like the box and a zinc projection 2 in. thick be fastened to it to hang down in the ice chamber to drip in any condensation of moisture. The top of the box must be flat and fit the cover closely. To make the cover look less clumsy nail a strip of molding around it. Hinge it with heavy hinges. For the door heavy japanned or bronze hinges should reach half way across the front.



Now swing open the door B and look in. We see the bottom of the tank on the strips at A. Under this is a space nearly 3 feet deep, which should be covered with zinc tacked to the lining and soldered. Small projections should be soldered to it to hold moveable shelves on either side of the door and extending to the back of the interior. These will hold small dishes and the center large things like cans of milk. Such an arrangement will set the milk of a small dairy in pans or deep cans, besides serving the kitchen. It should be strained and placed under the ice at once after milking. The legs (D D in Fig. 1) are hid by neat pieces of board mitered. They should hang down far enough to nearly hide the casters. If a particularly nice piece of furniture be desired the box may be made of ash, planed, filled and varnished or of walnut. Georgia pine will answer every purpose and look neat if merely oiled.—Holister Sage, in Farm and Home.

The Russian Blouse.

The more Russian you can, apparently, become, the more stylish, of late, consequently every wardrobe must have at least one waist of this name, though there are at least six or eight designs in vogue, writes Mrs. Mallon in the May Ladies' Home Journal. There are three kinds of sleeves worn with the waists—a high, coat shape, one having full upper and deep, close-fitting cuffs, and the typical Russian sleeve, with a deep cap, or second sleeve extending to the elbow over the moderately high coat sleeve beneath. Both the cap and wrist are trimmed, also the collar, opening down the left side and lower edge if the wearer is slender. A close lining is worn, not for cotton dresses, however. The blouse is from twelve to twenty inches below the waist line, belted with a ribbon, passementerie, or leather belt, and either plain or shirred at the center, back and front by the collar. Side forms are used if the wearer is rather large, otherwise the garment resembles a deep sacque, having only one side and shoulder seams. Every material is made up in this manner, and the trimmings are as numerous as the fabrics. Pointed, round, and square yokes are also worn, and when of soft materials, like China silk or crepon, the round yoke is shirred in three crosswise puffs, divided by jet or pearl passementerie. Handsome buttons fasten these garments, and they are usually worn with "boll" skirts.

Mrs. Gladstone's Ideal Nursery.

A room fifteen feet square and nine feet high affords ample initial cubic space for a nurse and two children, writes Mrs. William E. Gladstone in the May Ladies' Home Journal. With good and careful management, a nurse, infant, and two other young children have occupied a bedroom of this size without detriment to health. No useless articles of furniture or of drapery were allowed entrance; both a dressing-room and a bath-room were close at hand; care was taken to keep the air of the room pure; no open vessels were allowed to remain; the door, never quite closed, admitted light and air from the passage; the two windows were partly open on the summer nights; and the fire always lighted before bedtime in the winter.

The Baby's Dainty Basket.

They should be covered with muslin, or lace, over some covered material, writes Mrs. Scovil in her department in the May Ladies' Home Journal. Silesia, glazed cambric, or sateen may be used, and any color chosen that is preferred. The French think blue the most appropriate for boys, and pink for girls. If any special color predominates in the nursery, or in the baby's other belongings, it is well to have the basket to match. Pale yellow is effective, crimson looks warm in winter, and a delicate green cool in summer. Line the sides of the basket inside and out, cutting the strips to fit, allowing for seams, joining them neatly round the top, and confining any extra fulness in tiny plaits at the lower part. Cut a piece of cardboard to exactly fit the bottom of the basket, cover it with the cambric, and afterward with the muslin, and lay it in place when the trimming is done. It will conceal the finishing where the sides and bottom join. Use for the covering plain white Swiss muslin, dottered or figured muslin, point d'esprit net, which is net covered with fine dots, or one of the different kinds of piece lace. When a very inexpensive basket is desired, try fine cheese cloth, scrim, silkolene, or art muslin. China, India, or surah silk, in soft shades, makes a very pretty covering, and does not crease as quickly as muslin.

If You are Going To Buy a Piano or Organ!

don't fail to pay a visit to

JACKSON & Co.'S
ESTABLISHED
PIANO AND ORGAN WORKS,
360 Aylmer St., Peterborough.

Being extensive dealers in only Reliable and Standard makes of

BAND, SQUARE AND UPRIGHT
PIANOFORTES

we are able to offer advantages to the public which are impossible to the ordinary dealer.

Our instruments have an established reputation for excellence of TONE, TOUCH, WORKMANSHIP, and DURABILITY, and Every Instrument is Fully Warranted for Seven Years.

Chief among our instruments which have received preferences from the best musical artists, stand

—THE—
HEINTZMAN AND EVANS PIANOS.

These instruments have been before the Canadian public for a number of years, and the great praise bestowed upon them by musical experts, along with the continued increase of sales year by year, testify to their high excellence.

The aim of the manufacturers of these two favorite Pianos has persistently been to produce the best instruments at a moderate price. They are of solid build, warranted for durability, of handsome appearance and good finish; pleasant touch and quick repetition. TONE: rich, full, bright and resonant. Beautifully singing and sympathetic in quality. The prices are moderate, and within the reach of the majority of purchasers.

We are exclusive agents in Peterborough for the celebrated

which stand ahead of all competitors. We have also at all times in stock the well-known and popular

THOMAS ORGANS,
AND OTHER MAKES.

Our large and well-lighted show room enables us to carry the Largest Stock ever shown in Peterborough, and as regards Prices, we have only to say that we positively will not be undersold.

Those not having the inclination or the means to purchase an instrument outright, can by a small monthly investment, secure a Piano or Organ on rental until paid for.

JACKSON & CO. wish it to be distinctly understood that in cases of emergency, they are always desirous of dealing justly and fairly with their customers. They do not want both the money and the instrument.

NOTICE.

To insure confidence and satisfaction, Jackson & Co. are willing to exchange any instrument purchased from them within twelve months if not approved of, themselves bearing all expense of carriage, and allowing all that has been paid, towards any other instrument selected.

All kinds of Instruments Tuned or Repaired on short notice.

"German Syrup"

For Coughs & Colds.

John F. Jones, Edom, Tex., writes: I have used German Syrup for the past six years, for Sore Throat, Cough, Colds, Pains in the Chest and Lungs, and let me say to anyone wanting such a medicine—German Syrup is the best.

B. W. Baldwin, Carnesville, Tenn., writes: I have used your German Syrup in my family, and find it the best medicine I ever tried for coughs and colds. I recommend it to everyone for these troubles.

R. Schmalhausen, Druggist, of Charleston, Ill., writes: After trying scores of prescriptions and preparations I had on my files and shelves, without relief for a very severe cold, which had settled on my lungs, I tried your German Syrup. It gave me immediate relief and a permanent cure.

Reckless German Butchers.

BERLIN, June 17.—During a street parade of gymnasts in Berhum yesterday and while the thoroughfares were crowded with sight-seers, a cart containing six butchers, all intoxicated, was driven recklessly into the throng. A panic ensued and 16 persons were injured either by being run over or being trampled on in the crush. Some of the victims will die. The indignation against the pepetrators of the outrage was so great that an effort was made to lynch them, and the officers had difficulty in arresting and conveying them to jail.

The Bismarck Wedding.

BERLIN, June 17. —It is reported Emperor Francis Joseph and the German Ambassador, the Prince of Reuss, will leave Vienna prior to the Bismarck wedding in order to avoid embarrassments.

The Reichsanzeiger announces that Count Kalnoky, the Imperial Prime Minister of Austria-Hungary, will also leave Vienna on a holiday vacation before the wedding takes place. The paper adds that Count Zouvaloff, the Russian ambassador to Germany, will attend the wedding.

Bankrupt Portugal.

BERLIN, June 17.—The Vossische Zeitung, in an article attacking the Portuguese Government for reducing the interest on its foreign debt bonds, declares Portugal is carrying out a form of bankruptcy bearing all the marks of malevolence and suggests that the European powers either place her under a commission, as in the case of Egypt and Turkey, or compel her to sell colonies which she no longer has the right to possess.

The Eastern Soudan.

SUAKIM, June 17.—Col. Roller Smith left here yesterday on relinquishing the post of Governor-General of the Red Sea Littoral and commandant at Suakim, which he has held for the past four years. General regret is felt at Col. Smith's departure owing to the success which has attended his administration. At the time of his appointment Suakim was besieged by Soudanese, while now Egyptian rule is restored over 350 miles of coast and for a distance of 90 miles inland, a result regarded as due to the Governor-General's skilful policy and the effect produced by the capture of Tokar.

The Diamond-Back Moth.

LONDON, June 17.—Reports have reached the Board of Agriculture from the counties of Fife, Kirkcudbright, Berwick, Northumberland, York and Hereford that the diamond-back moth has been this year detected among cabbages, swedes, early turnips and other plants as early as the last week in May. The best remedy has proved to be the application of soot and lime.

Builders' Strike at Luton.

BEDFORD, June 17.—The bricklayers and carpenters on strike at Luton have been joined by the laborers and building operations are entirely at a standstill.

A Lady School Board Member Killed.

BRISTOL, June 17.—Miss Emily Sturge, a member of the Bristol School Board and of other public bodies in the city, was thrown from her horse, near Ashton Park, and died about two hours after being removed to her home.

Deacon Promised Pardon.

PARIS, June 17.—It is announced that Edward P. Deacon, who was tried recently and sentenced to imprisonment for shooting his wife's lover, will be included among those pardoned by President Carnot, according to the annual custom, on the national fete, July 14.

A Congressman Drops Dead.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Representative Stackhouse of South Carolina, dropped dead last night.

Curiosities for the Fair.

CARSON, Nev., June 17.—A pair of infants have been presented to Harrison Breed Love, who is 70 years old, by his wife, aged 63. They are believed to be the oldest couple on record who have been favored in this way. It is proposed to send the father, mother and children to the World's Fair.

A Gritty Man Captures a Burglar.

NEW YORK, June 17.—John E. Searles, jr., secretary of the Havemeyer & Elder Sugar Refining Company, had a fight with a desperate burglar in Brooklyn yesterday. The burglar fired two shots at Mr. Searles and was overpowered after a fierce struggle lasting 10 minutes.

"When I was a young man," said Jonathan Gray,
"If a fellow took physic he knew it, you bet.
It would cramp him all up in a cuckoldy way.
And, good Lord, what a twisting his insides would get!
But the pills in use nowadays by sensible folks
Are as easy to take and as pleasant as jokes."

Of course, the kind referred to by Mr. Gray was Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the very best Liver Pill ever made—mild, but sure and effective. The only pills, sold by druggists, absolutely on trial! Satisfaction guaranteed, or your money is returned.

Health Department.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

By constipation is meant irregular action of the bowels, often called constiveness, and commonly caused by dyspepsia, neglect excess in eating or drinking, etc. It is a serious complaint and not to be neglected under any circumstances, as it leads to impure blood, headache, debility, fevers, etc. A uniformly successful remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters, which, if faithfully tried, never fails to effect a prompt and lasting cure even in the worst cases. The following extract from a letter from Mr. Jas. M. Carson, Banff, will speak for itself:— I have been troubled with constipation and general debility and was induced to use your B.B.B. through seeing your advertisement. I now take great pleasure in recommending it to all my friends, as it completely cured me." dw

A Great Surprise

is in store for all who use Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs, the great guaranteed remedy. Would you believe that it is sold on its merits and that any druggist is authorized by the proprietor of this wonderful remedy to give you a sample bottle free. It never fails to cure acute or chronic coughs. All druggists sell Kemp's Balsam. Large bottles 50 cents and $1. dw

Makes Flesh and Blood.

When the system is all run down and there seems to be no hope of obtaining nourishment for the body by the ordinary process of food supply and digestion, when the body is shaking fast, then is the time to use Miller's Emulsion of pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil. It always works wonders, because it is a flesh and blood maker, and contains all the constituents for nourishment found in wheat. In fact Miller's Emulsion is a perfect "staff of life," and has saved and cured thousands. In big bottles 50c. and $1, at Peterborough Drug Stores. dw

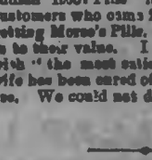
THE KINGDOM OF WOMEN.

GINGHAM GOWNS IN PLAIDS FOR THE SMALL GIRLS.

What Lucy Hooper in Her "Home Dressmaking" Department Has to Say—Various Types—The Hungarians, the Moors the Venetians and Horseheaded Youngsters.

In small plaids, and checks forming plaids, these neat fabrics appear in blue, pink and tan shades, cross-barred with red, yellow and such bright contrasts. They are undoubtedly very pretty when made up on the bias; but when so cut they will pull askew when straightened out for ironing, writes Emma M. Hopper in her department of "Home Dressmaking" in the April Ladies' Home Journal. All of the skirts are gathered, two breadths answering for the tiniest tots, and three being in the skirt of a girl of five years. The low-neck waist worn over a guimp has a frill of gingham or embroidery, and if made high-necked, the frill may stimulate a bertha. Coat sleeves, full at the top, have an edging or turn-over cuff of embroidery, while with white sleeves attached to the guimpe the dress sleeves are tiny puffs. If a belt is worn have it of insertion, though many of the gathered skirts are sewed to the round waist, which buttons in the back, and has only underarm and shoulder seams. Over a guimpe of tucked nainsook the low waist is perfectly plain, or gathered, top and bottom. A little vest of embroidery is sometimes seen, also bretelle frills of gingham, or edging from the waist line in front, over the shoulders to the waist line at the back. High waists are trimmed with narrow vests, a square of tucked nainsook, jacket fronts finished with edging, and opening over a flat front of embroidery, or a plaited one of the gingham. Other waists are full from the shoulders and crossed at the waist line in surplus fashion over a V of embroidery. Girdle pieces, forming a point in front, are sewed in the side seams, and tucked fronts also appear. The collar is of narrow edging turned over. White or ecru Irish point lace trims some elaborate cotton frocks, as a yoke, cuffs and girdle.



MUSIC HOLDER.

The device shown in the illustration may be attached to any kind of a music rest, and will hold the leaves so that they cannot be accidentally displaced. The base of the device has a flange by which it may be attached to the lower front edge of a book rest, and in a recess in one side is a series of teeth adapted to hold the main portion of the rest in the desired position. A standard is pivoted to the base, and has a shoulder fitting its upper semi-circular surface, while a shaft with milled ends extends transversely through the standard, spring fingers extending upward from the shaft to press upon the leaves of a book. The spring fingers are curved outwardly at their upper ends, so that they will not tear the leaves, and they are coiled around the shaft at their lower ends, the coils increasing their spring action. The fingers are pressed against the book by a spiral spring around the shaft near the standard, to which one end of the spring is secured, the other end being secured by a shaft, the spring also pushing the shaft endwise to bring a stud in the shaft against the standard. Dovetailed in the front of the standard is a slide having at its lower end a pawl adapted to engage one of the teeth in the base, and at its upper end is a button normally pressed upward by a spring to hold the pawl in engagement with the teeth. When the device is not in use it is turned outward, and the stud in the shaft engages a notch in the standard to hold the fingers away from the rest. When the music is placed in position, the shaft is moved slightly endwise to release the stud from the notch, when the spring around the shaft turns it to cause the fingers to press upon the leaves. By adjusting the slide and pawl the standard may be held at any desired angle to bring the requisite pressure on the book, the fingers being short and light, so as not to obstruct the view of the music.—Scientific American.

NEWS OF THE OLD WORLD

ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST BY THE CABLE.

To Defend Britain—A Theatre Burned—Mr. Tupper in London—Spain and Canada—Good Templars and the Election.

LONDON, June 18.—It is stated that Lord Charles Beresford, Commodore of the British cruiser Undaunted of the Mediterranean squadron, intends to again enter political life upon the expiration of his detail to the Undaunted. He has submitted to the leading generals and admirals a comprehensive scheme for the national defence, in which the army and navy are treated as one body. The scheme, it is said, amply meets the report of the Hartington Commission that no combined effectual plan for the defence of the empire in a certain contingency had ever been formulated. Lord Charles Beresford's scheme has met with general approval, and his friends say it will prove a gigantic success.

HORRIBLE MURDER.

A Woman Escapes From An Assassin Hand to Die in the Streets.

VIENNA, June 18.—A most brutal murder was committed in this city last night. A woman named Dees, a milk dealer in the Leopoldstadt quarter, was seen by some passers-by to rush out of her shop, shrieking at the top of her voice. She had gone only a few feet from her doorway when she threw up her hands and fell dead upon the pavement. A long knife had been buried to the hilt in her body, and it was evident that she had been stabbed as she rushed past her assailant in the shop, for the handle of the weapon protruded from her back. In addition to the terrible wound thus inflicted there were several other stab wounds in the woman's breast. Suspicion fell upon a man named Ponowak, who had been in the employ of Frau Dees, but who had been discharged a short time ago. The police went to his lodgings and placed him under arrest. Before they could take him from the house he seized a revolver and shot himself in the head. He did not succeed in killing himself, however, and he was taken to the prison hospital. Ponowak's attempt at suicide is taken by the police as confirmation of their suspicion that he murdered Frau Dees.

TRYING TO CURE HIM.

How They Treat the Grand Duke for Pulmonary Disease.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 18.—The Grand Duke George, the Czar's second son, who ever since his enforced return through illness from his Indian tour has been under medical treatment for pulmonary disease, has been passing the winter at Abbase Himan-on-the-Caucasus. A private letter from that place states that His Imperial Highness is undergoing a most remarkable course of treatment. The walls in his appointment are bare and unpapered, the furniture is of plain wood or cane without upholstery or stuff covering of any kind, and his bed consists only of the thinnest of mattresses. Throughout the winter only a very moderate fire has been kept up, while the windows of the Grand Duke's rooms have been continuously open. His attendants have suffered dreadfully from the cold, but his medical advisers hold that this low temperature is very beneficial to their Imperial patient, as it tends to destroy the bacillus and prevent the formation of tubercles. They maintain that the progress of the disease has been arrested, and express hopes that, if the treatment which they prescribe is persevered with, the Grand Duke will have completely recovered in two years' time.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS.

The Trade Between Britain and the Dominion.

LONDON, June 18.—British exports to Canada declined 8 per cent. during the month of May last and 5 per cent. during the past five months. The imports from the Dominion of Canada to Great Britain increased 3 per cent. during May and 30 per cent. during the past five months.

Mr. Balfour Confident.

LONDON, June 18.—At the annual dinner of the National Union of Conservative Associations Mr. Balfour said that as regards Ireland the Government had far exceeded all hopes. Would the people accept a party prepared to wreck the interests of the empire in foreign affairs, or a party prepared to recognize the empire's mighty interests in Africa and elsewhere? There was no doubt that if the country understood the issue they would give the Unionists for an indefinite future the confidence bestowed in the past. The majority of his hearers were about to go to the constituencies, Mr. Balfour said, and if they used their energies without stint to make clear issue victory would be assured to the Unionist cause.

Good Templars and the Election.

LONDON, June 18.—A special circular has been sent by the Grand Lodge of England of the Independent Order of Good Templars. It states: "It is the bounden duty of every Good Templar to exert an influence in the election of members to the next House of Commons who will be ready and willing to support the English Veto Bill and all other measures wisely designed to repress the drink traffic or promote national sobriety."

SAID TO BE A WITCH.

A Young Mexican Girl is Sentenced to Be Shot.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 18.—F. M. Hartner, an American engaged in the mercantile business in Guaymas, Sonora, Mexico, has just arrived here. He states that the wildest excitement exists among the ignorant classes of Mexicans throughout the State of Sonora over the arrest and conviction of Teresa Urrea, the celebrated Saint of Cacheora, by the district judge at Guaymas. Saint Teresa was arrested three weeks ago by a detachment of soldiers, who escorted her and her aged father, Thomas Urrea, to Guaymas. Both were heavily ironed and were kept closely confined in prison until placed on trial. They were found guilty of witchery by the judge, who sentenced Saint Teresa to be shot and her father to imprisonment for life.

When the news reached the Mayo Indians that Saint Teresa was to be shot they went on the warpath and have devastated a vast amount of property and created much terror among the ranch owners.

Murdered in the Woods.

PHILLIPSBURG, N.J., June 13.—W. E. Kane, aged 22, for the past two years Lehigh Valley operator at Port Junction, was found yesterday in the woods, at the back of his home at Westportal, with four bullet holes in his head. It is believed he was murdered. About two weeks ago he quit work for Lehigh Valley Company and went home to live. He had quite a sum of money in his possession, but when discovered only 18 cents were found on the body.

Famous Library for Sale.

LONDON, June 17.—Earl Spencer intends to sell the famous Althorp library by auction in 1893.

DREADFUL PSORIASIS

Covering Entire Body with White Scales. Suffering Fearful. Cured by Cuticura.

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose and almost covering my face. It ran into my eyes, and physician was afraid I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread all over my head, and my hair all fell out, until I was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on my arms and shoulders, until my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head, and shoulders being the worst. The white scales fell constantly from my head, shoulders, and arms; the skin would thicken and be red and very itchy, and would crack and bleed if scratched. After spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using two bottles CUTICURA RESOLVENT, I could see a change; and after I had taken four bottles, I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years. I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using the REMEDIES. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them. My hair is restored as good as ever, and so is my eyesight.

MRS. ROSA KELLY, Rockwell City, Iowa.

Cuticura Resolvent

The new Blood Purifier, internally (to cleanse the blood of all impurities and poisonous elements), and CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally (to clear the skin and scalp and restore the hair), have cured thousands of cases where the shedding of scales measured a quart daily, the skin cracked, bleeding, burning, and itching almost beyond endurance, hair lifeless or all gone, suffering terrible. What other remedies have made such cures?

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 75c.; SOAP, 35c.; RESOLVENT, $1.00 Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston.

Grafton & Co.

IT'S THE WEAR THAT TELLS!

Reader, may we ask you a question? Did you ever purchase a suit of clothes that looked exceedingly well, but which when it came to be worn proved to be as mean shoddy as could be scared up? Well, there is plenty of just such clothing in the market to-day. The place where you can be sure to find no such stuff is at GRAFTON & CO.'S, 393 George Street, Peterborough. Fine foreign fabrics at remarkably low prices is what you will find there. There you will be certain to obtain something that will not only be satisfactory in price but will also give satisfactory service. Every garment we sell is made up in our own factory in Dundas, of cloths directly imported by us, or from Canadian Tweeds. Before leaving our factory, every garment is closely examined and its actual cost computed. It is then marked at the lowest possible price, and as we are direct importers as well as manufacturers and retailers we can sell fine goods at first cost or from twenty to thirty per cent. cheaper than any other merchant. Our $9 Brighton Overcoat and our $7.50 London Sack Suits are but two of the many bargains we are now offering.

Full English Cassimere Suit	$9.00 to $12.00	Aberdeen Cassimere Suit	$14.00 to $16.50
Liverpool Business Suit	3.25 to 10.00	English Club Suit	9.00 to 13.00
Leeds Diagonal Suit	15.00	Clay's Diagonal Suit	16.50
A Good Business Suit	$5.00.

The first time you are in town take a look through even if you do not want to buy at present.

Sluggish streams stagnate, so do sluggish stocks—they become decayed—they are not fit for commercial use more than decayed meat. Finally, they are known as dead. Do you appreciate the advantage of buying always from a clean, fresh stock of new goods? If you do, you can have that advantage by trading at Turnbull's.

Just opened out 8,300 yards Flannelette, full width and heavy; usual price 10 and 12½c., our price 6½c. No one else has these goods or can have them, as we cleared the whole lot at a loss to the holder.

Black Henrietta Cloths, Silk Warp and Wool Fillings at 50c., regular price $1.00. Come quickly if you want to be in the race for these goods.

Ladies' Cotton Skirtings, heavy enough to stand alone; fast colors; at 12½c.

Fine Scotch Tweed Dress Goods, double fold, good shades, 40c.

Pure Silk Gloves to fit every hand, 35c. a pair.

Boys' Suits fresh from the factory, at $2.00, $2.25 and $2.50 each, all the latest cut. Better goods as cheap in proportion.

Ladies' White Underwear, all desirable goods, at prices to suit everybody.

Housekeepers, do you want Carpets? We are showing a fine line of American-made goods, 36 inches wide, at 35c., a yard. This is a line that we will not be able to get in again.

BLAKE READY TO GO.

HE WILL OBEY THE CALL OF DUTY.

He Does Not Leave Canada Without Pain and Hopes For a Speedy Return—The News Caused Intense Interest and was the Topic on all Men's Tongues—An Answer From Home Rule Leaders Expected.

TORONTO, June 20.—Mr. Edward Blake, before leaving for Murray Bay, sent to the papers the following letter:

Though I would have preferred to await a final conclusion before saying anything with regard to the unanimous invitation of the Irish party to accept an Irish seat in the Imperial House of Commons, yet, in view of its publication and of the many inquiries I have received, it is perhaps better that I should make a brief statement before leaving for Murray Bay.

On Tuesday last I cabled to the effect that I was deeply sensible of the high honor done me, but feared I was too old and too unfamiliar with the arena to be serviceable; yet, if it were thought to be in any degree useful to the great cause, I would accept a safe seat, but that I could not attempt a doubtful or costly contest, and it would be rather difficult for me to start forthwith; and I requested certain particulars, which I thought important, as to the time of leaving, and the proposed seat.

The pressure on the time of the Irish leaders is just now so overwhelming, and they are called on to deal with so many matters of infinitely greater moment, that an immediate reply to my enquiry could not reasonably be expected; and I have no further information on the subject.

This is not the time to give reasons for a decision, which I cannot help sometimes hoping may after all be ineffective. I may yet be spared the pain of leaving Canada. Let me say just now that, should it be my lot to go, I can be sustained only by the belief that I go in the discharge of duty and by the hope that I may before long return to home and friends. EDWARD BLAKE.

Saturday, June 18.

The news created great interest and was the topic on all men's tongues. Wherever two men were gathered together there was the matter discussed. The feeling everywhere was one of pride, not to say exultation. At the bottom of it all was a sense that Canada was honored by the offer and honored by the splendid sacrifice that Mr. Blake appears ready to make. His career from this time out will be watched with eager eyes.

A Most Happy Idea.

LONDON, June 20.—The proposal that Mr. Blake should accept a seat in the British House of Commons meets with warm approval in Liberal circles here, where Mr. Blake's character and ability are highly esteemed. The Pall Mall Gazette says it is a most happy idea and Mr. Blake will prove a most valuable member.

Mr. Redmond Called Back.

NEW YORK, June 20.—John E. Redmond, the Irish M.P., and his companion, John Wyse Power, of The Dublin State Independent and Evening Herald, sailed for Ireland on the Etruria on Saturday. Mr. Redmond intended to remain in America several weeks, visiting Chicago and other large cities. He received cablegrams Saturday from friends on the other side urging him to return at once.

Suicide of a C.P.R. News Agent.

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 20. — Saturday Arthur Westley, C.P.R. news agent, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart. Deceased arrived on yesterday's train and should have gone out again to-day, and was not missed until 4 o'clock, when the body was found in a friend's room, where he apparently obtained the revolver. Deceased was steady and the reason for the suicide is unaccountable. Passengers on yesterday's train say he acted curiously, asking for a revolver or razor. He was 24 years old, and was for some time porter at the Hotel Douglas, Winnipeg. Originally he came from England. On him were papers addressed: "Mrs. Westley, Conservative Club, Nantwich, Cheshire."

Prince Michael's Sentence.

DETROIT, June 20.—To such a high pitch has public indignation been aroused that it was with difficulty an infuriated crowd of 3000 persons was restrained from lynching the whole of "Prince" Michael's unsavory gang. The trial has been proceeding at Ann Arbor for a week past, and resulted in a wholesome verdict of guilty, as a result of which the long-haired rascal has been given the maximum term allowed by law, and will spend the next five years of his life as a common convict.

A Girl Wins a Harvard Prize.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 20.—For the second time in the history of Harvard College the Sargent prize of $100 has been awarded to a girl, this time to Miss Margaret Foster Herrick of the Harvard Annex. She won it in competition with 40 college men. Two years ago this prize was won by Helen Leah Reed.

Soldiers Blown to Pieces.

BERLIN, June 20.—Yesterday at Magdeburg soldiers belonging to the garrison there were unloading a wagon containing ammunition when a shell exploded, killing four of the men. Their bodies were fearfully mangled, and their heads, arms and legs were blown off.

A $10,000 Blaze.

PICTON, June 20.—Fire broke out yesterday in the factory of the Ontario Wire Fencing Company, totally destroying the building and one storehouse, including the valuable machinery and about 10 miles of woven wire fencing. The loss is about $10,000; insured in the Ætna for $6309. Incendiarism is the supposed cause of the fire.

He Is Now Dr. Flannery.

ST. THOMAS, June 20.—The University of Georgetown, D. C., has conferred degree of "D. D." on Rev. Father Flannery of this city.

A Laborer Drops Dead.

ST. THOMAS, June 20.—George Powell, a farm hand in employ of I Haney, Sparta, dropped dead last night.

A Judge Shot Dead.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 20.—Judge Bright Morgan of Hernandez, Miss., was shot dead on an Illinois Central train by Henry Foster, a lawyer. Lynching is talked of. Judge Morgan was a delegate to the Chicago convention.

Sixteen Deaths From Sunstroke.

NEW YORK, June 20.—During the past week there were 16 deaths in this city from sunstroke. Nineteen cases of smallpox were reported.

THE HEROES OF ULSTER.

WOLSELEY'S ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO FOMENT CIVIL WAR.

The Pall Mall Gazette Fears Him—English Press Opinions on the Convention—Generally Regarded as the Greatest Political Movement of the Times—The Ulster Question Is of Large Dimensions.

LONDON, June 20.—The Pall Mall Gazette comments upon the speech delivered yesterday at the Ulster convention by Mr. Kane, Grand Master of the Belfast Orangemen. In his speech he professed to quote Gen. Sir Garnet Wolseley, commander of the forces in Ireland, as saying that he was ready to call upon the English people to suppress attempts to dismember the empire.

"You men of Ulster," said Mr. Kane, "avow your readiness to follow Gen. Wolseley in his call to the people to put down treason in our very midst. He is one of us, an Irish Loyalist to the very core. Our fathers followed his gallant ancestor to victory at Newtown Butler. We cannot do better than fix our eyes upon the record of Gen. Wolseley and follow him in his war against domestic treason."

The Pall Mall Gazette demands that the Government be questioned in Parliament before dissolution as to whether Mr. Kane had authority to suggest that Gen. Wolseley, in the event of a rebellion in Ulster, would lead the rebels.

Press Opinions on the Convention.

LONDON, June 18.—The Post says: The Ulster movement is no mere repetition of the remonstrances of '86. It represents a force to existence by the apathy or indulgence of the British electors. Never has a more strenuous appeal been made to the highest principles of national life and Irish honor.

The News admits that the Ulster demonstration was more than a successful spectacle and parade and that the speakers were moderate. "Still," it continues, "it only represents a large and influential minority. The significance of the convention to the bulk of Englishmen will be in the proof afforded of the power of the minority to take care of themselves."

The Standard says the Ulster voice will ring through the kingdom and will conspicuously refute the sinister prophecies of the adversary.

The Times says: "No political demonstration of our time has afforded any parallel to the Ulster convention. If we hesitate it will reveal for the first time to many of our countrymen that there is an Ulster question as well as an Irish question, to ignore which would be an act of criminal folly. The delusion that the Ulster resistance is a mere Orange movement has been finally dispelled."

Princess Marie's Marriage.

LONDON, June 20.—The marriage of Princess Marie of Edinburgh to Prince Ferdinand, heir-apparent to the throne of Roumania, is fixed to take place at Coburg in October next. Religious obstacles prevent the solemnization of marriage at Windsor Castle. Prince Ferdinand has been the object of much curiosity on the part of the general public, who persisted for a long time in believing that he was the Prince Ferdinand who is to wed the Princess Marie Alexandra Victoria of Edinburgh. But Prince Ferdinand of Roumania is certainly handsomer than Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria, and his uncle's throne, to which he will eventually succeed, is at last firmly planted. The English people are generally very well satisfied with the prospect of having in an English Princess a Queen in the prosperous Danubian Kingdom. Princess Marie is a high-spirited and well-educated young girl, and has of late years become decidedly prettier than when she was a girl. She is now 17.

Instantly Killed.

TONAWANDA, N.Y., June 19.—About 6 o'clock last night Henry Bellstein, a farmer living about 12 miles out in the country in the direction of Williamsville, on the Transit, was struck by the Falls train on the Erie at the Young-street crossing and instantly killed. A horse he was driving escaped injury, though thrown with Bellstein's body and a portion of the wagon upon some logs in the creek. The unfortunate man was about 35 years old and leaves a wife and two children. It is not known just how the accident occurred. Coroner Hardleben was notified and took charge of the case. A jury was summoned, who viewed the remains and adjourned.

Fatal Runaway.

PICKERING, June 20.—Mrs. H. Moore with her two small children and her mother were returning home from the Roman Catholic picnic when they met with a serious accident. The horse became unmanageable, ran away and threw the occupants to the ground with great force. The two children escaped almost entirely. Mrs. Moore was badly bruised about the head and had five or six ribs broken, but there are hopes for recovery. Mrs. Dunagan's injuries proved fatal.

New Death Lurks.

PLEASANT PLAINS, June 19.—The death of the Rev. Robert Doig is announced. He was pastor of the Reformed Church of Scotia. Death resulted from blood poisoning, caused by wearing a colored stocking on a foot that was galled by his shoe.

Fatal Shooting on Niagara Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., June 20.—Shortly after 10 o'clock last night two brothers named Herbert and William Weaver of Wilson, N.Y., employed by William Wells, who runs the hobby horses opposite Prospect Park, were shot by a colored man named James W. Lee. The dispute arose on account of the negro refusing to pay his fare for riding on the horses.

Another Boy Drowned.

CHATHAM, June 20.—Charles, the 8-year-old son of Mr. Stewart, an employe in Piggott's mill, was drowned in the river while bathing with other boys of about the same age.

The Behring Sea Arbitration.

LONDON, June 20.—Mr. Robinson, Q.C., of Canada and Hon. William Henry Cross, member of Parliament for the West Derby division of Liverpool, have been appointed as British counsel to the English Behring Sea Commissioners.

A Clergyman Drops Dead.

BOWMANVILLE, June 20.—Rev. Adam Spencer, formerly minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Bowmanville, dropped dead at his residence Saturday evening.

WOMEN FATALLY TRAMPLED ON.

Panic in a Church Owing to a Cry That It Had Been Struck by Lightning.

VIENNA, June 19.—While a church at Pilgram, Bohemia, was filled with about 3000 pilgrims a cry suddenly arose that the building had been struck by lightning. A panic ensued, the terrified people struggling desperately to force their way to the exits, and order was not restored until the church had been nearly emptied. It was then found that two women had been trampled upon in such a manner that they are not expected to live. Many others are suffering from broken bones and severe contusions.

Sudden Death of An M.P.

LONDON, June 20.—Lewis Llewelyn Dillwyn, M.P., who fell in a fit while addressing the electors of Swansea Saturday, died yesterday. Mr. Dillwyn was known as the doyen of the old school of Radicals. He was born in 1814 and married at the age of 24. He was educated at Bath. He had sat in Parliament for Swansea town as a Liberal in favor of Home Rule since 1855. He was a magistrate, deputy lieutenant for Glamorgan and director of the Great Western Railway Company.

AT NIAGARA'S CAMP.

A Fine Sunday—Church Parade—A Polemic for Dr. Douglas.

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont., June 20.—Sunday was a day of rest in camp. All the troops were drawn up on three sides of a square for church parade at 8 a.m. The men were in their best uniforms without arms. The officiating clergy were Rev. Father Geoghan of Hamilton, and Rev. Mr. Garrett of Niagara, and they read the services. The latter preached from the customary desk made of drums and knapsacks stacked. The two clergymen walked from headquarters in their vestments and opened the service with the hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Just as the hymn got under way the General came out of headquarters, and in full uniform and his feathers walked over the commons to the Catholic wooden Church to attend the service there. He belongs to that church. The attention of Dr. Douglas is called to this fact, for if Sir John Thompson has no right on account of his religion to be Minister of Justice, neither Major-General Herbert has a right to command the Canadian militia. Dr. Douglas can't stop half way. Rev. Mr. Garrett gave the men a sermon developing the idea of patriotism and Christianity. Major Henderson and Lieut. Carrie in feather bonnets, claymores and sporran were a substantial representation of the Highland Regiment of Toronto at the church parade.

The saddest spectacle to anyone who has read history is a walk about the ramparts of old Fort George, now neglected and covered with long grass and mounted by a wire fence.

The camp is remarkably clean and dry, and the weather has been all that could be desired. Large numbers of the men visited the American fort to-day. There is a wonderful degree of good-fellowship existing between the men of the two nations. All the officers of the American Fort have accepted an invitation to the military hop at the Queen's Royal on Thursday night. It promises to be an enjoyable affair.

The hotel is now fitted up with summer guests. Among the Toronto people are registered: Mrs. Dalton McCarthy, Mrs. C. Fitzgibbon and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Manning, Miss Beatty, Miss Gooderham, Miss Violet Gooderham, Miss Maggie Gooderham, H. J. Montmambert; and Mr. J. G. Dickson, Surrey, England; J. V. Waddell, Hamilton; J. W. Roger, New York.

The yachts Oriole, Vreda, Viola, Vera (of Hamilton), came in Saturday night and their crews spent Sunday in Port.

VENEZUELA'S TROUBLES.

The Rebels Want no President Appointed by Congress.

NEW YORK, June 20.—A Herald special says Palcio has retired from the office of President of Venezuela and is in hiding somewhere. According to one story he fled to La Guyra and went aboard a vessel which was kept in waiting for him. Another and more reliable account states that he has not yet left the country. He would have done so but the members of the cabinet would not permit him. They hold him responsible for the trouble they are in and say they will not allow him to run away and shoulder the blame.

Congress has been called upon to name a president. This is not satisfactory to the volunteers who declare the present congress is filled with men who were not elected and that the new president must be chosen by representatives legally chosen to the national legislature. Crespo and his army are continuing their march upon the capital.

A TERRIBLE WRECK.

Four Railroad Laborers Killed and Twenty-five Injured.

GALESBURG, Ill., June 19.—Four men were killed and 25 injured in an accident on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad yesterday. A construction train on the Keithsburg branch ran into a drove of cattle three miles north of Gladstone and was wrecked. The engineer, A. V. Robinson, was killed and his body buried under the wreck. The other victims were Italian laborers.

The Will of Sidney Dillon.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The will of Sidney Dillon, which may be filed for probate to-day, disposes of an estate supposed to amount to between five and six million. All the property is to be divided into two parts, the first part to consist of two-thirds of the value of the estate and the second of one-third.

Lost His Life in Rescuing a Chicken.

PORT JERVIS, N.Y., June 19.—Benjamin C. Cuddeback, aged 41, a wealthy farmer and dealer in cattle feed, whose home is here, was asphyxiated yesterday at the bottom of an old well into which he had descended to remove a chicken. He died soon after being brought to the surface. He leaves a widow and four small children.

HANGED THE ITALIANS.

For Driving a Crowbar Through the Body of Their Foreman.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 18.—Four Italians have been lynched at the camp of Smith Brothers on the Monte Christo Railroad. On Monday a gang of eight Italians who were working under a Swede boss, became angered with him, and at noon when they quit work they caught him alone and three held him while the others hurled a crowbar completely through his body. Four escaped to the woods and four went back to camp. The other workmen heard of the murder and immediately caught the four Italians and strung them up to a tree without ceremony.

She Seeks Seclusion.

SAN JOSE, Cal., June 18.—A local paper says Mrs. Deacon, the cause of the tragedy at Cannes, France, has recently arrived in this city and is living with her brother, Charles Baldwin, near Blackberry farm, a short distance from San Jose. Baldwin has a magnificent establishment and one of the most valuable country homes in the valley. Mrs. Deacon is desirous of avoiding notoriety, and is living in retirement.

A Golden Goblet from the Czar.

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—The enamelled goblet presented by the Czar of Russia to Capt. R. W. Sargeant, of the steamship Indiana, in recognition of the part taken by him in bringing the relief cargo of flour from this city to the starving peasants of Russia, was received from the State Department yesterday by Mayor Stuart. The goblet is almost entirely of solid gold and is studded with many costly gems. Several inscriptions upon it in Russian language indicate the reason for the gift.

Spain and Canada.

LONDON, June 18.—Sir Charles Tupper, High Commissioner for Canada in London, and Hon. Mr. Harvey, premier of Newfoundland, have within the past few days held conferences at the Foreign Office respecting Spanish trade relations with Canada and Newfoundland. The outlook is not very hopeful, but it is expected that a satisfactory arrangement will be arrived at.

Temperature for the Baby's Bath.

The temperature of the water used for washing an infant should be nearly that of the surface of the body—96° or 98° F., writes Mrs. William E. Gladstone, in the May Ladies' Home Journal. As the child grows older, the heat of the water should be gradually lessened, while the limbs should be allowed free exercise in a large tub. Some children do not bear cold water well; good sense, discrimination, and observation should be our guides in this as in all other matters.

Men, prematurely aged or broken down by over work, or suffering from excesses or indiscretion will find Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a positive cure. Infants Droop and Die!

Mothers are Responsible.

OFFICIALS who have to do with the mortality statistics of our towns and cities will tell you that the infant mortality is large. Of course deaths are more numerous amongst infants at this season, than at any other time. The oppressively hot weather is favorable for the grim reaper; and his harvest is abundant and rich. A question arises here, which must be answered by all true and thoughtful mothers. Is hot weather alone to blame for this terrible slaughter of infants?

We think not; physicians assert that improper and poor dieting of babies is the main cause of trouble. Babies who are fed on cow's milk instead of mother's milk or the pure and health-giving Lactated Food are easily affected by the extreme heat, and are soon carried off by dysentery, diarrhœa and cholera infantum.

Lactated Food is a grand preventive of these dread summer diseases; it keeps the bowels in a healthy and natural condition, and imparts a general strength to the infant that no other food can give. There is safety in Lactated Food for the weak infant during the hot weather, and mothers will act wisely and well if they commence its use at once.

THE FORCE OF HABIT.

WE have read of an old lady who for many years regularly pawned her silver teapot every Monday morning and took it out again every Saturday night. She had lost sufficient by paying interest to the pawnbrokers to buy several new pots, but it seems she could never get even with her creditors without sacrificing the tea-brewer at the beginning of the week. That was simply from the force of habit. The policy-holder is apt to get into the same habit when the premium on his policy is to be paid. Is there a dividend? Yes; then he must use that in payment of the premium. Many policy-holders having become used to paying full premiums in cash do so to the end, and the result is a wonderful accumulation, showing an investment rarely equalled in the history of finance. Some policy-holders will be persistent for a few years in their cash payments and then begin to use the dividends to pay the premiums. Having once begun they rarely stop the practice, and year after year they find it impossible to pay the premiums in any other way. They simply cease to save and lose the advantages which the Canada Life offers every investor in its policies.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

The Closing Sitting of the June Session.

Reports Read and Dealt With—Havelock Incorporated—Other Bylaws Passed.

FIFTH DAY—SATURDAY.

The following is a continuation of the report of Saturday's council proceedings, which appeared in Saturday's issue of the DAILY EXAMINER:

PETITIONS.

Mr. Robb, chairman, read the report of the Committee on Petitions.

The Committee on Petitions beg leave to report as follows:—

1 That no action be taken with respect to the communication of the city of Brantford asking this council to petition the Local Legislature to repeal all laws which grant power to municipalities to exempt from taxation or bonus any manufacturing or industrial concern.

2 That no action be taken with respect to the communication of the Mayor of Kingston asking this council to co-operate in the establishment of a school of Practical Science at Kingston.

3 Your committee recommend that the time allowed the special committee appointed to consider the Torrens system of land transfer be extended to the next sitting of this council and that the reeve of Lakefield be added as a member of such committee.

4 Your committee recommend that the council pass a by-law incorporating the proposed Village of Havelock, with boundaries, as determined this day by this committee, and containing the north east quarter, lot 6, concession 9; east half lot 7, concession 8; west half lot 7, concession 9; east quarter lot 7, concession 10; east half of east half lot 8, concession 10 and the west half of lot 8, concession 9; west half of east half lot 8, concession 9, all of the township of Belmont.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JAMES ROBB, Chairman.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough, June 18th, 1892.

APPOINTMENT OF BRIDGE ARBITRATORS.

Mr. Burnham introduced a bylaw to appoint an arbitrator to act in reference to the Pigeon Creek and Bobcaygeon Bridges in accordance with the legislation of last session of the Ontario Legislature. The bylaw authorizes the Warden to appoint an arbitrator and duly passed its several readings.

PRINTING.

Mr. Moore, chairman, read the report of the Committee on Printing:

The Committee on Printing beg leave to report as follows:

1. That the county clerk be instructed to write to the County Crown Attorney that hereafter this county will not pay for the publication of the quarterly returns of the list of convictions, where there are no convictions.

2. That the county clerk be instructed to procure for the clerk of the county court a Surrogate Court Register, and also a Procedure Book for the High Court of Justice.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JAS. MOORE, Chairman.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough, June 16th, 1892.

Report adopted and confirmatory bylaw passed.

ONE HUNDRED FEET BRIDGES.

Mr. SANDERSON introduced, but subsequently withdrew, a bylaw to repeal the bylaw (693) assuming all bridges of 100 feet in length as county bridges.

ABANDONING THE BURNT MILL BRIDGE.

Mr. Maloney introduced a by law to remove the Burnt Mill Bridge, Belmont, from the schedule of bridges to be maintained by the county.

McAULEY objected to the bylaw. He would vote against its passage, and Mr. Munger also opposed to the bylaw as an injustice to the vicinity.

In answer to Mr. Burnham, Mr. County Engineer Belcher said the bridge was nine feet over a hundred feet in length.

Mr. Burnham spoke in favour of maintaining the bridge, and Mr. Maloney defended the object of the bylaw.

Mr. McAULEY said that the removal of the bridge from the schedule of county bridges meant its extinction, for the township of Belmont was unable to keep up the bridge without county assistance.

The bylaw was taken through its several readings and passed.

FINANCE.

Mr. Casement, chairman, read the report of the Finance Committee:

The Finance Committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your committee recommend that this council offer a reward of $500 for information which will lead to the apprehension and conviction of the person or persons who murdered the late Richard Wigmore, and that such reward be advertised in the Norwood Register and Peterborough papers for the period of six months.

2. Your committee acknowledge receipt of Mr. D. W. Dumble, town Police Magistrate, re Scott Act fines.

4 Your committee recommend that Richard Crowe be relieved from liability and payment of his bond to this county and that the same be delivered up to him.

5 Your committee recommend that Mr. George Cochrane, inspector of auctioneers and peddlers' licenses, be paid as salary twenty per cent of all fees collected by him and not voluntarily paid to the county court clerk without solicitation from him.

6 Your committee recommend that the clerk be instructed to have a hawkers' and peddlers' license by-law drawn conformatory to the present law.

7 That the county clerk be instructed in striking the rate, hereafter only to levy sufficient to pay the interest and sinking fund necessarily required under the by-law of last year, No. 649.

8 Your committee recommend that the payments amounting to $2,765 91 made by the treasurer as per the annexed schedule be confirmed.

9 That the matter of the investment of the sinking fund of this county be referred to the warden, the county clerk and the reeve of Ashburnham with power to invest the same and to change the investment as they deem most advisable.

10 Your committee recommend that the rate of 1¼ mills on the dollar be levied and collected on all rateable property in the county.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. CASEMENT, Chairman.

Council Chamber, June 18th, 1892.

THE "POUND OF FLESH."

On motion to adopt the report,

Mr. Hawthorne moved, seconded by Mr. McIlmoyle, that the county treasurer be instructed to collect the bond of Richard and John Crowe forthwith.

The amendment was put and declared lost.

THE COUNTY LEVY.

Mr. Casement introduced a by-law to levy and collect $19,996 50 for county purposes, which was duly passed, making the following apportionment:

Ashburnham	$ 972 23

SCHOOLS.

MR. MCAULEY, chairman, read the report of the committee on Schools.

The committee on schools beg leave to report as follows:—

1 That county pupils of the Norwood High School shall each pay to the treasurer thereof the sum of $2 each school term in advance.

2 That the county treasurer be authorized to pay to the Norwood High School Board such sum of money as the county clerk shall certify to be legally due them under section 31 of the High Schools Act, 1891 and also interest on any such sum from the time the same was properly payable and that a by-law be prepared authorizing the county treasurer to pay each year for the maintenance of the said High School an amount equal to the amount apportioned by the Minister of Education for such High School and also all moneys that may be due from time to time under section 31 of the High School Act.

3 That inasmuch as James Wallis and fifteen other ratepayers of school sections Nos. 1 and 2, in the township of Monaghan appeal against the action of the said township in regard to the boundaries of said school sections, your committee recommend that the county judge, the county inspector and the reeve of Smith be arbitrators pursuant to section 32 of the Public Schools Act 1891 to hear such appeal and to revise, determine or alter the boundaries of the school sections so far as to settle the matters complained of.

4 That the Lieutenant Governor in council be memorialized praying that an enactment be passed abolishing all unions existing between the High and Public school boards in this province.

5 That the county clerk be instructed to advertise in the usual way re the nomination of students for the Ontario Agricultural College by the county and that the warden be empowered to nominate the successful student from among the applicants.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. MCAULEY, Chairman.

Peterborough, June 18th, 1892, County Council Chambers.

To-Morrow is the Day.

Yes, to-morrow morning is the day you and I and all our friends and relatives go to Lindsay at 8 20 o'clock in the morning by the G. T. R. on the excursion of St. Peter's Court No. 225 C.O.F. Everbody is going—go one and go all. A good time assured you. Amusements and sports galore. Adults 75 cents, children 35 cents. To-morrow morning, remember, and don't forget. d

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 22ND,

Band Instrument Fund.

The band desire to thank their patrons who have already sent in their subscriptions to the Instrument Fund and would respectfully request those who have the interests of the band in view and who have not yet sent in their donations to kindly send them in as soon as possible as it is not desirable to extend the time any longer than can be possibly avoided. Let every one put their "shoulders to the wheel" and call on Messrs. Calder or Sanderson at the earliest possible date, and thereby show a practical interest in an organization which is alike creditable to the members and those who have assisted them to place our band on a footing of which our town should be proud. We have the best town in Canada, let us have the best band in Canada.

See the Queen City.

Do you want to run up to Toronto? Perhaps you have business in the city? Perhaps you have friends to look up? Perhaps you want to go anyway? Then take in the trip with the E. B. A. (which being translated means Emerald Benefical Association) and spend the day seeing the sights. On that day the grand parade of the Knights of St. John will take place, a sight well worth seeing. You can go by the 6.40 train, G.T.R. by way of Port Hope, or by the 8.20 train, by way of Lindsay. Tickets good for two days, $1.75. Children's tickets, under 12 years, 90c. Remember also that Friday is a half holiday in Peterborough and that while having a day's business or pleasure in Toronto you are only away from business half a day. 1d

P. A. A. A. GROUNDS, AT 3 P.M.

A Painfully Sudden Death.

Last evening shortly after eight o'clock Mrs. Frank Ball, wife of the clerk of the First Division Court, died at her residence a few minutes after her return from church. She had attended the evening service in the Murray street Baptist church, of which she is a member, and she returned home with perhaps more than usual rapidity owing to the rain, and on entering the house was seized with a fainting attack from which she did not recover. The deceased lady was afflicted with a chronic affection of the heart and, due it is supposed to unusual exertion, syncope supervened of so severe a character as to resist all remedies. The fact that her husband was absent from home at Bridgeport greatly intensifies the sad suddenness of his bereavement. Mrs. Ball was a daughter of Mr. Samuel Manning, town, formerly of Smith township, where she was born in 1843. She was a very estimable lady, greatly beloved by her intimate friends, and very highly respected by the community in which she moved, a devoted member of the Baptist church and a faithful wife and affectionate mother. She leaves behind to mourn her loss and revere her memory a husband and one son who have the sincerest sympathy of the entire community in the sad and irreparable bereavement that has befallen them. Funeral from the family residence corner of Loudon and Harvey streets on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

F. excursion to-morrow morning at 8.20 o'clock per G. T. R. Go you and take in the trip. See the list of sports and games. The greatest excursion of the season. A fine chance for a successful day's outing. You are sure to have a good time, thousands going. To-morrow at 8.20 o'clock per G.T.R. for Lindsay.

Hurrah! For Dominion Day!

And also for St. Peter's Cathedral picnic, which is a regular and brilliant feature of the day. It will be held on the St. Joseph's Hospital grounds. The public know that past picnics have been a grand success as well as a first class source of enjoyment, but the preparations for the coming event on July 1st are on a grander scale. An energetic committee have the programme in charge, and the list of sports and games comprise 15 exciting events, for each of which elegant prizes will be given. A first class orchestra will provide music for dancing. And the good ladies will supply dinner at high noon and refreshments during the day. Keep this date open. Admission 25c, children 15c, dinner 25c.

A Quiet Wedding.

This morning the residence of Mr. G. W. Rennay, Gilmour street, was the scene of a quiet wedding, Rev. Mr. Kenrick uniting in marriage Mr. James J. Lowndes, Gaspe, P.Q., and Mrs. Campbell, relict of the late James Campbell. The wedding was quietly celebrated at ten o'clock this morning. This marriage is the termination of a delightful little romance. Over twenty years ago the bride filled the position of governess in the family of the bridegroom at Gaspe. At the conclusion of this engagement the parties separated and went their several ways in life, and for twenty one years there was no communication, personal or epistolatory between them. A few days ago the present bride, wishing to spend the summer at Gaspe with a lady friend, wrote for some information to Mrs. Lowndes. In due course a reply was received from the present bridegroom stating that his wife had been dead for some time, and enquiring if the "other person" spoken of as wishing to summer at Gaspe was the lady's husband. Of course the answer corresponded to the fact, and the result was that other letters followed and the correspondence culminated in the happy marriage that was celebrated this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Lowndes took the 11.45 G.P.R. express for their future home, followed by the good wishes of the many friends of the bride, who has secured a most estimable gentleman for a husband. May their lives, thus romantically brought together, pass in enjoyment of the fullest share of domestic happiness.

Killed on the Rail.

Mr. Patrick O'Grady of Indian River Meets his Death on the Track at 9 O'clock on Saturday Night.

A sad death occurred at the C.P.R. station, Indian River, 16 miles east of Peterborough, at a few minutes before nine o'clock on Saturday night. Mr. Patrick O'Grady who had been working on his farm a mile and a half from Indian River, took the C. P. R. west bound express which reaches Peterborough at 5.45 to come to town on business. At 8 15 o'clock he was again at the C P. R. depot to take the east bound local for home. He met Mr. John Grady while in town and they went home to Indian River together. The local had left the station and an east bound freight train which had been standing on the switch backed on to the main track to follow the local. Mr. O'Leary and Mr. Grady stood on the platform conversing for a minute or two, the former having his back to the track. Mr. Grady shook hands with his friend to bid him good night, and the latter by some means or other lost his balance and fell over on the track, neither gentlemen noticing the approach of the freight. The cowcatcher of the engine, which was moving slowly, struck Grady, who made two ineffectual attempts to get out of the way. The unfortunate man was killed instantly, one of his legs and his right arm being broken and the back of his head crushed. The remains were carried home and Mr. M. McFadden, undertaker, summoned. An inquest was deemed unnecessary by coroner Dr. Bell. The funeral of the unfortunate man took place this morning to Douro cemetery.

Deceased was in his forty-second year and leaves a wife and family of four children, the youngest two months old. Deceased was a farmer and highly respected by all who knew him. His sudden demise will be regretted by a large number of friends.

Church Chimes.

The Y.P.S.E. of St. Andrews will hold a garden party at the handsome grounds of Mr. J. J. Lundy, Ashburnham, on Tuesday night, proceeds to be devoted to the Y.M.C.A.

Rev. Mr. Tully, of Mitchell, who is returning from attending the General Assembly in Montreal preached in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church yesterday morning, and in St. Paul's in the evening. His discourses were able and thoughtful.

Rev. Professor Symonds, M.A., conducted the services in St. Luke's church yesterday and in St. Mark's, Otonabee.

Yesterday was children's day at St. Paul's Presbyterian church. The little ones were out in large numbers. Rev. Mr. Torrance delivered two special sermons to the children of the Sunday-school at the morning and the afternoon services. His discourses were listened to with rapt attention.

The choir of the Charlotte street Methodist church and a few friends will take in a trip around the lakes on Tuesday.

An interesting programme will be presented at the Epworth League of Christian Endeavour in the George street Methodist church this evening.

Mr. Roland McWilliams has very successfully passed the first year's examination in Toronto University, taking six subjects, and is to have a supplemental examination in German which he substituted for Greek.

The delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian Order of Foresters have returned home. Mr. F. J. Jamieson who has been elected a member of the Executive Committee is receiving the congratulations of the members of the Peterborough Courts.

News Nuggets.

—Mr. W. H. Wrighton is loading three cars of cheese at the C. P. R. for shipment.

—The Waterworks Co. are extending a four-inch main from the C. P. R to Perry street.

—The funeral of Miss Barns, Smith street, who died on Saturday night took place this afternoon to Little Lake cemetery.

—The new watering cart provided by the Ashburnham council has made its appearance on the village streets and does its work well.

—The water in the river is unusually high for this season of the year—fully up to the height it reached during the spring, and lumbermen experience little trouble in floating their logs.

—While the track on the P. A. A. A. grounds was being ploughed last week the pipe leading to the cricket crease was struck by the ploughshare and a hole punctured in it. The crease cannot now be watered.

—New books received at the Peterborough Bookstore: One Touch of Nature, by Margaret Lee; A Study in Scarlet, by Conan Doyle; Twixt Love and Hate, by Bertha Clay; When a Man's Single, by J. M. Barrie.

—The bicycle club are putting the track of the P. A. A. A. grounds in fine repair. They have rented the track for the season and have men working on it now. When completed it will be one of the loveliest and smoothest tracks out.

—The 57th Battalion will have a parade to-morrow night headed by both bands. It is absolutely necessary that every man should turn out and get in shape for inspection on Dominion Day. The time is short and every parade must be attended.

—The new 12-inch gong for the fire hall arrived this morning and was placed in position to-day. The new equipments are all now complete. The horses are trained to a nicety, and reflect great credit upon their trainer, Mr. John Murphy.

—A petty larceny was committed on Saturday night at Mr. Robert Hamilton's restaurant, C.P.R. The refrigerator was broken into and three pairs of chickens and eight pounds of butter stolen. Recently several flowers were also stolen from some beds at the C.P.R.

Wounded at Gettysburg

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"I was in the Army of the Potomac and in the great battle of Gettysburg was struck in the ankle by a minnie ball, which smashed the bone. My leg was amputated in the field hospital, and after a long time it healed. I was discharged and went home. After 8 years

My Wound Broke Open

afresh. Dr. Pease amputated an inch of the bone, and it healed. Four years later it once more opened, and for eight years how I suffered! I do not believe it possible for a human being to suffer worse agony. During this time I had to go on crutches, being unable to wear a wooden leg. Whenever possible I relieved my sufferings by taking opiate, but when I was obliged to go without it, I suffered fearfully and thought I should go crazy. I tried every thing I could get with my limited means. Physicians said I would never be any better. Finally my

Blood Became Poisoned

and it broke out all over my face and on some parts of my body so that my face is all covered with scars now. One day I read of what Hood's Sarsaparilla would do. The first dollar I got I sent and bought a bottle and began taking it. A week or two later, my wife in dressing my leg, said it seemed to be improving, and after taking a few months, thank God (and I say it reverently), the sores all over my body had healed, and now, four years later, have never shown any sign of reappearing." GEORGE M. HAMMOND, 319 Magnolia Street, Syracuse, N. Y.

The Peterboros & Juniors Defeat the Trinity College Juniors at Port Hope on Saturday by Six Runs.

The return cricket match between the Peterborough juniors and the Trinity College juniors was played at Port Hope on Saturday afternoon. The home team were successful in defeating their opponents on the first innings by six runs. A large number, including many ladies, witnessed the game, which proved to be an exciting one, on Trinity College grounds. The Peterboroughs, who went to bat first, in the first innings succeeded in piling up 62 runs, Goldsmith making 27 of these in good style. Stocker's bowling is also worthy of mention, he taking 7 wickets at the cost of 27 runs. Campbell for the college, although not out, piled up 24 runs, S. H. Cartwright coming next with 12. In the second innings Charlie Halliday scored 26 runs, Montgomery not out 17 and Goldsmith 14. The College went in for the second innings, but seven o'clock arriving, the Peterboroughs had to leave the field for home, some of Trinity wickets being down. Cartwright not out, scoring 4 and Stokes, not out 3. For the college boys J.S. Cartwright and Syer did the most effective handling, as the scores below will show.

Somebody Suffers.

Yes, somebody suffers when these great take-em-away-for-nothing sales are announced, but it isn't the promoters, it is the confiding public who are eventually the sufferers. The goods look all right, but wear them, and how soon you will be surprised when they fall to pieces. Our reputation for selling reliable, trusty, serviceable shoes is quite sufficient to draw people to our store. It wouldn't do for a house of established reputation to indulge in sensational half-off, below cost, giveaway sales. There's a moral to all this, Buy the best at Kidd's the bootmen, and pay a reasonable price, and no more, and in the long run you will come off the winner. Kidd not only claims, but does sell the best of summer foot wear at the lowest living profit, at 276 George street.

FIELD DAY FOR BASEBALL.

The Edisons Defeat the Peterboroughs.

The Collegiate Institute Team Defeat the Edison Juniors by a Score of 20 to 3—Notes on the Scientific Game.

For the third time this season the Edison baseball club and the Peterborough baseball club came together on Saturday afternoon. This time victory rested with the Edisons, the score at the end of the ninth innings standing 9 to 3 in the favor.

Precisely at twenty five minutes to four, Umpire Samuel N. Arthur, of the Edison Works, called time, and the Peterboroughs took their first innings. Barnon stepped to the plate with the shillelagh in hand and knocked a grounder to first, out. Heap took his first on balls, Evans knocked to short stop, Parks who threw to Le Page, putting Heap out while running to second, who threw to Foster, putting Evans out at first, making a pretty double play—the only one made during the game. The Edisons to bat, Smith knocked to Heap, short stop who made a pretty throw to first putting batter out. Pomfret on a grounder got first, Duckworth likewise on balls, Parks knocked a long one way out into left field, Pomfret and Duckworth getting home rooring the first two runs for the electricians. Le Page and Foster yielded to McCabe's curves. Two runs.

Second innings.—McCabe lifted the leather near the right fielders fence, and as O'Brien, Lipsett and McKay fanned the breeze to no purpose he stole second and third but could not reach home. Sweetlove's bat and the leather failed to clash, out. Belnap knocked a grounder to short who muffed it, getting first, Elliott struck out, Smith whacked to Barnon who fired to Lipsett putting batter out.

Third innings.—Ray knocked along the ground to first who clinched it. General Tighe was unable to connect with Pomfret's attack and retired conquered, Barnon flew away to left field, Heap at bat failing to materialize, Barnon in the meantime stole second and third. Side out. Pomfret lifted the ball out right and managed to reach the home plate on Barnon's mutt while stealing third, Duckworth getting his base on balls, and Pomfret's and Parks' long clips to left and right fields respectively. McKay's splendid catch off Le Page's liner fly is worthy of mention.

Ninth innings—Evans fanned the breeze. McCabe got first on Foster's muff. O'Brien knocked to short stop, got first in his holding it, Lipsett knocked to right field getting first and McCabe got home making the third run for Peterborough. Mckay and Ray were struck out by Pomfret leaving O'Brien and Lipsett on bases. Game ended.

THE COLLEGIATE BEATS THE EDISONS.

On Saturday afternoon at 1 30 these two junior baseball teams faced each other on the P.A.A.A. grounds. The electricians were considerably heavier and older; but their opponents showed much more practice and played the winning game from start to finish, the score at the end standing 20 to 3 in their favor. The Edisonians are weak batters but good fielders. The stars for the victors were Owens, King and Adams; for the vanquished Misener, Anderson and Harvey. Mr. Parks of the Edison Works umpired the game to the entire satisfaction of both parties. The rivals meet again next Saturday afternoon.

A stately, graceful woman, with rich dark hair and eyes, expressive features, and an undeniably aristotratic mien and carriage, is Baroness von Suttner, the young noblewoman who has dedicated herself to the cause of eternal peace. Her bravery in advocating in army-ridden Prussia the cause to which she has devoted herself was shown when the fire of ridicule was opened upon her, for the official criticism has been against her. Her recent visit to Berlin gave the literary circles of the capital an opportunity to honor the woman whose book, "Down with the Weapons!" has given her a place among foremost writers and reformers, and many of the political men of the day ranged themselves at her side.

BARONESS VON SUTTNER.

Baroness von Suttner, nee Countess Bertha Kinsky, is a member of one of the oldest families of the Hungarian nobility, a family whose men for generations back have carried the sword, and who can imagine no other career than that of the officer for a gentleman. Countess Bertha was educated in Prague, and most of her home life was spent in that city and in Vienna. She was one of the most courted beauties of the gay Austrian capital. She was married to Baron von Suttner in 1876. The Baron and Baroness almost immediately left Vienna for Tiflis in the Caucasus, where they remained ten years. At the time of his marriage Baron A. Grundacar von Suttner was a writer already known, but his collection of short stories, "Tales from Caucasus," written during his stay at Tiflis, is his best work.

At Tiflis, inspired by the sympathetic companionship of her husband, the Baroness took her first step in literature. Her earliest novel is the best she has written—the first part of "Down with the Weapons!" It was entitled "Inventory of a Soul." Then came several other novels, "High Life," "A Manuscript," "Daniela Dormes," and a collection of short stories, then a revision and elaboration of her first work, now famous as "Down with the Weapons!" That completed work appeared in German literature. In judging the Baroness by this work, one inclines to place her among reformers rather than among authors; for although "Down with the Weapons" is undeniably a well written book, it certainly owes its large measure of its wide popularity to the ideas it advances, to its attacks on a time-honored institution, to the warm humanity pulsating in every line of it. It is a work, like "Uncle Tom's Cabin," brought forth by the spirit of the times, and reacting on the times with all the force of a suddenly outspoken expression of a general, but hitherto unuttered, opinion.

Drawn into publicity by the success of her book, Baroness von Suttner has been enabled to champion her ideas. Made President of the Austrian Peace League (the first woman holding such a position), she was an honored delegate at the International Congress of Peace in Rome in the fall of 1891, where her spirited addresses, together with the record of her work, brought her open recognition and honor from the foremost men. A monthly magazine, of which she has assumed the editorship and which bears the name, Down With the Weapons, has just been started. It will be issued in Berlin and Vienna, and it is backed by plenty of solid capital and parliamentary support.

The ostensible cause of the recent visit of the Baroness to Berlin was an invitation to lecture sent her by the Berlin Press Society, but the literary world seized the opportunity to honor the authoress, while all men and women anxious for the organization of a peace party in Prussia gathered around her. At the public banquet in her honor, the members of the House of Representatives left no doubt of their full sympathy with the opinions of the guest of the evening, and of their desire to free their country of the reproach of being the only one among the civilized nations of the world to have no peace league.

At her lecture the Baroness read the chapters of her work, which describes the village of Rossnitz, near the scene of the battle of Koeniggrats, six days after the battle and the visit of the Emperor of Austria to the battlefield of Sedowa on All Souls' Day. In that part which relates to the visit of a young wife to the battlefield in search of her missing husband, the impassioned Hungarian has spared no revolting detail, but has painted horrors with the Dore touch. Only strong feeling could have enabled this refined, delicately bred woman to paint with unswerving hand the physical condition of the wounded, 800 men, friend and foe, lying forgotten, unaided, for six days after the battle. The worse horror is that the account is absolutely true; the Baroness has dealt mercilessly with those on whom the responsibility rests, but she has not added one detail that is not true.

In "Down With the Weapons" the heroine tells the tale. She is the daughter of an Austrian nobleman and officer, marries her first love, a gay lieutenant of hussars, and has lived in admiration of war and all things military, until the war of 1856 takes her young husband from her side to fight for his country. Receiving no news she follows to the front, and after many grim adventures finds only his lifeless body. The war is over, the widow, sick in body and soul, returns to her father's house, but after several years marries again. A German scholar and writer is her second choice, and both go to Paris to study. Then comes the war of 1870, and Martha's husband leaves her to take his place in the Prussian army. Again the wife goes through all the horrors which war brings to women waiting at home. Fate is kinder than before, her husband returns, unharmed, but saddened in mind and soul. Struck with horror at the scenes of war, the returned soldier has resolved to devote himself to the cause of peace, and finds an ardent assistant in his wife, who has suffered too much not to wish to do what she may to spare other women this suffering. That is an outline of the book, and many, not knowing the authoress, have fancied it her own life's history, and have written letters of sympathy to her, inspired by that delusion.

It is owing to this story, without doubt, that there is now an organized peace party in the Austrian Parliament, and that a strong pressure is bearing on the Government to make some step toward a general disarmament.

One of the popular points of Frau von Suttner's book is the powerful paintings of the feelings of those who have not the glory, but all of the horrors of war, the woman at home, the common soldier in the ranks, who often does not know why he is there, and the unhappy peasant, turning beggared from the smoking ruins of his home. When such misery shall shake kings and courts and thinking men and women, then weapons will be thrown down.

Being extensive dealers in only Reliable and Standard makes of

GRAND, SQUARE AND UPRIGHT

PIANOFORTES

we are able to offer advantages to the public which are impossible to the ordinary dealer.

Our instruments have an established reputation for excellence of TONE, TOUCH, WORKMANSHIP, and DURABILITY, and Every Instrument is Fully Warranted for Seven Years.

Chief among our instruments which have received prefereances from the best musical artists, stand

—THE—

HEINTZMAN

AND

EVANS PIANOS.

These instruments have been before the Canadian public for a number of years, and the great praise bestowed upon them by musical experts, along with the continued increase of sales year by year, testify to their high excellence.

The aim of the manufacturers of these two favorite Pianos has persistently been to produce the best instruments at a moderate price. They are of solid build, warranted for durability, of handsome appearance and good finish; pleasant touch and quick repetition. TONE: rich, full, bright and resonant. Beautifully singing and sympathetic in quality. The prices are moderate, and within the reach of the majority of purchasers.

We are exclusive agents in Peterborough for the celebrated

which stand ahead of all competitors. We have also at all times in stock the well-known and popular

THOMAS ORGANS,

AND OTHER MAKES.

Our large and well-lighted show room enables us to carry the Largest Stock ever shown in Peterborough, and as regards Prices, we have only to say that we positively will not be undersold.

Those not having the inclination or the means to purchase an instrument outright, can by a small monthly investment, secure a Piano or Organ on rental until paid for.

JACKSON & CO. wish it to be distinctly understood that in cases of emergency, they are always desirous of dealing justly and fairly with their customers. They do not want both the money and the instrument.

NOTICE.

To insure confidence and satisfaction, Jackson & Co. are willing to exchange any instrument purchased from them within twelve months if not approved of, themselves bearing all expense of carriage, and allowing all that has been paid, towards any other instrument selected.

All kinds of Instruments Tuned or Repaired on short notice.

ENGLISH ELECTIONS.

Mr. Balfour Says the Date Depends On Progress of Business.

LONDON, June 18.—Another effort to get the Government to fix the exact date of the dissolution of Parliament was baffled in the House of Commons last night by Mr. Balfour's courteous but resolute explanation that business even if it was expedited in the House of Lords as in the House of Commons would not permit of the dissolution before June 29 or 30.

This statement was somewhat at variance with the statement made last Monday by Mr. Balfour, when he said that Parliament would be dissolved on a date between June 19 and June 25.

The Opposition, though forced to admit the reasonableness of Mr. Balfour's contention that the House of Lords ought to have a decent time to deal with measures already passed by the House of Commons, raged over the delay, although precedent, which was on the side of the Government, made its position impregnable.

Mr. Henry Labouchere, in moving to adjourn with a view to assailing Mr. Balfour, brought the whole Opposition to their feet in support of the motion.

Mr. Gladstone, who had set the ball rolling by opening the questions on Mr. Balfour, knew the futility of an attack on this line and sat obviously fuming, but he kept silent.

Mr. Balfour maintained his reserve, and the Liberals obtained no information more definite than that the Government would fix the date of dissolution at a time suitable to the business of the House.

Earthquake in the Shetlands.

EDINBURGH, June 18.—Reports which have now been received from various parts of Shetland render it unmistakable that a slight shock of earthquake has been experienced in these islands. The first report of the occurrence was received from the island of Unst, where a low rumbling sound was stated to have been heard. The sound resembled distant thunder, or the noise made by a carriage passing near a house, and seems to have been very equally heard. Unst is the most northerly island in the Shetlands, but the disturbance appears also to have been heard in Dunrossness, the most southerly part. The shock was felt in North Delting, and three houses were very perceptibly shaken. It was noticed at Delting that the houses which were shaken are founded on rock, most of the others in the vicinity being founded on drift.

A Mother Charged With Murder.

EDINBURGH, June 18.—In the High Court Isabella Smith or Farmer, charged with murdering her boy, aged 4 years, by cutting his throat at High Riggs, pleaded guilty to culpable homicide and the plea was accepted. In passing sentence of eight years' penal servitude the Lord Justice Clerk said the tendency of society was far too great not to keep the emotions under control, and a great deal of what they read in abominable books tended to prevent proper self-control.

British Telephones.

LONDON, June 18.—The House of Commons, in committee, has authorized the Government to purchase the telephone trunk lines throughout the country, at a cost of £1,000,000.

Dropped Dead at His Work.

LONDON, Ont., June 18.—James McCormack, a carpenter in Stevens & Burns' foundry, dropped dead about 10 o'clock yesterday while at work at his bench.

Hail storms Damage the Vineyards.

PARIS, June 18.—Heavy hailstorms have caused a great amount of damage in the vineyards in the district of Montpellier.

Henry Irving and Ellen Terry.

LONDON, June 16.—Henry E. Abbey signed a contract with Henry Irving and Ellen Terry and their entire company to make a tour in the United States in 1893.

Asleep for a Year.

STOCKBRIDGE, Mich., June 18.—May White, the girl whose somnolence has drawn the attention of the medical world, begins her second year of sleep Friday. Her condition remains virtually the same. One year ago her weight was 147 pounds, now it is eighty. The doctor arouses her four times each day, and she retains consciousness perhaps an hour. "If she should sleep 24 hours," he said, "no one could arouse her."

Wan Lung.

That is the queer name of a Chinese laundryman in Hartford, but he has probably two lungs, like most of us. Some crying babies seem to have a dozen. Lungs should be sound, or the voice will have a weakly sound. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes strong lungs, drives the cough away, generates good blood, tones the nerves, builds up the human wreck and makes "another man" of him. Nightsweats, bloody spitting, short breath, bronchitis, asthma, and all alarming forerunners of Consumption, are positively cured by this unapproachable remedy. If taken in time, Consumption itself can be baffled. s

To be free from sick headache, biliousness, constipation, etc., use Carter's Little Liver Pills. Strictly vegetable. They gently stimulate liver and free the stomach from bile. dw

Facts About Dyspepsia.

Wrong action of the stomach and liver occasions dyspepsia. Dyspepsia in turn gives rise to bad blood. Both these complaints are curable by B. B. B., which acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and blood, and tones and strengthens the entire system, thus positively curing dyspepsia, constipation, bad blood and similar troubles. dw

THE BEST FAMILY PILL IN USE

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 15, 1892.
W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.
DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.
Yours faithfully,
M. F. ATWELL.

SCIENCE & PROGRESS

People travelling along Jackson boulevard last night in the vicinity of Morgan street were at first startled and afterwards amused at sight of a wooden horse charging west on the asphalt thoroughfare. Astride of the ligneous equine sat a young man who seemed to be riding for his life. Faster and faster the wooden racer ran until it was lost to view. In a few moments the rider had turned his inanimate "hoss" eastward and was again flying over the boulevard.

The wooden horse is a unique contrivance invented by C. R. Bickley, who lives at No. 281 West Van Buren street. His novel invention was finished three days ago, and already he has attained sufficient speed to give the best of bicycle riders a close brush. He claims to be able to go a mile at a three-minute gate. Last night, however, the "steering pin" of the novel invention had been carelessly forgotten and the exhibition was not the success it might have been.

The principle on which the machine is run is simple. It is composed only of two cog-wheels, an eccentric axle, and a shaft. On this shaft the hobby horse rests. Beneath is a sort of platform resting on four wheels. When astride the horse the motion of the body used in riding the live article propels the machine forward, and as it moves and the motion of the body becomes accelerated the momentum grows greater and greater until a high rate of speed is obtained. The invention is not yet on the market, though its inventor has already had some flattering offers for his patents. The wooden horse may probably be placed in the parks this summer.—Chicago Herald.

The Milkweeds.

Milkweeds are of six or seven kinds, says F. B. Sanborn, in the Boston Advertiser. The ordinary one (Asclepias cornuta), or silk weed, is very common everywhere, but varies greatly both in the color of its flowers and the shape of its leaves. During the last century the coma of the leaves of this plant was used for wick yarn. Dr. Manasseh Cutler (1783) writes: "The candles will burn equally free and afford a clearer light than those made of cotton wicks. They will not require so frequent snuffing, and the smoke of the snuff is less offensive." In 1833 a patent was granted to Miss Gerrish, of Salem, for a process by which the fiber of this milkweed was to be used for the manufacture of various kinds of thread, cloth, etc. But the manufactured product never got fairly into the market, any more than Dr. Cutler's milkweed candles did, and now cotton and electricity have got the start of them and of bayberry tallow, which was also a product of New England.

New Coloring Matter.

It is said: Some Belgian manufacturers of glass and porcelain have recently introduced from Germany a new coloring matter, which can be fixed without the use of fire. In this process a mixture of two solutions, of which one consists of 100 parts of strong potash and 10 parts of acetate of soda, and the other of 15 parts of acetate of lead in 100 parts of water. The second solution consists of 50 parts of borax dissolved in 100 parts of hot water and 20 parts of glycerine. Sixty parts of the first mixture are mixed with 40 parts of the second. When the composition has been applied, the objects are placed in a bath, which is composed of 1 part of borax dissolved in 12 parts of water, mixed with 50 parts of hydrofluoric acid and 10 parts of sulphuric acid. After being allowed to remain in the bath for ten minutes, the objects are washed in clean water, when the color appears as clearly as when the objects are fired.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It is said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy for ladies in clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c and $1 dw

BLAINE'S SON HAS PASSED AWAY.

The Excitement of the Convention Too Much for Him.

CHICAGO, June 18.—Emmons Blaine, son of ex-Secretary Blaine, died Saturday The fact of young Mr. Blaine's death was kept concealed for some time after he had actually passed away, the object being to reach the father first with some gentle intimation of the sad news. Efforts to get telegraphic communication with the ex-secretary failed however, and about 12:30 news of the death leaked out. It was not until about a quarter of an hour prior to the fatal moment that the least intimation that Mr. Blaine was in a dangerous condition became known, and then only by a few.

Young Mr. Blaine was a notable figure in the rushing convention scenes at Minneapolis. He took the result greatly to heart, and was confined to his room shortly after his return from the north. During the convention he seemed in perfect health, and no one who heard of his sudden passing away was more shocked than those who saw him participating in Caucuses early and late and night and day in his father's interest.

It is thought possible by many that the strain of excitement at Minneapolis followed by keen disappointment had not a little to do with the physical prostration ensuing. The death scene took place in the great brown stone house of the McCormick family. The wife, Mrs. Blaine and the two-year-old son, McCormick Blaine, were the only persons present besides Mrs. Cyrus McCormick, young Mrs. Blaine's mother. Death came so swiftly that there was not time to summon the other members of the family.

TORONTO GRAIN MARKETS.

Business Transacted and Prices of Grain in the Queen City.

TORONTO, June 20.—Receipts of grain on the street market Saturday were represented by 400 bushels of wheat at 82c for fall, 80c for red, 75c for spring and 67c for goose, 200 bushels of oats at 34c to 36c, one load of peas at 62c and one load of barley at 40c. Hay and straw was in fair supply at unchanged prices.

On call board No. 2, fall wheat offered at 85c, with 82c bids. No. 1 hard wheat to arrive at North Bay offered at $1.04 with $1 bid. No. 2 hard, lake and rail, was wanted at 85c, and No. 3 hard, all rail, delivery first half of July offered at 83c, without bids. No. 1 regular afloat, Port Arthur, offered at 61c, with 59c bid and all rail, North Bay, at 70c, with 67c bid. No. 2 regular afloat, Port Arthur, was wanted at 45c, and delivered afloat at New York at 55c, without offerings. Oats steady, mixed outside offered at 30c and white east offered at 32c.

FIVE CHILDREN DROWNED.

They Were Playing in a Buggy and It Toppled Over Into the River.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 19.—Five children were drowned in the Ohio River at Neville Island, a few miles from Pittsburg yesterday afternoon. They were: Paul Pittock, aged 3; Rufus Pittock, 9; Maggie Pittock, 12, and Ada Pittock, 14—children of T. C. Pittock, a prominent business man—and Edna Richardson, aged 13, the daughter of a railroader. The children were playing in a buggy that was standing on the high bank of the river, jumping up and down in their play, and the buggy toppled over the bank, throwing all into the water.

SEIZED OFF ALASKA.

Several Steamers and Schooners Get Themselves Into Trouble.

VICTORIA, B.C., June 20.—Alaska advices received by the steamer Queen state that the Alaska Commercial Company's steamer Jennie and schooners Lottie and Kodiac have been seized while their crews were on shore killing sea otters. Prize crews were put aboard and brought the vessels to Sitka.

Another steamer, also named Jennie, has been ordered to be seized on her return to Sitka, for violation of the revenue laws in running from Victoria to the canneries without papers, and also for supplying liquor to canners.

THE GREATEST LIGHT IN THE WORLD

An Immense Beacon to be Placed on Mount Washington.

PORTLAND, Me., June 20.—General Manager Tucker of the Maine Central R. R. says the necessary amount of money for placing the proposed powerful electric light on the top of Mount Washington has been subscribed.

The light will be the highest and strongest in the world and will be seen from Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, New York and Canada.

Dropped Dead While At Work.

LONDON, June 20.—James McCormick was at work in Stevens & Burns' foundry, apparently in the best of health, when he suddenly dropped to the floor. He was picked up and doctors sent for, but when they arrived they declared life was extinct, the cause being heart failure. He was 68 years of age, and leaves a wife and three daughters, one the wife of Mr. Tolmie, G. T. R. station agent at Harriston, another the wife of the principal of the public school at the same place, and a third residing here.

Ends His Life With a Revolver.

BROCKPORT, June 20.—Amos S. Randall of Chicago committed suicide here by shooting. Mr. Randall, in company with his nephew, was in a hardware store when the former bought a 32-caliber revolver and had it loaded. Shortly after they returned home the shooting occurred. Mr. Randall has been in ill-health for some time, and has been very despondent. He was 62 years old.

Rioters Sentenced.

BARCELONA, June 20.—Six strikers who were arrested here for rioting have been sentenced to three years' imprisonment each. Many Socialists and labor leaders have been arrested, manacled and taken aboard men-of-war without trial on mere suspicion of inciting strikes. The strikers are becoming disheartened and are returning to work.

An Incendiary and a Burglar Get Life Sentences.

ST. THOMAS, June 20.—Thomas Spellman pleaded guilty in court to starting the numerous fires which have ravaged the village of Vienna in this county during the past year. He was sentenced to imprisonment for life.

KINGSTON, June 20.—Charles McGee, an ex-convict, one of the gang that has for several weeks past been burglarizing houses in this county, and in some instances maltreating the female occupants, has been sentenced to life imprisonment.

Boy Drowned While Bathing.

BRANTFORD, June 20.—George Osborne, aged 12, was drowned here Saturday while bathing in the Grand River. His body was recovered shortly after, but life was extinct. It is supposed that he fell between two rocks and could not extricate himself.

Four Sovereigns Will Meet.

LONDON, June 20.—While at Copenhagen the Czar expressed his intention to attend the wedding of the Crown Prince of Roumania to Princess Marie of Edinburgh. One result, therefore, will be a meeting of the sovereigns of England, Russia, Germany and Roumania.

A Labor Candidate in Gladstone's Constituency.

LONDON, June 20.—The London Trades Council has decided to run a labor candidate in the Midlothian district, Mr. Gladstone's present constituency in the coming general elections. The Chronicle, commenting on the action of the council, strongly deprecates such a hasty and crude notion.

Received the Archbishop.

PARIS, June 20.—President Carnot and several of the cabinet ministers yesterday gave an audience to Archbishop Ireland.

Gladstone Will Blockade Russian Ports

ST. PETERSBURG, June 20.—The Novoe Vremya thinks if Gladstone succeeds to power in the coming elections he would permit a Russian fleet to blockade the German and Austrian ports to prevent the arrival of American grain in the event of war and thus cripple the Dreibund. The article also hints that unless Gladstone concedes Russia's desire, an attack will be made on India.

A Slap in the Face at France.

MARSEILLES, June 20.—A firm in this city trading in Dahomey securities has received advices that King Behanzin refuses to recognize a French protectorate over his kingdom and has placed himself in the hands of Germany.

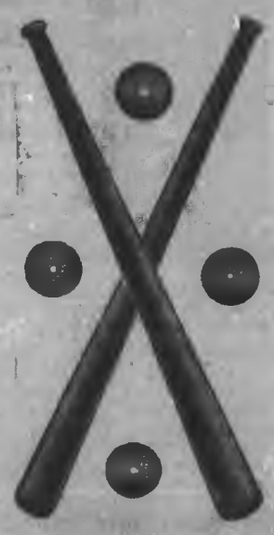
IT'S THE WEAR THAT TELLS!



Reader, may we ask you a question? Did you ever purchase a suit of clothes that looked exceedingly well, but which when it came to be worn proved to be as mean shoddy as cou'd be scared up? Well, there is plenty of just such clothing in the market to-day. The place where you can be sure to find no such stuff is at GRAFTON & CO.'S, 393 George Street, Peterborough. Fine foreign fabrics at remarkably low prices is what you will find there. There you will be certain to obtain something that will not only be satisfactory in price but will also give satisfactory service. Every garment we sell is made up in our own factory in Dundas, of cloths directly imported by us, or from Canadian Tweeds. Before leaving our factory, every garment is closely examined and its actual cost computed. It is then marked at the lowest possible price, and as we are direct importers as well as manufacturers and retailers we can sell fine goods at first cost or from twenty to thirty per cent. cheaper than any other merchant. Our $9 Brighton Overcoat and our $7.50 London Sack Suits are but two of the many bargains we are now offering.

Full English Cassimere Suit - -	$9.00 to $12.00	Aberdeen Cassimere Suit - -	$14.00 to $16.50

THE LEAFY MONTH OF JUNE.

Sunshades and Parasols combined with Summer Silks and Blouses, are the pleasant reminders for this month and constitute the true medium for keeping cool under a June sun. These can be found in great abundance and variety at the Golden Lion, and the figures we have marked them at will give them a ready sale.

Gloves, too, and Hosiery; well, no lady cares to go shabby in these articles of dress. There is no part of a lady's outfit which she can less afford to neglect. How well this store knows from long experience what's required in both these lines, need not be dwelt on. What you want is sure to be found in our extensive stock.

Carpets are yet an item both interesting and seasonable. The watering in of really warm weather affords an opportunity to complete changes in household arrangements. We have to thank the many customers who have already made their selections, and beg leave to say, notwithstanding the run on our stock, that we are still in a position to do the leading carpet trade.

In Curtains, we keep pace with the times in new designs. If you buy from us you will get the pick of the best markets.

TURNBULL'S

Sluggish streams stagnate, so do sluggish stocks—they become decayed—they are not fit for commercial use more than decayed meat. Finally, they are known as dead. Do you appreciate the advantage of buying always from a clean, fresh stock of new goods? If you do, you can have that advantage by trading at Turnbull's.

Just opened out 3,300 yards Flannelette, full width and heavy; usual price 10 and 12½c., our price 6½c. No one else has these goods or can have them, as we cleared the whole lot at a loss to the holder.

Black Henrietta Cloths, Silk Warp and Wool Fillings at 50c., regular price $1.00. Come quickly if you want to be in the race for these goods.

Ladies' Cotton Skirtings, heavy enough to stand alone; fast colors; at 12½c.

Fine Scotch Tweed Dress Goods, double fold, good shades, 40c.

Pure Silk Gloves to fit every hand, 35c. a pair.

Boys' Suits fresh from the factory, at $2.00, $2.25 and $2.50 each, all the latest cut. Better goods as cheap in proportion.

Ladies' White Underwear, all desirable goods, at prices to suit everybody.

Housekeepers, do you want Carpets? We are showing a fine line of American-made goods, 36 inches wide, at 35c., a yard. This is a line that we will not be able to get in again.

All the latest patterns in Summer Prints and Challies placed in stock.

FATAL EFFECT OF A WASHOUT ON THE GRAND TRUNK.

Four Trainmen Killed and Many Injured—The Mystery of Manan Island—A Toronto Printer Almost Cuts His Head From His Body.

MONTREAL, June 21.—A heavy cloudburst passed over the section of the Grand Trunk Railway near Hillhurst, east of Montreal, yesterday and caused a bad washout, which damaged the line to the extent of 80 feet. A local passenger train ran into it at 7.15. The engine, express, baggage, second class and postoffice cars went down, carrying all hands with them. The first-class carriage remained suspended over the washout and the passengers in it were not injured.

KILLED.

MARK DALE, engineer of Island Pond.
GEORGE READ, the fireman of Richmond.
JOSEPH CARON, baggageman of Montreal.
H. M. SMALL, express messenger of Montreal.

WOUNDED.

Mail clerk and a passenger named Clement, two section hands and two brakemen.

A baggageman went down with his car, but was not much hurt.

The passengers suffered from the shock, but none of them were seriously injured. A repairing force is now at the scene of the accident.

The remains of Dale, Caron and Small, who were killed, have not yet been taken out of the wreck. The engine is still under water, and until it subsides it will be impossible to get at it.

The wounded were brought here to-night. Alfred Denis, a mail clerk of Montreal, 57 years old, is very badly hurt. Conductor Munday, Blaire, Caron and several passengers were also amongst the injured.

SHOCKING SUICIDE.

A Toronto Printer Almost Severs His Head From His Body.

TORONTO, June 21.—One of the most ghastly self-murders ever committed in Toronto was that of William Stephenson, a man of 38 years of age, who committed suicide last night by cutting his throat at 529 Queen-street east. Stephenson had been living with his wife and two children at 94 Bond-street. He had been drinking and on the 13th was arrested for abusing his wife. Mrs. Stephenson was granted an order of protection, and removed to the house where the tragedy occurred. Yesterday morning Stephenson went to the Queen-street house and asked to see his wife. Upon being told that she was out he went away, but returned in a few minutes, and rushing into the front room, he cut his throat from ear to ear with a razor, nearly severing the head from the body.

He had borrowed the razor from a companion, saying that he was going to shave himself. It is supposed that he intended to murder his wife, and not finding her in, took his own life, being crazed with liquor. No inquest will be held.

FOUR MURDERS.

The Wild Story Told by a Toronto Boy Who Don't Know Himself.

TORONTO, June 21.—A remarkable find was made on the Island this morning. It was a boy of 18 or 20 tied hand and feet and laid on some boards. A big piece of brown paper was tied over his face. He was scantily clad in a new night shirt, a new pair of slippers and a pair of ladies' stockings. He was resuscitated and in answer to inquiries he told a wonderful story which includes at least four murders. He knew neither his name nor anything about himself. He had evidently lost his reason and whether there is any truth in the wild story he tells is doubtful beyond the evident outrage committed on himself.

Killed Her Husband.

NANAIMO, B.C., June 21.—The trial of Jane Brown for the murder of her husband was concluded yesterday, when the woman was found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to five years' imprisonment.

The evidence showed that an alleged friend of Brown's named Derringer and the woman attacked Brown, inflicting injuries from which he died. Derringer committed suicide the next day.

Killed After Leaving His Sweetheart.

SOUTH WOODSLEE, Ont., June 21.—Wesley Reid, aged 25, of Mersea Township was struck and killed by a train at 1.40 yesterday morning while driving home from a visit to Ida Jarriet, to whom he was to have been married in a month. His neck was broken and he was badly cut up. His horse and buggy were smashed to pieces.

To Enter the Imperial Navy.

OTTAWA, June 21.—Harold Denison, eldest son of Col. Denison, M.P., sailed yesterday from Halifax for England to enter the Imperial navy. He has passed a very creditable examination and will be attached to the training ship Britannia as a naval cadet. This is the same vessel upon which the Duke of York received his training.

For Breach of Promise.

PICTOU, N.S., June 21.—Judge Ritchie was engaged yesterday hearing a breach of promise case, in which Anna Bell McLeod of Cariboo sued Duncan Cameron of East River.

A year ago Cameron went to McLeod's house, and, though a widower with seven children, made love at first sight to Anna. He drove her to Trenton and New Glasgow two or three times, and asked her mother, "What will you do when I take her away?" Judgment for plaintiff for $1800.

A Famous Witness Insane.

HALIFAX, N.S., June 21.—Emily Dillman, the witness in the famous Doyle murder trial, was married at St. John a few days ago and has since been placed in an insane asylum.

Killed With a Hammer.

CALGARY, N.W.T., June 21.—James Frazer was practising throwing the heavy hammer when the head of the hammer flew off, hitting James Fletcher on the side of the head, killing him.

The Daddy Lobster.

ST. ANDREWS, N.S., June 21.—The daddy of the Passamaquoddy lobster family got entangled in Thomas Donahue's lobster trap at St. Andrews a few days ago and was brought to the surface. Domestic troubles had robbed him of one claw, and the rest of his anatomy was marked with scars which he had received in subqueous battles. Several barnacles had also taken possession of his black shell. This old patriarch measured 20 inches from the tip of his ugly mug to the extremity of his tail and he weighed 14½ pounds.

CLEVELAND IN THE LEAD

ACCORDING TO THE LATEST CANVASS OF VOTES.

The Anti's, However, Win a Victory in Electing Their Chairman for the National Convention—The Excitement at the Democratic Convention Now Approaching Fever Heat.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Senator Palmer of Illinois has withdrawn from the Presidential candidacy and requested that the 48 votes of Illinois be cast for ex-President Cleveland. This means that the strongest of the doubtful states of the west is in line for Cleveland, and that 48 votes more will be added to that column, which is already dangerously near the two-thirds line. A meeting of Clevelandite leaders was held last night. Reports were received from all the states, and according to these Cleveland will have 570 votes on the first ballot.

The Tribune's canvass gives Cleveland 518½, Hill 175½, Boies 35, Gorman 51, Morrison 34, Carlisle 24, Palmer 22, anti-Cleveland 22.

The managers of the ex-President's campaign displayed a carefully prepared table which gives Cleveland 580 votes on the first ballot, just 19 votes short of the two-thirds for a nomination.

The anti-Cleveland faction, among which may be included not only the forces of Senator Hill but also those of Boies, Gray and the secret but very earnest workers of Senator Gorman, deride as unreasonably extravagant these figures of the Cleveland leaders, and assert that their investigations show that the ex-President is assured of but little over a majority on the first ballot.

To the anti-Cleveland forces belong the first honors of war in the contest for the control of the Democratic National convention. The National Committee at its meeting this afternoon decided by a vote of 29 to 20 to present the name of Henry Watterson's candidate, W. C. Owens of Kentucky, as the temporary chairman of the convention. The Cleveland people ill brook defeat and will carry the contest on to the floor of the convention immediately after the convention is called to order, unless they abandon their present intention.

After the announcement of Owens' selection was made a motion was entered to make Mr. Owens' selection unanimous, but Mr. Holt of Texas gave notice that he would present a minority report to the convention. Whether or not the Cleveland men will make a square test of strength in the convention and all of them support Mr. Holt on a motion to adopt the minority report remains to be seen. An analysis of the vote in committee shows that it was not a square alignment of the opposing forces on the Presidential question.

The silver men claim to have secured a total of 70 votes for Gormans as the result of to-day's work.

Tammany to-night issued a circular setting forth that the nomination of Cleveland would imperil the success of the party and would expose it to the loss of the electoral vote of the state.

California decided to-day to vote as a unit for Cleveland.

Missouri also decided to vote for Cleveland as a unit as long as his name is before the convention.

At an early hour Tuesday morning the strongest of the anti-Cleveland southern leaders practically admitted Cleveland's nomination on the first ballot. Even the Hill people, in fact, are ready to admit their defeat. In fact, it would not be surprising if Cleveland's name is the only one before the convention, with Gov. Gray of Indiana for second place.

Ex-Secretary Whitney stated at 2 a. m. that he had 601 copper rivitted and absolutely certain votes for Cleveland, and upon this announcement being made it was decided that Hill should be asked to withdraw his name.

TRADE WITH CANADA.

The President's Message Laid Before the United States Senate and Referred.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—A message from the President in relation to reciprocal trade with Canada was laid before the Senate and referred.

The State paper is an answer to a resolution of Feb. 24 last, calling for information relative to the reciprocity negotiations with Canada.

In it the President sounds the knell of that project by deliberately, in effect, recommending that Congress proceed to retaliate upon the Dominion for its persistent denial of the rights of American citizens (guaranteed by the treaty of Washington) in connection with the navigation of Canadian canals.

The message concludes:

"In view of the fact that the Canadian commissioners still contest with us the claim that the canal tolls are discriminating and insist that they constitute no letter or spirit of article 27 of the treaty it would seem appropriate that Congress, if the view held by the Executive is approved, should with deliberation and yet with promptness take such steps as may be necessary to secure the just rights of our citizens."

CRAWLED INTO A FURNACE.

A Grip Patient Cremates Herself in the Presence of Her Family.

WALTHAM, Mass., June 21.—Mrs. Martha H. Beverly crawled into a big furnace yesterday and, pouring a bottle of kerosene over her clothing, cremated herself while the members of her family stood helpless in front of the furnace. Her body was burned to a crisp. She had been suffering for some months from the effects of the grip, and her act is the result of temporary insanity.

Cleveland Car-Drivers' Strike.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 21.—The Broadway and Newburg electric street car line was tied up yesterday by a strike. Not a car is running. About 150 motormen and conductors are out. The men demand 20 cents an hour for 10 hours' work. The demand was refused.

The Czar Created an German Admiral.

BERLIN, June 21.—The King and Queen of Italy arrived here at 6.22 p.m. Monday and were received by the Emperor and Empress.

The Official Gazette to-day announces the appointment of the Czar as an honorary admiral in the German navy.

Stanley for North Lambert.

LONDON, June 21.—The Unionist Council of North Lambert has adopted Henry M. Stanley as a candidate for Parliament, and it is considered that he stands a good chance for election.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Still Discussing the Redistribution Bill—Some Amendments Made.

OTTAWA, June 21.—On the meeting of the House yesterday Sir John Thompson said with reference to the vacancy in Chicoutimi that although the judges had reported that there were illegal practices in connection with the last election he did not think they were sufficiently general to warrant the House in punishing the electors by leaving them unrepresented. He therefore moved that the writ for Chicoutimi be issued, which was carried.

On motion of Sir John Thompson it was decided that on and after Wednesday the House should meet at 11 in the morning, it being agreed that the Speaker should leave the chair at 1 to take it again at 3.

In reply to Mr. Fraser Hon. Mr. Bowell read a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the Intercolonial offices at Montreal and Toronto for the last five years, by which it appears that at Montreal the receipts for the five years were $113,613 and the expenditure $21,989. At Toronto the receipts have been $2292 and the expenditure $15,692.

The Redistribution Bill.

The House then went into committee again on the Redistribution Bill, Mr. Mills continuing the debate on his amendment to the effect that county boundaries should be adhered to.

The amendment was lost, 27 for to 51 against.

The sub-clauses relating to Prescott and Russell were dropped so that Clarence township remains in Russell, and no change is made in this section of Ontario.

The sub-clauses relating to North and South Renfrew passed without amendment.

The sub-clauses with reference to Lincoln and Niagara and Welland were passed after having been amended by allowing the village of Merritton to remain in Lincoln and Niagara where it now is, instead of placing it in Welland as proposed by the bill.

The sub-clauses providing for the electoral districts of Haldimand and Monck were carried without amendment.

The next sub-section proved a sticker, however, and the discussion on it has been going on all the afternoon and evening.

Hon. Mr. Laurier objected to the wiping out of North Wentworth, and suggested instead that the Government should amalgamate two eastern constituencies, such as Lennox and Addington or Addington and Frontenac.

This Sir John Thompson declined to accede to.

Sir Richard Cartwright reiterated his statement that the small population in Eastern Ontario had a larger representation than the large population in Western Ontario and suggested the amalgamation of some of the smaller constituencies. He moved an amendment to that effect and the discussion on this amendment was continued for some time. Amendment lost, 32 for, 58 against.

Mr. Bain then moved that the clause relating to South Wentworth be amended by striking out East and West Flamborough and adding the Township of Ancaster.

The debate was continued by Sir Richard Cartwright and others.

Mr. Clarke Wallace said that the best evidence of the fairness of the Redistribution Bill of 1882 was that there had been three elections since and the Conservative party had a majority of the popular vote in Ontario every time as well as a majority in the House. In the United States it was frequently the case that the popular vote went one way and the presidential election another.

Mr. Bain's amendment was lost—21 for, 48 against.

In the clause giving West Toronto two members Col. Denison proposed an amendment to the effect that the portions of St. Andrew's, St. George's and St. Patrick's wards as constituted on June 14, 1872, lying west of Bathurst-street, and including Toronto Island, shall constitute West Toronto, the balance of the present West Toronto, east of Bathurst, to be known as West Centre Toronto, and that Centre Toronto as at present constituted be known as East Centre Toronto. After some discussion this was left over until to-morrow.

The clauses referring to Bothwell and the two Ontarios were also left over, and the balance of the sub-clauses for the Province of Ontario passed.

House adjourned at 12.20.

News Notes.

Professors McGill and Shutt have completed the series of experiments as to the state of the atmosphere of the House of Commons which they have been making for some time past every night after the House rose. It will be about a week before the result of the experiments is known.

Enquiries at the Department of the Interior with reference to a press despatch from Winnipeg that there was great excitement in Edmonton at the receipt of an order from Ottawa to remove the land office to the south side of the Saskatchewan River and that the land agent had been prevented by force from carrying out his instructions elicits the information that the report is substantially correct, but as the removal is only temporary the excitement has subsided.

An Occulatory Teacher.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., June 21.—At the District Court in the suit of Vena v. Johnston, defendant appealed from a conviction for an assault. This was known as a kissing case, the defendant having been convicted for oculatory exercises with the girls of the school after school hours. The conviction was quashed.

The New Immigration Chief.

OTTAWA, June 21.—It is reported in official circles that Mr. A. M. Burgess, now acting Deputy Minister of the Interior, will be made chief of the Dominion immigration branch when that service is placed under the control of the Interior Department, and then Dr. Dawson will become Deputy Minister of the Interior and director of the geological survey, Dr. Selwyn to be superannuated.

Mr. Douglas Brymner, archivist of the Dominion, has applied for superannuation and it is reported that Col. Audet is to get his place.

Attempted Suicide.

ERIN, Ont., June 21.—Alfred Duffield, aged 19, pressed the muzzle of a shotgun immediately over his heart and pulled the trigger with his toe. The charge missed the heart and penetrated the lung, but the young man will die.

He Laughed and Choked to Death.

ALLEGHENY, Pa., June 21.—Joseph Kress, aged 54 years, choked to death yesterday while at dinner. He was chewing a piece of meat when some person at the table made a remark which caused Kress to laugh. The meat lodged in his windpipe and he died before he could be relieved.

A WORD ABOUT WOOL.

We hope those farmers who marked their ballots at the last three elections in favour of trade restriction are happy over the home market for the farmer, which the "N.P." promised to create. The United States States market is practically closed to farm produce, the English market is very far away, and has not been brought in touch yet with the Canadian farmer. As a consequence the home market is soon glutted and down go the prices. All kinds of farm produce are "bearad" down to the lowest notch, and there is no wonder at the fact that farming does not pay, for the restricted market "bears" prices of what the farmer grows and the "protective" tax makes dearer everything the farmer has to buy, even to binder twine. Now a word about wool. Is 16 cents, the present price of wool, a paying figure? Not by half. The Peterborough farmer is ready to gnash his teeth when he is offered 16 cents a pound for wool, especially when he remembers what prices he has got in the past. From the days when the wool market was opened here by Mr. Claxton, as buyer for McKechnie & Winans, of the Cobourg Woollen Mills, there was a profit in wool growing up to the time when the evil effects of trade restriction began to manifest themselves. There is not, it is safe to say, one-quarter as much wool sold in Peterborough now as there was forty years ago when the market was first opened. In 1842 the price was 1s. 6d., or 30c. cash, or 1s. 10½d. barter. During the American war wool ran up to 50 cents and over, but since the abrogation of the reciprocity treaty with the United States in 1863 the prices never have recovered, until to-day we have the spectacle of wool quoted at 16 cents. There are few sheep and lambs in Canada now compared with the good old times. Many dealers and well wishers of the farmer sympathise with the farmers in their present unfortunate condition. No farmer can continue to raise fowls to sell eggs at 9½ or 10 cents a dozen or barley at 40 cents, or wool at 16 cents. But this sympathy is very much neutralized, when we see them at election times fighting and voting for the candidates who uphold the "N.P.," and tell us that England is their best market—lending a hand to fasten and weight down into the bargain the yoke of taxation on their necks. Any market is a good one for a dealer in which the dealer can readily sell at a profit. The dealer must buy cheap to enable him to make profitable sales in England. The long freight rates take directly from the farmer what he would get if he sold for export to the United States with expenses reduced to the minimum and, for many articles, just as high prices. If Canadian farmers had free trade with the United States, everything would boom, and the old happy times of high prices would come again.

The Hot Weather is Trying.

Hundreds Complaining—An Encouraging Letter.

THIS oppressively hot weather is extremely trying to those who are tired, weary and run-down in constitution. All such people are, generally, the victims of nervousness, sleeplessness and indigestion; and pass through terrible sufferings.

Let us warn such sufferers of the great danger they are in, and urge them to lay hold of that infallible cure—Paine's Celery Compound.

A letter recently received from Halifax, N.S., clearly demonstrates the value of Paine's Celery Compound as a sure and certain cure for the troubles referred to.

"I should like to tell you of the great benefit I have derived from your Paine's Celery Compound. For years I have needed and looked for something just to supply a felt requirement difficult to put into words, but arising from extreme nervousness and sleeplessness, which resulted in indigestion and general debility; and until I tried Celery Compound, nothing seemed to help me; and to be honest, I had very little faith in that, so feel all the more as if I could not say enough for what it has done for me. I know of nothing better to take after influenza to strengthen and build one up; and I have recommended it with satisfactory results more than once. For some time I have meant to write to this effect, but absence in New Brunswick delayed me.

Gratefully yours,

Diseases of Fowls.

Preventive measures pay best in the poultry yard. Sound food of variety, cleanliness, and judicious care is indispensable. Pure water for drinking, and plenty of water for flushing the runs where fowls are confined, are essential to health. Wherever there is a well-planned hen hospital, with numerous patients, there disease prevails. It would be more profitable to put sick fowls deep under the ground. Poultry runs must be frequently changed and thoroughly cultivated, to destroy the germs of disease. This plan has kept two of the largest poultry establishments in France in perfect sanitary condition for from 40 to 60 years. There has been a substantial and healthy improvement in the poultry industry within the past five years.

Liquid and Solid Manure.

There is no practical means of determining the difference in value between liquid and solid cow manure, for in neither condition is it ever exactly alike. The food of the cows, and different times and seasons, would materially affect the quality and value of the manure. The advantage in using dissolved or liquid manure is in its condition, for the roots of plants cannot absorb or take up fertilizing materials from the soil except in a liquid or gaseous form; consequently, if we desire an immediate effect, we apply dilute liquid manure. In a moist climate and in moist soil it is better to apply the manure in its raw or semi-solid form; and leave it to be dissolved by the rains or water in the soil.

Farm Notes.

During the season when eggs are plenty and cheap many persons pack them, small end down, in a box well covered with coarse salt, never allowing the eggs to touch each other. Have small holes bored in the bottom to drain off the moisture. Some use oats to pack in.

It is comparatively few who have sufficient amount of manure to dress all their land each year. The best way for most farmers is to concentrate most of the manure they use on the crops that require most labor, and which are usually the ones that will best pay for it.

THE FORCE OF HABIT.

WE have read of an old lady who for many years regularly pawned her silver teapot every Monday morning and took it out again every Saturday night. She had lost sufficient by paying interest to the pawn-brokers to buy several new pots, but it seems she could never get even with her creditors without sacrificing the tea-brewer at the beginning of the week. That was simply from the force of habit. The policy-holder is apt to get into the same habit when the premium on his policy is to be paid. Is there a dividend? Yes; then he must use that in payment of the premium. Many policy-holders having become used to paying full premiums in cash do so to the end, and the result is a wonderful accumulation, showing an investment rarely equalled in the history of finance. Some policy-holders will be persistent for a few years in their cash payments and then begin to use the dividends to pay the premiums. Having once begun they rarely stop the practice, and year after year they find it impossible to pay the premiums in any other way. They simply cease to save and lose the advantages which the Canada Life offers every investor in its policies.

Music in the Schools.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Permit me to ask a few questions suggested by the reading of the following report and subsequent action of the Board of Education at their recent meeting, with reference to the teaching of music in our public schools:—

The Committee submitted the following report in regard to music in the schools:—

GENTLEMEN,—In the matter of music, your committee beg to report that all that is now being accomplished in that subject may be accomplished as fully and satisfactorily by the Board utilizing the musical talents of their teachers and by giving preference when engaging teachers to those having a knowledge of music.

Your committee therefore recommend that the services of the music master be dispensed with at the end of the present session and that the secretary notify him of the decision of the Board.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. HILL,
Chairman.

June 8 h, '92.

In the first place the committee affirm that all that is now being accomplished, may be accomplished as fully and satisfactorily by the Board utilizing the musical talents of their teachers, and by giving preference when engaging teachers to those having a knowledge of music. Now, sir, I wish to ask who are to be the judges of the truth of this assertion? Shall it be those only who themselves have no taste and no ear for music—those who do not know one tune from another, and even more, who have no personal interest in the teaching of this important branch of education, having themselves no children in our schools? I think not. Again, I ask if it is true that all that is now being accomplished by a professor who, for many years has made all grades of vocal music a study, and has taught the same to all grades and conditions of scholars in and out of school, can accomplish no more than a promiscuous lot of teachers of all grades of musical knowledge to say nothing of their ability to teach it. Must we sacrifice, if need be, a superior teacher who may not possess the musical qualifications for an otherwise inferior one who may chance to have some knowledge of music? Can any one teacher or all in our schools accomplish the results which were shown in the Market hall at the close of the last school year and which is to be again witnessed at the opera house at the close of the present session? These hundreds of children are advanced, thoroughly and systematically, under the instruction of one who has proved himself thoroughly capable—as I think no one will deny—and our children will suffer a great loss if the action of the board is sustained by their parents and friends. If there is any animosity towards our present teacher of music caused by anything outside of our schools, must these hundreds of children suffer in consequence and their parents bear all this injustice in silence? Would it not be well to investigate this matter? If our present music teacher must go, cannot another competent professional teacher be secured? Peterborough is an important educational centre, and stands well to the front in this as in other respects, and now instead of taking a step backwards let us only support those actions which will prove to be a benefit to the town, and especially the children, many of whom will perhaps have no musical education except what they receive in our public schools. I cannot think that the sum of $600 could benefit the town and its inhabitants more in any other way than in payment of a competent professional teacher of music in our public schools.

Yours faithfully,
A MOTHER.

Peterborough, June 21st, 1892.

Canadian Lambs in England.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—I take the liberty of forwarding to you for publication a copy of a letter given below from Alderman Frankland to Mr. J. E. Story, our farm foreman, who took the lambs referred to to Montreal, and put them on board ship en route to England. This letter bears upon a subject which should be of much interest to the farmers at the present time:

LIVERPOOL, May 31st, 1892.

J. E. STORY, ESQ.,
Farm Foreman,
Government College,
Guelph, Ont.,

DEAR SIR,—Your beautiful lambs are sold well; and when you consider how foreign cattle and meat sell in England in comparison with their own, may we in Canada not rejoice that you, sir, can send to me 99 lambs from that great institution and that I can realize on them home prices. Why, there are sheep coming alive from South America, and they slaughtered well, and yet as they could not go into the open market, 6 pence is all they brought, sinking the offal, while your lambs in my judgment realize eight and a half pence per pound.

You would have rejoiced to have seen the droves of good men from 30 to 80 years of age examining your lambs, but English hospitality is great, they do things with great courteous.

We are losing heavily with our Canadian bullocks this season, as the U. S. are sending their cattle by thousands. I believe Canada will lose £2 per head—I mean the shippers—on their first 21,000 head. In all the years I have been in the trade I never sold at such low prices, and still the mutton trade remains good up to the present. I hope Prof. Shaw will give the splendid results, considering the depression in beef, to the leading papers. 47 s. 6 is truly astonishing.

Yours,
G. F. FRANKLAND.

The full particulars will be given in due time in reference to the whole transaction from the time the lambs were purchased until they were sold in England. It may be mentioned here that these were very ordinary lambs when purchased. About one-half were bought in Eastern Ontario when they came to this station, and the other half in Prince Edward Island.

Yours,
THOS. SHAW.

Lightning Conductors.

Dr. Hess, who has been collecting statistics and has examined the tips of many lightning rods, finds that fusion of the points never occurs. A fine smooth point receives the lightning in a concentrated form, while angled or ribbed, as well as blunt points, divide it into threads. Dr. Hess considers that platinum needles and tips are entirely unnecessary, for they have no advantage over copper points; but as there are lightning strokes which are capable of making wire 0.20 in. thick incandescent, unbranched copper conductors should never be of less diameter than this, though in a good lightning rod the main point is to secure perfect communication between it and the earth.

Whitened Cape Diamonds.

It is stated that artificially colored diamonds have been sold lately in Belgium. A French chemist finds out that on being dipped in a weak aniline solution the diamonds lose their yellowish tinge, and appear as pure white as the Indian or Brazilian stone. The aniline can neither be seen by a magnifying glass nor rubbed off with a chamois leather; so Mr. Guillot thinks that the dye must lodge in the sharp angle of the facet which remains unpolished, and so affect the light as it falls on the flat surface. A bath of nitric acid will show the fraud, or a little alcohol, which M. Guillot recommends diamond merchants to use for testing.

The Handsomest of all Coins.

This proud distinction is generally conceded to the United States' twenty-dollar gold piece, a marvel of beauty in design and finish. The loveliest of God's handiwork is a handsome woman, if in the bloom of health; if she is not, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will restore her. Ladies who use this peerless remedy are unanimous in its praise, for it cures those countless ills which are the bane of their sex—irregularities, dragging-down pains, inflammation, hysteria, sleeplessness, and the "all-gone" sensations which burden their daily lives. A tonic and nervine, without alcohol. b

Facts About Dyspepsia.

Wrong action of the stomach and liver occasions dyspepsia. Dyspepsia in turn gives rise to bad blood. Both these complaints are curable by B. B. A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It is said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy for ladies in clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c and $1 dw

EXTENSIVE CHANGES IN

THOMAS KELLY'S

DRY GOODS ESTABLISHMENT

POSITIVE ALTERATION SALE!

About a year ago extensive alterations and improvements in our George and Simcoe Street premises were contemplated and publicly announced in good faith, and preparations were commenced to transform our store into one of the finest business premises in Peterborough. Unfortunately, owing to difficulties which arose at the time, we were compelled to postpone the work indefinitely. Now, however, we have determined that These Improvements must go on, no matter what the Cost. We, therefore, beg to announce that during the month of July, in order to allow these important alterations to be made, we will be of the premises altogether, for about a month. To avoid the expense and trouble of removing the goods, we have decided to sell off our whole stock, and will commence at once a SWEEPING CLEARANCE SALE of everything in the store. Nothing will be reserved during the next two months. The stock consists of regular Staple Goods—all new and fashionable—bought for this season's trade. THE SPLENDID VALUES which will be given will afford the greatest inducements to Dry Goods Buyers which have been offered for many years to the people of Peterborough.

To secure a complete clearance we are prepared to make great sacrifices in every department. PRICES WILL BE A SECONDARY MATTER! THE GOODS MUST GO! THERE WILL BE BARGAINS FOR EVERYBODY!

Come and buy NOW, if you want to reap the great benefit of the surrender of profits which must be made during this Positive Alteration Sale.

Charlotte Street Epworth League.

Last night there was a fair attendance at the regular weekly meeting of the Epworth League of the Charlotte street Methodist church, and the proceedings were particularly interesting. The topic for the evening was "Promises" and this subject Mr. Lawrence Claxton handled in an exceedingly able and comprehensive manner, touching every important point of the subject, amply and effectively illustrating it in every aspect. His address was exceedingly creditable for as young a theologian. Mr. Percy Hamilton also treated effectively a branch of the subject. A very pleasant programme of vocal music was presented and the meeting as a whole was exceptionally profitable, edifying and enjoyable.

Dominion Day Celebration at Port Hope.

This year's programme for the celebration of Dominion Day in Port Hope is the best ever presented by that town. It comprises athletic sports, grand horse races, lacrosse and baseball matches and other sports during the day. In the evening there will be an exhibition by the kings of the air, Messrs. Campau and Ambrose, and a magnificent display of fireworks, balloon ascensions, etc. All to take place in the beautiful town park, overlooking Lake Ontario. We would strongly advise our readers to make their arrangements to spend Dominion Day in Port Hope. The programme there is always fully carried out. Any information desired can be obtained by writing L. H. Wilson, Secretary of Committee.

The Cavalry Off to Camp.

"C" Troop of the 3rd Regiment of Cavalry 40 strong, including officers, left this morning on Conductor Stanton's train at 8.20 o'clock amid flying colors to encamp at Belleville. A large number of friends were at the G.T.R. station to see the boys off. Each man took his own charger along with him and a finer looking lot of horses is seldom seen. The officers of "C" Troop are Lt. Col. H. C. Rogers, commander, Capt. Stapleton, quarter master of the regiment, P. Goldsmith, sergeant, A. R. Stephenson, veterenary surgeon, and Lieut. Lynche and Bradburn. The boys will break camp on July 2nd.

Wedding Bells—Freeman-Brennan.

A happy event occurred at St. Peter's Cathedral at the early hour of five o'clock this morning, when Mr. Arthur (Archie) Freeman, one of Norwood's most popular young men, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Lillie E. W., second daughter of the late Denis Brennan, of Norwood. The impressive ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Scollard, in the presence of a few immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The groom was supported on the occasion by Mr. W. E Lesh. The handsome bride who was becomingly attired, was supported by her sister Miss Annie Brennan. After the ceremony the happy couple along with their friends repaired to the residence of the bride's brother Dr. Fred H. Brennan, Hunter street, where a wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman left on the 6.40 G. T. R. train for a short honeymoon tour to Toronto, Montreal and Brockiya. The number of presents was large, many of them being of rare value and handsome design. The EXAMINER joins congratulations with the scores of friends of the newly married couple, wishing them a long and prosperous wedded life. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman will reside in Norwood.

Decoration Day Observance.

The proclamation has been issued by His Worship Mayor Kendry proclaiming Friday afternoon next the 24 h as a half holiday. All the merchants and others are requested to properly observe the day by closing their places of business, etc. At two o'clock the Oddfellows of both Peterborough and Otonabee lodges will meet in the Central Park at 2 o'clock sharp and headed by the 57th band and Canton Peterborough will march to Little Lake Cemetery. After the ceremony of decorating the graves of the deceased brothers has been properly observed and time given for viewing the grounds, the proceedings of former years will be changed somewhat by the introduction of several short addresses from a number of the town clergymen who have been invited to speak on the solemn and impressive occasion. Bro. Dr. Bell, P.G.M. and Bro. D. H. Moore, G.C.P. of the Encampment, will deliver addresses. There will also be short addresses delivered by the Noble Grands of each lodge. The ceremony will be made more interesting than usual and with fine weather there will be a large turnout of Oddfellows. The friends who annually contribute flowers and can do so again this year are kindly requested to leave them either at Mr. H. Long's, or Messrs. Mercer & Co.'s.

Another Canoe Factory Burnt.

The proverbial antipathy between fire and water seems, by the continuance of events from time to time, to have become established. The Daily Colonist of Victoria, B. C., to hand contains an account of the burning of the Peterborough Canoe Factory in that city, owned by Messrs. Arthur Tebb and B. Yelland, who left here this spring to establish a canoe factory in the far west. They were old employees of the Ontario Canoe Company, which recently met with a similar fate. That paper says: "During their (Messrs. Tebb & Yelland's) brief stay in the city they have turned out quite a number of boats and had orders booked which would keep them busy for months to come. The fire occured after the men had quit work in the evening, and originated in the boiler room. The firm had just put a $2,000 policy on their stock, which had been carefully valued at $3,775 by the insurance men, but they did not own the building. The insurance will not cover the loss. * * Considerable sympathy is felt for Messrs. Tebb & Yelland, who are heavy losers by the fire. They had three canoes ready to send out, three on the stocks and a large quantity of work in its first stages of manufacture. They had also just imported a quantity of prepared lumber from the east, as well as a quantity of boat builders' hardware. All, or nearly all, has been destroyed—what was spared by the flames having been destroyed by water. Among the property destroyed were a number of moulds and models which it will be difficult to replace."

A Distressing Situation.

What a dreadful thing it is to wake up in the middle of the night suffering from cholera,—the nearest doctor a mile away and no one to send for him. Imagie a more distressing domestic situation, if you can; and yet cases of this kind are very common. The trouble, however, would never have become serious if the man of the house had a bottle of PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER at hand, for it is a remedy that never fails to cure cholera, cramps, diarrhœa, or dysentery. All druggists keep it. 25c. for large new size.

George Street M. E. of C. E.

A largely attended meeting of the Epworth League of Christian Endeavour of the George street Methodist church was held last evening. Mr. H. S. Griffin presided, and the subject of the evening was Temperance. Instructive papers were read by Mr. Fred Lurmour, "What boys can do for temperance and social purity; Mr. H. E. Armstrong on "Relation of the Christian Endeavourers to the liquor traffic;" Miss D. Kernaghan on "How we can help the drunkard," and Miss Bertha Might on the "Unreasonableness of anti-temperance people." During the evening Mr. H. E. Armstrong sang a solo in fine voice. The meeting was one of the most interesting held this season.

Off to Toronto.

A large excursion of the citizens of Peterborough and surrounding country will leave for Toronto via G.T.R. next Friday morning. Two trains have been secured, one going via Port Hope, at 6.40 a.m., the other via Lindsay at 8.20 a.m. and no pains have been spared by the E B A. to make this the excursion of the season. Tickets good for two days, adults $1.75, and children 90c. The Knights of St. John from all parts of the United States hold their grand celebration in the city on that day. Every arrangement is complete. Remember the day and date and don't miss the best chance ever given to the public to enjoy a day's pleasure and amusement. Remember also that Friday is a half holiday in town, and by going to Toronto you are only losing half a day. Secure your tickets in time from W. J. Devlin, 160 Hunter street, and F. Mr. S. G. Derry

Of Providence, R. I.,

Widely known as proprietor of Derry's Waterproof Harness Oil, tells below of his terrible sufferings from Eczema and his cure by

HOOD'S

Sarsaparilla

"Gentlemen: Fifteen years ago I had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism, which was followed by eczema or salt rheum, breaking out on my right leg. The humor spread all over my legs, back and arms,

A Foul Mass of Sores, swollen and itching terribly, causing intense pain if the skin was broken by scratching, and discharging constantly. It is impossible to describe my suffering in those years of agony and torture. I spent in futile efforts to get well, and was discouraged and ready to die. At this time I was unable to lie down in bed, had to sit up all the time, and was unable to walk without crutches. I had to hold my arms away from my body, and had to have my arms, back and legs bandaged by my faithful wife twice a day.

Thousands of Dollars

"Finally a friend who was visiting at our house, urged me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I began by taking half a teaspoonful. My

Stomach Was All Out of Order

But the medicine soon corrected this, and in six weeks I could see a change in the condition of the humor which nearly covered my body. It was driven to the surface by the Sarsaparilla, the sores soon healed, and the scales fell off. I was soon able to give up bandages and crutches, and a happy man I was. I had been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for seven months; and since that time, nearly two years, I have worn no bandages whatever and my legs and arms are sound and well.

The Delight

of myself and wife at my recovery it is impossible to tell. To all my business friends in Boston and over the country, I recommend from personal experience." S. G. DERRY, 45 Bradford street, Providence, R. I.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

LeBRUN'S OLD STAND,

GEORGE STREET.

Police Court.

MONDAY, June 20th.

At the police court this morning a young man named Merrill was charged with horse stealing. He elected to be tried by jury and the preliminary hearing will come up at the police court on Wednesday. Mr. Henry Coombs, of Otonabee, came to town on Saturday and put his horse and buggy in the Phelan Hotel stables. When he went to get his conveyance to return home, the horse and buggy were missing. He found Merrill on the street with the vehicle and took it from him, and returned to the hotel. Mr. Coombs then notified the police, and Chief Reveal arrested the culprit and locked him up.

Jas. Osborne, of Dunkirk, N.Y., and Jno. Foord, an Englishman, were arrested yesterday, charged with vagrancy. They were begging on the street, and this morning the Magistrate allowed them to go on their promising to leave the town within fifteen minutes. They said they had work and were on there way to it.

TUESDAY, June 21st.

At the police court this morning a young woman charged with stealing a parasol was sentenced to six months in the Mercer Reformatory.

Ten young boys were charged with bathing in a public place. They were allowed to go on promising not to repeat the offence. The magistrate said that if the boys wished to indulge in this pastime they must do it after dark. He regretted that there were no public bathing places in the town where this healthful amusement could be indulged in and encouraged.

H. Scott was charged with fishing on Sunday, June 11th. He was found not guilty and honorably discharged. It appears that he was engaged in watching the boys, to lay an information against them for bathing in a public place, and that his little child was playing along the bank. He made a rod and attached to it a string for the little one to play with. There was no hook attached to it. The evidence went to show that the charge had been laid solely out of revenge for the complaints he entered against the boys. The gentleman who entered the charge had since apologised.

Bishop O'Connor at the Falls.

Tribute of Respect from His Former Parishioners.

NIAGARA FALLS, June 20. —Right Rev. Dr. O'Connor, bishop of Peterborough, who was pastor of this mission 25 years ago, visited the Falls yesterday and spent the evening with Rev. D. O'Malley, the present pastor. Between 8 and 9 o'clock his old parishioners gathered at the parochial residence in large numbers to pay him their respects and tender their congratulations on his elevation to the episcopate. The town band also turned out in full force and marched to the residence of Father O'Malley, where they serenaded His Lordship. After the band had played several selections, Mr. Quillinan on behalf of the congregation read an appropriate address to the bishop. It was signed by James Quillinan, James J. Flynn, John Fry, P. Kelly, W. Burke, P. Matthews, J. Whitty, John O'Rourke and M. Kelliher. His Lordship replying, stated that his visit was the cause of a double surprise—to his former parishioners who had but a few hours' notice of his coming amongst them and to himself at seeing the large concourse. After such a long absence he expressed the sincere pleasure he enjoyed in meeting so many old friends.

Somebody Suffers.

Yes, somebody suffers when these great take-em-away-for-nothing sales are announced, but it isn't the promoters, it is the confiding public who are eventually the sufferers. The goods look all right, but wear them, and how soon you will be surprised when they fall to pieces. Our reputation for selling reliable, trusty, serviceable shoes is quite sufficient to draw people to our store. It wouldn't do for a house of established reputation to indulge in sensational half-off, below cost, give-away sales. There's a moral to all this. Buy the best at Kidd's the bottom, and pay a reasonable price, and no more, and in the long run you will come off the winner. Kidd not only claims, but does sell the best of summer foot wear at the lowest living profit, at 376 George street.

News Nuggets.

—This is the longest day in the year.

—Freight and passenger traffic on the railroads is exceedingly brisk at present.

WORKS: PT. SUNLIGHT NEAR BIRKENHEAD — LEVER BROS., LIMITED TORONTO

The pea-pod pincushion is very ornamental when fastened to mantel drapery. The pea-pods are made of cartridge paper covered with green silk, the little peas of balls of green chenille of a lighter shade than used for the pods. Tendrils are made of twisted capwire covered with chenille or purse silk. A very fine wire is sewn along the ridge of the half-open pods to keep them in shape, and to allow of the ornament being twisted and arranged gracefully. Three or four pods look better than only two on a bunch, but this cushion is never made large. It is tied into position with a bunch of green and blue ribbons.

PACKING WINTER CLOTHES.

Some Pertinent Remarks Upon a Subject for Household Thought.

A timely article on packing winter garments appears in last week's Household Department of the Detroit Free Press. The writer says: In the matter of moths, the traditional ounce of prevention is worth many pounds of cure. It is of no avail that tar paper, cedar chests and unlimited quantities of camphor be used, if the moths are already in the garments when they are laid away. You must brush and clean with great care all the garments to be packed away for the summer. All grease spots should especially be removed, as in these, as in nowhere else, do the moths breed. Next to grease, sugar and syrup spots pleases them most for a nest, and to put garments away with such spots upon them is to offer a premium to the destroyer.

Blankets should be washed in early summer. Soiled coats, trousers, etc., should be sent to the scourer's or be thoroughly sponged at home. If this cannot be done, wet every spot with the spirits of turpentine (or with benzine) and wrap the garments separately with camphor in tar bags, or, what is equally good, in newspapers, before putting in the chest with other clothing. Prudent people have, no doubt, already packed away their furs, but it will be wise to examine them and brush them once more. The moth eggs hatch out a month from the time they are deposited, and June is the worst time for them.

Sealskin is less likely to be molested than any other kind of fur, and if folded in newspapers and wrapped in a sheet with camphor or whole cloves sprinkled between the folds it may be packed away in perfect security.

There is no advantage in deodorized tar bags which is not possessed by bags made of newspapers, printer's ink being a good moth preventative itself. The bags should be pasted, not sewed, in order to exclude the moth fly. The genuine tar paper, black, stick and odorous, affords the best protection of all. No moth will go near it, and an ordinary pine packing case lined with this, with the edges of the paper overlapping, is equal in efficacy to the most expensive cedar chest. It stains badly, however, and two or three extra newspapers should be put between the clothing and tar paper.

Large packing trunks made with several trays are convenient for putting away coats and dresses. The trunk and trays should be lined with newspapers, the long ends left to be folded back over the garments when the trunk is full. Have the case—whether box, chest or trunk—all ready, brushed out and, unless it is of cedar or lined with tar paper, sprinkle a little insect powder in the corners. Line it with newspapers, open and overlapping; the clothing having been cleaned, take each garment separately and open it out on the bed—or large table—sprinkle camphor over it, fold smoothly and lay in the case.

When you have made a layer of clothing three or four inches thick, sprinkle camphor on the top, and cover with newspapers. Tuck in the edges of the papers over the clothing. Now, another layer of garments strewed with camphor, then more paper, and so on until the trunk is full, when the ends of the paper used to line it must be brought over the top of the upper layer of newspapers. It will be found a good plan to tack a written list of articles in each trunk inside the lid, beginning in order from the bottom. In this way, it may be seen at a glance, whether a particular article needed be in one or other of half a dozen trunks without disturbing the contents.

Grease spots may be removed from the cloth by placing coarse brown paper, such as butchers use for wrapping up meat, over the spot, and a hot iron for one instant held upon the paper. The heat draws out the grease, which is absorbed by the paper, and also destroys any moth egg which may have been deposited upon the spot. After applying the iron, rub the spot vigorously with equal parts of ammonia and alcohol, and it will disappear. For spots made by sugar, etc., scrub with a lather of soap and a nail brush; then rinse with a sponge and mild warm water. The same treatment is also effective for all but hard grease spots. If merino underwear is put away directly after washing and ironing, or an Indian shawl or a fine opera or baby's cloak, brush and inspect with greatest care. Take bits of camphor as large as hazel nuts, and wrap each in a thickness of tissue paper. Put the package in a linen pillow-case, fold the mouth of the case over, sew it and close again, either in a bag of tar paper or newspaper, which should be pasted together so as hermetically to seal it. In packing away winter clothing camphor should be used with liberal hand. It costs, at most, but 30 cents a pound. People who cannot bear the smell of camphor use whole cloves and cedar chips as substitutes. It must be understood that none of these things destroy moths, or the worms which are hatched from the moths' eggs and which do the mischief. The only effect that the strong odor has upon the insect is to drive it away and thus prevent it from depositing its eggs upon the scented articles. When garments are put away early in the season before moths begin to fly around, seeking what they can devour, sachet powder enclosed in little bags is amply sufficient to preserve these, provided they are well brushed and put in hermetically sealed bags or boxes with paper well stuffed in the cracks.

"We never put camphor in shawls or furs," said a fur dealer, "sent us for summer storage. We have cedar chests for the shawls, cedar closets for the furs, examining them thoroughly and regularly from time to time during the summer, and beating the fur well each time before putting them away. If we detect any sign of moth in the furs which are brought to us, we decline to take them. As for our own less costly goods, we pack them in cheesecloth lined with black tar paper, and the moths will never molest them."

If the trunks are packed away in a closet, give it a thorough dusting and scrubbing in every corner, and if you find moths in course of cleaning either fumigate the closets with sulphur, or else whitewash it, as it may be more expedient.

Careful women, who look well to the ways of their households, do not need to be told how desirable it is to mend undergarments, to sew on buttons, etc., before laying them away, or how good it is to have them all ready to put on when needed again in the autumn. Woolen dresses which are to be made over again may be ripped apart, washed or cleaned, before laying away, thus saving time and trouble in the fall, as well as keeping the material in better condition than if laid away in folds and creases.

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it, a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and a dollar. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

THE NEWS FROM AFAR.

THE KAISER WILL NOT GO TO THE FAIR.

The Bismarck Nuptials—A Description of the Bride—A Labor Candidate in Midlothian—Other Cable News.

BERLIN, June 20.—The Tageblatt denies the truth of renewed rumors that Emperor William will attend the Chicago fair.

BAVARIA'S CRAZY KING.

His Condition Now Reported to Be Merely Vegetative.

BERLIN, June 20.—The Cologne Gazette says that the condition of the mad King Otto of Bavaria is now merely vegetative; that he is unable to distinguish persons in his familiar entourage and that his attendants have the greatest difficulty in getting him to take food.

Otto L lives since his accession, as he did before, shut up in the small palace of Furstenreid, about two hours distant from Munich. He occupies a suite of apartments on the ground floor, the doors of which, as well as the door leading into the garden, are always left open in the daytime, as a closed door immediately excites his rage.

The King is always dressed in black. His beard is very long and thick, and he will not allow it to be trimmed. He is extremely fond of cigarets and smokes more than 30 a day. Every time he lights a cigaret he burns a whole box of matches and seems to enjoy the noise and the flame.

RIOT AT A BULL-FIGHT.

The Bull Chases the Crowd and the Crowd Chases the Mayor.

MADRID, June 20.—A riotous demonstration was made by a crowd that attended a bull fight at Linares. The spectators were not satisfied with the way the fight was conducted, and demanded that more horses be put in the ring. The mayor refused, and the crowd thereupon pelted him and the bull-fighters with bottles, sticks and dirt. The fighters hastily left, the ring was immediately invaded by the crowd. The bull which had been intended to furnish sport for the crowd was still in the arena. He became infuriated and charged directly into the middle of the mob. Men were caught upon his horns and tossed in every direction. One man was badly gored and then tossed against the woodwork with such violence that he was killed. It was some time before the infuriated animal was overpowered by the bullfighters. While the trouble in the ring was going on the Mayor ordered the Civic Guard to clear the inclosure with their bayonets. They looked at the animal in the ring tossing men about and then refused to obey the orders of the mayor. The latter then fled from from the bull-ring. The rioters, with shouts and yells, started after him. The mayor managed to reach the prefecture ahead of his pursuers and passing through the building reached the barracks, where he was protected by the soldiers. The riot was not quelled till nightfall.

An Ovation to Bismarck the Elder.

BERLIN, June 20.—Preparations are being made in Dresden to give Prince Bismarck a grand reception when he passes through the city en route to Vienna. All the municipal authorities will meet him at the railway station. The streets of the city will be gaily decorated in honor of the occasion. The police have issued an order cautioning the citizens not to overcrowd street balconies, as, owing to the enormous demand for seats, it is feared accidents will occur.

Herbert Bismarck's Wife.

LONDON, June 20.—A despatch from Vienna says: "Count Herbert Bismarck's fiancee, Countess Hoyos, is sylph-like, with dreamy blue eyes and golden hair. This is unmistakably English in appearance, and only the grateful courtesy with which she greets a stranger betrays the fact that she was cradled on the Adriatic.

The Bridal Party Almost Unnoted.

VIENNA, June 20.—Count Herbert Bismarck and the bridal party arrived here last night almost unnoticed. Count Kalnoky has returned from his country seat ostensibly to attend the Bismarck wedding. The police have forbidden German societies to hold a demonstration inside the railway station. The order is deprecated as giving an unnecessary aspect to the visit.

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 15, 1890.
W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece; frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

Asparagus.

One of the first vegetables of spring is asparagus, and it is as good as it is healthful. Every kitchen garden should have a bed of asparagus. The special care it requires is given when it is first prepared, and ordinary attention is all it needs during succeeding years. Use it freely from the time it makes its first appearance until green peas take its place. It cannot be prepared in a great variety of ways, but careful cooking improves it in any form it is served.

It may not be generally known that the ancients called the shoots of all young vegetable asparagus, though the name is now confined to a particular species, to which also belong artichokes and sea-kale. These in their original condition are sea-coast plants, and asparagus is found to-day in this state on the northern shores of Great Britain. However, the cultivated vegetable bears but little resemblance to its wild progenitor.

Asparagus—Take young and tender stalks, lay them in cold water for half an hour, drain, and put them into hot water and boil slowly for half an hour until tender. Be careful not to use more water than will be consumed while boiling. Toast and butter a few slices of bread; put them in a dish and lay the asparagus carefully over them, then add cream, or very rich milk thickened with cornstarch, and season with salt, pepper and butter. This is very nice.
